Luther League Meetings Held During Month

INTERESTING PROGRAMS DELIVERED SEPTEMBER 25 AND OCTOBER 2

The Luther League held an inspiring meeting on September 25. "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," was sung as the opening hymn, after which Einer Olsen read from II Timothy 4:1-8 and offered a short prayer. Anker Jensen read a thought-provoking piece, "The Pool's Prayer."

"Fight the Good Fight," the message of the evening, was delivered by Wesley Andersen. The text used was Hebrews 12:1-4. Among other thoughts, Mr. Andersen compared life to a race; Christians should practice moderation and patience, looking to Jesus as their guide. The life race is an individual enterprise, with each employing his talents to their best use. The speaker stressed faith in Jesus as the key to triumphant living, to peace and happiness in this life and eternal salvation in heaven.

Emil Pedersen sang, "An Evening Prayer," and the group joined in singing, "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah," the closing hymn.

On October 2 the group met again. The program opened with the singing of, "My God, Is Any Hour So Sweet." George Pallesen read from Isaiah 55:3-6 and led in prayer. Emil Pedersen sang two familiar hymns.

A few glimpses into the life of the Cherokee Indian were given by Ruth Johnson, former teacher at Oaks, Oklahoma. She presented an interesting resume of the educational, religious, and social development being carried on at our mission among the Indians. Miss Johnson stated that a noticeable advance has been made in Oklahoma, for the causes of both education and Christianity.

Following Miss Johnson's talk, Andrew Staby spoke on the subject, "Giving a Meaning to Life." He described the program of Christianity as one which appeals to the individual rather than to the masses. He contrasted Christianity with Communism, Fascism, Eutopianism, and other movements which are being advanced as cures for the ills of mankind. In closing, Mr. Staby offered as a world remedy the advice contained in the words of Jesus, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His Righteousness, and all other things shall be added unto you."

In closing the group sang, "If Thou But Knew the Life."

The administration has this year adopted the policy of assigning regular seats at chapel services. It is believed that this system will reduce confusion and delay at the opening of services.

AS WE GO TO PRESS

Wednesday, October 9—Luther League elected the following officers: president, Andrew Staby; vice president, Earl Laursen; secretary, Ruth Johnson; treasurer, Rodney Juhl.

Friday, October 11—Alpha Sigma Phi initiated the following associate members: Anker Jensen, Rudolph Knudsen, George Cowger, Eric Christensen, Quinton Simonsen, George Petersen, David Simonsen, John Maher, Waldon George, Edward Larsen, Martha Craig and Mildred Esterbrook.

Enrollment 206; Eleven Register In Past 2 Weeks

In the last issue of the Hermes it was reported that the enrollment at Dana had reached a new high of 195. Since that time more students have arrived, and the present total is 206. Fifteen states and two foreign countries are represented. The distribution is as follows: Nebraska, 109; Iowa 45; Wisconsin, 14; Minnesota, 12; Montana, five; South Dakota, five; Maine, three; Illinois, three; Canada, two; and New York, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Oregon, Michigan, Colorado, Louisiana, and Japan, one each.

The students are divided into classes as follows: 112 freshmen, 45 sophomores, 17 juniors, 13 seniors, two academy students, two post-graduates, four special music students, and 11 seminarians.

Trinity Seminary Opens October 1

Trinity Seminary carried out its formal opening in the form of a communion service at the First Lutheran church in Blair on Tuesday evening, October 1. Dr. C. B. Larsen delivered the sermon, basing his message on Ephesians 6:10-13. He emphasized the importance of taking a definite stand for Christ.

The seminary enrollment this year includes: seniors, Wesley Andersen, Ervin Bondo, William Larsen, Emil Pedersen, Alvin Petersen, Johan Petersen, Ingward Olsen, and George Robertson; middle, Clarence Jensen; juniors, Erhardt Nielsen, Dolliver Thorger and Arne Voetmann.

SOUND MOVIES SHOWN AT DANA

On Monday afternoon, September 30, the student body enjoyed a five-reel sound picture, produced and distributed by the Chevrolet Motor Company. In addition to showing the various operations in motor car manufacture, the film presented some instructive hints on safe driving. The picture was shown under the auspices of the Vinton-Evans Motor Company of Blair.

