Students Talk At League Meetings

The Luther League meeting of April 18 opened by the singing of "Thee Will I Love." Lilly Jorgensen read Scripture and led in prayer. This was followed by the song, "O How Shall I Receive Thee." Paul Henry Holm-Jensen spoke, using as his text, "United With God." He chose for his text I Corinthians 3: 16. A vocal solo, "I Come to Thee," by Miss Agnes Nielsen, concluded the program.

Arne Voetmann read the Sixty-Third Psalm at the Luther League meeting, May 2. Hazel Petersen and Helen F. Peterson played a piano duet, "Marine Corps Reserves," by Geibel. Following this Herbert George spoke on "The Development of Prayer Life." He used as his text I Corinthians 14: 11. Mr. George spoke first of children's prayers and how some people continue to pray childish prayers. We too often pray (Continued on Page 2)

Last Discussion Of Nordics Held

The Nordic Reading Circle held its last meeting of the year, Saturday evening, April 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hansen, in Blair.

Henrik Ibsen's epic poem, "Terje Vigen," was the topic for discussion. Translations of the poem were compared, and it was shown that they lacked some of the fineness of the original.

Early Church Work Shown In Pictures

An interesting meeting of the Foreign Mission Society was held April 25. Wesley Andersen read Scripture from John 14: 1-5, and led in prayer.

Slides depicting the background and development of the Danish Lutheran Church in America were shown and explained by Prof. J. P. Nielsen.

The seminary quartet closed the meeting by singing, "I Am a Pilgrim."

Hesperians Give Honor To Mothers

At its last meeting of the year, May 4, the Hesperian Society presented a Mother's Day program in the college chapel.

Miss Edna Bondo gave a talk on the history of Mother's Day, a day devoted to the honor of mothers.

A reading, "A Parable of Little Mothers," was given by Viola Martens. Emil Pedersen sang "Mother Macree," and a piano solo, "Sea Piece," was played by Sophia Petersen. Andrew Staby read a paper on "A Mother's Influence in the Building of Character."

That "Mother" and "Home" have meanings synonymous for most of those who attended the Hesperian program, was brought out in a discussion of adjectives descriptive of mother.

Dr. Gould Wickey Speaks At Chapel

On the theme, "The hand of God warns, it works, and it wins," the Dana student body heard a stirring, Christian message at the chapel service April 20. The speaker was Dr. Gould Wickey, secretary of the National Lutheran Educational Conference, of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Wickey pointed to the warning hand of God in the national and international unrest which threatens war; also in the American warped standard of values, which, for instance, causes costly roads to be built in places where children are still in dire need of better school facilities.

Dr. Wickey pointed out the grave danger resulting from a decrease in the number of Lutherans seeking (Continued on Page 3)

Annual Picnic Is Successful Event

The annual college spring picnic for student body and faculty was held Saturday, May 5, at the south city park in Blair.

The afternoon was spent in playing pug ball and other games. Following the athletic activities, a short devotional service was conducted by Prof. H. C. Jersild.

At five o'clock a delicious supper was served.

Arrangements were made by Miss Anna Wind, social director, Andrew Staby, Bertha Holl, Lily Andersen, Anker Jensen, Jens Miller, Mildred Petersen, Agatha Madsen, and Herbert Harboe.

Choir Gives 23 Concerts During Tour

Congregations in Four States Hear Dana A Cappella Choir

Penetrating into the very heart of the synod of the United Danish Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, the Dana a cappella choir found a cordial response for itself and for the college, during the spring tour which it began April 6. The Christian message in song was brought to congregations in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, in twenty-three concerts. The choir returned to Dana, April 24, having traveled a total of 2,700 miles. This was the tenth of such tours which have been made.

The first concert of the tour was presented in the Presbyterian church at Atlantic, Iowa. At a reception, C. S. Fynboe spoke on Dana College as an institution for preservation of Danish culture.

On April 7 the choir sang in the Grand View Church at Des Moines. Grand View College was visited. Concerts on the following day, Sunday, were given at Coulter and Cedar Falls, Iowa. The Sunday evening concert at Cedar Falls was very well attended. The choir sang in the high school auditorium at West Branch, Iowa, on April 9. On the following day, the Rev. Chris Bertelsen met the choir at McNabb, Ill. (Continued on Page 3)

Plant Fruit Trees East Of Dana Gym

Under the supervision of Stanley Larsen, an orchard has recently been planted east of the gymnasium.

