

Omaha University Takes Victory From Dana Five

DANA LOSES MOST THRILLING GAME EVER PLAYED IN NEW GYM

Ten thousand Swedes might have come through the weeds, but it certainly made ten thousand. Rabbits come through a jungle to beat the Dana basketballers. The game was fought hard, each team being evenly matched the whole game, including the extra period when Dana's defense weakened for a short time.

The game was by far the most thrilling of any game that has ever been played on the maple floor of the new gym. From the blowing of the whistle at the beginning of the game, until the final sound of the horn, the crowd was in an uproar, hushed only by free throws given occasionally. To rooters it was a fascinating game; but to the players it was a breath-taking fight which only ended in the bitter disappointment of defeat.

The game was featured by the splendid defense work of the Dana team. The whole team defended the goal as if they were a stone wall instead of human beings. "Mert" and "Tubby" were so-called "bears" on defense, while the rest of the players carried out the offense splendidly.

"Abbie" snagged the ball in the early moments of the game and "sank" a beautiful field goal for the first points of the contest. "Mert" followed suit and "rang up another counter" for two more points. Not to be out-done by his

CABLEGRAM COMES FROM COPENHAGEN

A cablegram from Copenhagen, Denmark, was received by the A Capella Choir Saturday night, the 19th of January.

The cablegram reads:

"Would your Capella Choir render twenty minutes musical program at Rebild July fourth? Kindly cable. Answer paid."

Henius Phoenix.

The Rebild Hills is a tract of land such like our national parks, set aside by the Danish-American society. A festival is held here every Independence Day. The king of Denmark often honors the people by being present at these programs. At this celebration last year, 40,000 people were gathered.

It is at the special request of the Danish-American society that this concert be given. It will serve as a 'grand finale' to the extensive tour sponsored and planned by the United Choirs of Denmark for the Dana A Capella Choir.

HONORARY FORENSIC SOCIETY AGAIN MEETS

The Alpha Sigma Phi honorary Forensic society held its monthly meeting on Friday evening, January 25, in the reception hall of the ladies' dormitory.

The meeting was opened by the reading of the pledge of the society. At the business session which followed, the report on the book project was submitted by Prof. Erland Nelson. It was decided that at least one hundred dollars should be set out on interest as a sort of monument to the initial efforts of the society in this activity. It is hoped that the publishing of these booklets on the current national Phi Kappa Delta debate question may become a regular yearly practice, and thus the sum in the treasury can be increased from year to year. The money thus gained will then be on hand to be used as the future members of the society see fit.

GYM FUND LACKS ONLY 13 PER CENT TO BE COMPLETE

We have some good news which we want to share with you—and then we want you to help us make the news even better by the end of next month.

You know we had about 1100 names on the subscription list for the Dana Auditorium-Gymnasium, totaling about $33,000. The building, as you know, is long since completed and is on its second year of usefulness. Yes, some will say, but it is not yet paid for—and that is true too, but LISTEN!

Of the approximately 1100 subscribers, all but about 140 have paid their subscriptions IN FULL, less than 13 per cent still unpaid and many of these have paid one or more installments. $22,708.01 has been paid in cash. Mr. Thomsen is paying interest on his note of $7500, which means that $30,208.01 of the cost of the building is taken care of. But the balance, or the 140 unpaid (or partly unpaid) subscriptions amounting to $2821.75 represents a loan on which we are paying interest. So you see why we are anxious to get the remaining subscriptions paid. Interest on the individual pledge is negligible, but when the sum approximates $3000 it is a matter of concern—this interest item.