Dana Seminary Students Busy Last Summer

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE THE THEME OF TRINITY STUDENTS' ACTIVITIES

All the seminary students who recently returned for another year's work report a busy summer, filled with practical experiences. George Robertson served for the first two months of his vacation as the assistant to Reverend S. S. Kaldhl at Wolbach, Cushing, Logan and Ord, Nebraska. The last half of his vacation he spent serving as a vicar at Rolfe and Callender, Iowa. He has received a call from these congregations to serve them during the coming year, and to become their pastor upon his graduation next spring.

Wesley Andersen taught summer school at Council Bluffs, Iowa, and is at present serving the congregation at Avoca, Iowa, on Sundays.

Wm. Larsen served the Gethsemane church at Racine, and also made several trips to Chicago to preach at the Golgotha church.

Johan Petersen taught summer school at Blair, and besides,

MILES COVERDALE

If it is true that we are at all in debt to the past, we are certainly in debt to Miles Coverdale who translated the first complete English Bible out of the German and Latin and who continually jeopardized his life in order to propagate truth. He sacrificed home and fatherland for his ideal—completing Tynsdale's work.

At twenty-six, Coverdale became an Augustinian priest at Cambridge in 1514, where he was one of several budding Lutherans. His career as an earnest non-conformist began one spring Sunday in 1528 when he preached contrary to Catholic doctrine. Stamped a heretic, he fled to Germany and produced his Biblia which appeared unlicensed and unsuppressed in England, October 4, 1535.

Thomas Cromwell, secretary to Henry VIII, ordered the common use of this Bible, and Henry himself asked license of King Francis to print it on the presses of Paris. The request denied, Coverdale returned to England to produce the Great Bible or Cromwell's Bible in 1539. For several years Coverdale was an exile from Mary Tudor. He spent his last ten years in England and died, 1569, a celebrated preacher admired by all the Puritans.

It is fitting that in this season we show our gratitude to Miles Coverdale by occasionally turning our attention to his achievements.

COMING EVENTS

- October 14-17—Iowa-Nebraska Pastoral Conference.
- October 14-18—School Board Meeting.
- October 19—Concordia at Seward.
- October 25—York at Blair.
- October 31—Hallowe'en Party.

Blair High and Dana Cooperate In Convocation

In an effort to establish a more intimate relationship between Blair High School and Dana College, the two schools joined in a convocation at the high school auditorium on Friday afternoon, September 27.

The first section of the program was presented by the high school, with Miss Evelyn Brown introducing the following numbers: two selections by the high school orchestra; a freshmen girls' tumbling act; a tenor solo by Harry Langley, music instructor; an address of welcome to the college by LeRoy Bucklin, senior class president; and a talk, "The New Benefits in Education," by Principal Flack.

Carl Gebuhr introduced the various numbers in the Dana portion of the program. Margaret Johnson delivered a short talk concerning the new and better relations which are springing up between the two institutions. "Danny Boy," a tenor solo, was sung by Rudolph Knudsen, and Professor William Thomson presented an enlightening and entertaining illustrated lecture, "The Line Composition of Human Beings."

Missionary From Africa is Speaker

Rev. Ernest Engskov, visiting this country on furlough from the mission field in Sudan, Africa, delivered an interesting talk before the faculty and student body at chapel services on Friday, September 13.

Rev. Engskov related many of the interesting experiences which have arisen during his work of fifteen years among the African tribesmen. He stated that the natives were very eager to hear the gospel, and that there were many tribes not yet reached by the missionaries, owing to the duties which hold the workers to their individual stations. He voiced a need for more missionaries, consecrated men and women with a keen desire to reach the many who are yet seeking the Word.

Missionary Engskov is a graduate of the University of Copenhagen. He is a brother of Rev. Ben Engskov of Dannebrog, Nebraska, who graduated from Trinity Seminary last May.

Dana Singers to Make California Trip This Year

A-CAPELLA CHOIR ARRANGING EXTENSIVE CONCERT TOUR TO THE WEST

The number of students enrolled for choir work this year exceeds that of any former term, despite the fact that many who made the Denmark tour have not returned to school. Of the 85 out for positions in the organization, 24 are veterans with one or more years of experience under Professor Malmin.

Former members who have returned are: Katheryn Sas, Shirley Larson, Irene Jensen, Ernestine McCain, Amy Rasmussen, Lucille Neve, Ellen Rasmussen, Eloise Morris, Lela Sondergaard, Jean Larson, Ruth Pagh, Rudolph Knudsen, Ivan Johansen, Harold Qualsett, Rodney Juhl, Franklin Jorgensen, Robert Morrow, Emil Wahling, Carl Gebuhr, Andrew Staby, Earl Friis, Emery Petersen and Anker Jensen.