The main orchard consists of one hundred and forty apple and pear trees, and fifty grape vines. Thirty hackberry trees have been planted to serve as a wind-break.

Around the gymnasium seventeen elm and hackberry trees have been planted. A favorable growing season is hoped for.

Gives Liquid Air Exhibition Here

Liquid air, a substance so cold that it boils on ice, was demonstrated by Elliott James, scientist, in a program at the auditorium, the evening of May 1.

Much apparatus was used by Mr. James in putting liquid air through its paces. He froze mercury into a hammer and drove nails with it. Mercury freezes at 40 degrees below zero, but liquid air is more than 300 below. He froze a rubber ball and it flew into pieces when he threw it on the floor. He used the liquid air to operate an engine and to fire a cannon. He froze a lead bell and it gave a resonant sound. Many other experiments were performed in a rapid and interesting manner for the large audience present.

Mr. James explained that liquid air is the basic product of argon, for light bulbs; neon, for neon signs; nitrogen, for explosives; oxygen, for welding and for the separation of helium from natural gas. Several (Continued on Page 3)

Goldbeck Speaks At Convocation

"The real 'new deal' we need is to turn to God," said the Rev. Wm. Goldbeck, pastor of the Siloam Danish Ev. Lutheran Church, of Chicago, in a talk during the morning chapel service on May 2. He pointed out that social and moral reform are not the chief duties of the church, but to make disciples for the church. "Save the surface and you save all" may be a good slogan for paint manufacturers, he said, but we must not permit this kind of superficial reasoning to control our thoughts and actions in church work.

Many Attend Luther League Rally, May 6

Meetings Held on Dana Campus; Inspiring Talks Are Heard

Luther Leagues of the eastern Nebraska circuit held their annual spring rally in Alumni Memorial Auditorium, May 6. This is the second consecutive year this event has been held on the Dana Campus. Over one hundred representatives from the various leagues in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa attended the meetings.

The Rev. William Goldbeck, of Chicago, now touring the Nebraska League District, spoke at the afternoon meeting on "What Shall We Do to Be Saved?" taken from John I. Olfert V. Magnussen read from Ephesians 2: 1-10, and offered prayer. Musical numbers on the program were: a pipe organ solo, "Praise to the Lord," by Mrs. Gunnar J. Malmin, and a vocal duet, "Love Divine," by Aleine Miller and Helen Pedersen.

Paul Holm-Jensen spoke at the evening meeting, using as his theme, "Seeking God." Milton Johnson read the Sixty-Third Psalm and offered prayer. The Dana a cappella choir sang four numbers: "Beautiful Savior," "Salvation is Created," "Lullaby at Christmas Eve," and "Wake, Awake."

Byron Langenfeld, president of the Dana league, was chairman of the meetings. He spoke briefly at the conclusion of the program for the day. President J. P. Nielsen, of Trinity Seminary, pronounced the benediction.

A picnic supper was served on the college campus, following the afternoon meeting.

Science Academy Meets At Doane

The forty-fourth annual meeting of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences was held April 27-28 at Doane College, Crete, Nebr. An excellent program was offered. Prof. H. F. Swanson, of Dana, presented "A Study in Immigration History" at the meeting of the Social Science section. Dana was also represented at the meeting by Prof. S. M. Thomsen. Following is Professor Thomsen's report of the meeting:

Jupiter with its four moons, and our own moon with its many craters, as seen from the Boswell observatory, presented an interesting sight. (Continued on Page 3)

Students Offer Varied Program

Thursday evening, May 10, the program for Varsity night was given at the auditorium. The evening's entertainment included the following:

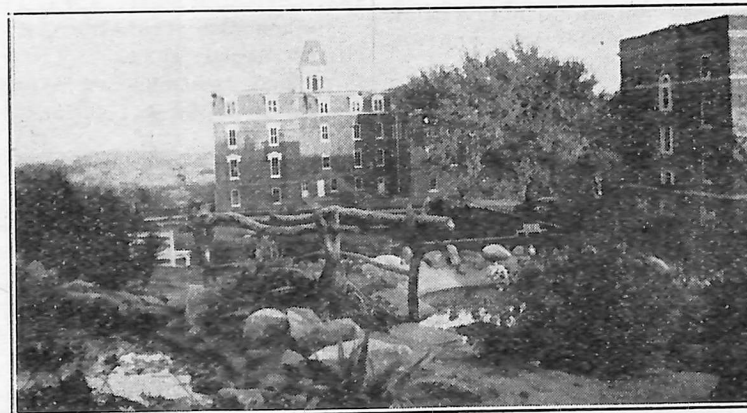

A one-act play, several selections by the toy orchestra of the plays and games class, harmonica selections by Anker Jensen, numbers by a men's quartet, stunts by the Fischer girls, a recitation by Robert Hartwig, and several vocal duets by Helen M. Petersen and Hazel Petersen.

