Dana to Aid $20-Million Fund Drive

The American Lutheran Church's projected campaign to raise more than 20 million dollars for capital expansion of its colleges will have considerable impact at Dana, President Madsen told alumni in his "State of the College" address at Homecoming.

The church-wide drive will require that Dana curtail its own Forward Phase Funds and contribute about three thousand dollars toward costs of the campaign, Dr. Madsen said.

In addition, the college will provide two fulltime men to assist in the campaign, he said.

A successful drive could mean one million to two million dollars for Dana.

The synod will launch the drive at the 1966 ALC convention, and appeals to congregations will begin January 1, 1967. Sought will be pledges payable within three years.

"The success of this campaign will depend in no small measure upon the active participation and support of every member of the Alumni Association," Dr. Madsen said.

"On behalf of the college I earnestly solicit the wholehearted and dedicated support of each alumnus, particularly those of you who are members of our ALC congregations. You will be the key person determining the success or failure of this venture in your congregation."

Dr. Madsen has suggested to the Board of Regents that the college hire an additional man to assist Boas Weismann, Director of Fund Raising, with duties connected with the ALC drive. Paul Strand, also of the development office, would continue to handle the regular college development program.

Mr. Madsen reported that construction of the new campus center and the men's dormitory was severely hampered by heavy rains during Sep-

Homecoming, 1965 —

The Seminararians Return

There was a flavor to Homecoming as Danish as kringle this year.

The theme was "Homecoming in Tivoli," and students went all out to create their own Tivoli Gardens amusement park for the enjoyment of their Homecoming guests.

With technical advice from Karen Risbjerg, a Fulbright exchange student from Denmark, they constructed replicas of the giant Tivoli gate and the harbor statue of the Little Mermaid. They put up a 30-by-90-foot exhibition tent to house exhibit and concession stands.

The Tivoli idea was so successful there was talk among Nebraskans of expanding it for the 1967 Nebraska Centennial by actually bringing some of the real Tivoli's colorful features to the campus.

The central event of the weekend was a special program Saturday night in tribute to former students and faculty members of Trinity Seminary, the institution which for so many years shared the campus with the college.

It was the first reunion of students and faculty since the seminary moved to Wartburg in Dubuque, Ia. Dr. William Larsen, ALC secretary, was the speaker, and former Dana President R. E. Morton was master of ceremonies.

President Madsen gave plaques of appreciation to Drs. Morton, Larsen, T. I. Jensen, Paul Nyholm, Hans Jersild, C. B. Larsen and Vernon Strempeke and Pastors T. M. Hansen and Alvin Petersen. Then Dr. William Larsen interrupted the proceedings to present a similar plaque to Dr. Madsen.

Former President Lawrence Siersbeck of Kenosha, Wis., was unable to be on hand to receive his plaque because of a prior commitment.

Another award of appreciation went to William Christensen, who chronicled Trinity's existence in his book, "Saga of the Tower."

of Mondamin, Ia., was crowned 1965 Homecoming Queen at a coronation program featuring the Voices and Orchestra of Peter Palmer. Princesses were Karen Remmers of Beatrice, Neb., and Jani Johnson of Englewood, Colo.

The following afternoon, Queen Joanne was whisked by helicopter to Viking Field to watch Dana defeat the Northwestern College Red Raiders, 27-13.

In his Homecoming greeting Dr. Madsen said: "Homecoming is essentially a time for remembering." He explained that there was a twofold emphasis in this year's "rememberings."

"The decorative and social theme, 'Homecoming in Tivoli,' reminds us of the lighter days, the gayety and the friendship and fun of the land of our founders and of Dana's own traditions.

"But as Tivoli stands near the cathedral spires, so our coming together calls forth deeper traditions. This year we honor the alumni, officials, teachers and students of Trinity Seminary, Dana's mother institution, the school which first dominated our campus then shared it with the college from the birth date, 1884, until 1956.

"In honoring Trinity Seminary Dana pays tribute to the noblest and best in her traditions . . ."

The Voices and Orchestra of Peter Palmer entertained at the coronation program—"Moonlight on the Campus."

Brotherhood Lends a Hand

The Danish Brotherhood in America, which like Dana was founded in Nebraska by Danish pioneers (the Brotherhood in 1882, the college in 1884), is taking increased interest in assisting Dana's growth.

Three Brotherhood lodges have furnished rooms in the men's dormitory now under construction. They are D. B. #16 of Minden, Neb., D. B. #161 of Ruskin, Neb., and D. B. #14 of Kenosha, Wis.

Skogman Champ

Winner of the first annual Alumni Men's Golf Tournament was Dr. Keith Skogman of the Dana faculty.

This was the view Homecomers got of Dana's construction double-header. The foundation of the new dormitory is in the right foreground and the circular foundation of the student center is visible in the center of the picture. Construction has moved swiftly since this picture was taken, and the contractor says he expects to have both buildings ready for use next fall.

Dana Defeats Northwestern

Alert defense sparked Dana's 27-to-13 Homecoming victory over Northwestern.

"We've played better," said Coach Grant Walls after the game, "but we played well enough to win."

Fumble recoveries by Dave Kelly and John Jensen—each at the Northwestern 34—gave Dana the edge. Knight Wynn scored the first of his two touchdowns following the first recovery. Ken Quirk scored after the second recovery.

It was only the second time in 13 years Dana has won a Homecoming game. The victory gave the Vikings a record of two wins and four losses in conference play—good for fifth place.

Although Dana ranked high nationally in pass defense statistics and generally played sound defensive football, the squad failed to generate a consistent offense, Coach Walls said.

The Dana basketball squad lost its opening game to Wayne State, 107 to 94, despite a 37-point outburst by guard Ken Kemmish.

Wayne built up a 57 to 38 halftime lead, but Kemmish scored 26 of his points in the second half to keep the Vikings in the game.

Center Dean Krueger, a 6-5 freshman from Hebron, Neb., got off to an impressive start by scoring 16 points for Dana.

Kemmish, a senior from Persia, Ia., had 15 field goals and was seven for seven from the free throw line.

tember. But he said the contractor still hopes to have the buildings completed in time for use next fall.

Some areas in the campus center have been named, Dr. Madsen said. The first-floor lounge, which looks out across the campus' linden trees, will be known as the Linden Room. The formal dining room on the second floor will be known as the Presidents' Room in honor of the former presidents of the college.

Completion of the dormitory will give the college the capacity for a major enrollment increase next year, Dr. Madsen said.

"This is an area in which our alumni can be of help," he added. "We will appreciate any efforts you make in this respect—in locating and encouraging qualified students to enroll at Dana."