At some time during the school year, perhaps during the Christmas vacation, the choir will make a concert tour to California. The tentative route leads through Colorado by way of Brush and Denver, and along the Lincoln Highway through Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, and Oregon. It is probable that a stop will be made at Portland. The choir will then proceed down the coast to San Francisco and Los Angeles. The southern route has been selected for the return trip. The students will make the three-weeks trip in two busses.

In addition to the tour outlined above, it is expected that an oratorio will be given locally shortly after Christmas. Further details on the California tour are to be released in the near future.

Malmin Forming Dana Orchestra

A bigger and better orchestra this year is the aim of Professor Malmin and of the students who make up this year's organization. In the past the instrumental activity at Dana has been confined to the offerings of individual instrumentalists and small pep bands, but this year, with an increased enrollment and an early start in practice, it is expected that Dana will have a large and talented musical organization.

The present pieces in the orchestra include: two trumpets, one drum, seven clarinets, three violins, two trombones, and a piano. It is expected that more students will join the organization in the near future, as the school is planning the purchase of several more instruments. A tuba and a baritone have already been procured.

FADING TRADITIONS

One of the vital concerns of the alumnus and the college student regarding their Alma Mater is her future and destiny. Therefore, they are deeply concerned about the observing and recognition of her traditions.

The traditions of a college may be peculiar, but they are, nevertheless, vital constituents of her growth and existence that grow to command the respect and attention of the alumnus and college student.

Dana also has her traditions, and they are traditions well worthy of the respect and observance of every student and alumnus. These traditions, if they are faithfully observed, greatly influence her success and progress as an educational institution. But the "if" in the above sentence is of great significance, for some of the traditions of Dana have been to a great extent overlooked and ignored so far this year.

We cannot help but notice that especially three of these traditions have been transgressed. The first of these is—smoking on the campus by the students. This is a habit that has never before been tolerated, and it should be checked immediately. The second tradition which has suffered a breach this year is what we term "cutting campus." Signs have been placed to remind and show us that walking or running across the campus is not allowed except when we leisurely view the scenic spots found on its lawns.

The third tradition which has been ignored is—the wearing of high school letters on the campus. The "D" club has instituted a ruling that athletic letters earned in high school must not be worn on the campus.

There may be other traditions that have been ignored, but the mentioning of these should be sufficient to induce us to take proper action in stamping out these violations. Perhaps the breaking of these traditions is due to the innocent ignorance of their existence. Whether or not this is the case, we should kindly inform the new students about these traditions.

FACING THE FACTS

"There's no two ways about it," the facts must be faced. The realities of our natural, heaven-driven universe and the delighting and injuring truths which, though they seem hopelessly alien, are abundantly near at each step we take, these facts of life daily become hurdles on our way and challenge us to jump high.

Life, as an entity, is itself a fact as real and as hard as a stone wall; it is no intangible idea but an uneclipsed reality. To how many of us when we "thought as a child," didn't this observation occur: I am real and living—my parents and all my associates are merely ideas which I have created to serve my purpose—I'll pinch my arm and assure myself of reality? But now when, "as a man," we reflect on these things, ideology becomes vanity and life real, with each of us as one person among billions. Life is more real than the picture "The Man With A Hoe," for Millet implies facts which we will possibly never grasp. Life is more real than the newspaper item which tells us, "One family wiped out in auto accident," for behind those words lie untold stories of pain, or sorrow, of the power-to-do nipped in the bud. A loss is real to the football squad: to the spectators, it is an idea to be discussed.

We are informed that modern youth, as a whole, considers life a matter of constant frustration. If that is so, we should cry out with Hamlet, "O God! How weary, stale, flat, and unprofitable seem to me all the uses of this world!" We are also informed that modern youth, as a whole, considers life a merry race towards no particular goal. If that is so, we should all plunge ourselves into a libertine, a dissipated existence. But we hesitate to believe that our God-given life is vain.

We are searching for truth. We are finding facts. It is our task to face these facts and with unflinching spirit to fashion our lives according to them. That is, should we see the facts pointing toward epicureanism, we must become epicures in order to be honest, or should we see them hold a course leading to Christ, it is imperative that we become Christians.