The building has cost us considerable more than at first estimated, as is usually the case when you build, you know. We thought we would be entirely safe by over-subscribing the estimated cost of the building ($30,000) by 10 per cent, but it is going to be hard to make it. There has now been paid out $32,818.11, (some refund on interest to be deducted), so you see our margin is very small. But still, by getting all subscriptions paid in before the end of our fiscal year, May 1, we believe we will be able to report to our annual Convention at Elk Horn, that the building is paid in full—AND NO DEBT. Wonderful? Yes, we think so, and we are so very grateful to Dana's many

VERA HOLST IS SERIOUSLY ILL

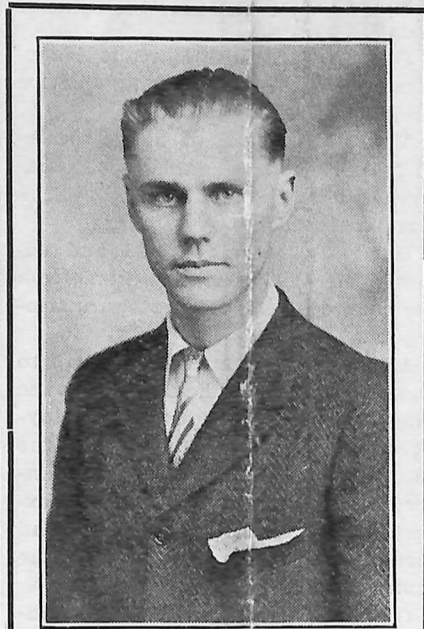

Vera Holst of Montana is seriously ill. Her sickness is thought to be due to the after effects of influenza. Vera was bedfast just before Christmas, but after a few days in bed visited relatives during the vacation. Here she was overtaken by another attack of a still more serious nature. She apparently recovered again and was back with us going about her work as usual. A few days ago she began complaining of headaches and had to be put to bed on Wednesday, the 23rd of January. Because of a very weak heart, she must have quiet and rest and constant care. As far as it is known now she is slightly better.

The girls of the fourth floor have been attending her very faithfully. During the visit, on the campus over the week-end, Miss Dagmar Hammer rendered a few services to her for which Vera and the dormitory

HESPERIAN SOCIETY MEETINGS PLANNED

Harry Thompson and Dr. C. X. Hansen have been planning several meetings for the Hesperian Literary Society. The next meeting will probably take place on Lincoln's birthday; if not, on the Saturday preceding. Dr. C. X. Hansen is the faculty adviser of the organization and Harry Thompson is the president of the society.

IN MEMORIAM

The Hermes extends to Mr. and Mrs. Larsen and their children its deepest sympathy in the sorrow that has come to them in the death of their son and brother, Andrew.

DANNEVIRKE HOLDS SECOND MEETING

The second meeting of the Dannevirke Society was held at eight o'clock Tuesday evening, January 22. There was a good attendance in spite of the fact that exams were to be given the next day.

John Lawrence sang a solo. Herman Borkman and Godheart Nielsen contributed literary selections, the former a short story and the latter a reading. Holgar Pedersen gave a short talk. Prof. Fynboe lectured upon the correct use of Danish and the importance of having a critic whenever it is spoken. The meeting was an intellectual and social success.

DANA COLLEGE QUINTET "NOSED OUT" BY OMAHA

The American College basketball team of Omaha "nosed out" the Dana College quintet in a fast, hard-fought game at the St. Joseph gymnasium Friday, January 25, with a final score of 36—33.

The game started at a fast pace with Omaha scoring 8 points before the Dana men could check them. Things were beginning to look bad for Dana until "Abbie" Andersen, coming down the side line, received a short pass from Christensen and promptly sent the ball neatly through the hoop. Thus inspired, the Scarlet and White went back to their positions with more determination. Two minutes later "Christy" tallied with another basket. Merton seemed to have some bad luck. Each one of his shots would roll around the hoop and drop off.

Omaha showed good form in passing and shooting the ball.

The half ended with the score 16—10 in Omaha's favor. In the second half Hansen was substituted for Mortensen and Sorenson for Andersen. The game proceeded even faster than in the first half. Hansen recovered a fumble of one of the guards of the Omaha Quintet and neatly dropped the ball through the net. Sorenson retaliated by sending a long shot from center. The score was nearly even, the American College being slightly in the lead.

With only a few minutes to play and Omaha four points ahead, Omaha began to stall. Dana fighting with every ounce of strength was unable to score in these last few moments.

DANA DEBATE TEAMS TILT WITH OMAHA U.

