

Winter Course Gets Under Way Nov. 18

G. B. Christiansen Passes To Reward

In the death of G. B. Christiansen, the United Danish Ev. Luth. Church in America lost one of its ablest pioneers, if not its ablest pioneer. When at that historical meeting at Argo, he was chosen as the leader, it was in recognition of his ability as a leader, that he was made president of that new child of the Lutheran Church in America.

His deep loyalty to the spiritual needs of his countrymen in a new land made him the most prominent figure of the church for more than a third of a century. A deep devotion to them together with a naturally buoyant spirit and the conviction of serving the Lord in doing what he did, carried him successfully over difficulties that would have crushed most men.

From the time of his spiritual awakening at the confirmation age, the thought that gripped his mind was the vision as worker in the mission field of his countrymen. With the growth of the church, of which he was leader, this mission vision widened until it had the whole world in its embrace. Through his influence, the foreign mission activity of the church was successfully launched and maintained, even when it appeared to others as though the task set for the church seemed too difficult of realization. Occasionally, when the cause of missions was trembling in the balance, the persuasive power of his eloquence would turn the tide, and the men, who a few moments before had been discouraged almost to the point of despondency, would take new courage and be ready to make still greater sacrifices in order that the work started on the foreign mission field might not suffer.

"HESPERIAN" PRESENTS INTERESTING PROGRAM

"Progressive Steps in Communication" was the subject presented by the Hesperian Literary Society in the college chapel, October 4. The program opened with the singing of the Dana College song. Following this, piano duets were rendered by Edna Hansen and Frances Mortenson.

The first speaker of the evening, Edna Bondo, ably discussed "Ancient Modes of Communication." She called attention to the primitive methods of picture writing, hieroglyphics, syllable writings, and other ancient modes. Milton Andersen gave a discourse on "Medieval Modes of Communication." He opened his talk with a humorous remark, asking, "How would you like to fight a battle after the treaty had been signed?" He presented some interesting data about pony-expresses, stage coaches, the discovery of the use of steam as locomotive power, the inauguration of the United States Postal Department, the origin of the two-cent stamp, the invention of the telephone and telegraph. In conclusion, to illustrate the inefficient means of communication, he related that the War of 1812 ended two weeks after the treaty had been signed. The third speaker, Dagny Nielsen, humorously presented the

Dana Rolls Up A Second Victory

What will go down in Dana's grid-iron history was accomplished when the Viking battling eleven downed a strong team from Luther College of Wahoo, Nebraska. This makes two consecutive victories, a feat which has never before been accomplished by a Dana eleven. The struggle, which was fought clean and hard ended with the victorious Vikings in the lead by a 20-7 count.

Dana's battlefront was slightly changed from the one which had defeated the American Business College of Omaha the previous week, but it appeared to be an advantage rather than a disadvantage. The forward wall moved with more consistent accuracy and made large holes for the persistent on-rushing backs. The aerial attack functioned beautifully and aided materially in gaining the history-making victory.

Dana chose to defend the west goal and Luther in turn chose to receive the initial kickoff. On the first kickoff Luther raced the ball back to their 45-yard line where it was put into play. It was first down and ten yards to go. Three line bucks failed to make first downs and the ball was punted to Dana's 35-yard line, where Tilden scooped up the ball and returned it 20 yards. Dana found Luther's forward wall equally as powerful as their own and punt formation was resorted to as the best strategy. Neither team gained any decision as far as ball carrying was concerned and the quarter ended in a scoreless tie.

In the second period the "Vikings" started a mad dash for Luther's goal and it ended with a touchdown. "Fuzzy" Tilden heaved the oval to Mortensen for a 30 yard gain and on the next play Mortensen again nabbed a pass via the same route and turned it into a touchdown. Point after touchdown came by a line

LUTHER LEAGUE SPONSORS PROGRAM

The Luther League held a meeting Wednesday, October 9.

A large crowd of students had gathered. After the singing of a hymn Mr. Elmer Andersen read the scripture section Eph. 2:1-11, and led in prayer.

The theme of the evening, "Miracles of Christ," was assigned to Mr. Arnold Andersen and Mr. Hagedorn.