ALUMNI

Quite a number of last year's student body are continuing their studies at other institutions this year. Dolliver Thorgersen, Erhardt Nielsen, and Arne Voetmann attend Trinity Seminary at Blair, and unverified reports have it that Johannes Christensen attends Maywood Seminary at Chicago, Illinois. Elmer Dixon, Ruby Badgerow, and Harold P. Johnson are studying at the University of Nebraska. Barbara Hansen is completing her A.B. in history at St. Olaf. Robert O'Hanlon has entered the law school of Creighton University. Also in Omaha is Miriam Rosenblatt, attending the University Medical School. Eva Bach is continuing her medical studies at the University of Minnesota, and Paul Folmer is completing work toward his A.B. degree at the same school. At Madison, Wisconsin, Gerald Sorensen and James Hay are attending the University of Wisconsin, while Vita Hansen is a student at the Milwaukee State Teacher's College.

Three Dana students are teaching school this year; they are Herluf Christensen, Marjorie Larsen and Sylvia Hansen. Bertha Holl is teaching in Montana, Ruth Petersen in Wisconsin, and Alvin Carlsen in Oklahoma. Viggo Carlsen, Arndt Vig, Viola Hansen, and Margaret McQuarrie are all teaching in Nebraska. Others, of whom we have not yet heard, may also be teaching.

Three students entered nurse's training. They are Hope Christensen, at Marshalltown, Iowa, and Gretchen Gammel and Margaret Henningsen, at Immanuel Lutheran Hospital in Omaha.

Three former Dana students have found positions in the commercial world -- Olfert V. Magnussen, Edward Andersen, and Carl Frost. Wilfred Jensen of West Branch, Iowa is now employed by a large trucking company. He recently married another Dana student of last year, Miss Marie Kofoid of McNabb, Illinois. Our hearty congratulations.

Miss Agatha Madsen, girls' athletic director at Dana for the past two years, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Sorensen of Blair on October 5. Again, congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Sorensen expect to return soon to Blair to make their home here.

The three graduates of Trinity Seminary are serving regular charges. Rev. Harold Larsen is now pastor at Tillee, Alberta, Canada; Bernhard Engskov is serving at Dannebrog, Nebraska; and Adolph Petersen is at Camp Douglas, Wisconsin.

These being the observations of the democrat bug (box-elder to you) as he crossed the campus in search of the galloping geofoojit: a body could get cash returns out of his mail fee if the custom of scratching out the top name and sending a dime were still in existence, but it has gone the way of jigsaw puzzles and miniature golf. You may read ever so many of the latest books published, but few of them contain the up-to-date perspective on the temper of modern life that periodical literature can reveal. Among the following suggestions for your reading are several articles which seem to unite themselves loosely, perhaps, into one idea.

We are a part of a civilization marked by material progress and speed. Science, religion, diplomacy, culture are all undergoing changes, and we are witnessing another period of social upheaval. HAS THE CHURCH A MESSAGE?

Get this straight! The Church is interested in you. Why? Not because the Church has any ulterior motives regarding you, not because it wants to "rope you in," not because it wants to "put one over on you," but, believe it or not, because the Church has an utterly unselfish desire to confer upon you an infinitely precious and eternal benefit. The Church will manage to get along without you, but you are in a desperately unfortunate condition so long as you are trying to get along without the benefits and blessings of which the Church is the custodian. The Church claims that it has something which represents to you a positive, personal need, and it would be delinquent in its duty if it failed to tell you about it. The Church claims that you, as a rational, immortal being, have no right to drift on to eternity without answering definitely questions like the following: Where am I from? What am I here for?

Where am I going? Is there a God? What is his attitude towards me? What is my relationship towards Him? What is life? What is death? What is there beyond the grave? Where shall I spend eternity?

Are these questions vital or not? Can you take a chance by leaving them unanswered? Can you risk postponing their consideration? You owe it to yourself to find out whether or not the Church can answer these questions. You may have a superficial and rather disparaging idea of the Church. But what do you know about it and its teachings? How can you be fair in your judgment when it is based on ignorance? Because of the importance of the Church's message and its pertinence to your person we come to you with a frank invitation to attend our services.

LITERARY CORNER

The essential life of the modern world, its chief creating and animating forces come from two countries, Palestine and Greece . . . He who knows Palestine and Greece knows the germ of four-fifths or more of Western civilization, and has seen its animating and sustaining forces in their simplest and purest form.

