

Pastors Convene At Dana For Second Annual Meet

Iowa-Nebraska Pastors and Guests Hear Many Interesting Papers; Have Privilege to Attend Golden Jubilee of Seminary

Pastors representing several districts attended the third annual Iowa-Nebraska Pastoral Conference held at Dana College, October 8-10. The attendance of these extra-regional men was attributed to the sequence of the date of Trinity Seminary's anniversary festival upon the dates of the Conference. Those states not in the Conference districts were four in number: Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois and Missouri.

The Conference opened with a communion service at the First Lutheran Church, Monday evening, October 8. The public was invited to this gathering about the Lord's Table. President J. P. Nielsen of Trinity Seminary preached the evening's sermon. He was assisted at the altar by the Rev. James N. Lund. The service was well attended and many partook in the Lord's Supper.

Papers of both educational and devotional nature were presented by various men on Tuesday and Wednesday. These meetings, however, were open only to ministers and their wives, and the seminary students. The general impression given by the pastors in attendance was that the delivery of such papers was exceedingly beneficial in lieu of the fact that much time was saved for the individual pastor in gathering material on the various subjects in question.

Danes Hear Talks About Motherland

Johan Petersen Tells How to See Denmark; Nelson Tells of Trip

The first Dannebrog meeting of the year was held Friday evening, September 28, in the reception room of the girls' dormitory. A large group of students attended the interesting program.

One was reminded of the saying, "The Danes sing with their hearts, not with their mouths," as the melody of "Vort Modermaal er dejligt" rang through the halls.

Anker Jensen, president of the society, heartily welcomed those present. Following two old, favorite songs, sung by Professor Fynboe, accompanied by Miss Viola Hansen, President Erland Nelson related some of his interesting personal experiences from his trip throughout the synod last summer in the interest of the college.

A piano solo was played by Rodney Juhl, after which the meeting was brought to an appropriate close by singing "Der er et yndigt Land."

A short business meeting was held before the group went to the dining room for the final treat. After refreshments had been served, a social hour was spent in playing Danish games and in singing old Danish folk-songs.

Hansen Lecturers On Old Country

Knud Hansen, associate editor of "Berlingske Tidende," the largest daily newspaper in Denmark, gave an illustrated lecture in the gymnasium, October 7. The lecture was delivered in the Danish language. For the benefit of those present who could not understand Danish, Professor C. S. Fynboe gave a resume in the English language.

Mr. Hansen is also the director of the "Berlingske Tidende" Employees' Club and the Visitors' Bureau. The latter organization officially welcomes all visitors to the country of Denmark. Before taking his position on the editorial staff, Mr. Hansen was a correspondent for the paper in Norway for eight years.

Mr. Hansen is touring the United States during his vacation. He has lectured in many of the large cities of this country during his stay.

History Group Hears Address

TOPIC IS RECONSTRUCTION

The Historical Society of Dana College, under the sponsorship of Professor H. F. Swansen, held its first social meeting in the ladies' reception hall on the evening of October 27.

A program of active interest was opened by remarks by Rudolph Knudsen, president. Miss Ruth Hansen played a piano solo.

The address of the evening was delivered by Mr. N. T. Lund, a former History instructor at Dana College. Mr. Lund chose for his topic "The Reconstruction Period following the Civil War," giving a resume of the history of this period and also a very thought-provoking interpretation of the tragic death of Lincoln. He offered the theory that the termination of Lincoln's services to his country was governed by Providence in that this great leader had completed his work of bringing his people through the great war. Had he been permitted to continue through the reconstruction period, much of his work would have been undone, because he was the kind of big-hearted leader who would guide his people toward an ideal. The sterner task of bringing the people out of the following chaos had to be done by leaders of another type, with less trust in the goodness of human nature, and a firmer adherence to the necessary steps to reconstruction. Under the leadership of Lincoln, the race problem might have become far more complex than it is today, with the probability that the Southern white power would have been reinstated much sooner to the further complication of relations between this and the new freedmen.

The singing of Handel's "Largo" by the men's quartet followed. The program was fittingly concluded by

Dr. J. P. Nielsen

Seminary Prof. Secures Degree

It is with great pleasure that we learned that President J. P. Nielsen of Trinity Seminary, this summer was granted the degree of Doctor of Theology by the Webster University, Atlanta, Georgia.

Dr. Nielsen is well known to most of the students here. Not only is he the President of the Seminary, but he is also the director of the religious affairs of the college. A large part of his life was spent in Japan where he was doing missionary work from 1909 to 1927. During the summer of 1927, he was called to be Dean of the Seminary and later, when the college and seminary was put under two heads, he became the President of the Seminary.

After graduating from Trinity Seminary, he continued his study at Mount Airy Seminary, Philadelphia, preparatory to leaving for Japan to do missionary work. While in Japan he continued his theological studies in correspondence work with the Lutheran Seminary in Maywood, Illinois. For this work the degrees of Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Sacred Theology were conferred upon him in 1923. He later spent a year's residence at Biblical Seminary, New York City. After coming to Blair he continued correspondence work with Webster University, Atlanta, which awarded him the degree of Doctor of Theology this past summer.

The securing of this degree has meant considerable work for Dr. Nielsen as he has had to write ten theological papers besides his doctor's thesis to complete his work.

New Library Books

Placed in the College Library

The following books have been purchased for the library through the generosity of friends of the College. Their example is commended to others who may be in a position to render assistance towards the building of a better library. Dana College could use at once literally thousands of carefully selected volumes.

Journalism Class of 1933-34: Dorothea Brande, "Becoming a Writer."

College Club of Blair: Gayley, "Classic Myths"; Pattison, "Life of Milton"; Raleigh, "Life of Shakespeare."

Mr. Byron Langenfeld: Luccock, "Contemporary American Literature and Religion"; O'Brien, "The Best Short Stories, 1934."

Massed Choir To Present Oratorio

Dana College will again sponsor a chorus which will present the oratorio, "The Holy City," by Gaul, under the able leadership of G. J. Malmin, director of the Dana A Cappella Choir. The chorus of approximately 150 voices has been selected from college students and from several of the church choirs of the city. Local talent will be used for the solo numbers.