The two Dana debate teams spent the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, January 22, at the University of Omaha where they clashed with the opposing Omaha teams on the question of the abolition of the present jury system. Although both teams are members of the Conference, there was a mutual agreement that the debates should be non-decision contests.

Omaha headed the Conference last year and Dana ranked fourth; consequently a close contest was anticipated, and both debates fully came up to expectations. Omaha is fortunate in having a member of both her last year's teams back again this year to fill the position of third speaker on each team.

The Dana squad clashed with the Omaha affirmative in the afternoon, and the opposite teams from the two schools met in the evening. The Dana affirmative argument was pres-

NORDIC READING CIRCLE CONVENES

The Nordic Reading Circle held its first meeting in the new year at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Waldo B. Nielsen Friday evening, January 25. "Broen", written by the Danish author, Johannes V. Jensen, was discussed. Each member contributed a number of questions bringing out the qualities of the book. These questions led to very interesting discourses upon the author's style and beliefs. A chapter from "Broen" was selected especially noted for its beauty of structure. The meeting closed with the singing of a Danish song.

After the meeting Professor and Mrs. Nielsen entertained the Reading Circle. Professor Nielsen "tuned in" on the radio. Later in the evening Mrs. Nielsen served a delicious luncheon and "Prof.", not to be outdone, treated the men with cigars. Twenty members, mostly Dana students and faculty members, enjoyed the evening.

The next meeting of the Nordic Reading Circle will be held at the Bundgaard home. Gøsta Berling's "Saga" will be studied.

HOME-COMING BANQUET PLANS ARE MATURING

The plans for the home-coming banquet to be held on the second of February are rapidly maturing. Last Tuesday a final opportunity was given to purchase tickets. Nearly all of the 250 tickets available were sold then. The decorations for the Dining Hall, where the banquet is to be held, are being made by the drawing class. An appropriate program is being prepared and everything promises to make the banquet a success.

DANISH MEETING HELD BY LUTHER LEAGUERS

The 23rd of January the Luther League held a meeting in the Danish language. Immanuel Johansen read a selection from the letter to the Philippians, and led in prayer. A trio was rendered by Miss Beulah Carstensen, Miss Esther Frost, and Miss Marie Hansen. Miss Ruth Petersen gave a reading entitled 'Colosseum' by N. P. Madsen. Johannes Larsen expressed a few thoughts based on the text: 'Jehovah shows himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him.' The meeting was followed by a short business session. The following officers were elected: President, Gudmund Petersen, Vice-President, Peter Hauge, Secretary, Miss Mildred Johnson.

Andrew Larsen, who, according to the last issue of the Hermes, was recovering from an attack of scarlet fever, succumbed to that illness on January 16 after a sudden change for the worse had taken place in his condition. The evening previously, so far as the doctor could tell, his condition was unaggravated. In fact, it was thought he was getting better, but when morning came Dr. Bell made an early visit, finding that Andrew's sleep was really not sleep, but a state of coma. At 1:05 A. M. Andrew had spoken his last words to his roommate, and they were encouraging words to the effect, that if he felt as well in the morning as he did then, he could eat a hearty meal. But he was not well. His heart had weakened, and he slumbered into a state of unconsciousness, never again returned to consciousness. Throughout the day, his condition grew more critical, his pulse slowly weakened, and about seven in the evening, Andrew's soul had gone to its Maker.

What had happened, came as a shock to the students and faculty (Continued on page 4)

DR. STUFF GIVES LYCEUM LECTURE

January 17 the Danaites and friends of this vicinity enjoyed the third number of the Lyceum Course sponsored by Dana College. Dr. Stuff from the University of Nebraska lectured upon literature. He stressed the fact that a writer must experience some great and critical mental disturbance, such as the grief of Babe Ruth for his deceased wife, in order to be able to convey successfully an unusual and impressive thought. Truly clear and outstanding thoughts can originate solely from such a source. Dr. Stuff also said that a writer must be a thinker, and he must have a keen conception of details. By quoting a poem by Wilkinson, who saw only the bare facts in nature, and a poem by another poet who saw the same scene, he clearly illustrated how unpoetical a sense Wilkinson had.

