

Dana Enrollment Near 200

Freshman Class Said Greatest in School's History

BUS LINE ESTABLISHED TO CONVEY STUDENTS LIVING NEARBY

Continuing a steady growth, the Dana enrollment at the beginning of its fiftieth year is 195. With an increase of 9.6% this year and a proportionate growth during the last few years, Dana College and Trinity Seminary has a reason for looking forward with confidence toward its second half century of existence.

The two dormitories are already filled, and the new rooms are being constructed in the old Main, as well as on the ground floor of the ladies dormitory where the corner rooms of the dining hall have been made into rooms for nine girls. The administration building's fourth floor is being remodeled to accommodate about 15 young men with sleeping quarters.

This year 14 states and two foreign countries are represented at Dana College. The most noticeable change is the number of Nebraska students attending this year. Last year, there were only 40 students from this state, but this year Blair alone supplies 36, and outside Nebraska 49, making a total of 85. Other states represented are Iowa with 45, Wisconsin, 14; Minnesota, 12; Montana, 5; South Dakota, 5; Maine, 3; Illinois, 3; California, 2; New York, 1; New Jersey, 1; Oklahoma, 1; Oregon, 1; Michigan, 1; Colorado, 1; Louisiana, 1; and one each from Canada and Japan. With 12 Seminary students coming October 1, the total figure will reach 195. More students are registering every day, and there is no doubt that when the second semester and winter students have registered, the total figure will be much above 200.

This year boasts the largest freshman class in Dana's history. Numbering 109, it exceeds last year's class by 7, and that of 1933 by 43. The sophomore class numbers 46. There are 15 juniors, 11

DR. OSTERGAARD SPEAKS

Dr. Ostergaard, a medical missionary of our sister Danish Lutheran body, spoke before the faculty and student body at chapel services, September 13. Dr. Ostergaard is now on furlough in the United States after serving one term among the Santals in India.

Basing his message on Mark 5: 1-20, he spoke to the students concerning some of the strange religious beliefs of the Santals. An interesting description of their conception of God, their strong belief in spirits, and their adherence to the principles of the Brahman religion, was given.

October 12—Nebraska Central here (night).
October 14-17—Iowa-Nebraska Pastoral Conference.

Noted Political Observer Gives Lecture Series

On September 23 and 24 Professor Etienne Dennery of Paris gave a series of three lectures before the student body, dealing with French public opinion regarding international affairs.

Mr. Dennery is a graduate of the "Ecole Normale Supérieure" of Paris, and is associated with the "Ecole Libre des Sciences Politiques" and the "Institute des Hautes Etudes Internationales." He received the University Agregation in 1926. He has been awarded a Kahn Traveling Fellowship by the University of Paris; this has afforded him excellent opportunities to observe political situations in all parts of the world.

In 1932 Mr. Dennery served as economic expert of the Lytton Commission, sent by the League of Nations to study the difficulties which had arisen in Manchuria.

At present Mr. Dennery is making a speaking tour of many American universities and colleges under the auspices of the Institute of International Education.

Dana Reception Well-Attended

On Friday evening, September 30, the Dana faculty held its annual reception for the student body in the reception room of the women's dormitory.

The students having been introduced to the various members of the teaching staff, President Erland Nelson delivered an address on the subject "Beauty." Dr. J. P. Nielsen of Trinity Seminary spoke on the subject "Holiness." He urged the student body to seek that which is holy.

Mrs. Dorothy Brann Malmin offered a vocal solo, "The Little Princess," after which Stanley Larsen, president of the student body, extended a welcome with an invitation to membership in the various activities and organizations on the campus. Refreshments and a "get acquainted" hour followed. The school song, "Hail, Dana," was sung as the concluding number on the program.

A further increase in the student body would undoubtedly necessitate the removal of this function to the gymnasium.

JOSEPH E. BROWN

Joseph E. Brown New Commerce Head of College

COLLEGE AND SEMINARY RECALL LYNDRUP AND NYHOLM TO STAFFS

Professor Joseph E. Brown has been appointed to head the commercial department at Dana this year. Professor J. E. Bartley, who held that position for several years, recently resigned to accept the positions of business manager and treasurer at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Mr. Brown is a native of Griswold, Iowa. He holds a degree from the College of Business Administration of the University of Nebraska, received in 1927. He received his Master's degree from the same institution in 1932. Since that time Mr. Brown has taken graduate work at Columbia University.

In later years Mr. Brown served as principal of schools at Crofton, Nebraska, and superintendent of schools at Decatur and Waco, Nebraska. In these positions he has also coached championship baseball, football and basketball teams.