November 25 has been selected as the tentative date for the presentation, which is to be given in the auditorium. This place makes it possible for the oratorio to have a pipe organ and piano accompaniment.

Olfert V. Magnussen, a senior at Dana, in the absence of Professor Malmin, directed the first rehearsal, which was held in the college chapel October 16.

Hesperian Gives Initial Program

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

The Hesperian Literary Society sponsored an interesting program in the college chapel Friday evening, October 26. According to tradition, the meeting was opened by the singing of "America the Beautiful."

Miss Irene Jensen played a violin solo, "Sæterjentens Søndag," by Ole Bull. Miss Irene Andersen accompanied her.

Miss Marjorie Larsen gave an interesting paper, "How Hallowe'en Came About." Hallowe'en or Samhain, the old Celtic festivity, originating several centuries before Christ, commemorated the death of the sun and also the harvest festival. With these old druidic celebrations were gradually combined All Saints' and All Souls' Days, special religious holidays of the old Roman Catholic Church. All Hallowe'en customs of America, including the beliefs in witches, cats, bonfires, and jack-o-lanterns, have been adopted from other countries. Our Hallowe'en is a reproduction of the old traditional charms, practices, and gala celebrations, but with their original interpretations lost.

In keeping with the theme of autumnal nature, a men's quartet, at their first appearance sang "Gypsy Trail." The members were Ivan Johansen, Herluf Christensen, Carl Frost, and Anker Jensen. Rodney Juhl was the accompanist.

Striking a deeper note, Carl Frost portrayed Hallowe'en as the birthday of the great Reformation through the posting of the Ninety-five Theses on the door of the church of Wittenberg in 1517, which date also marks the commemoration of the founding of Wittenburg University. Following this, Martin Luther's "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" was sung by the audience. This hymn sounds the difference between the old superstition-ridden life and life in the Christian faith.

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Trinity Seminary came as a peak in the week's activity. Following so closely upon a successful pastors' Conference, the Jubilee was hailed as "a fitting climax" to the profitable days which preceded.

A rather unusual coincidence was the presence of the Rev. A. M. Andersen, who founded Trinity Theological Seminary fifty years ago this month. The revered, white-haired pastor has frequently graced the campus by his presence. He celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of his ordination on October 11, for which reason that date was selected for the celebration.

The day was replete with visits to the sites of historical interest, speeches by prominent men of the church and synod, musical selections by college and seminary talent, afternoon coffee, and a banquet in the evening.

The site of the first seminary is at the present home of Mr. P. C. Sorensen of Blair, Nebraska. The attractive, remodeled house is the same in which the Rev. A. M. Andersen began the seminary work with four students fifty years ago. The house is located one block south and one east of the First Lutheran church. The Rev. A. M. Andersen led the devotion here with the passage: "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled." Congratulations were extended to the venerable (Continued on page 3)

Students Hear Fine Talks At Luther League

Dr. Carlsen, E. Bondo and V. Carlsen Are Speakers at Meetings

The Luther League meeting of October 17 opened with the singing of "Open Now Thy Gates of Beauty." Carl Gebuhr read Scripture and led in prayer. He read from Romans 1:1-17. A vocal solo, "The Lord's Prayer," was rendered by George Robertson.

Ervin Bondo gave the address of the evening, basing his thoughts on Colossians 2:6-7. He emphasized that we should push out the horizons of life so as to look beyond self. Our religion should be of such a nature that it will radiate from our lives and thus enlighten our fellow men.

The meeting closed with the singing of "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah" and praying the Lord's Prayer.

The second Luther League meeting this year was held Wednesday evening, October 3. The meeting opened with the singing of the famous old hymn, "My Faith Looks up to Thee." Arne Voetmann led in Scripture reading and in prayer. Miss Helen Petersen sang Handel's "Largo."

Verner Carlsen presented the devotional message of the evening, using Matthew 13:44-46 as his (Continued on page 4)

PASSING THE BUCK

A game which becomes popular in times of stress is "Passing the Buck." When a responsibility is placed on an individual, he should be man enough to shoulder it. The least he can do is to refuse to bear it instead of accepting it, and, when the load begins to be felt, to drop it. This has been realized by the editor of late. Many have accepted assignments, but have either handed them in late or in such a condition that the editor has had to revise them completely.

The editor feels that he has received the "buck" too many times. He is pleading with you to cease playing this childish game. How about more co-operation next time?

COURTESY

Little does one realize what burden he places on his shoulders by being discourteous. Modern society demands courtesy. Neither the elite nor the "hoi polloi" are exempt. It is said that one is judged by his actions. True; but should it not rather be stated that man is judged by his acts of courtesy? The first impression of an individual's character is formed by noticing his actions towards his fellow men. Society classifies men, using the first impression as the original basis. When once classified, it is hard for an individual to show that he properly belongs in a higher rank.

At the beginning of each new school year, students readily form opinions of their classmates. Possibly a small act of courtesy has placed you high in the esteem of one of your fellow students. If so, well and good. It is your duty to act so that that appraisal will not have to be changed. If, on the other hand, you have been careless in your conduct, you have been given that esteem which only a careless person could be given. Yours should be the aim to strive to better your standing among your fellow men. If you were rude at an early meeting of one of your classmates, he has classified you as being vulgar. 'Tis a sad state indeed. A simple act, probably thoughtlessly committed, has placed a stamp on you which will be hard to remove. A burden rests upon your shoulders. Acts of courtesy, and many of them, will be necessary for your fellow man to change his estimation of your character.

Whether it be the simple act of tipping one's hat when meeting a lady or the more complex and proper ways of conducting oneself while at the table, properly called etiquette, courtesy demands that you consider your fellow men. Society has rigid rules concerning courtesy. It is your duty to follow such rules as your society imposes upon you. Should you choose not to do so, your character will immediately be condemned. You will be in the place of a man who is condemned to death; a pardon is hard to get. Your fellow-men will judge you, not by your heroic deeds, but by your deeds of courtesy.