COMMERCIAL DEPT. OFFERS EXCELLENT BUSINESS COURSE

The Commercial Department is the department in which young men and women are fitted to go out into the business world as efficient occupants of stenographic, bookkeeping and executive positions.

This year the course in Office Procedure has been discontinued and a course in Beginning Bookkeeping has been added.

The various courses offered in the Commercial Department are as follows: Business Administration, Business Law, Shorthand, Office Training, Typewriting and Accounting. In addition to these a course in Commercial Teacher's Methods is given. Special courses are being given to the winter students in Bookkeeping, Business Law and Typewriting. Not only is clerical training given, but the broader economic grasp which is so fundamental in any administrative position.

In Bookkeeping and Typing tests Dana students rank among the highest in the country. There is a large number of students registered for work in this course. Professors Erland Nielsen and M. L. Kirkegaard supervise all branches in the Commercial Department.

Graduates of this course must be prepared to meet the requirements of the work in which they specialize. A great number of Dana graduates are now successfully working in the business world.

ATTENTION

"The young man, it is often said, has genius enough, if he would only study. Now the truth is, as I shall take the liberty to state it, that genius will study; it is that in the mind which does study; that is the very nature of it. I do not care to say that it will always use books. All study is not reading, any more than all reading is study. Attention it is,—though other qualities belong to this transcendent power,—attention it is, that is the very soul of genius; not the fixed eye, not the poring over a book, but the fixed thought."

TIMELY MEDITATIONS

"O, wa'd the power the giftie gie us, to see oursel's as ithers see us!"

The clock ticks and you solemnly roll your eyes toward that time-piece. Hmm! One minute left. I wonder—and then you slowly begin counting, "One, two, three, four, five, six, seven." Suddenly you think, "Maybe I'm going too fast," and you unconsciously lessen your speed. "Thirty, thirty-one, thirty-two, thirty-three"—its interesting to note if the bell will ring the minute you say sixty, "fifty-seven, fifty-eight, fifty-nine, sixty— Well, well, the clock is slow." Hestitatingly you continue, "sixty-one, sixty-two, sixty-three, sixty-four." At last, and with a dash you leave the room. It's strange, isn't it, how anxious you are to get to your next class, and, incidentally, again count the seconds until you leave? Is it a good practise?

JEALOUSY A POISON

Jealousy may be compared to Indian arrows, so envenomed, that if they prick the skin it is very dangerous; but if they draw blood, it is irrevocably deadly. The first motions that rise from this root of bitterness have evil effects; but where the disease progresses, it poisons all our comforts, and throws us hadlong into the most tragical resolutions.—Wanley.

"TEMPUS FUGIT ET FUGIMUS"

If one will stop but a moment and consider this proverb, he will find that it contains a mine of material for thought. Each day is bringing us a step nearer to our life's goal, and ultimately, to our final destination. Each day is a page of our life, upon which is written with an indelible script our progress or our retrogression. Each day is a lesson in the school of life. Then arises the question, "Can I, at the close of each day, point to a definite progression or must I admit that I have failed to advance?"

Now that we have entered in on the second semester of the school-year, do we realize that over one-half of the year has fled by? In a few weeks we will bid farewell to our books and to our Alma Mater, some for only a few months, but others forever. Fortunate is the one who can say as he looks back on the past semester, "I have attained my goal." Wise is the one who is today so using his time that he will be able to say, "I have attained my goal."

"Tempus fugit et fugimus." How deeply that thought is embedded in Longfellow's words, "Art is long and time is fleeting!" One moment we have time; the next, it is gone forever. There is no time like the present, and unless we do the tasks assigned today they are of little value. Let us then use our time so that each moment will be as precious to us as it was intended. How great a Utopia would we not have if we all lived so "that each tomorrow finds us farther than today."

R. E. M.

"There is a calm for those who weep,
A rest for weary pilgrims found;
They softly lie and sweetly sleep,
Low in the ground.

"The storm that sweeps the wintry sky,
No more disturbs their deep repose,
Than summer evening's latest sigh,
That shuts the rose."