THE PRIZE-WINNING PICTURE

At the right is one of the pictures which will appear in the 1934 Hermes Souvenir Annual. The snapshot, submitted by Miss Agnes Petersen, won first prize in the contest held to secure photos for the annual. It presents an entirely new view of the administration building, and the landscaping project on the west hill. Pictures submitted by Miss Katherine Neldeberg and Miss Ellen Rasmussen won second and third prizes, respectively. These also will appear in the annual, together with other views.

Group pictures will show the seminary students and faculty, the winter students, and the debating squad in action.

The annual is rapidly nearing completion. All material is ready for the presses, and the book will be ready for distribution May 16.

Due to the unusually good sale of the annual, as well as to the fine cooperation of the advertisers, the staff has been able to add eight pages to the scheduled 32.

With practically every student a subscriber, the annual has realized one of its objectives, to become "Every Student's Annual."

MONEY

It is impossible to be a good leader in anything and be very much interested in building up a private fortune. It cannot be done in public life. It cannot be done in the scientific professions. It cannot be done by writers, artists, teachers, and ministers. And now we begin to realize that it cannot be done in finance and industry. A leader, a man who exercises great power in the financial and commercial life of the nation, ought to be well enough paid so that he need not worry about money, and after that he ought not to be much interested in money.

—Walter Lippmann, "Big Business Men of Tomorrow,"
 The American, April, 1934.

JUST A LIBRARY BOOK

The book skidded from the boy bike rider's hand to the sidewalk. He grinned at the passerby, "That's all right; it's just a library book."

"Where is your imagination, boy? Just a library book. 'New,' it was carefully marked by the library lady and listed on the cards. A little Blair boy, whose home has few books, was its first reader. Hungry for those things that book held within its covers, he turned its pages carefully, so as not to break the back. He read it. He read some parts of it twice and, when the borrowing time was up, hugged it under his arm as he took it back where it was again put on its shelf. He still remembers and is helped by words in it.

"Next a little girl had it. She was sick. The words in the book made her happy, even when she was so weak her mother had to read it to her.

"And many other boys and girls—so many of them—hungry for what is in that book; made happier, richer because of that book.

"Boy, if I could be what I want after I leave this world, as some religious beliefs in the world claim, I think I would like best to be 'just a library book,' taking joy and helpful ideas to girls and boys in Blair and other places who love to read, providing not too many of your kind get hold of me, boy, because even a book doesn't like to be dropped or thrown around, especially a library book, which has so many other homes than just yours, where it still wants to visit and help folks."

UNTIL NEXT YEAR

With this issue the Hermes completes another year in its history. Many on the staff have extended their best efforts toward raising the standard of our school newspaper. To them we extend a most hearty thanks—they are, indeed, the salt of Dana, although their work receives little recognition. Others have been weights—contributing little—being carried along and helped out by the real workers. To them we voice the hope that their future experiences may be benefited by a realization of this year's errors.

We also wish to express our sincere appreciation to the administration and the faculty for their ready willingness to aid the Hermes staff in many and various ways. Especially do we wish to thank our adviser, Prof. George H. Hartwig, whose conscientious and kindly criticisms and suggestions have been a true guidance and inspiration to all who have worked on the newspaper.

Nor do we forget our advertisers—they represent a true list of Dana boosters in the city of Blair and in other localities. We urge that all Dana students express their appreciation by patronizing those merchants who have willingly contributed that the Hermes might continue.

Lastly, but not least, we wish to remind next year's staff of their great responsibility in publishing the Hermes. To them we offer our very best wishes for a successful year, and we sincerely hope they will, with fresh vigor, strive to carry the Hermes upward and onward.

OBITUARY

The Rev. Harold C. Jensen was born on the 9th of May, 1892, at Racine, Wisconsin, and grew to manhood at that place.