Accept the motto "For others rather than self," and be courteous. You'll get more out of life.

One sees vulgarity in the conduct of others, yet sees not his own.
Anon.

There's so much bad in the best of us,
And so much good in the worst of us,
That it scarcely behoves any of us,
To talk about the rest of us.

R. L. Stevensen

He who receives a good turn should never forget it; he who does one should never remember it.
Charron

I would have you cultivate a gentle sincere courtesy which offends no one, but wins everybody.

CLIPPED WINGS

Life clipped your wings,
And claimed you for its own.
Jealous because you saw beyond the veil.
It held you when you would have flown.

The heights were your abiding place—
Dreamer, communer with the stars
Reaching with outstretched hands up to the light.
Beating your broken wings against the bars.

Life takes its toll of those who dream.
It breaks the heart, it stills the song.
Only the hardy keep the trust.
The laurels to the brave belong.

You could not tread the way you would
Until Death's hand had set you free
And loosed the magic of your voice—
Strange and eternal Victory.

Seek Ye First the Kingdom of God

"But seek ye first his kingdom, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matthew 6:33).

We are living in a seeking age. We are living in an age in which everyone is seeking something. In the field of education people are seeking to attain new and greater heights; in the field of science they are seeking new elements, and penetrating farther and farther into the regions of the unknown; in the field of aviation young aspirants are seeking to establish new endurance records, new speed records, and new altitude records; and in the commercial field people are continually seeking new and better methods by which they might be able to solve the commercial problems of the world. We are all seeking something or striving for something. We are all very busy and anxious about many things. But in Luke 10:41-42 we read: "But the Lord answered and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou art anxious and troubled about many things; but one thing is needful: for Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her."

Too many of us are like Martha—we are anxious and troubled about many things, and we forget the one thing that is needful. The one thing that is needful for us is to seek first the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness. It seems that we are all so busily engaged in worldly affairs that we do not have time to think about spiritual affairs. In the Sermon on the Mount Jesus says, "Be not therefore anxious, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? For after these things do the Gentiles seek; for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things."

Friends! God, who has created us in His own image, and has placed us here for a special purpose, and has, through His infinite mercy, redeemed us through His only begotten Son, Jesus Christ, will not leave us stranded here dependent upon our own resources and abilities; but He will richly care for each one of us, because He knows what we have need of. We must first seek His Kingdom, and His righteousness, and then all these other things shall be added unto us.

It is unreasonable and inconsistent for intelligent beings, who call themselves Christians, to be anxious and troubled about these earthly cares. Jesus says, "Is not the life more than the food, and the body than the raiment?" God, who has given us the body and life, will also sustain it. God rules over and governs all things. It is not for us to try to manage the affairs of God. We are placed here as God's stewards; we are to work as stewards and not as masters. We should use the talents that God has given us according to the power and capacities that He has given us; but let us not be so concerned about these earthly affairs that we neglect our soul's salvation. Let us seek first the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto us.

LITERARY CORNER

To be a poet is to SEE.
—Henrik Ibsen

The office of the scholar is to cheer, to raise, and to guide men by showing them facts amidst appearances Whatsoever oracles the human heart, in all emergencies, in all solemn hours, has uttered as its commentary on the world of actions, these he shall receive and impart. And whatsoever new verdict Reason from her inviolable seat pronounces on the passing men and events of today—this he shall hear and promulgate Action is with the scholar subordinate, but it is essential. Without it he is not yet man. Without it thought can never ripen into truth A great soul will be strong to live, as well as strong to think.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson

Accuracy in observation, and in telling a story, is a mark of an educated mind The Apostle Paul showed in the same way that he was an educated man, when he said, "Of the Jews five times received I forty stripes SAVE ONE." Only a good education in Tarsus, supplemented by the Holy Spirit, could have led him to make such a careful statement.

—George A. Gordon

Take Dante's great poem, born in the Middle Ages. How deep, wide, full, tremendous the vision was out of which the poem came. His Hell means the world of selfishness, the world of cruelty, the world of inhumanity, the world absolutely without love; that is Hell. If you have ever been there you will not dispute it. And Purgatory has its great distinction because love appears there and begins to burn, to burn the alloy out of poor sinful men and women, burn the selfishness out of them, the cowardice, the inhumanity; and as love increases, they as-pend, and when they get to the summit of Purgatory they have been freed from the dominion of sin and moral death. And Paradise, what does that mean? A world where love is sovereign, a world with reverence for the Highest and for all that belong to the Highest and for one's self; a world where love is perfected, established for evermore.

—George A. Gordon

The works of the great poets have never yet been read by mankind, for only great poets can read them. Most men have learned to read to serve a paltry convenience, as they have learned to cipher in order to keep accounts and not to be cheated in trade; but of reading as a noble intellectual exercise they know little or nothing; yet this only is reading, in a high sense, not that which lulls us as a luxury and suffers the noble faculties to sleep the while, but what we have to stand on tip-toe to read and devote our most alert and wakeful hours to.

—Henry D. Thoreau

School Passes Fiftieth Year And Continues

Has Passed Times of Stress; Has Bright Outlook For Future

Trinity College and Theological Seminary was founded at the Third Annual Convention of the United Evangelical Lutheran Church, in 1884. Two years later, in the fall of the year, the Rev. A. M. Andersen and his family moved from Argo, Nebraska, to Blair, then the center of the U. D. E. L. church body. Here, in his home, a training school for future ministers was begun. Not long after the synod took hold of the school problem and decided to build a school on the hills west of Blair. The synod would thus no longer be dependent upon Denmark for its pastors. The plan was fulfilled in 1886 and Trinity Seminary has since had its home there.

For three years the school consisted of Seminary and Pre-Seminary departments. The school had heretofore been for men only, but in 1899 it was made co-educational.

The same year it was decided to unite with another school, located at Elk Horn, Iowa, which was under the guidance of "Nordkirken," founded in 1878. During the school year 1896—1897 the students attended at Elk Horn. After that time the Elk Horn branch was regarded only as a "feeder" to Trinity Seminary, until the actual union of the two in 1899.