Mr. Andersen had chosen as a basis for his talk, "The Miracle of the Healing of the Blind Man." In words of introduction Mr. Andersen gave us the setting, the occasion, time and place of the Gospel story. The miracle was performed in order to show forth the glory of God. Many people of today are blind concerning their spiritual attitude towards God. They do not realize that there is such a thing as the kingdom of God. This is caused by sin. In Rom. 7 we read that evil is with us. We being blind on account of the curse of sin, need the great physician to open our eyes, that we may see and understand.

After a violin solo by Miss Rasmussen, Mr. Hagedorn read the Gospel record of the healing of the deaf. Mr. Hagedorn pointed out that in all His miracles Jesus is not

Prof. Erland Nelson Becomes College Head

Professor Erland Nelson has consented to act as president of Dana College and Trinity Seminary for the ensuing school year.

President Nelson's home is in Ruskin, Nebraska, where he is a confirmed member of Bethany Lutheran Church, and is proudly considered one of their loyal sons. President Nelson graduated from the Normal Training Department of Ruskin High School. He received his A.B. at Peru Teachers' College. He has taken graduate work at the University of Nebraska and expects to receive his M.A. degree from this University next summer.

President Nelson taught rural school near Benkelman, Nebraska, for one term, following which he was superintendent of the public schools at Comstock, Nebraska, for two years. Later he was superintendent of schools at Juniata, two years. He is at present serving his fourth year at Dana College. He has headed the Commercial Department and also coached the debating teams, which have made a splendid record for our school. President Nelson will devote his time to the administrative work, continuing, however, his work as the leader of the debating teams, assisted by Clifford Madsen.

President Nelson has shown great interest in Dana and with his leadership and the co-operation of the student body, the present school term will assuredly prove a success.

SEMINARY OPENS WITH PROGRAM OCTOBER 1.

On the evening of October 1, at 7:30 o'clock, a large assembly gathered to attend the opening service of Trinity Theological Seminary.

After the singing of a hymn, Prof. J. P. Nielsen, Dean of the Seminary, read several selections from the Pastoral Epistles and offered prayer. Miss Ida Hansen rendered as a vocal solo the gripping Bible story of the Publican and the Pharisee. Then Prof. J. P. Nielsen brought a hearty welcome to the seminary students, and introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. James Lund.

Rev. Lund had chosen for his theme: "Why I like the ministry." As his point of departure he took from Rom. 1:15: "So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you." Many reasons were given and some of the outstanding

College And Academic Credit Given In New Winter Term

Prof. Theo. M. Hansen Resigns Presidency

Professor Theodore M. Hansen, who has been president of Dana College and Trinity Seminary for the past four years has resigned his position and accepted a call to be pastor of Cavalry and Trinity Congregations at Denmark, Wis. During Prof. Hansen's presidency many improvements have been made at Dana, for which he deserves no small credit. The new dormitory, and the new gymnasium, have been erected on the college campus, during his leadership. President Hansen also deserves much credit for the part he has played in the building up of the curriculum of the institution. He has always stood for the highest ideals in school work.

Prof. Hansen's love for our college and seminary has in no way diminished by his resignation, but he has felt called to the regular work of the ministry.

The faculty met Sept. 30, in Professor Erland Nelson's home to bid President Hansen farewell. They presented him with a beautiful silver tea set, which had the words "Dana College and Trinity Seminary" engraved on it. This beautiful gift was presented as a token of

ALPHA SIGMA PHI ADMITS NEW MEMBERS

Six solemn and dignified candidates followed Marshal Harald Larsen into the men's reception hall, Saturday evening, September 28. They were Edna Bondo, Lucille Hanson, Dagny Nielsen, Othelia Nelson, Evelyn Hansen, and Ervin Bondo. It was the annual initiation of new members to the Dana College Forensic Society, Alpha Sigma Phi.

These candidates were conducted by the marshal to the vice-president, who inquired as to their eligibility. Next they were given the pledge of the Society by President Madsen.

