

Dr. C. X. Hansen Attends Meeting To Draft Rules

DANA HEAD ON COMMITTEE ATTEMPTING TO IMPROVE TEACHING STANDARDS

With the view of improving teaching standards in Nebraska, Superintendent Taylor, director of public instruction in this state, recently appointed committee of seven to draft a new certification rule. Dr. C. X. Hansen was among those named to serve in that group.

The committee met in Lincoln on January 18 and succeeded in drawing up certain provisions which are intended to encourage teachers to improve their teaching certificates.

It was recommended that elementary certificates should not be renewable, and that provisional certificates be renewable only upon the acquisition of a definite number of additional college hours by the applicant. The provisions recommended by the committee are intended to promote the earning of life certificates among the teachers of the state.

In addition to the proposed rules governing teaching certificates, it was also recommended by the committee that definite requirements be outlined for principals and superintendents.

The rules which were drawn up at this meeting will be sent to the state legislature for final adoption. The ideas embodied in these rules were chiefly suggested by Dr. Rosenlof of the University of Nebraska, and Professor Zeigel of Kearney State Teachers' College.

Essay Contest Is Open to Students

All undergraduates of any teachers' college or normal school in the United States are eligible to enter the 1937 Patriotic Essay Contest sponsored by the American Bar Association.

The subject to be discussed in this year's contest is: "How and to What Extent are the Rights and Liberties of the Individual

PRESBYTERIANS TO MEET HERE AGAIN

The Presbyterian group which held two weeks of Bible conferences on the Dana campus last summer has made arrangements to return this coming summer.

The conference held here is attended by Presbyterians from southeastern Nebraska and southwestern Iowa. The meeting is to be divided into two one-week periods, beginning on June 23 and ending on July 7. There were about 125 in attendance during each of the periods last season, and it is expected that there may be a greater number attending this year's meetings.

Few Leaving At End of Semester

Although final registration figures for the second semester are not available as this is written, indications point to a maintenance of the first semester enrollment. The decrease, at most, will not be more than six or seven students.

At the start of the first semester the enrollment was about 185. The registration of seminary, winter semester and special students resulted in a grand total of 204. New registrations may hold the enrollment to 200 for the second half of the year.

Gone, But Not Forgotten, Or..?

"Where are the boys of the old brigade, that marched with us side by side, . . ." So runs the beginning lyric of an old marching song, and it might well be applied to several Dana institutions that used to be, but aren't anymore. However, it must be noted that one of the mentioned institutions is showing signs of renewed activity after some prodding; more of that later.

Do you recall the Hesperion Literary Society? It is the group that presented the Armistice Day program, but little has been heard from it since. Several years ago the members of the group met at regular meetings, driven forward by a sustained, common interest in contemporary literature. Does the group meet now? Who are the members? Is it completely defunct?

Dannebrog! That used to be a name with a meaning. The Dannebrog Society was begun by Danish speaking students who wanted to learn better English. At times the membership role listed up to forty members. Who hears of Dannebrog now? Do the members, if any, meet at specified intervals? Can the spirit now lax be once more renewed?

The third and last old comrade that has fallen, at least slipped, by the wayside is the forensic organization known as the Alpha Sigma Phi. Times were when Dana College had debate teams that conceded odds to no one and accepted all challenges. This year has seen no debate team. Instead, a situation has come about that at times bordered upon the ridiculous. One could call it a see-saw situation with headquarters on one end and students on the other, alternately tossing the bewildered debate question.

Verner Carlsen has been assigned to the destinies of further Dana debate work and intends to call the first meeting this week. (Ed. note: HERMES absolutely will not be responsible for the last statement.) It is doubtful if any inter-collegiate debates will be held because of the Dana season being so in arrears.

So there it is: three time honored institutions under the spell of Morpheus or at least a case of first class inertia, but one showing signs of revival.

Rev. S. Nielsen Speaks to League

"When God Hinders" was the title of the message which was brought to the Luther League on January 27 by the Reverend Skriver S. Nielsen of Lincoln, Nebraska. Pastor Nielsen discussed the hindrances which God sometimes employs in order that His will may be accomplished instead of our own. These hindrances are not apparent in lives which are out of touch with God, and unfruitful for His service.