In 1893 the north wing was added to the original administration building. This was commonly called the "seminary addition." Crowded conditions prompted the building of another addition, the south wing in 1905. This completed the administration building as it stands today.

The ladies' dormitory was built in 1899—1900, to the northwest of the administration building, almost adjoining that building. This made a group of four buildings on the campus. The administration building contained a library, dining hall, recitation rooms, chapel, and men's dormitory on the third and fourth floors. A heating plant and gymnasium completed the college group. The latter was located on the northwest corner of the college block.

The college proper was called Blair College as early as 1901. The name "Dana College" first appeared in the catalogue and bulletin of 1903—1904.

Dana College went through a transitional period during the years 1918—1931. Scholastic rating was on the upward trend and academy subjects were gradually dropped, to be replaced by regular college subjects.

The last ten or twelve years have been called the "Greater Dana Movement." In 1922 the women's dormitory was replaced by the modern brick building which is now used as the women's dormitory and dining hall. In 1925—26 a men's dormitory, of the same general design as the women's dormitory, was erected. The gymnasium, the last of the new buildings, was erected southeast of the administration building in '28.

With the completion of the men's dormitory and the vacating of the top floors of the administration building, came the opportunity to improve class rooms and also to move the chemistry and physics laboratories to larger and more modernly equipped quarters.

Athletics have been a part of the school's activity for a number of years, basketball being the oldest intercollegiate sport. The earliest intercollegiate basketball schedule dates back to 1900 while football dates back to 1926.

The faculty of the institution, as far as number is concerned, has re-able pastor on the anniversary of his ordination. After singing the hymn, "Now Thank We All Our God," the company withdrew to the college campus.

The assembly gathered on and around the steps of the "Old Main" for the next part of the program. President J. P. Nielsen of the Seminary had charge of the service. "Praise the Lord, Ye Heav'ns Adore Him" sounded through the clear morning air. Immediately following, President Erland Nelson of Dana College spoke, showing how Trinity Seminary was the mother of our college department, but how it now is a co-worker that must help meet the great task of bringing young people to the cross of Jesus. The Rev. H. W. Bondo of Albert Lea, Minnesota, gave an address in which the theme was "Christian Leadership." He enumerated a number of men who had, in his opinion, been leaders of our Church. The combined college choirs sang two selections. The meeting ended with the singing of "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

A picture of most of the group was taken on the "Old Main" steps by the local photographer.

The last part of the forenoon program was given in the Auditorium-Gymnasium at the foot of the hill on which the "Old Main" stands. Roll call of the present and former presidents, professors, and students at Trinity Seminary, was taken by Dr. J. P. Nielsen. One hundred and seventy names were called, out of which forty responded. Dr. N. C. Carlsen called attention to problems which were vital to the future of the seminary. He stressed the practical training of the future minister. Dr. C. B. Larsen delivered a paper which was especially intended for ministers and seminary students. He classified in detail the various departments of theology and their bearing upon the correct understanding of theology.

The Seminary Quartette, whose personnel is identical with last year's quartette, sang three selections: "Dejlig er Jorden," "I'm a Pilgrim," and "The Lord Is my Shepherd."

The entire group adjourned to the Dining Hall for a lunch.

An auto trip to the Argo Cemetery, twenty-four miles northwest of Blair, was the first part of the afternoon's program. The devotion was led by Rev. I. M. Hansen of Blair, Nebraska. His theme was "The Lord Be Praised." Here in St. John's Church, a church convention (September 11—14, 1884) decided to start Trinity Theological Seminary, under the leadership of Rev. A. M. Andersen.

There were four persons present at the program who also had attended this church convention.

The group turned their automobiles back to Dana College, where coffee and cake was served according to the Danish custom.

After an organ prelude by Mrs. G. J. Malmin, the address of the day was delivered in the Auditorium by the founder of the Seminary, the Rev. A. M. Andersen, "showing the necessity of having preachers able to preach the gospel to our generation." "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" was sung by the audience. A historical paper under the heading, "Through One-Third of the Twentieth Century," was read by Dr. J. P. Nielsen. The text of this paper may be found in the two last issues of "The Ansgar Lutheran."

It is a critical survey of the half-century's work in Trinity Seminary.

The day ended with a banquet in the Dining Hall at which about three hundred were present. The Rev. John C. Romer was master of ceremonies. Dr. Dysinger brought a greeting from Western Theological Seminary at Fremont, Nebraska. Danish and English talks by several pastors, listed elsewhere, were given. Various periods in the Seminary's history were presented by each speaker. The following musical selections added to the program: "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains," a vocal solo by Miss Helen Pedersen; a piano solo by Mrs. G. J. Malmin; and two selections by the Seminary Quartette.

Greetings from various individuals and our sister synods were read by Dr. J. P. Nielsen. The Rev. James N. Lund closed with a short devotion. All joined in the singing of the long meter doxology: "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

(With apologies and thanks to the Rev. S. S. Kaldahl of Wolbach, Nebraska.)

At least fourteen of last year's student body are now pursuing their studies at various other schools. At the University of Wisconsin are Jack Brody and Milton Johnson; at Nebraska Medical School, Omaha, Milton Pedersen and Harold Hancock; at Creighton University Law School, Lee Hancock and Lorentz Thorgren; at Nebraska University, Alvin Carlsen, pursuing a graduate course in history, and Richard Petersen of Dannebrog, Nebr., studying engineering; at the University of Wyoming, our old friend Herbert Harboe is studying engineering also; at Minneapolis, Agnes Madison of Ringsted is studying commerce; at the University of Toronto, Canada, Elsie Bondo; and finally, at the Fresno State Normal College, California, Lily Jorgensen and Hazel Petersen, both studying education.