Pastor Paul Nyholm of Dickson, Alberta, is expected to arrive at Dana on or about October 1 to take up the position of professor of historical theology in Trinity Seminary. Pastor Nyholm is a graduate of the University of Copenhagen, and has taken work at the Garrett Bible Institute and the Lutheran Bible Institute. He served for several years as instructor in Danish language and history at Dana College, and was editor of our Synod's Danish publication, "Luthersk Ugeblad," for a number of years.

In addition to these teachers Professor Luther Lyndrup, who served as head of the science department last year, has been called to return as professor of mathematics and physics. He will also serve as chemistry laboratory assistant.

Choir Back From Summer Concert Tour of Denmark

Faculty Spends Vacation Time in Work, Travel

During the past summer the faculty members have occupied themselves profitably in rest and study. Some remained in Blair, some visited in their home-towns, some travelled abroad, and others studied at different universities.

Dr. Hansen was busy directing the Dana Summer School here, Prof. Johnson spent her vacation at her home below College Hill, Dr. Nielsen was occupied in Blair, and Prof. Fynboe remained at home to translate from the Danish and to revise his Danish grammar, but, he confesses, the weather was not very conducive to intensive work.

Pres. Nelson studied problems of Lutheran education with other educators at Minnesota University. Prof. Swansen worked on his doctor's dissertation at Iowa University. Coach Olson attended the coaching school of Morningside College held at Lake Okoboji, Iowa, and Prof. Hartwig busied himself with research work in the Harvard University Library.

Prof. Wind spent a pleasant vacation with friends and relatives at Lake Benton, Minnesota. Prof. Thomsen visited with his brother at Luck, Wisconsin, where he drew scenes from nature, and Miss Dorothea Jensen rested at Wau-paca, Wisconsin.

Dr. Larsen served our Danish Lutheran congregation at Brooklyn, New York, during the summer months. Those of our faculty who travelled farthest away were Prof. and Mrs. Malmin, who sailed with the Dana Choir to Denmark and then made an excursion through Norway.

Luther Leaguers Hold First Meet

The first Luther League meeting this year was held in the college chapel the evening of September 18. A hymn of praise, "Mighty God While Angels Bless Thee," and a hymn of prayer, "My God, Is Any Hour So Sweet" were sung at the opening of the meeting. Walter Rasmussen read from Matthew 3, 1-12, and led in prayer. "True Riches," a tenor solo, was offered by Rudolph Knudsen.

As the feature of the program, Dr. J. P. Nielsen conducted a Bible study centered around the work of John the Baptist. Dr. Nielsen drew a parallel between the central theme of repentance found in the preaching of both John and Jesus. The manner in which many of the mysteries of

GROUP WELL RECEIVED IN DANISH CITIES; FETED BY MRS. OWEN

On September 6 the Dana College A Capella Choir completed a three-month concert tour of Denmark, Germany, and the eastern section of the United States. During the trip the choir traveled 10,000 miles, presenting 20 concerts in the United States, 28 in Denmark, and one in Germany.

Leaving Blair on June 2, the choir conducted a three-week concert tour enroute to New York City. Twelve states and Canada were visited. Concerts were given in Cedar Falls, Iowa; Clinton, Milwaukee, and Racine, Wisconsin; Chicago, Illinois; Greenville, Edmore, Trufant, Lansing, and Detroit, Michigan; London and Toronto, Canada; Geneva and Penn Yan, New York; Falmouth and Westbrook, Maine; Hartford and Bridgeport, Connecticut; and Brooklyn, New York. Among the spots of beauty and interest visited were Niagara Falls, the Finger Lakes region of New York, and the Green Mountain country of Vermont.

Arriving in New York City on June 20, the choir presented a concert at the Bayridge High School in Brooklyn, and on the following day gave a short program from Radio City over the NBC network.

On June 22 the singers sailed from New York City aboard the Scandinavian-American liner, S.S. Frederick VIII. During a rough and stormy trip across the Atlantic many of the choir members were troubled with sea sickness. This, however, did not hinder them from giving three concerts enroute in addition to daily programs at the ship's devotional services.

The ship docked at Oslo on the twelfth day out of New York, July 3. The program of activities at that city included a sightseeing tour and a visit to an old Viking

NEW NURSE APPOINTED

Miss Carolyn E. Larsen, a native of Clifton, Illinois, and a graduate of West Suburban Hospital, Oak Park, Illinois, has been named to serve as nurse at Dana during the coming term. Her appointment fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Elsie Jensen.