A brief talk was given by Dr. C. X. Hansen, honorary member of the Society, on "Alpha" or "Truth." Harald Larsen spoke on "Sigma" or "Wisdom," and "Phi" or "Eloquence" was discussed by Clifford Madsen. This was followed by the history of the Alpha Sigma Phi and of debating at Dana College by President Erland Nelson. Dorothy Jensen spoke on "Future Prospects."

Another important event was the arrival of the refreshments, after which all enjoyed a pleasant social hour.

After these associate members have completed one year of debating they become permanent members, entitled to wear the official key of the Society.

The total membership of this organization is twenty three permanent and associate members.

The officers of the Alpha Sigma Phi are: Clifford Madsen, president; Dorothy Jensen, vice-president; and Harald Larsen, secretary-treasurer.

The aim of the Alpha Sigma Phi is to further the interest in forensic activities at Dana College and to promote a spirit of fellowship among the debaters.

A NEW OPPORTUNITY FOR WINTER STUDENTS

Are you one of the many who have completed the high school but due to financial difficulties or due to your spring and fall work were unable to go on through college? Dana College has now arranged a new winter semester which we believe offers you an opportunity to secure the standard college courses you desire. The new winter semester, beginning November 18 and ending March 21, costs exactly half that of the regular nine-month term. Furthermore, it comes at a time when leave can most easily be obtained in most vocations without loss of an entire year's income.

The new semester offers an opportunity, not only to get a taste of real college life, but also to pursue fully accredited college courses which will broaden the vision and enrich one's life. The variety of college subjects offered is wide, including, English, chemistry, botany, typewriting, accounting, business law, mathematics, American history, Bible study, German, Danish, physical training, piano, voice, violin, choir, and debate. All courses carry full credit and count toward the A.B. degree.

To those who have not completed high school, the same privileges are offered on the Academic level. The academy subjects offered include typewriting, agriculture, English, Danish, Latin, algebra, general science, bookkeeping, Bible study, physical training, piano, voice, violin, choir and debate. These courses carry full credit and count toward the high school diploma.

With these opportunities offered by Dana College we suggest that each one survey his or her own circumstances seriously and ask yourself how you can best make this year count in life values. Can you truth-

STUDENTS RE-OPEN SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

Again the students have begun the Sunday School work in the north-east section of Blair.

This work was given over to the Danish Lutheran Sunday School during the summer. Sunday School has been held every Sunday. At first Mr. Wm. Johnson was superintendent. Later that office was taken over by Miss Anna Jensen. Mr. Johnson and Miss Jensen together with the teachers who have helped deserve thanks for the good work they have done. It can easily be realized what work it is to take care of two Sunday Schools during the summer months, but it is also well to remember that all work in the kingdom of God shall be rewarded by Him. Matt. 10:42.

Not only has the Sunday School work been taken care of, but great improvements have been done to the house during the summer. Curtains and shades have been furnished for the windows, pictures for the walls, and the floors have been oiled. All of this has been done by friends among the ladies in the Danish Lutheran Church. The students wish to express their heartiest

NOTEBOOK OR MEMORY

Hypernesia—who has it at Dana? There may be those who think they have it, but “to think to have” and “to have” only too often do not correspond in reality. There are students who would make the world believe they are so extraordinarily endowed with the power of memory, that their mind serves as a sort of magnet which the pages they peruse cannot resist. They do not have to study, for whatever they see is irresistably drawn in and retained. To go to class is for them no more difficult than to imbibe the lectures of the professors, for once the classroom is reached, they sit cozily upon a chair, with folded arms and notebook closed, and just drink in, forever to retain, the words of the wise. How foolish it is for anyone to rest in such pretentions! He deceives himself, not his fellow students.

The person who relies upon his memory and forgets his notebook is a poor student. Very few are so marvelously endowed that they can remember, as could Seneca, a list of several thousand names with but a single reading. We venture to say that no one at Dana can even begin to perform in such a manner. On the other hand, he is just as poor a student who makes use of his notebook abundantly, but never exercises his memory, and surely, unless the latter complements the former, tests and examinations likely will end in failure or near failure.