It seems as though the present oversupply of teachers has caused many students to pursue graduate courses; and yet we can report a number of last year's class who are now holding teaching positions in various parts of the state. Luella Andersen, of Blair, is teaching near her home; Evelyn Christensen and Lydia Hansen are both teaching near Lindsay; Hilda Madsen, at Hampton; Josephine Elseman, at Springfield, and Claudine Jensen is beginning her work in the near future in the northern part of this state. In Iowa, Verna Jensen is teaching near her home at Audubon. Helga Lykke of Spencer, Iowa, and Dorothy Pedersen, Herman, Nebraska, are both taking nurses' training at Immanuel Lutheran Hospital, Omaha. Jessie McLean of Tekamah is in the same kind of work in a California hospital.

The business world also seems to offer certain attractions for our academics. For instance, we are told that Harvey Kuhr is now selling insurance. Just what he insures against, we don't know, but we feel sure that Harvey still sticks to his motto: "Be prepared." Andrew P.

tensen, of Cedar Falls, gave the lecture entitled "The Jewish Problem." This is one of the mission problems of our Church, in which the informative side, at least, of the conditions, are more obscure to the average man. The period before the noon recess was taken up by Dr. E. G. Chinlund of the Immanuel Institute, Omaha. He lectured on "The Problem of Suffering in Human Life." In the afternoon there was only one lecture, delivered by the Rev. Petersen Taler of Minden, Nebraska. This paper on "Prayer" stressed the importance of prayer as a privilege, but also dwelt upon its abuse. The article is to appear in printed form in "The Ansgar Lutheran."

The evening devotion was also a "closed" meeting, but it is understood that a "heart searching" message to the pastors out in the field was given by Dr. N. C. Carlsen, President of the Synod.

Dr. C. B. Larsen of Trinity Seminary opened the Wednesday lectures with "The Distinct Characteristics of Danish Theology." The profound scholarship of Dr. Larsen is well-known, and this informative lecture was delivered in his usual manner, stimulating much speculation and interest for further philosophic study. The second forenoon lecture was by the Rev. Ethan Mengers, of Denver, Colorado. "Beauty as a Handmaiden of the Christian Religion," was his topic. The aesthetic side of religious worship is often neglected, and yet it is one of the most uplifting concomitants of our Christian religion. At the two o'clock lecture the Rev. J. Madsen of Brush, Colorado, spoke on "Correct Practice and Usage in Liturgies and Vestments." This speaker is a member of the St. James Liturgical Society. He, moreover, has firsthand knowledge of his subject, since he makes use of all the various vestments, on occasion, and usually has the full liturgy in his services.

The evening devotion was in charge of the Rev. E. M. Nielsen of Viborg, South Dakota. His theme was designated as "Salt and Light."

Of special interest to the students of the college were the services conducted in chapel by several of the visiting pastors. The new speakers added a certain freshness to the devotional period. The Rev. Laurits Pedersen of Harlan, Iowa, spoke Tuesday morning. His spirited message was admonitory, and yet it revealed a great sympathy for humanity. The following morning, our chapel speaker was the Rev. M. L. Kirkegaard of Omaha, Nebraska. Since he was a former instructor and registrar of Dana College, his voice was not new to all, but his message was rich in content, as usual. Friday morning, although the Conference and Anniversary were over, a few pastors still remained. The Rev. E. W. Petrusson of Kankakee, Illinois, delivered the devotional talk. Conviction of the saving power of Jesus Christ and the glow of spiritual warmth marked and illumined the well-chosen words. The value of having outside speakers occasionally was evidenced by the interest and receptivity of the student body. It is hoped that these outside speakers may be obtained as often as possible to supplement the good work of the regular chapel speakers.

Just as the pastors became enriched at their meetings, so the students theme. He made it evident that we should search for the one "Pearl of Great Price" and not the ordinary pearls.

After a vocal duet, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," by Lillie Smith and Letha Russell, the meeting was closed with the singing of the hymn, "Blessed Assurance, Jesus is Mine."

After the program of the evening, a short business meeting was held at which new officers were elected for the two ensuing months. Edward Anderson was elected president; Verner Carlsen, vice-president; and Victoria Madsen, secretary. Anker Jensen was elected to serve as treasurer throughout the entire year.

The Luther League meeting of October 24 opened with the singing of the hymn, "As Wide as the Skies is Thy Mercy, O God." Irving Tange read Isaiah 53: 4-6 and led in prayer. A piano solo, "Impromptu," Schubert, was then played by Irene Andersen.

Dr. N. C. Carlsen addressed the group. His talk was based on Matt. 18: 3 and on the fifteenth chapter of Luke. "Down through all ages," he said, "the Church has preached repentance, and still there is no time that it is needed more than today. Not only the unrespectable and immoral people are in need of it, but even the highly esteemed and the greatest of men are fully as needful of it. Hence, it is necessary for everyone to repent."

The audience sang a hymn before closing with the Lord's Prayer.

were spiritually benefitted by the advent of the pastors. The quiet personal talks and small gatherings in the student rooms gave much encouragement. The personal interest of the pastor for the student manifested by these visits gave voice to the opinion that pastors should come oftener. The home ties were strengthened; a few steps of progress, so necessary in spiritual growth, were forthcoming; courage in everyday Christian living were stimulated; and the need of communication with the "Shepherd of Souls" from the various home congregations was experienced.

The student body further enjoyed the Sunday evening sermon of Rev. Ingvar M. Andersen of Waupaca, Wisconsin, at the local church in Blair. He spoke on the text found in I Corinthians 1: 4.

Dana Organizations Extend Their Bids

In the literary field the Hesperian Literary Society has been an active organization since 1899. The purpose of this society is to create interest in good literature, and to train its members in parliamentary laws and practices.

From the Danish literary viewpoint, the Dannebrog Literary Society proves to be a haven for students interested in Danish literature and culture. The meetings are conducted wholly in the Danish language. The varied programs are entertaining and enlightening to anyone who knows the Danish language.

A great interest in good Scandinavian literature is created by the Nordic Reading Circle. One book is read each month and is later discussed at the monthly meeting.

The Foreign Mission Society, though closely connected with the Luther League, is a distinct organization. Meetings are held monthly, being devoted to lectures by missionaries or to the study of the lives of men who have given their lives to the cause of missions. The society aims to show the great need for missionary workers, both at home and abroad.