Miss Larsen served for two years as assistant supervisor in the operating room at the West Suburban Hospital of Oak Park. She attended the National Nurses Convention at Washington, D. C., during the spring of 1934.

JOHAN RINGEN—

The Hermes wishes to extend the deepest sympathies of the faculty and student body to the friends and relatives of Johan Ringen, whose death this summer called a true friend and earnest schoolmate from our midst.

READING

When Francis Bacon wrote, "Reading maketh a full man," he perhaps suggested a reason for the emptiness which seems to characterize so many people. Few matters are as neglected as the practice of thoughtful reading. In antagonism toward anything which hints of thought or effort, many fail to acquire the habit of setting aside a certain portion of their time for the earnest pursuit of serious literature. Far too often they compromise by resolving to read when they gain respite from endeavors which, to them, are seemingly more important.

Suppose, however, that we should make it a point to devote at least one full hour of each day to intensive reading over a wide variety of select works. It should be an hour in which the mind would be free to accompany the eye. Arnold Bennett suggests that at least half of one's reading time be given over to careful reflection. In 50 years, granting that we should enjoy the privilege of living that long, we should have acquired the wealth of over 18,000 hours of reading,—more than two solid years of inflowing knowledge and mental exercise.

Many need not bind themselves to specific periods of reading; their natural love for books will constantly serve to hold them to that endeavor. Others never become acquainted with the art of intelligent reading, unless they enforce upon themselves some regulative discipline in that respect. Some may argue the impossibility of devoting an hour every day to reading. However, it would be well if we would free ourselves from the meshes of the world "impossible." In many cases the setting aside of definite reading periods may be difficult, but it is hardly, if ever, impossible.

The benefits of such a plan are manifold. Besides adding to our store of knowledge, regular reading lends purpose to our lives. By giving a certain part of our time to good books, we do much to prevent conscience from accusing us of wasting time. Above all, we gain self-respect; as Alexander Pope has said, "One self-approving hour whole years outweighs."

Systematic reading helps one to keep abreast with the world and the times. It helps one to develop his personality through an ever-widening range of sympathies and interests aroused by the various literary contacts. It is a mind stimulant without equal.

If the mass of the people would steal away from their own little worlds for an hour or so every day, and earnestly pry into worthwhile books, we should perhaps come to witness a refreshing display of understanding and peace in place of the chaos in which most of the world is now embroiled.

Constructive reading helps one to shape his life and to appreciate it in its deeper significance. It grants one access to the best preventatives of hopelessness and despair.

STARS OR STONES

This year Dana is enjoying the greatest enrollment in its history; but the matter of registration statistics pales alongside the vital significance of the tremendous adventure of education.

What is in the hearts and minds and souls of those who have come to spend this year on "the hill"? How many of our students realize that this institution is a working symbol of the force which transformed the West from a howling wilderness into an organized, civilized society, peopled with thinkers and workers?

Some of us will spend the year on tiptoes, reaching for treasures; others will stoop to gain less worthy objects. Some will strive for stars; others will be content with stones, the externals of education. Much can be gained here, and much can also be lost. How are you planning your year?

Faith without works is like a bird without wings; though she may hop with her companions on earth, yet she will never fly with them to heaven; but when both are joined together, then doth the soul mount up to her eternal rest.

—Beaumont

Hermes Keeps Its Subscription Rate

This year the Hermes returns to its old bi-weekly publication schedule. The paper is to be issued every other Monday beginning September 30.

We feel certain that our subscribers will welcome the news that there is to be no increase in subscription rate. Seventy-five cents will bring you the Hermes every other week throughout the entire year. Send in your subscription now in order that you may receive all the issues of the year.

Ruth Vig Heads Girls' Athletics

The administration recently announced that Miss Ruth Vig has been appointed director of girls' athletics at Dana for the coming year. Miss Vig is the daughter of Professor P. S. Vig, former president of Trinity Seminary.

The announcement of Miss Vig's appointment to this post should meet with the hearty approval of the girls, for she is capable and conscientious, and comes from a family which has long figured prominently in athletics at Dana; every Dana grad remembers the achievements of the Vig boys on the basketball court.

No word has been received concerning the girls' athletic program for the year, but it is expected that we shall be able to present an outline of proposed feminine sport activities in our next issue. It is estimated that more than 70 girls will take part in the physical education classes this year.

Speak Up

Beginning with the issue of October 14 there will be a column in the Hermes devoted to student comment. This column will be open to all students who feel a sincere desire to express their views on any of the various problems and grievances which inevitably arise during the school year.