For three years he devoted himself to Y. M. C. A. work in Racine. Having been honorably discharged from the U. S. Army at the close of the war, he took up his studies to prepare for the Christian ministry at Dana College and Trinity Theological Seminary at Blair, Nebraska. He graduated and was ordained in 1924, having received a call from our church at Brush, Colorado.

On June 10, 1924 he was united in marriage to Ethel Mumm of Staplehurst, Nebraska.

During his active ministry, the Rev. Mr. Jensen served as traveling secretary of our Synod; editor of THE ANSGAR LUTHERAN; editor of CHRISTMAS CHIMES; member of the board of directors for Dana College and Trinity Seminary; and secretary of the Synod. He also translated several books from Danish to English.

In the fall of 1929 he accepted a call from our Lutheran churches at Dannebrog and Dry Creek, Nebraska. He served these congregations until his death on Friday, April 27.

He leaves to mourn his departure his mother, Mrs. J. M. Jensen of Denver, Colo.; two sisters, Margery also of Denver, and Dagmar of El Paso, Texas; his wife, and two children, Miriam and Carol Mae.

His loss will be deeply felt by his church, his relatives, and his friends.

May God bless his memory among us.

How about a little poetry as an appetizer?

A dog walked into the market
 To get something to eat,
 The meat-cutter handed the dog
 A little ring of meat.
 Said the meat-cutter to the dog,
 "Take that—it's really fine."
 Said the dog to the meat-cutter,
 "Your offer I decline,
 Because in that link of sausage
 I see that old gang of mine."

Try and scan that—you "scoundrals."

News Flash—(More Diversity)

"'Tis a lonesome old world," sighed Reed "The Paper Ahead" O'Hanlon as he slid down the bannister of a Moscow News building. "I must get a scoop for my paper."

So saying he went to interview the gray-haired and aged mayor.

Climbing through the window, Horseface O'Hanlon found the mayor sleeping in his favorite chair.

"Ah," said our hero, "the old gray mayor ain't what he used to be."

At this point of our story the mayor's buxom daughter came sighing into the room, awakening her father. The aged fellow immediately left the room to the two young lovers. (Yes, it was love at first sight.) He left the rest of his property to an aunt in Philadelphia and a cousin in Milwaukee.

This story only goes to show why Horseface O'Hanlon is late to French class. Each morning he must pause and refresh himself with the memory of the time that he rushed the Russian. Take pity on him, Agatha—Horseface is a man of many experiences.

LITERARY CORNER

Self-respect and sympathy, these are the marks of the lady and of the gentleman.

—George A. Gordon.

I have known many a son and daughter of consequence with a poor stick for a father, but I have never in my life known an exceptional son or daughter as the issue of an un-serious, superficial, worldly mother.

—George A. Gordon.

They pass me by like shadows,
 crowds on crowds,
 Dim ghosts of men, that hover to
 and fro,

Hugging their bodies round them
 like thin shrouds
 Wherein their souls were buried long ago:

They trampled on their youth, and faith, and love,

They cast their hope of human-kind away,

With heaven's clear messages they madly strove,

And conquered,—and their spirits
 turned to clay:

Lo! how they wander round the world, their grave,

Whose ever-gaping maw by such is fed,

Gibbering at living men, and idly
 rave,

"We only truly live, but ye are dead."

Alas! poor fools, the anointed eye
 may trace

A dead soul's epitaph in every face!
 —Lowell, "The Street."

The soul is placed in the body like a rough diamond, and must be polished, or the luster of it will never appear.

—Daniel Defoe.

Very ready we are to say of a book, "How good this is—that's exactly what I think!" But the right feeling is, "How strange that is! I never thought of that before, and yet I see it is true; or if I do not now, I hope I shall some day." But whether thus submissively or not, at least be sure that you go to the author to get at his meaning, not to find yours. Judge it afterwards if you think yourself qualified to do so; but ascertain it first.

—Ruskin.

Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp,

Or what's a heaven for?

—Robert Browning.

The human spirit is not a finished creation: it is something to be made by effort and sacrifice. Character is a spiritual production moulded out of the thoughts, passions, and aptitudes of life.

CAMPUS BRIEFS

The choir, in passing through Geneseo, Ill., stopped at the home of Miss Nellie Falk, where a few enjoyable hours were spent. Since several of the singers had studied under Miss Falk, former member of the Dana faculty, the time flew fast in recounting Dana news. Before leaving, the choir sang "Beautiful Savior," and the college song. Miss Falk had prepared several lunch boxes, which were thoroughly enjoyed on the trip to McNabb, Ill.