The human mind is peculiar in the way in which it must be treated in the matter of memorizing. It is true that some find it easier than others to grasp facts and retain them, but to a certain extent, at least, all must pursue the method of careful observation and repetition in order to learn. The importance of observation no one will deny. Mere learning by repetition, without reference to sense and peculiarities in presentation and that, is bound to be a lengthy process, likely incorrect in result, certainly superficial in impression, not to say anything about short lived in retention by the individual. In fact, one reading reinforced by concentration and attention upon the that, is likely to be more successful than several readings overlooking, or slightly noticing, the that. Repetition, however, must not be slighted as a factor where thoroughness is desired. Repetition is the mother of learning, writes a learned Roman, and no doubt he had experienced in his pursuit of studies, that positive knowledge lodges in the memory best, and lends itself to practical use most readily, thru hard work and frequent contact.

It is, of course, impossible to retain everything that a notebook contains, even with frequent consultation and study. There is always some point or other that will be overlooked. But even if this is a fact, the notebook, if it is carefully organized and worked out, should be of value. If a student has a good professor, possibly in philosophy or psychology, he would be foolish if he didn't preserve for future use and reference what he had received.

The question, therefore, should not be notebook or memory. Either alternative is insufficient for thoroughness in study. If a person is really a student, he will learn by observation and by doing.—C. S. K.

PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY

The individual student generally underestimates the part he plays as an advertising agency for his school, but the fact nevertheless remains that the outside world in most instances judges a school by the conduct of its students. The responsibility for the progress and success of a school must therefore necessarily be considered by each individual member. This responsibility should especially be taken into consideration by students of a small religious school like Dana.

Furthermore, Dana students owe her friends and supporters so much appreciation for their loyalty that they will live up to their expectations. Many are the Dana friends who have longed and prayed that an ever deeper and richer life together with a greater sense of Christian responsibility may be realized in our student body. These prayers remind us of our primary duty. Our school has no right to exist unless it answers the challenge of creating a Christian atmosphere in all its activities. We must therefore be on guard lest false enthusiasm is allowed to substitute for the true Christian spirit. Christianity alone is able to sustain our school and insure its growth and success. Let us then respond to the challenge, which comes to us from the prayers offered in our behalf, by resorting to the same privilege of prayer, in order that we may realize even greater spiritual blessings than those we enjoy. If we desire to promote a splendid fellowship and co-operation in interest of Dana, we can find no better method than intercession and no safer foundation to build student life upon than heeding God's Word. Are you willing to meet this challenge?

THE SECRET POWER

OF A CHRISTIAN

This Scripture selection is very fitting to our age. Suppose some person at a social party would ask the question, “How many in this group profess to be Christians?” No doubt, most of the members would say, “Of course, I am a Christian.” Yet, there is a distinction between those who merely call themselves Christians and those who in reality are Christians. There are those who only bear the Christian name because they have been baptized. There are others who manifest Christianity with their lives. It does not take long to recognize a person who has made up his mind to live a life consecrated unto God.

What is that secret power which in its manifestation brings about the difference between these two classes? Scripture says, “If anyone is a hearer of the Word and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a mirror: for he beholdeth himself, and goeth away, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was.” This is just exactly what happens in every day life in our time. How many of us are using the Word of God? Do you find delight and pleasure in having private devotion. If not, read your Bible. It is the only sure guide for purposeful life. Ask yourself the question, “Do you have a life-purpose, a certain aim, one holy and sacred ambition?” A person who walks on slippery ground, who does not know the meaning or value of life, is to be pitied. A man may lose his

PASSES TO REWARD

But Rev. Christiansen's interests while most deeply centered in missionary activities, were by no means limited to these. As leader, first of the Danish Church, frequently called the Blair Synod, from 1884—96, and afterwards of the Danish Ev. Luth. Church in America, he had the welfare of all the other activities incumbent on a free church deeply at heart. The questions arising in connection with these activities often gave occasion for great and determined efforts. His ability to meet them was made possible by his implicit, almost childlike faith in God. His belief that God willed things so, made him the power that he was. Yes, even made him the one man who could inspire confidence among his co-workers as well as in the laity of the church.