Kristian Winther and Sigurd Petersen spoke Sunday evening, January 13th, in the local Danish Lutheran Church.

Peter Hauge and Marinus Hagedorn spoke at the evening service January 20th.

The welcome gift of books received from Rev. L. A. Laursen of Omaha has been distributed among the seminary students.

Harry Thomsen received and accepted the call extended him from the congregations of Owatonna, Minnesota.

Marinus Hagedorn made a trip to Coon Rapids where he is serving the congregation January 13th. He stayed over the week-end to attend the annual business meeting of that congregation. The Hagedorn family expects to serve the Coon Rapids and Scranton congregations during the summer.

Cornelius Hansen and Henry Hansen spoke January 27th in the local church.

Scriver Kloth conducted services and confirmation class at Lyons last Sunday.

FUNERAL SERVICES CONDUCTED AT DANA

A large crowd gathered in the Dana College Chapel on the afternoon of the 17th of January in honor to Andrew Larsen, deceased.

President Hansen, Rev. Kirkegaard, Scriver Kloth, and Rev. Videbeck of Elk Horn officiated. After the assembly had sung: "The Lord Is My Shepherd," Pres. Hansen read the scripture and offered prayer. An appropriate solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," was rendered by Miss Ida Hansen. Rev. Kirkegaard then spoke on the text found in John 13:7: "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt understand hereafter." He was followed by Scriver Kloth, representative of the student body and a childhood friend of Andrew. He endeavored to show in various ways he serious-mindedness of Andrew. He concluded his speech with an exhortation that a monument in honor of Andrew Larsen be erected—not a monument hewn in stone, but a monument exemplified by the dedication of lives, young and old, to Jesus Christ. Rev. Videbeck chose for his text: II Sam. 18:29: "Is it well with the young man?" He brought out the value of Christian environment. His closing statement was: "The chief purpose of life is always to die well in the Lord!" In closing a selection, "Beyond Life's Evening Star," was sung by a quartette consisting of Miss Ida Hansen, Miss Elizabeth Noble, William Haller, and George Robertson.

CHOIR SIFTINGS

The choir members greatly appreciate the patronage of those who attend the Tuesday afternoon luncheons; they are indeed thankful to the kind ladies of the vicinity who have donated their delicious pies and cakes.

On January 13th, immediately after the noonday meal, the choir members donned their robes to pose for a photo. Mrs. W. B. Nielsen acted as photographer. Several calls have come from magazines and papers for the choir picture, also details concerning next summer's tour. The official picture will be taken February 2nd.

Invitations to give programs are continually received from the eastern states. A complete itinerary will appear in an early issue of the Hermes.

It has been a real encouragement to the choir to receive, within the last couple of weeks, three personal gifts. The first, a donation of fifty dollars toward the European Tour was sent by a friend in Chicago. On January 13th, after the concert at Underwood, Iowa, a friend who had especially enjoyed the selection "Beautiful Savior" in the Danish language, as an expression of his appreciation handed the choir

CAMPUS DOINGS

Miss Marie Sierk is at the hospital in Omaha where she was operated for appendicitis. Alfa Hansen, Mary Caspersen, and Dorothy Jensen visited her there on their debating trip to Omaha. It is hoped that Marie will soon regain her health.

William Rosenblatt went to his home in Council Bluffs for a few days following the death of his roommate, Andrew Larsen. He returned in time to take his examinations.

Orville Nielsen is now out of quarantine. He relieved William Rosenblatt as nurse during the last day or so of Andrew Larsen's illness.

Some of the choir members spent a very enjoyable evening at Prof. Waldo B. Nielsen's home, Saturday evening, January the 19th. Those present were: Alice Gissel, Martha Juhl, Vera Holst, Lauritz Petersen, Gudmund Rundstrom, Olfert Magnussen, and George Robertson.

The students in general seem to have a more pleasant look on their faces. They sigh with relief: "The examinations are over." Things begin to look a little brighter and every one is looking forward to the "Home-Coming Banquet".

The boys' and girls' gym classes hiked to the north last week. It was a rather unnerving affair, however, for all worried about Adolph girls were thankful. (Miss Dagmar Hammer is a private nurse of Omaha.)