The Historical Society aims to cultivate an interest in history and its associated fields, impressing upon its members the great value of records and documents. It is especially interested in gathering materials pertaining to the history of the Danish people in America.

The Alpha Sigma Phi, our forensic society, was organized in 1927. Its membership is limited to intercollegiate debaters and public speakers. Various chapters are located throughout the United States. The Alpha chapter of the national organization is located at Dana College.

Students are urged to organize independent musical groups, such as: quartets, sextets, and the like. The musical numbers offered by these add much to the various programs throughout the school year.

All Dana students are encouraged as well as invited to become members, or to make application for membership to any of the above mentioned organizations.

Monday After- Noon Club Is Host At Gym

Students Among Guests at Interesting Pro- gram; 'The Valiant' Presented

An evening program was presented by the Monday Afternoon Club at the college auditorium October 15.

Mrs. Philip O'Hanlon, president of the club, delivered the speech of welcome.

Two violin solos, "Intermezzo" and "Way Down Upon the Swanee River," were offered by Mrs. Geraldine Kemp Stewart, accompanied by Mrs. Gunnar J. Malmin.

A one-act play, "The Valiant," was the main feature of the program. The characters included:

- Warden Dr. W. F. Hemphill
- Priest D. C. VanDuesen
- Condemned Convict. John Carrigan
- Guard Lyle Guyer
- Girl Mary Isabelle Moore

The play portrayed the story of a man condemned to be hanged for murder. In an attempt to shield his mother and sister, he went to the gallows under an assumed name. His sister appeared at the last minute to pay the convict a final visit, yet even then he refused to reveal his name.

Mrs. Gunnar J. Malmin played a group of organ selections: "Torchlight March," "Poem," "Angelus," and "Toccata."

The instructors from the Blair Public Schools and Dana College students were honored guests. One hundred and fifty attended the program. Seventy members of the Monday Afternoon Club and their husbands were also invited.

Refreshments consisting of pumpkin pie with whipped cream, cheese, and coffee were served at the close of the program. Mrs. O'Hanlon and Mrs. E. C. Hunt poured.

The officers elected to serve through the year are: president, Anker Jensen; vice-president, Arne Voetmann; secretary, Bertha Holl; and treasurer, Jens Miller.

The second meeting of the Dannebrog Society, conducted Friday evening, October 19, in the ladies' reception room, featured a talk, "What one can see in Denmark in six weeks for fifty dollars," by Johan Pedersen. Mr. Pedersen acted as guide and the Society enjoyed an imaginary tour through Denmark. He called the attention of the group to some of the finest landmarks of the mother country: castles, cathedrals, natural beauty spots, etc. Among the eager listeners were found those who plan to make such a trip next summer.

Other interesting features of the program were a vocal solo, "Mor," sung by Emil Pedersen, a piano solo, "Min Moders Bøn," by Harold Larsen, and a humorous talk by Johannes Christensen. A number of favorite Danish songs were sung by the audience before the meeting was brought to a close.

Dana Broadcasts Over WOW

Dana College presented the first of a series of radio programs, "A Bit of History," over the radio station WOW, October 16. The program, under the direction of President Nelson, was opened by the school song, "Alma Mater," a piano solo, played by Irene Andersen.

A vocal solo was sung by Helen Pedersen, after which talks were delivered by President Nelson and Dr. C. X. Hansen, each reviewing a portion of the history of the school.

In concluding the program, President Nelson read an address by the Rev. A. M. Andersen, the founder of the school, who was unable to be present.

Dana will broadcast every other Wednesday from 10:30-11 P.M. through the facilities of the same station.

The program was closed by the singing of the fine old song, "Home, Sweet Home."

A short business meeting was held for the election of officers: President, Carl Frost; vice-president, Stanley Larsen; secretary, Vita Hansen; treasurer, Marjorie Larsen; marshalls, Johannes Christensen and Raymond Olsen. The meeting was turned over to the new president for adjournment. This marked the end of a year of very efficient service by Olfert V. Magnussen as president.

Luther College, Wahoo, Nebraska, reports an enrollment of 122. Sixty-eight of whom are freshmen. The total increase over last year is twenty per cent.

A chorus of 275 voices will present Handel's "Messiah," December 14, at Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois, under the direction of Henry Veld, director of the Augustana choir. Last year, at the fifty-third annual rendition of the oratorio, over 2,000 attended. The same chorus will present Mendelssohn's "Elijah" at the seventy-fifth anniversary of the college next spring.

The girls on the York College, York, Nebraska, campus are healthier than the boys, according to recent physical examinations at that institution.

The FERA aids 159 students at Hastings. The students are working on the athletic fields, or doing typing, grading, and general clerical work for the faculty.

Midland College, Fremont, Nebraska, has the 'brightest' freshman class that it has had for fourteen years, according to the results of the Morgan Mental Tests given last month.

At the New York University, approximately 1,200 students are employed through the facilities of the FERA.

The Wayne State College, Wayne, Nebraska, has installed an amplifying system on its football field.

Chapel seats are assigned at Hastings. The seniors occupy the front seats.

The Hebron homecoming celebration will be November 1-2. The Hebron Knights will meet the Concordia Teachers on the gridiron.

Dana Pep Band To Play At Contests

A pep band has been organized under the leadership of Olfert V. Magnussen. About fifteen college students have attended the Tuesday evening rehearsals so far. It is hoped that this number will be substantially increased.

- The present band is composed of:
- Trumpets 4
 - Clarinets 4
 - Altos 1
 - Trombones 2
 - Drums 3
 - Baritones 1
 - Saxophones 1
 - Tubas 1

Membership has included only college students this year because there are enough of them to constitute an adequate musical organization of this type.

Most of the selections that have been practiced are of the martial type. If the players will cooperate and show sufficient interest and ability. New music will be obtained for the athletic contests.