The devotional part of the meeting was conducted by Gilbert Jensen. Marjorie Boyer sang.

Professor Nyholm had been scheduled to speak at the League meeting of January 20, but he was unable to attend. In his absence Clarence Jensen spoke on: "When the Sinner and the Saviour Meet." Mr. Jensen used the story of Zachaeus as a basis for his message, demonstrating the constant search which God conducts for those who are repentant.

Miss Helen Langley sang "Just For Today," and Richard Petersen led in devotions.

Infirmiry Ready; Illness Subsides

The girls' infirmiry is now about ready for use. All of the alteration on the building has been finished; two neat rooms and a bathroom have been made. Heating arrangements are all that are necessary and these will be made shortly. When that has been done we will have our much desired infirmiry, very desirably located and well furnished and Dana will be better able to care for the health of its students.

We are glad to report that the epidemic of flu is over and the students are all up and busy, pursuing their numerous studies and duties. While none was seriously ill and few absent from classes very long, yet we are able to feel the difference in the dormitory life and much prefer the spirit that prevails when all are healthy and full of life.

Students Asked About Societies

Question:

1. Do you regard the present lack of organization activity at Dana as a good or bad situation in student life?

Answers:

Esther Magnussen: I think the Norsemen should be revived. I think that every college should have an honorary society.

Evelyn Sorensen: I think it is a deplorable fact that these societies are passing out. Most of these societies were literary and it seems as if the cultural standard of the college is being let down.

Earl Laursen: I don't think these societies really accomplished anything.

Jack Peterson: I don't think the societies appealed to most of the students. We need organized activities in which all will participate.

Marjory Y'Deen: The students are always saying that there isn't anything to do around here. Maybe if some of these societies were revived it would remedy the situation.

Lewis Patrick: Most of the students don't know about the organizations which formerly existed.

Agnes Nielsen: "Let the dead past bury the dead." In other words, I think that something new and original should be started.

Dr. Nielsen Has Traveled Widely

To only a few of us is given the privilege of having a life containing as much travel and shifting of scenes as has been the case in the life of Dr. J.P. Nielsen, the president of Trinity Seminary. Having come to America from Denmark in 1879, at the age of two years, Dr. Nielsen settled with his parents on a farm near Council Bluffs, Iowa. He spent the years of his childhood and early youth at this place, attend-

College Herd Is State Leader In December Tests

HOLSTEINS OF DANA FARM GAINING PRESTIGE IN DAIRY CIRCLES

According to the January issue of the Agricultural Extension Service News, published by the University of Nebraska, the Dana College dairy herd placed first in butterfat production for the month of December, 1936, in the state of Nebraska, for herds of 5 to 15 cows.

The college herd rated 43.8 pounds butterfat; the herd which ran second rated over six pounds less, 37.6 pounds. The ratings for December reveal clearly the quality and possibilities of the college farm Holsteins. In the December 14 issue of the Hermes the November ratings gave the Dana herd a production figure of 29.6 pounds butterfat. At that time farm manager L. K. Johansen estimated that the December figure would be about 43 pounds, a prophecy which was accurately fulfilled.

The number of cows reported in the state tests for December was 2055. Of this number only 32 cows rated over 60 pounds butterfat; two of the 32 belong to our herd. In other words, 25 per cent of our cattle placed in the first one and one-half per cent of the entire state representation for December, 1936. Such an achievement, in view of the recency of the establishment of the college farm project, augurs well for future agricultural developments at our school.

We have just been informed that the senior class plans to have about 90 pages in the 1937 annual. This is considerably larger than any yearbook published during the past several years.

At present the staff is considering the matter of covers. It is

HIGH SCHOOL MEET SLATED FOR DANA

Nearby high schools will compete in the annual basketball tournament of the East Central Nebraska Conference, to be held in the Dana gymnasium February 4 and 5.