Could the U. D. E. Luth. Church of America honor him more worthily than by erecting a memorial embodying his love, his devotion, his sympathy, his vision of the field of labor and his zeal? Such a memorial would be an inspiration for the future. As a preacher, he was a power among his people. As a pastor, he was deeply sympathetic with every one in spiritual distress. Out of the richness of his experience he was able to bring comfort and consolation.

As an administrator, his sanguine temperament was the most frequent cause of error in judgment. His errors of judgment were due to the largeness of his heart, but not to his mind.

In his every activity, his devotion to the cause of the advancement of God's Kingdom among men, his ardent desire to take up the refrain of the angels from the hills of Judea, bordered on the sublime. The realization of the living Christ as a real need of the Christian possessed his soul.

fortune and reputation and may even lose his self-respect. Happy is he, if he then decides to rise with a holy ambition. But woe unto the man who when he has fallen refuses to rise.

What is then your attitude toward the Word of God? The Word of God is the law of perfection. Perhaps when the prodigal son gave himself up to excess, his only motive was to prove that he was free, but such liberty is not in harmony with the law of God. The false and improper liberty causes man to disregard his Father's voice. The giving way to evil desires was man's first sin, and it is a sin of which all others are only different forms. The prophet says that the heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked; who can know it? Therefore, it was necessary that God should give it a censor, which is never deceived. The Word of God is the censor. Has not God said that He will teach His way to the humble and has not Jesus Christ said, “Learn of me, for I am meek and lowly of heart.” It is written, “He that soweth to the flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption.”

The obedience of the Christian to the Word of God requires voluntary action, but there can be no true obedience without love, because love is the fulfillment of the law. This is the secret power of a Christian, and there can not be spiritual growth without a willingness to obey God's will. The prince of evil desires to destroy the willing mind which obeys God's Word. If therefore Satan will tempt us to read the Bible in a superficial way, and try to make us forget what we read concerning our sin and weak condition, we must stand firmly and take up the battle.

“But he that looketh into the perfect law, the law of liberty, and so continueth, being not a hearer that forgetteth, but a doer that worketh, this man shall be blessed in his doing.”

In Jer. 48:10 is recorded a very severe and decided word, “Cursed be he that doeth the work of the Lord deceitfully.” Lukewarmness and slothfulness bring the curse. Earnest fighting, unwearied running in the course of the battle bring blessings and peace. The Apostle Paul wrote to the Philippians, “I am set for the defense of the Gospel.” Slothfulness is the road to hell; but earnest battle in the Lord is the road to eternal peace.

school and the splendid spirit of fel-facts were mentioned. He said, “I like the ministry because I love Jesus; He came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and give His life as a ransom for the world.” The ministry has the divine, powerful authority, which is expressed in the words, “All authority hath been given unto me in heaven and on earth. Go ye therefore and make disciples of all the nations—and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.” Another reason: “I like the ministry because of the wonderful message it brings to mankind.” It bears with it the message of salvation and redemption from sin to all who are longing for deliverance from the bonds of sin. At the conclusion Rev. Lund pointed out the various opportunities and experiences of the minister in his daily life, how he meets people of all trades and with different attitudes toward religion. He pointed out the joys but also the difficulties and the responsibility of the minister.

Prof. Erland Nelson, our acting president, greeted the seminary students with a welcome. Prof. Nelson emphasized the value of spiritual fellowship and personal work for the Master among our fellow students. With all seriousness Prof. Nelson held up the ideal of our institution as the light on the hill. His vision extended so far as to say that “we ought not need to call upon outside ministers to refresh us; on the contrary, Dana ought to be such a spiritual power in our synod that those who come to visit the institution could depart with new strength and holy ambition for service in the kingdom of God.”

The service was closed with the Lord's Prayer.

THE "VIKINGS" OPEN SEASON WITH VICTORY

Before a colorful crowd estimated at four hundred persons and amid ideal football weather, the Vikings of Dana, clad in scarlet and white battled on to a hard fought victory over the American Business College of Omaha by the score of 14—0.

The battle, which was replete with spectacular plays from start to finish, turned out as had been predicted by the "dopesters" as a "battle royal." Both teams presented strong offenses and equally as strong defenses, but the lighter Vikings held an advantage in the aerial attack and this proved to be the cause for the victory margin. The penalties throughout were heavy and both teams suffered equally in this respect.