Vikings Defeat Omaha U. Frosh In First Game

Dana Trips Visitors With 13-8 Victory; New Men Play Well

Coach Olson's Viking eleven won its opening game from the Omaha University seconds 13 to 8 in a game which could hardly be equalled by story books. Until the very last play of the game Omaha U. led 8 to 6. Then from Dana's own twenty-yard line, with but seconds to play, "Chink" Gollehon, Dana's fullback, dropped back and threw a long forward pass over the Omaha U.'s safety man's head into the outstretched arms of Hurd, who raced the remaining fifty-five yards for a touchdown as the whistle blew ending the game. On this same play Jack Sides performed some beautiful blocking by taking out a would-be tackler who was about to stop Hurd.

Dana's second touchdown came in the closing minutes of play, but in the first half the same passing combination, Gollehon to Hurd, was good for forty-five yards and a touchdown, which gave Dana a 6-0 lead at the half. This time it was Vinson Smith who blocked the last man and left a clear field for Hurd to gallop through for the six points.

In the second half the Omaha U. seconds came back strong, and on the third down of a first and goal series, Neal Huff, brother of Coach Huff of the Blair High School, a regular with the varsity, but ineligible for varsity competition, plunged over the goal for their lone touchdown. Huff was the outstanding back for the visitors. He slipped and twisted through the Dana line and around the end several times for some nice gains.

Late in the fourth quarter, after Dana had stopped the visitors on Dana's twenty-yard line and had gained possession of the ball, a bad pass from center rolled behind the goal line and was recovered by Smith, who was tackled by two of Omaha U.'s linemen for a safety, giving them the 8-6 lead and what at that time appeared to be a victory. Gollehon then punted from the twenty-yard line after which the Omaha team worked the ball back to Dana's twenty-yard line, where they lost the ball on downs. From this Dana made its last and successful attempt for a victory.

Dana completed three out of four passes for a total of 123 yards and thirteen points. Omaha U. had the advantage in first downs—eighteen to Dana's six.

Gollehon did some nice punting throughout the game for Dana. Bellows showed up well at blocking. Karl Christensen and Stanley Larsen looked good in the line. Johansen received a leg injury and was replaced by Mogenssen.

FOREIGN MISSION SOCIETY

The Foreign Mission Society presented the Rev. Mr. Thompson, a missionary from Sudan, Africa, at its initial meeting Wednesday evening, September 26.

Rev. Mr. Thompson has been a missionary in the Sudan for twenty-one years. He is serving under the auspices of the Sudan Mission Society of Denmark. That the Rev. Mr. Thompson was well acquainted with the conditions and habits of the natives, was clearly shown in his lecture. He also showed two reels of films which depicted that portion of Africa in which he works.

Thursday morning the Rev. Mr. Thompson spoke at the chapel services. Here he reminded the students of the importance of heeding God's call to bring the message to others.

York Panthers Trip Vikings 7 To 8 To Win

Game Is a Thriller

Friday, October 26, found the Dana Vikings keyed up to a fighting pitch as they bowed to the onslaught of a heavier York College team 7-6; but the Panthers, from the plains to the west, won only after the scrappy Scarlet lads were denied admittance to "Touchdown Zone" by the scant margin of several feet, time and time again. The ever-present breaks of the game swung the thrilling battle against the gallant Norsemen of Dana.

Hurd, the stellar Dana junior, took the first kickoff and, behind excellent interference, raced to the middle of the field before he was brought down. On the Vikings pushed, galloping around end in a single-wing formation to finally land the pigskin on the York three-yard line whence Gollehon, in the tailback position, carried it over for the first marker. The try for point failed due to a befuddled play.

York came back in the second quarter, flashing a fancy running attack through tackle and around the end, to march down the field for their only touchdown. It was the first of only two threats within the Viking twenty-yard line. Then it was the deciding break of the game "happened." Bisch's kick hit the crossbar squarely in the middle, bounced skyward two precious feet, and dropped over to make the score 7-6 York.

Dana took the ball at the start of the second half. The formation was a single wing to the right with everyone set for a wide swing around end, but Gollehon broke through the line between tackle and guard and galloped, touchdown bound, only to be overtaken after a fifty-eight-yard run, on the Panther twenty-two yard line by the flashy speedmerchant, Graham, playing safety. The stage was set, and a pass, Gollehon to Hurd, left Dana just short of a first down and a much earned six-pointer on the York two-yard line.

It happened again, as the Vikings fought bitterly to overcome the one point lead, that they knocked at the York goal line, only to be repulsed by inches when a clever flat pass, Hurd to Bellows, was good, but the Dana spinnerman stepped out of bounds with his little toe on the one-foot stripe to again lose the ball on downs.

Once more, this time at an early point in the fourth quarter, the Scarlet warriors went on a rampage. The formation was again to the right, single-wing, Smith back; far to the right he dashed, the Vikings' interferers charged, and down went the Panther would-be tacklers, and Smith sprinted along the side line a scant step from the boundary, evaded several York men, with cooperation from his teammates, but again the safety man was loose and downed the Viking half-back on the York twenty-four-yard line. Still the threat was not repulsed for Dana set out for the goal posts, but the threat ended with two heart-breaking passes. Hurd dashed to his left, shot a nice flat pass which the would-be receiver dropped near the end zone. On the next play, the last serious Dana threat, Gollehon faded back, and lobbed a high archer over the York defense into the outstretched arms of Hurd, who held it as a York man dashed in—but no, Dana had to be denied a touchdown—for the official ruled the ball caught just half a foot over the end zone.

York presented a hard hitting team with two fancy stepping backs in Graham, who scored their touchdown, and Smith. The Vikings from Dana were not outfought nor outcharged. They presented a machine

Dana Overcomes Concordia 19-12 For Third Win

Mud Hampers Game

On Saturday, October 20, the Dana Vikings overcame another of their opponents on the local gridiron by defeating the Concordia Teachers 19 to 12.

Despite adverse conditions, the field being a sea of mud, the game provided many high spots. From the outset, the Vikings were handicapped by the slow field. The Concordia team, using powerhouse plays, was less handicapped.