By thus bringing student opinion to the immediate attention of the administration, the faculty, and the student body, it is hoped that effective solutions to problems may be more easily attained. The student who has the courage of his convictions should not hesitate to pass his ideas on to others. Contributions to this department should be handed to George Pallesen.

Wanted: A Humor Editor

The Hermes herewith sends forth a call for that one certain student, whomever he or she may be, who has the ability to interpret the humorous side of life at Dana in a clean and witty manner.

No newspaper should be without the spice of wit. Of course, when wit becomes a poison rather than a spice, it is best that it be eliminated altogether. That, however, need not be the case. We are certain there are at least a few true humorists in our midst. If you feel a bent in this direction, please confer with Mr. Hartwig or the editor.

MAGAZINE ARTICLES OF INTEREST

This first selection of magazine articles recommended to those readers of the Hermes who care for a broader knowledge of affairs has been chosen with some deliberation. Attempts have been made to select articles of interest to each department of learning at Dana. The revelation of one of our worst vice rackets might interest sociologists and pre-medical students, a visit into the mind of a discouraged professor might prove valuable to faculty members and teachers in training, or an article by one of Dana's professors might present a vital challenge to the students who are building for service. We recommend that you choose and read several of the articles listed below.

"NOT BY BREAD ALONE"

Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. Matthew 4:4.

Christ had just completed his forty days of fasting in the wilderness; and we are told that he hungered. Then the tempter came to Him and said, "If thou art the Son of God, command that these stones become bread". Christ replied, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God".

Christ had the power to change stones into bread had He the desire to do so. His task, however, was not to satisfy His own appetite, but to do the will of God, who had sent Him to seek and to save that which was lost.

How many of us, had we such power, would not first satisfy our own appetites and desires, and think about others afterwards? Too many people seem to think that life consists merely in eating and drinking, in the gratification of material appetites. They are busy earning a living for themselves, or preparing themselves that they may be able to earn a living easier. But that is not real living. Real living exists in service. What kind of service? Seek the Will of God and live according to that Will. Then you will not be living by bread alone, but by the words which proceed from the mouth of God. Then you will also experience a fuller and richer life in communion and fellowship with God and your fellowmen.

We shall be able to find many many people who are in need of our service; and that service will become one of joy when we know that we are serving our Lord at the same time. Christ said, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto Me".

What is your conception of real living? Do you live to be served, or do you live to serve?

seniors, one graduate student and one special student registered so far. Of the upper classmen nine were not here last year.

During the last few years the territory north of Blair has contributed an increasing number of students. While Mr. Fynboe was working as our extension agent in that territory this summer, he conceived the idea that a bus line might be established to bring these students to Dana. Consequently the College purchased a new bus which is owned by the A Capella choir, and it is now in daily service between Tekamah and Dana College. Each morning at seven, John Poucher brings seven of his fellow students to college, and he returns them to their homes at five o'clock. No doubt more students between Blair and Tekamah will take advantage of this opportunity in the coming years.

About 50% of the dormitory students find employment on the campus. Of these 24 are employed by the government's F.E.R.A. plan. The job of feeding 150 people requires 39 kitchen workers and waiters, and 12 are engaged in keeping buildings and campus looking fit.

Among the new students are a few who are quite above the average freshman age. After interviewing a few of these older students, we find that many of them have remained at home, or at work, in order to help their parents during the 'lean years.' The return of these young people to their studies might indicate that the depression is about over.

Only nine years ago there were 35 academy students enrolled at Dana. 27 were taking college work, 10 seminary work, and 48 were studying music, commerce or pedagogy. If all of these but the academy students were high school graduates, we still have an increase of from 85 to 183. A comparison of these figures would warrant the assumption that the greater Dana, of which so much has been written and spoken, is slowly but surely beginning to materialize.

A fire escape has been constructed on the south side of the Administration building.

Noted Political Observer Talks

23, Professor Dennery spoke on the subject, "French Public Opinion Regarding Fascism and Democracy." He stated that France still clings to the principles of democracy, although an element of fascism has crept into French politics.

On Monday evening the audience was permitted to take part in a discussion of current problems centering around international relations. At this meeting Mr. Dennery declared that the monarchist movement is on the wane in France. He also stated that an immediate war, in his opinion, would be virtual suicide for many European nations.

When French opinion concerning the Versailles treaty was discussed, Mr. Dennery said, "French public opinion admits mistakes in the Versailles treaty, but still maintains that the present state is better than that which existed before the World War." He then expressed the belief that there would be conflict in case a revision were attempted, and that the nations favored in the revision would demand yet more.