The game started with a rush. American Business College chose to receive and on the initial kickoff the ball was booted to their 15-yard line, where "Rube" Strickler picked up the ball and returned it to his 30-yard line. The first play was a wide end run, but it netted only a gain of two yards. On the next play "Bill" Larsen, Dana's left tackle, blocked the punt and recovered the ball on the Business College's 18-yard line. It was first down and the possibility of scoring loomed in sight for the Vikings, but not so in the minds of their opponents; consequently no score was registered at this point of the battle. With the pigskin on their own eight-yard line the Business College punted safely out of danger. The two elevens fought on nearly even terms for the remainder of the first quarter and it ended in a scoreless tie. Dana was relying on the forward pass formation and it was evident that, if there was any score to be made it was to be by the aerial route.

The second quarter proved to be more complete in the line of scoring and on two occasions the scarlet and white avalanche plowed through to register a touchdown and followed it up by scoring a touchback. The touchdown resulted from a well executed pass from "Fuzzy" Tilden to Mortensen, and the touchback from a blocked punt behind the American Business College's goal line. At the end of the first half Dana was in the lead by the score of 8—0.

Shortly after play had been started in the third quarter three 15-yard penalties were administered. Of these the American Business College received two and Dana one.

thanks and appreciation for all of this.

The students were very glad to take up the work again and the children were happy to see them. Some of the students went to the homes in that district of town and invited the children to come to Sunday School. The responses from both children and parents were very promising.

It is the hope and prayer of those engaged in the work that God by His Grace will use them in His service to bring the gospel light into the hearts of those children.

This report is brought to the friends of this work, that they may remember the work in their prayers to God, for without His blessing the labor will be in vain. May His name be glorified through the work.

appreciation for his interest in the fellowship enjoyed during the years of his service at Dana.

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 1, immediately after the opening of the seminary, Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Hansen were invited to the reception room of the men's dormitory, where the seminary students and faculty gathered for a farewell party in honor of President Hansen and family.

Arnold Anderson, president of the seminary class, had charge of the program. Prof. J. P. Nielsen, representing the seminary faculty, gave a short talk. He mentioned that perfect harmony and co-operation had been enjoyed in his work with Pres. Hansen. He also stated that the smaller differences did not hinder them in standing united for the greater things in connection with the work. Marinus Hagedorn, representing the seminary group, also expressed some fine thoughts. He emphasized that he had enjoyed many good things from Rev. Hansen as pastor, both in home, the catechetical class, and from the pulpit. Mr. Hagedorn stated, furthermore, that he felt assured Rev. and Mrs. Hansen were going into a work they enjoyed and that God would use them to glorify His name. In behalf of the seminary students and himself, he wished them God's richest blessing and greeted them with a word of God found in Jn. 14:7.

Prof. C. B. Larsen was next called upon. He referred to many good hours spent together. He said, he respected Rev. Hansen for his firm stand as a Christian.

Scrifer Kloth presented Rev. Hansen with a desk holder and fountain pen in remembrance of the seminary students as an appreciation of what he has meant to them.

Rev. Hansen responded very fittingly. He wished God's richest blessing on the college and seminary work and in bidding farewell stated that he felt he was doing God's will by taking up pastoral duties. He also said that although he severed direct connection with the institution, yet he would cooperate and work for a greater Dana.

The faculty and students bid Rev. Theodore M. Hansen and family God's speed in their new work.

REV. HAROLD JENSEN SPEAKS AT CHAPEL

Rev. Harold C. Jensen, who travels in the interest of the school thruout the country, recently paid Dana a short visit, giving the daily chapel talk.

Rev. Jensen's message was presented as a greeting from the many people with whom he has come in contact on his travels and who showed themselves interested in the school. To what extent the hearts of these people show forth their love for the institution, which is a church school, and as such depends entirely for its support on voluntary contributions, is evident from the fact that in recent years the 19,000 confirmed members in the synod have donated $340,000, as well as given around $15,000 each year to cover the annual running expenses. In connection with this thot, Rev. Jensen portrayed the difference in the method of maintaining public and church schools. The former type, with its large, spacious buildings that sometimes cost millions, has tremendous resources to draw from, because the public is taxed to meet the demand whether willingly or not, while the church school does not build upon such arbitrary methods of support, but appeals entirely for its support to the spirit of love that people have toward the institution. Bearing in mind that Dana is a school built upon such love, its students should show a spirit of gratitude toward their benefactors, who are making their education here possible.