Leo Andersen, sophomore, left school April 26 to accept a position as deputy auditor at the Audubon (Ia.) county court house. Mr. Andersen is continuing his studies and has arranged to return and take his semester tests, May 17-19.

Walter Nielsen, Minden, Nebr., former Dana student, submitted to a major operation at the Nebraska Methodist hospital, at Omaha, recently. It is reported that he is recuperating nicely, and will soon return home.

The Seminary quartet sang in our Lutheran churches at Minden and Fredericksburg, Nebr., May 6. Large and appreciative audiences greeted them at both places.

The new film depicting school life at Dana was shown prospective students in many high schools in Central Nebraska, during a promotion trip made during the first week in May by President Erland Nelson.

Prof. S. M. Thomsen left for Kansas City, Mo., May 3, to attend a meeting of college science professors. A lecture by the noted Dr. R. A. Millikan, of Pasadena, Calif., Nobel prize winner in physics, in 1923, headlined the program.

A group of students from the Dana science classes participated in the Omaha industrial tour, April 20, sponsored by the Omaha Municipal University. The group making the tour included: Milton Johnson, John Gebuhr, Stanley Jensen, Herbert Harboe, Elmer Breitbarth, Laurice DeLaurant, James Hay, Kenneth Gee, and Johan Ringen.

Owing to the amount of student work provided by the floor sanding project, the landscaping planned for the east campus has been postponed until next fall.

Pre-medic Day in Omaha, May 5, was attended by the following students: Harold Christensen, Milton Pedersen, Harold Hancock, Jack Sides, Lorentz Thorngren, James Hay, Joe Ringen, Edward Jones, George Petersen, Gretchen Gammel, Jack Brody, Eva Bach, Dorothy Petersen, and James Carlsen.

concert given in the Danish Lutheran church at Luck, a very large audience attended.

En route to Minneapolis, the choir members stopped for a visit at the beautiful Taylor's Falls. Eight former Dana choir members were in the audience at the Minneapolis concert, April 19. On the following day, the choir visited the magnificent Central Lutheran Church and the Lutheran Bible Institute.

The concert at Hutchinson, Minn., on April 20, was given in the high school auditorium. On the following day, the choir went to Morgan, Minn. A sight-seeing tour was taken to Red River Falls.

On April 22, an afternoon concert was given at Geneva, Minn., and in the evening the choir appeared at Albert Lea, Minn.

The last concert of the tour was presented at Graettinger, Ia., the evening of April 23, and the choir returned to Dana the following afternoon.

The entire tour was marked by good fortune, large audiences, and fine Danish hospitality.

Week-End Tour

The choir left April 27 on a week-end tour into north central Nebraska. They sang at Petersburg, Genoa, Salem, Newman Grove, and Rosenberg. This trip was made possible through the efforts of the Rev. Elmer Andersen, former choir member, who arranged the itinerary.

Historians And Choir Broadcast

The evening of April 23, the History Club presented the Dana bi-weekly radio program over radio station WOW. The program was introduced and announced by H. F. Swansen, professor of history. Leo Andersen, Dolliver Thogerson and George Robertson presented a dialogue. Musical numbers on the program consisted of a piano solo by Sophia Petersen, and a piano duet by Helen F. Peterson and Alice Nielsen.

The broadcast for May 7 was given by the a cappella choir.

SCIENCE ACADEMY

At the banquet Friday evening, Dr. Samuel Avery, president emeritus and professor of chemistry at Nebraska, reminiscenced upon the days when atoms were atoms instead of being complicated electronic structures as we now know them.

The afternoon general session was given over to Dr. H. W. Manter of the University of Nebraska who gave us the story in words and pictures of a biological collecting trip to the Galapagos islands in the Southern Pacific. Each of the islands in the group harbors many species of animals peculiar to itself. Darwin visited these islands many years ago and from them gathered much of the data used in his work.

On the programs of the various sectional meetings, the following items seem particularly worthy of mention. Dr. Victor Levine, of Creighton, nationally known authority on nutrition, discussed the relation of carotene, the yellow coloring matter of plants, to vitamin-A. He said a molecule of vitamin-A is approximately a half molecule of carotene, and further, a synthetic vitamin-A has been prepared.