Vera Holst is the "Local-Activities" editor of the "Hermes". Her service is missed by the staff and it is hoped that she will be back with them soon, this time fully recovered. Lucille Hansen will take her place as "Local Activities" editor until Vera is able to return. Miss Hansen is capable and good results are expected.

Later information received on the morning of January the 29th, stated that Miss Holst had been in a delirious state all the previous night and was yet in the same condition. She had to be under constant supervision. Dr. Nielsen was attending her. It was decided to take her to Omaha in the ambulance. Friends are anxiously awaiting some turn for the better in her condition.

Pres. Hansen and Alfa Hansen, Vera's room-mate, accompanied her. Dr. Nielsen also accompanied the group.

team-mates, "Milt" threw a pretty shot, and made the score 6 to 0 in Dana's favor. Omaha U. then rallied and gained four field goals in a cleaver bit of offensive work. "Pete" and "Mert" both made a free throw. As the half ended, the tally was 8-8.

The second half proved to be just as much a thriller as the first. In some places it was much more thrilling, causing the cheering section to yell themselves hoarse. "Mert" opened up with a bang and "put the hoop around the sphere" twice in succession, and again he and "Pete" added two points by free throws. Omaha U. also showed their form and kept the score tied the better part of the half. Up until the final "toot" of the horn it was a "battle royal". The second half ended with another tie—14-14.

In the extra period "Mert", who had played a good game, was replaced by Mortensen, a former Abraham Lincoln High player. Each team waited for the break and in a short time the Rabbits had made six points. Victory faded.

It was truly a wonderful game with the teams so evenly matched and putting up such a clean fight.

friends who have made this possible. Only two years since the campaign began, too.

Now comes our appeal TO YOU. The last installment will be due in the spring. Mr. Thomsen tells us that he believes he will be able to get his pledge paid in full so that we can make final report at our next Convention. CAN YOU? We know you will if you can. Send us as much as you can now, and tell us just when we can look for the balance. Help us to reduce the number of unpaid subscriptions to 70 by March 1—just half of what it is now.

And thank you for your gift and your interest in this campaign. We have great hopes—a plate on this building stating "1100 subscriptions all paid in full". It would be a unique memorial indeed, and one we could justly be proud of. WATCH THE "DANA GYM COLUMN" IN OUR PAPERS, AND SEE THAT OUR TREASURER HAS YOUR NAME THERE IN MARCH.

Petersen. It seemed that he just would get in front of the cars.

Marie Sierk, who was operated for appendicitis recently in Omaha, has returned to her home in Fort Calhoun. She will come back to Dana to finish her work for the first semester but is uncertain as to whether or not she will continue her work for the second semester.

Miss Jorgenson, Miss Falk, and Mrs. H. J. Hansen attended the Nordic Reading Circle held at the home of Professor Waldo B. Nielsen last Friday evening.

Helen Nicolaisen spent the last week-end with Bessie Morgan at Bessie's home. They returned Sunday afternoon as Helen came back for choir practice.

Among those who left the campus last week-end were: Louise Christensen, Mary Casperson, and Alice Gissel who visited relatives of Louise at Lyons, Nebraska. Gudmund Rundstrom motored to Lyons Sunday forenoon and the girls returned with him in the afternoon.

After a week's absence, Ann Nielsen returned to school. Her sister Agnes drove her back to school Saturday. Helene Hansen, from Elk Horn, came with them and visited friends here.

Scriver Kloth spoke in the church at Lyons, Nebraska, last Sunday.

A large number of alumnae have been invited to the Home-Coming Banquet, besides a number of friends. About three hundred are expected to be present.

E. William Magnussen has completed one semester's work. He does not expect to attend school this semester. He took the journey to St. Paul, Nebraska, in his "tin-type" Wednesday morning, the 23rd of January. He arrived safely and is now back at his old position in the "White Palace".

Damon Nielsen discontinued his course at Dana. He intends to take up special work in the mortician's line.