CAMPUS DOINGS

Thursday, October 3, a photograph was taken of the student body and faculty group in front of the administration building. Photographs were also taken of the women's gymnasium class and the football team. Other pictures were taken of the campus at different views. The photographer was Mr Olson of Herman, Nebraska, who is the father of one of the students, Dagmar Olson.

There have been no services in the Blair Lutheran Church for some time, because the church is being repaired. The services have been held in the college chapel on Sunday forenoons.

Ben Engskov went to Omaha, October 3, for a physical examination. He returned October 5 in time to see the Dana-Luther football game.

Within the last two weeks, approximately $27 have been raised by students for curtains for the dining hall. The girls started the fund by sponsoring a pie a la mode sale on September 25. This stimulated interest and the fund was enlarged by the sales of candy and sandwiches at the two home football games. Friday, October 4, the dean of men presented $16 from the men to the fund. The curtains will cost $30. Since the amount has almost been secured, a committee was elected to purchase the goods. The girls have volunteered to sew the curtains.

Thursday, October 3, the girls' gymnasium class played an interesting game of squash-ball. Frances Mortenson and Edna Bondo acted as captains of the two respective teams. The game came to a close with a score of 4—2 in favor of Miss Mortenson's team.

Dana College arm-band monograms were sold previous to the Dana-Luther game in both dormitories, by Frances Mortenson selling to the girls and Ingvard Olsen to the boys.

The men's reception room has been beautified by two splendid congo-leum rugs. A third rug was placed in the dean's office. These articles have added greatly to the coziness of the rooms.

bound by circumstances. There were especially two factors which the speaker emphasized: First, Jesus took the deaf aside, out of the masses. This may signify that Jesus wants to act with each and every one of us personally, and in a special way. Christianity is a matter between the individual and God. Secondly, when Jesus saw the deaf, he sighed. Why did Jesus sigh? He knew that if he opened up for these ears they would hear much which they should not hear: sinful expressions, conversations marked and stamped with the curse of sin. What do we allow ourselves to listen to?

A short business session followed at which the following officers were elected: Mr. Scrifer Kloth, president; Mr. Jqhannes Larsen, vice-president; Mr. Ray Mortensen, treasurer; Miss Edna Hansen, secretary.

DANA ROLLS UP

A SECOND VICTORY

buck by Tom Wilkinsen and the score was Dana 7, Luther 0. The half ended with both teams battling furiously in midfield.

At the beginning of the third quarter it was evident that Luther was not going to be outdone and when the smoke of battle had cleared away they had tied the count at 7 all. Both elevens were resorting to their aerial attacks in this period, but Luther proved a trifle more successful in having men where the ball came down.

The final period found the Vikings rushing the Luther College warriors back to their goal, and on two occasions the rushes were turned into counters. The touchdowns were registered by "Fuzzy" Tilden. Both tries for point after touchdown were of the 50-50 variety and the score was Dana 20, Luther 7. For the remainder of the last period Dana played safe football and when the final whistle was blown the Vikings had again proven victorious. This time by the count of 20-7, giving the Dana Vikings a second victory thus far this season.

Coach Fynboe and his battling Vikings drove to Cotner College at Lincoln to play their strong four-year veterans, Friday, October 11.

NEW FOOTBALL MANAGER AND TRAINER SELECTED

Every football team needs a manager, and every football team needs a trainer. This year two men who are acquainted with these positions have been selected. The two men who have been selected and their respective jobs are: "Inky" Olsen as manager and "Tiny" Petersen as trainer.

"Inky" Olsen gained his experience with the football team of 1927 when he was assistant manager to the invincible Leo "Smoky" Andersen, who was manager. "Tiny," otherwise known as Murry Petersen, has had some experience at other schools.