John Cowper Powys wrote of the Psalms of David: (They) are the most pathetic and poignant as well as the most noble and dignified of all poetic literature. The rarest spirits of our race will always return to them at every epoch in their lives for consolation, for support, and for repose.

A Quadricentennial Tribute

Firm, rugged rock, amid the storms that raged
 In those tumultuous times when England heard
 The voice from Wittenberg, and Christians, caged
 By Antichrist, yearned for God's precious Word;
 It mattered not to him that he must be
 A refugee for Christ in distant climes;
 He minded not the shame, the poverty,
 His joy was in the ringing Gospel chimes;
 He put the Bible in each English home

And opened with its truth the blinded eyes;
 He gave to God the glory claimed by Rome.
 And planted doctrines pure in place of lies;
 Sweet bard, translator, preacher, fighter, hail!
 We bless thy memory, Miles Coverdale.

preached at the church in Kenard, Nebraska.

While Reverend Anders Hansen was in Europe, Clarence Jensen served the congregation at Elk Horn, Iowa, and Ervin Bondo, during the absence of his father who was in Europe, served the churches at Albert Lea and Myrtle, Minnesota.

Ingvard Olsen had charge of the church at Big Flats, Wisconsin, and he now preaches at Underwood, Iowa, on Sundays. This congregation was served during the summer months by another student, Dolliver Thogersen.

Emil Pedersen spent the summer preaching and teaching summer school at Ruskin, Nebraska. At present he is preparing a class of confirmants at Washington, Nebraska.

Erhardt Nielsen spent the first part of his vacation teaching summer school at Luck, Wisconsin.

College History Club is Formed

The History Club held its first meeting on Friday, October 4 for the purpose of electing new officers. The following were named: president, Walter Rasmussen; vice-president, Emery Petersen; secretary, Marian Petersen; treasurer, Marvin Nygaard; and librarian, Irving Tange.

On October 7 the group met again to appoint committees for the year. Marion Hansen and Ellen Rasmussen were selected to arrange programs, and Shirley Larson was named head of the refreshment committee. The club plans to present a series of interesting educational programs during the year.

N.Y. Teaching Standards High

(Reprinted from the Journal of Education, Sept. 2, 1935).

New York - Holders of public school teaching licenses have been warned by the Board of Examiners that they might be dismissed without formal charges or trial if, in the opinion of their superiors, they failed to live up to standard of character, personality, and good citizenship during the three years following their appointment to teaching posts.

The full list of requisites, as established by the board, follows:-

1. Personal habits - habitual neatness, cleanliness, orderliness.
2. Habitual refinement, good manners, tact, courtesy, cooperation, unselfishness.
3. Habitual use of correct English, in writing, speaking, teaching.
4. Habitual industry, reliability, honesty, integrity.
5. Habitual kindness, cheerfulness, affection and sympathy for children.
6. Skill in teaching and in adapting a thorough knowledge of subject matter to the needs of the pupils.
7. Ability to maintain discipline and to develop character.
8. Loyalty to the public school system, to the children, to fellow teachers and supervisors, and to organized society; the spirit of service.
9. Continued good health, mental, moral, emotional, physical.

The Dana park, west of the dormitories, has been developed to a point of remarkable beauty. It is rumored that the lower campus is to be landscaped next spring.

The quarters occupied by the non-resident men have been improved by the addition of several comfortable chairs and davenport, curtains, pictures, large study tables, and other equipment.

Never to tire, never to grow cold; to be patient, sympathetic, tender; to look for the budding flower and the opening heart; to hope always; like God, to love always--this is duty.

someone who was on the Denmark choir trip how he or she says "bye, bye," -(this is good for half an hour).

Among the things and stuff that clutter the road to learning—"Rats, Lice, and History", found in most book stores, should interest everyone. Originally intending to write a history of typhus fever, Dr. Hans Zinnzer exposes the idiosyncrasies of a lovable little fellow, the louse, who is a carrier of typhus, but the good doctor digresses so far as to discuss that proponent of word-piling, Gertrude Stein. This and other parts, enriched by similarly interesting digressions, form a book which, though highly informative, is written in a very readable style.

The bug makes his way across the campus and splits seven infinitives, fumbles a predicate in the second paragraph, and wades through the third, pounding words into the various idioms with which education fractures formal discourse. All of which results in a highly integrated discourse, good for the vocabulary, good for the funnybone, an assault on the intelligence, and a general cure-all --(not a patent medicine). The bug will continue to observe and report the doings of folks on the campus if you give him a chance. "How'm I doin'?", asks he.