The teams which are entered for this year's competition are Herman, Kennard, Bennington, Craig, Fort Calhoun and Cedar Bluffs. Season play has demonstrated that these teams are fairly well matched, and it is predicted that the tourney will be featured by many close contests.

Last year's tournament was not played because roads were blocked by snow. The 1934 and 1935 tourneys were fast and exciting and very well-attended.

Protected Under the Constitution of the United States?" The length of the entries must not exceed 4,000 words of text, and must be submitted on or before April 1, 1937. All entries should be sent to the Executive Secretary, American Bar Association, 1140 North Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois.

It is important that each student who wishes to enter this contest submit his name to the Executive Secretary in order that a number may be assigned to him; the entries are judged by number. The two best essays from each state will be entered in the national finals. Prizes listed are: first, $400; second, $300; third, $200; and fourth, $100. It is possible that state prizes may also be provided.

Those interested in this contest will find complete details posted on the bulletin board.

Girls' Basketball Tourney Started

In the first game of the girls' basketball tournament the Ever-Readies faced the B.V.D.'s (Battling Viking Danes) last Wednesday evening. The scores of that and subsequent games of the tournament were not available at press time, but complete results will be printed in our next issue.

Four teams are entered in the competition; the teams with their captains are: the Poppies, Eleanor Poppe; the B.V.D.'s, Agnes Nielsen; the Ever-Readies, Helen Margaret Jacobson; and the Warriors, Helen Olsen.

Letter points may be earned through participation in these games. Each player on a winning team earns 50 points, while the members of the losing squads are awarded 25 points each.

hoped that a stiff cover may be used and that the price of the book may be held below a dollar, but as yet there is no certainty that both of these features may be accommodated.

The members of the staff are devoting most of their spare time to the composition of the work, and there is every indication that this year's annual will be complete, interesting and well worth purchasing.

ed the rural schools, and worked on the farm. Here he also received his early religious training and was later confirmed.

In 1895, he was spiritually awakened and soon decided to enter the ministry. In pursuance of this decision, he attended the Elk Horn High School at Elk Horn, Iowa, during the winter of 1896-97. In the fall of 1897, he came to Blair, where he spent the next four years attending Dana College, and the following three years in Trinity Seminary. He graduated in 1904 and spent the following semester at Mount Airy Seminary at Philadelphia.

In 1905, Dr. Nielsen married Miss Anna Nielsen. During the period from 1904 to the end of 1907, Dr. Nielsen served as pastor of the Danish Lutheran Church at Philadelphia. In the fall of 1908, the Niensens moved to Kenmare, North Dakota, where Dr. Nielsen served as the principal of the Brorson High School.

The period from the fall of 1909 until the summer of 1927 was spent, with the exception of two furloughs, in the mission field in Japan. After serving ten years as an evangelist, Dr. Nielsen became connected with the Lutheran seminary in Japan, located at first at Kumamoto and, after 1925, at Tokio.

While working in Japan, Dr. Nielsen took a theological course by correspondence with the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Maywood, Illinois, receiving his B. D. and S. T. M. degrees in 1923. The year 1924 was spent at the Biblical Seminary in New York, where Dr. Nielsen took a postgraduate course.

In 1927, Dr. Nielsen was called to serve as an instructor at Trinity Seminary. At the annual convention in the spring of 1928, he was appointed dean of the seminary, and in 1931, following the division of Dana College and Trinity Seminary into two separate institutions, he became president of the seminary.

Mrs. Nielsen died shortly after their return from the mission field in Japan. Dr. Nielsen later remarried and has one son, Carl Clemen.

When asked concerning his opinion as to a real need at Dana College, Dr. Nielsen said, "If we want to build up this institution as distinctly our own, our greatest need is a definite plan of encouraging and helping promising students to go on and get advanced degrees, in order that we may build up a faculty which is distinctly our own." Such a plan would not be undertaken with the view of guaranteeing promising students jobs at our college, but would provide the college with well-trained men who could be called to professorships.

"A similar situation obtains in the seminary," said Dr. Nielsen, "We need to lay more stress on real scholarship."