FORMER STUDENT COLUMN

Agnes Nielsen and Helene Hansen of Elk Horn visited friends at Dana last week end. Miss Hansen also visited her brother Alfred Hansen and family. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hansen are the cooks at Dana.

Hilton Rhoades and Lucille Jensen were married January 17.

Miss Esther Jensen, having completed one semester's work returned to her home in Omaha.

Olivia Johnson, who visited Dana with her mother this fall on her way from California to Cedar Falls, Iowa, recently returned to California. She and her mother had intended to make their home at Cedar Falls.

Mrs. Esther Muller Frandsen is the proud mother of a daughter, Ruth Marie. Frandsens are making their home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Miss Nellie Woltje is doing housework in Omaha.

Severin Sorensen is attending high school in Beresford, S. Dak.

Ruth Kaldahl was a visitor at Dana this week-end. She is working at the Immanuel Lutheran Hospital.

The service colsed with a benediction.

Interment took place at Elk Horn Sunday afternoon, the twentieth of January. Services were held in Danish at Andrew Larsen's home.

President Hansen, Prof. Sanden, Anne Nielsen, Elvira Nielsen, Freda Smith, Beulah Carstensen, Mark Christiansen, Albert Andersen, Peter Sorensen, Henry Hansen and Viggo Petersen attended this last rite.

It was further decided that prompt action should be taken in getting the society insignia registered at the U. S. Office of Patents and Copyrights. The keys will be ordered as soon as the name and design have been properly registered and accepted.

Miss Jensen, our librarian, was granted honorary membership in the organization by unanimous decision of the members in expression of their appreciation of her untiring efforts and interest in debating.

Mr. Marcus Beck, Clerk for Washington County, was the guest of the society for the evening. During the informal hour which followed the business session he gave the debaters many enlightening suggestions as to the methods of court procedure, the selection of jurors, and the merits and demerits of the present jury system. The debaters gained much from his discussion, as he is well versed in court methods as they are being carried out in actual practice. Light refreshments closed the program for the evening.

It is hoped that Mr. Beck and other court officials and attorneys may be secured for some of our future meetings as their knowledge and observations of the present jury system are appreciated and welcomed by the debaters as valuable sources of practical information.

FROM THE BOILER ROOM

Examination is a term applied to the libation of the sum total of knowledge acquired through a semester's arduous study.

The professor vouchsafes upon a class a series of inquiries tending to give the recipients hard cases of hyperkinesis or at least making half of them diplaptic.

Students on being placed before a set of questions, that are peregrine to their knowledge, reciprocate by handing in papers unintelligible to the "profs".

Hard tests result in soft heads.

Each year at this time there are individuals who hope that Thomas Hobbes was wrong when he maintained that miracles are impossible.

* * *

Knowledge of law antiquity often brings the high grades.

* * *

Voluminous papers filled with sesquipedalian words can easily bring home a short grade.

Dropping below the passing mark tends toward making the fallen one jump with rage.

Low grades bring high colors to the face.

Unloading one's knowledge at the exams does not always lighten the conscience.

Most professors find grading examination papers degrading.

JEST OURSELVES

Dear Folks:

I am sitting on the top of the world, no, I mean on my Webster, but anyway I feel just like I was sitting on the top of the world for now we are through our exams, and it sure feels fine; I have thrown all my books over in a corner with a pretty good wish never to take them up again, but I suppose I will have to; but one thing is certain, I am not going to be an honor student this year, because I did not know they had such a thing at Dana before the president told us about it, and then it was too late. My mathematic raptus was not with me the day we had our exam in Physics, for when we had to handle all the different molecules, calories, density, saturation, and energy, and what the names of all those things are, I got them all mixed up and I put so many calories into my water, that it all went up in steam and when I later tried to multiply it with density it became too heavy. I mixed it with half a dozen x'es and made the whole matter equal to H₂O but my teacher could not understand it, so he made it equal to zero.

American Lit. I like better, because I am very interested in Lit. and specially in Mark Twain. He wrote a book called "The Freedom of the Will"; it is a good one but I can't remember it now.