The concluding lecture of the series was presented Tuesday morning. At that time Mr. Dennery spoke of his experiences on the Lytton Commission. He emphasized the strategic economic position which Manchuria holds at the present.

Light Viking Grid Squad Shows Up Well in Drills

ELEVEN VETERANS FORM NUCLEUS OF DANA'S 1935 FOOTBALL TEAM

Despite the fact that the 1935 Viking football squad is composed largely of new men of only average weight, present indications seem to indicate a successful grid-iron season for Dana. The team has displayed remarkable willingness during the early rehearsals and that spirit has not gone without its reward; a steady improvement has been noticeable since the first practice.

Many of the new members of the team are pointed for first-string service, although the veterans have been setting a strong pace for starting positions. Among the veterans back with the squad are:

Captain Harold Hurd of Omaha, Nebraska. Hurd holds down the quarterback post, and was elected Honor Athlete at Dana in 1934. He has been the high scorer in football for the past two seasons, and he is considered one of the best pass receivers and open-field runners in Nebraska collegiate football. Hurd holds the record for the longest Dana scoring run—82 yards, against Concordia College.

Eugene "Chink" Gollehon of Blair, Nebraska. Gollehon is a good blocker and a stone wall on defense. His work in plunging, punting, and passing has been outstanding. During last year's game with the Omaha University Frosh, "Chink" threw a pass to Hurd in the last minute of play to put over a win for Dana. A total of 80 yards was gained on the play.

Stanley Larsen of Sturtevant, Wisconsin. "Stan" was elected Honor Athlete last year at Dana. He plays tackle on the football squad. He is recognized as one of the most dependable linemen on the team, but his ability at ball-carrying and blocking has caused Coach Olson to shift him to the backfield for this season. During his two years on the Viking grid team, Larsen has not been penalized for any infraction of the rules.

Ivan Johansen of Lincoln, Nebraska. Ivan is returning to a tackle post for his second season at Dana. He is one of the best blockers and defense players on the Viking squad, although he has not received the credit due him for his greatest specialty—opening paths for ball-carriers. Watch Ivan if you desire to see a lineman play as he should.

Waldon George of Blair, Nebraska. Waldon is a dependable center. He played his best game against Nebraska Central last season. This will be his third season at the pivot post. His specialty is intercepting enemy passes.

William "Bill" Langley of Spaulding, Nebraska. "Bill" is the shortest, roundest, and toughest guard on the team. He loves the game and is always giving his best. He should worry the opposition this year. This is his third season with the Red and White.

Irving Tange of Hutchinson, Minnesota. Tange played center last year, but has been shifted to end for the current season. He is one of the hardest and most willing workers on the team.

Carl Wildrick of Des Moines, Iowa. Carl is a second-year guard. He is heavier this year and should develop into a dependable man at that post. Coach Olson says of Wildrick: "I wish every man on the squad had Carl's willingness and conscientiousness."

Lawrence C. Nelson of Albert Lea, Minnesota. This is Nelson's second year, and he is shooting for the fullback post. We should hear more about him this season. He eats, sleeps, and talks football, and he never misses a practice.

Laurice DeLaurant of Wolbach, Nebraska. DeLaurant is a second-year tackle, who laughs at tough football situations. The bigger the opponents, the better he enjoys himself.

John Bruse of Blair, Nebraska. "Johnny", who plays either half-back or end, is one of the most popular boys on the squad. He is a fine open-field runner and pass receiver. This is his second year.

The early roster of the squad is as follows:

Western Union Downs Dana 7-0 In First Contest

VIKINGS LISTLESS AND SLOW; POOR BLOCKING HAMPER THE BACKFIELD

The Dana Vikings opened their 1935 grid season on September 27 by dropping a dull game to the Western Union Eagles of LeMars, Iowa, by a score of 7-0.

The Western Union squad, aided by the experience of a previous game with the strong Luther team, had little difficulty in their contest with the Scarlet and White. Most of the Eagle gains were made on line plays, little resort being made to a passing attack. Wegner and Parks were the outstanding ball-carriers for Western Union, Parks plunging over for their lone score in the second period.

Dana's running attack met with meager success, for the Viking interference failed miserably during the major part of the contest. A passing attack, launched in the closing minutes of the last period, accounted for an advance of 49 yards on six plays, but the effort fell short of a score. The best defensive work on the part of the Dana team came in the third period when Western Union was stopped on the Viking one-yard line. Harold Hurd was the most successful Viking ground-gainer.