The state university department of physics gave two very interesting demonstrations: first, by use of the photoelectric cell, sounds were produced by various light sources; second, a stroboscope was shown in operation.

The Life We Live

"And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." Acts 11: 26.

There is a difference between being called a Christian and calling oneself a Christian. It may be as much difference as there is between saying something and doing it. To express what one believes is not always a testimony of the life we live. The disciples were called Christians first in Antioch probably not so much to distinguish their belief from other beliefs. Their teaching and preaching would not necessarily warrant a name different from other teachers of that time. But they had something alive in their lives that others did not have. They lived with a different Ideal in life and thus were called Christians.

An incident is related of a missionary in India who found it simply beyond his power to learn the language of the people he was sent out to serve. Seeing it all plainly himself, after some years he asked to be recalled and to be sent back home. The task was too great for his intellectual grasp. A dozen missionaries in the field hurriedly petitioned that his request be not granted, "because," they said, "this missionary's goodness was so deep and broad that he had more personal influence over the unconverted natives than any other missionary at the station." When a converted native was asked, on his examination for baptism, "What is it to be a Christian?" he replied promptly: "It is to be like Mr. _____," naming this missionary.

We assume a responsibility of honor and trust when we call ourselves Christians. Our life then has to radiate some of that warmth and beauty of the "Life of Lives". Yes! it means, that in many ways we are going to have to live different from the rest of the people of "Antioch."

It does not seem as if those first disciples were considered radicals or fanatics when they were called Christians. The Christian life, as today, commanded respect from the people with whom they came in contact. One cannot help but notice a richness and fullness in the life of a Christian which is lacking from an ordinary life.

It is not so much the things we teach or preach or the creed we profess as it is the life we live, which determines whether we are going to be called Christians. The most coveted and comforting sentence in an obituary, is not that, "He was a good doctor," or, "He was an honest business man," but that, "This person lived a Christian life."

Relies Heavily On First-Year Football Men

Coach Olson Will Have to Draw on Frosh For Many New Players

With few seasoned veterans returning next fall, Dana's football prospects are anything but rosy. Those returning include: Captain-elect Dolliver Thogerson, end; Ed Andersen, end; and Stanley Larsen, tackle. Other veterans returning who were not out this year, but will probably respond next year, are Stanley Jensen and Verner Carlsen, both backs.

Reserves, including Wm. Langley, Walden George, Gilbert Bell, and Stanley Bach, who are expected to return, will probably advance to the varsity next year.

High hopes are held for next year's frosh class to contain a bumper crop of promising material. Without it, Dana will, no doubt, experience considerable difficulty in maintaining the pace set during the past two seasons.

The situation is in decided contrast to that of a year ago when it was an almost certain thing that a complete squad of veterans would be back.

The schedule is as yet unannounced, but, in all probability, it will embrace several of the schools Dana has played in the past.

Tourneys Begin

With the balmy weather of spring upon us, Coach Olson has announced the annual school tennis tournament. Drawings have been held, and many games have already been played. C. Vig, last year's champion, is included in the draw, as is his brother Arndt, who is expected to give him close competition.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the tennis tournament Coach Olson announced a ping-pong tournament, to take place in the gym. Several ping-pong artists have developed in the recent weeks, including Elihu Jensen, Jeff (Charmie) Hancock, "Fuzz" Christensen, and others. The play, expected to be fast and furious, starts this week.

Listing their fear experiences, 49 out of 100 U. of Wyoming students confessed to a fear of automobile accidents, and 29 admitted they were afraid of being alone in the dark.

W. A. A. Elects Victoria Madsen

Victoria Madsen was chosen girl Honor Athlete of Dana college for 1934, by members of the Women's Athletic Association, in an election held May 8.

Victoria has been active in soccer, basketball, pug ball, tennis and other sports. She is a member of the Luther League, a cappella choir, Women's Athletic Association, and the girls' sextet.

The honor athlete is chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, athletic ability, sportsmanship and capacity for leadership.

Miss Madsen is the second Dana girl to be chosen girl honor athlete at Dana. Miss Barbara Hansen was elected in 1933.

W. A. A. Cage Results

Claire Madsen's sextet captured the girls' basketball championship by swamping Lily Andersen's cagers, 20-5. The latter team finished in runner-up position.

Barbara Hansen's and Bernice Pedersen's teams placed third and fourth, respectively.

The captains were high-point players on each team.

Baseball has been abolished as an intercollegiate sport at Washington University.