In History our teacher asked who Smith was, and I wrote he was governor of New York and ran against Hoover, but he took 10 per cent off; he said he was the leader of the Virginia Colony, but I think it is because our teacher is a Republican, but I am a Democrat, and know Smith.

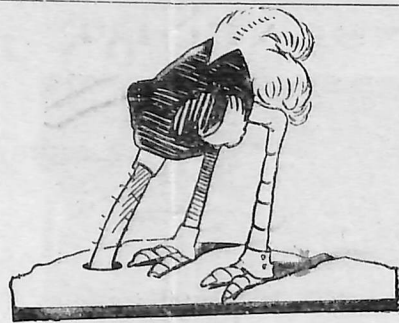

Well, but of course, I will not

DANA STUDENT SUCCUMBS AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

of Dana. Encouraged by the favorable reports that came from time to time as to his condition, the news that he would not recover came as a thunderbolt out of a clear sky. As was said at the funeral services in the chapel, it was not long before the knowledge of the serious turn in Andrew's illness was in the mind of every student and his condition was written on their faces. A strange silence hovered in the dormitories—a silence that few if any of the students had known here before—and when the end came, the silence became still more intense. It was a contemplative silence that breathed in the hearts of the students, revealing sympathy, respect, love for one who was no more.

Funeral services were conducted in the chapel the following afternoon. Every seat was taken by students and others who had come to pay their final tribute to a fellow student and friend. Silence reigned as the short but impressive service that gripped the hearts of all proceeded. Three eulogies were given. Rev. Kirkegaard spoke first, representing the faculty; Scriver Kloth followed him as the representative of the students; and Rev. Videbeck of Elk Horn, Andrew's pastor, made the closing remarks. After the closing hymn and the benediction, the basketball team, of which Andrew had been a member, assembled about the coffin to carry it from the chapel to the funeral coach which carried the body to Elk Horn where interment took place the following Sunday afternoon.

think more about the exams. My roommate is not through yet; she studied until 2 o'clock last night and began again at 5 this morning. "Det er tår Kost". I am not opposed to studying, but I can't sleep when she thinks aloud.

My boy-friend was down at the frat-house one day. He found Krudd studying Hebrew so hard that he was blue in his face. My friend asked why he studied that hard, when he already had reached the last page of the book—Krudd answered, "Det er Hebrew, dit Fæ." It was explanation enough.

Do you know that Kris Winther has started a business as milkman on Sunday from Blair to Omaha? It is a little against his comprehension of comfort; but it is one way to reach Council Bluffs anyway.

I was down at the Dannevirke meeting last night; it is the winter-students Greek society, at least one of them read a story and it was all Greek to me. When he was through Mr. Fynboe made a speech about Danish words and their right use. He thought it would be a good idea to have a critic to correct winter-student-Danish, and because Mr. Fynboe knows both English, Københavnsk, Jydsk, Fynsk, og Dansk, I think he would be the man.

We had our meeting tonight and it was funny to see how the last day has changed the impression of my friends. Yesterday every one of them went around with a face like that of a vinegar manufacturer, but tonight there was sunshine all over. I do not feel any difference in myself, I am yesterday, today and tomorrow and always ented by Mary Caspersen, Kristian Winther, and Leo Andersen; the negative by Dorothy Jensen, Richard Morton, and Clifford Madsen.

This was the first inter-scholastic tilt for our negative and the second for the affirmative. Both debates were close and hard-fought, the advantages and disadvantages of each case being quite evenly divided. The purpose of these pre-season contests is to uncover defects and loopholes in the respective cases in order that they may be weeded out as the season progresses.

While at Omaha, the teams and coach had an opportunity to see the beautiful trophy awarded to the conference winners last year, and every one decided to put forth his very best in the coming season in order that the trophy might be hung up in the Dana Hall this spring and there make its permanent home.

LUTHER LEAGUE HOLDS MEETING

The Luther League held its regular meeting January 16th. After singing a hymn, Cornelius Hansen read the 103rd Psalm and led in prayer. The Second Choir gave a selection under the direction of P. Waldo B. Nielsen. The main speaker, Kristian Winther, gave a very interesting talk on the life and work of the Christian Japanese leader, Kagawa.