The British and Foreign Bible Society in 1935 completed fourteen new Bible translations, of which nine were in African languages, three in Pacific Island languages, and two in Asiatic languages.

Dana Again Tops Concordia, 37-24

With their scores in the minority for the entire first half, Coach Olsen's Vikings came up from the rear in the second period to thoroughly trounce the Concordia basketeers of Seward, Nebraska, 37-24. The game was played at home on January 29, before the most united and enthusiastic crowd of the season.

Rathe, Concordia guard and crack sharpshooter, scored the first six points of the game with three long shots from the ten-second line. Jensen and Patrick did all the scoring for the Danians in the first period. The second half started slowly. Qualsett and made six points from the open floor, and Jensen tied the score, 17-17, with a gift shot. Dana kept the advantage from then on. Concordia was completely outscored in the second half, 27 points to nine.

Dana Trimmed By Trinity, 35-23

Competing with semester exams an injury, and Trinity college of Sioux City, the Danians were sadly trounced, 35-23, on the home court, January 21. The Vikings held three leads in the first half, their only top scores of the game.

A rather sleepy first half studied with a few interesting spurts left the score at 14-11 for Trinity. In the second period the Sioux Citians consistently increased their lead up to the final score, 35-23.

Fortin, forward, was the big artillery for Trinity, with 22 points to his credit. Dana's guard Bixler, was interrupted in an excellent passing game by an injured ankle. Fries, at the other

Luther Defeated In Fast Contest

An improved spirit of cooperation coupled with an efficiency of passing far superior to the brand displayed in the preceding home game with Trinity enabled the Dana quint to maintain a lead over Luther college of Wahoo throughout the major part of the game, and finally to defeat them, 36-31, at the home gym, January 25, before an enthusiastic crowd.

Dana started the scoring, but soon lost the lead until the latter part of the first half, when six successive baskets again gave them the advantage. The half-time score was 23-16. Although the Vikings were ahead throughout the entire second period, the scrappy little game-cocks and sharpshooters from Wahoo outscored them, 15 to 13.

The game revealed the potential ability of Coach Olsen's squad. If the same spirit prevails throughout the rest of the season, greater success is predicted.

We hereby give notice that the Dana moon shall not shine on the eleventh and twenty-fifth of February. Too much natural competition.

The spirit and enthusiasm of Dana rooters has been close to perfect this season. However, let not any shade of unsportsman-like conduct creep into the cheering section.

It is reported that W.A.A. has amended its constitution. No letter-points are to be awarded when the boys are watching the games. Undercover work, huh?

Fries, Dana's lanky basketeer, has performed well at both guard and center and is not least among our basket sharpshooters. Which reminds us to tell the coach to look for stowaways before his next evening drive downtown.

Perhaps Mr. Hartwig isn't far wrong when he calls Hartsock, "Heartsick."

A. B. C. Is Beaten By Vikings, 32-24

Playing superior basketball in the first half, but reverting to a less flashy style in the second period, the Dana Vikings, nevertheless, were able to pound out a victory over American Business College of Omaha, on January 27, by a score of 32-24. The game was played in quarters. While Dana held the lead throughout most of the game and outscored the opponents, 24-11, in the first half, the Omaha boys crept up steadily from behind in the second period and tossed in 13 points to the Vikings' eight. The two periods were in distinct contrast. The first half displayed smooth passing and well executed shots by the Danians; the second saw the Vikings go to pieces somewhat under the close guarding and successful long shots of the Americans. The second half was also more rough and tumble, with the play at times assuming proportions of ferociousness.

Quakers Drubbed By Score of 37-11

Coach Olsen and his Vikings journeyed to Central City to hand the Central College Quakers a 38-11 defeat Jan. 23. The game started fast and soon developed into a rough battle. Never once rough battle. Never once was the Dana team threatened after they took the lead. The Vikings capitalized on the numerous Quaker fouls and made the majority of their gift shots. The Dana scoring was very evenly divided, everyone on the firing line being ably assisted by the backboard defenders.