Vikings Rally to Defeat Nebraska Central, 45-6

AFTER TWO DEFEATS, OLSON'S PROTEGES COME THROUGH FOR A VICTORY

In a spirited comeback the Dana Vikings offset their early season defeats by romping to a 45-6 win over the Nebraska Central Quakers on the local field, Thursday, October 10.

Not once during the contest was the outcome in doubt. The Scarlet and White rolled up a total of 25 points in the first half with four making scoring runs of 34 and 29 yards. Gollehon and Mortensen plunged over for the other counters, and Bixler took a pass from Gollehon to score an extra point.

In the third period Davis of Central intercepted a Viking pass on the Central 20 and raced 80 yards for the lone Quaker score. Bruse made three touchdowns for Dana in the last period on runs of 31, 27 and 8 yards. Olsen and Madsen took passes for extra points.

Coach Olson used 27 men in the game and several of the new players showed great promise. The Dana defense was remarkably improved.

Summary:

First down: Central, 6; Dana, 2.
Net yards gained: Central, 165; Dana, 508.

Passes Attempted: Central, 17; Dana, 8.

Passes completed: Central, 4; Dana, 0.

Punt average: Central, 30; Dana, 39.

Students Predict Game Outcomes

In an attempt to stimulate football interest among the men, Coach Olsen recently started something new. Each Monday he is posting a list of 20 games to be played throughout the country the following week end. All boys are eligible to try their hand at predicting the winners. Prizes in the form of free copies of the annual will be given the best guessers.

Another feature is the award of a malted milk to the football player who comes closest to guessing the correct score of a designated game.

The present leaders in the contest are:

W.A.A. Forms For The Year

The W.A.A. (Women's Athletic Association) held its first meeting of the year on Friday, October 4, in the reception room of the women's dormitory.

Ellen Rasmussen, former vice-president, took charge of the meeting and gave a short resume of the aims and activities of the organization. Miss Wind, faculty adviser for the group, spoke briefly, urging all girls in the school to participate in the activities of the association.

Membership is open to all, whether or not they are members of the physical education classes. The sole requirement for admission is the completion of a two-mile hike. This, together with longer hikes, stunts, and participation in various games, contributes to the point standing of each member. A total of 1600 points is necessary for a better award.

New officers elected are: Ellen Rasmussen, president; Lillian Smith, vice-president; and Ruth Johnson, recorder-secretary.

FROM THE SIDE-LINES

Anyone perched as Brill was at the Doane game would get the same results. A bird sitting in a tree is looked up to, eh, Brill?

Mikkelsen was wondering what he did on 33. Langley tells him to grab the branch and hang on.

Harold Hund was the leading pitcher in the Omaha Community League this past summer. He won 13 and lost two for the Benson team.

Wildrick should play inspired football, for what is that the girl friend has on her finger?

Did you know?—13 members of the football squad never played before, and 23 are playing their first year of college football?

The squad has a hard time finding the manager when he is needed. Wonder what Pat is dreaming about now?

The boys from Racine, especially Inky Olsen, Brill, and Stan Larsen, are having quite a difficult time explaining what was the matter with the Cubs.

Ray Olsen, who has been tossing ice into Racine ice-boxes all summer is trying to employ similar tactics against opposing ball-carriers.

Dana Crushed by Doane Team In Wild Game

VISITORS SCORE 25 POINTS AGAINST VIKINGS IN FIRST QUARTER OF GAME

In their second start of the current grid season on Friday, October 4, the Dana Vikings dropped a one-sided decision to the speedy, powerful Doane Tigers by the count of 40-7.

At no time during the game did the Scarlet and White make a real bid for victory; this was to a great extent accounted for by the fact that Doane rolled up the impressive total of 25 points during the first quarter, thereby putting the contest out of Dana's reach. Doane's scoring dropped to a total of eight points in the last half, after Dana's defense began to function in more regular fashion.

Madsen

Keel of Doane stepped off 82 yards for a score in the first quarter and Deforester carried an intercepted pass for 88 yards to score a Doane touchdown in the third. The other tallies were made in the first period by Bennett, Stone and Keel, and by Deforester in the second. Buck fell on the ball behind the Viking goal line for a safety in the fourth frame.

Coach Olson was not at all pleased with the work of his charges; he announced that immediate steps would be taken to effect a drastic shake-up before the Nebraska Central contest.