Both men report they have plenty to do and are doing all they can to make Dana a winner.

topic, "Modern Methods of Communication." She discussed the telegraph, telephone and radio. Miss Nielsen ended her talk with a prophesy of still greater achievements in modes of communication in the near future.

Lucille Hanson and Aileen Miller rendered a vocal duet. The program was concluded with a song by the audience, "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean."

Arnold Andersen, president of the Society, invited new students to join the organization. It was reported that a number of students have already joined the Hesperian Society this year.

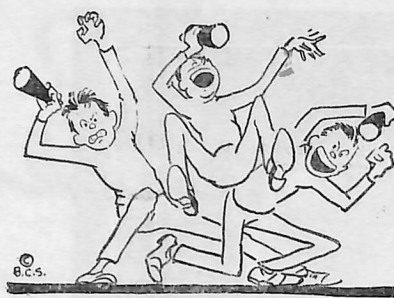

THE "VIKINGS" OPEN SEASON WITH VICTORY

Both teams were warned by the referee not to do any unnecessary piling. Both teams battled furiously in this period, but neither had any success in pushing the ball over for counters. It appeared that the Vikings were having the better of the argument for the pigskin was in their opponent's territory throughout this period.

The final period was a fitting climax to the hard struggle and in order to make the victory more impressive the Vikings rushed over another touchdown. The game ended shortly afterwards with Dana the victor by the score of 14-0.

Both teams played smart football and the struggle appeared more like a mid-season affair than the initial appearance for both squads.

JEST OURSELVES

Dear Old Pal:—

I guess I had better not give any excuses for being so late in writing to you, but if you wish to hear from me you'll just have to wait. I don't mean to sound like a "Hard Hearted Hannah," but since I am now a College co-ed, I am going to assume some determination. It's funny but it's true.

Dana is way up on top of a hill and you have to put on the brakes going down but coming up—not so!

All the students go down to Blair so much. You know, when I'm away from home, I'm always so extravagant. Why, just the other day I bought some rolls that were 20c a dozen. I know, I'll have to begin to economize soon, because this can't go on.

Just now Bob Hopewell is singing. Really, he is to be admired for his courage. Every day he practices his masterpiece, "Ach du lieber Augustine," to the utmost of his talent. (He certainly has strength in his voice.)

In your last letter you wanted to know about some of the students. Well, I'll tell you about a few.

Now, there's a likable fellow, who has the curliest blonde hair, and can he ever play football! They call him "Fuzzy."

Now, Mark Christensen has very few girl acquaintances—that he doesn't know.

Then there are Inky and Uppie Olsen who had a "drinking party" up in their room one night.—Coffee and pumpernickel.

But let me tell you of a sad (rather tragic) affair that happened the other night. It concerned four fellows over by the Boys' Dorm. We girls, in the Dorm, were in the midst of studying when we heard such a wailing—and in the night, it sounded quite pitiful. The next morning, we found out that these young lads had been harmonizing some songs. Of course, one must expect such things to happen although I lost one night's sleep, in pity.

Well, the lights have to be out at 10:30 and it is that now.

Love,

Maude.

P.S. You do make lovely divinity. I've almost forgotten how it tastes. Isn't that a shame?

RECEPTION ROOM MADE MORE COZY BY DANA FRIEND

The reception room in the ladies' dormitory always did look inviting with its comfortable settees and chairs and plush rugs, but this year recent additions make the atmosphere even more tempting. A beautiful table lamp graces one of the tables, ready to cast its soft rays down upon the pages absorbing some reader. Magazines always are numerous where there are ladies, nor are the Dana co-eds an exception. So to help them keep track of their Pictorial Reviews and Ladies' Home Companions, they now have at their disposal, a fine magazine rack. Pillows likewise are a welcome asset in a reception room, and if any one desires such, several colorful ones are now to be found on the chairs and settees.

The donor of these gifts must not be forgotten. Mrs. Charles Petersen and daughter Emma of Racine are the givers, and the girls heartily extend their thanks to them for remembering them so kindly. Mrs. Petersen is grandmother to one of the girls of the dormitory, Miss Bernice Brown.