Within two minutes of play, Dana's goal had been crossed. The visitors, after a pass, were on Dana's one-foot line. On the third play of the series, the ball crossed the final marker, giving them a 6 to 0 lead. The attempt for the extra point failed. Undaunted, the Vikings returned and, following a series of end runs and line plunges, "Chink" Gollehon plunged through the line for Dana's first touchdown. The extra point was earned by completing a forward pass, Hurd to Bellows. The half ended with Dana leading 7 to 6.

During the third quarter, the ball changed hands a number of times. Dana scored on a pass from Bellows to Hurd. The pass for the extra point, Hurd to Bellows, was blocked. Concordia, after taking advantage of a fifteen yard penalty, scored on an end run. A line plunge for the extra point was smothered.

Dana again scored on a pass, Bellows to Hurd, in the final period, but failed to make the point on an end run. Concordia opened a pass attack, but this was frustrated by the Dana backs. The game ended with Dana leading 19 to 12.

A number of Dana reserves saw action in the game.

CAMPUS BRIEFS

Cheer Leaders

The student body elected its cheer leaders October 16. Those trying for the positions gave a short demonstration before the vote was taken. George Brill and Carl Gebuhr were elected.

History Class to Omaha

Under the direction of Professor H. F. Swansen, the Ancient History class made an excursion to Omaha, September 29. The trip was made for the purpose of gathering research material in the public library and of visiting the Joslyn Memorial.

Students in Hospitals

Of late Dana has contributed her share of patients to hospitals. Three of the students have recently undergone appendicitis operations. Ellen Rasmussen was operated in the local hospital October 18 and Letha Russell on October 19. Earl Eriksen was operated in the Jennie Edmundson Hospital, Council Bluffs, Iowa, September 27. He is now back at his studies. The two girls are recuperating nicely and expect to be back soon. Karl Christensen is also a patient of the local hospital. He underwent a major operation. He, too, is recuperating nicely and will return to school soon.

vastly improved over that of the previous week. The line opened holes, and interferers blocked viciously when their chance came. Hurd shone for Dana with his great work returning kickoffs and punts, as pretty running as Dana followers have seen for some time; but the work of the rest of the team in blocking on these plays must not be overlooked. It was a Scarlet team playing that game, including the men on the bench, not individuals.

After all is said and done, we say: "It was a tough game to lose, but the inexperienced Dana Vikings came through gloriously."

Vikings Conquer Central College By 6 To 0 Score

The Vikings won their second game of the season, defeating the Quakers of Nebraska Central 6-0, in a hard fought battle at Central City, October 13.

Dana, taking advantage of a strong wind, pushed the Quakers deep into their own territory and threatened the goal continually during the first quarter. The lone touchdown came in this period as the result of a triple pass behind the line of scrimmage, ending in a forward pass from Bellows to Hurd. An attempted pass for the extra point was blocked. The second quarter was played in Quaker territory much of the time, the Dana line refusing to yield a first down.

Central came back strong in the second half to make their greatest threat, coming within twenty yards of the Dana goal by a series of end runs and penalties against the Vikings. The Viking line braced however, and Dana took the ball on downs.

Great kicking by Gollehon and Sides kept the Dana team out of danger and aided in keeping the play in Quaker territory. Defensive honors went to George, Dana center and Breitbarth, tackle, who many times tossed the Central ball carriers for no gains or losses. The Dana pass attack again proved the big point in the Viking offense. Passes from Gollehon and Bellows to Hurd, combined with end runs by Smith and Hurd, gave the Vikings an edge in ground gained and on first downs.

McLAUGHLIN SPEAKS

TO STUDENTS

Mr. Charles F. McLaughlin, Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator, spoke to the College students Monday evening, October 22. Mr. McLaughlin spoke to the students as students, not as seasoned voters. He emphasized that the salvation of the nation rested in its youth. Mr. Reed O'Hanlon, Blair attorney, introduced the speaker. Other guests were Mr. J. P. Jensen, Mr. Karl Christensen, C. O'Hanlon, A. C. Debel, and Erland Nelson, all of Blair.

SPORT SHOTS

Since Coach Olson came to Dana, three years ago, Dana has not lost a football or basketball game to Concordia or Nebraska Central.

Did we hear rumors that the seminary students would like to organize a football team to play the varsity?

Now watch the boys play football. The Blair Drug Co. will treat the boys at its fountain following each victory. Thank you, we appreciate your hospitality.

The men's physical education classes are showing great interest in touch-football. New stars are appearing daily. Cecil Jensen has proved himself to be the star in the sport.

Staby is now working for a paper mill in his home town, Cumberland Mills, Maine. He hopes to continue his studies next year. Aage Nommesen was called home to help his father manage the hotel which he owns in Copenhagen, Denmark. However, Aage hopes to return before long to the "land of his dreams." Dagny O. Nielsen, secretary to Mr. N. H. Debel, the lawyer member of the Minnesota Industrial Commission, was recently a visitor in the history department. H. Albert Olsen, the super man of the '34 graduating class, has been lifting ice cubes all summer to keep comfortable, but, with the approach of winter, he has secured a more comfortable position with his Uncle Sam. We also hear that Stanley Jorgensen of Des Moines, Iowa, who recently had a severe case of influenza, is now fast recuperating. Stanley is working in a grocery store in his home town. We have occasional visits of one young man dressed in the uniform of the U. S. A. Yes, Waldon Halverson, it looks good on you, but I wouldn't tell it to anybody.

SCHOOL PASSES FIFTIETH YEAR AND CONTINUES

mained nearly the same, varying between sixteen and eighteen members. The school has had at its head such men as Pastors P. S. Vig, Kr. Anker, J. P. Jensen, L. A. Laursen, T. M. Hansen, and Dr. C. X. Hansen. At present, Professor Erland Nelson heads the college department, while Dr. J. P. Nielsen is the head of the seminary.

The institution has, since its founding, been a denominational school. It has aimed, for the past fifty years, to serve the interests of the Lutheran Church. Its doors are, however, open to all who desire an education based on the Christian religion and permeated by the Christian spirit.

May Dana College and Trinity Seminary long continue to educate and influence our Lutheran youth.
