

"I Want Your Picture," Makes Royal Couple Pose

"Wait A Minute!"
Brings Success

After professional photographers representing various newspapers and the Associated Press had failed to persuade Crown Prince Frederik and Crown Princess Ingrid to pose for a picture, one of Dana's own students, Marvin Peterson, succeeded. He made the only successful attempt during their visit here. The reason, it is rumored, is that the Royal Couple was especially interested in the students.

Official photographers approached the couple very graciously with their most attractive smile saying, "Your Highness, may I have your picture?" The only response was a cold shoulder and a frown. It was then that our own Marvin Petersen asserted himself. "I just stepped up and put my hand on his shoulder and said, 'wait a minute!' The Princess stepped up beside the Prince. They smiled. I stepped back and took the picture. That was all."

"The reason," Marvin says, "that I did it was that I had been offered a dollar for a print of a picture of the couple posing."

The picture was taken shortly after the planting of the oak.

INITIATE FARM EXHIBITION DAY

Cheeping chickens, cackling hens, bellowing bulls and heifers, grunting hogs, and humming tractors lent an apt setting for Open House Day at the college farm.

Members of the various committees were busy explaining their particular assignments to the visitors. Attractive displays were made of the Oliver machinery and hybrid corn; the live stock was shown in number "A" form; even the "cats" committee was decked out in first class style.

This is the first attempt to stage an exhibition of this kind. It is designed to acquaint the students and faculty with the farm.

FACULTY WIVES AT HANSENS

On Friday afternoon, April 21, 1939, the wives of the faculty members held their regular meeting at the home of Dr. Hansen. Mrs. C. X. Hansen and Mrs. P. V. Hansen acted as hostesses to the group. After the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed, climaxed by the delightful refreshments served by Mrs. C. X. Hansen and Mrs. P. V. Hansen.

ROYALTY MOVIE FILM SHOWN

The motion pictures in color, taken on the Dana campus the day of the visit of Crown Prince Frederik and Crown Princess Ingrid of Denmark, were shown in the college chapel Tuesday evening, May 2.

The amount of the film is not great but the quality is good. Characteristic scenes of the memorable visit April 19 comprise the greater part of it.

The film is the property of the Central Committee of the Luther League of The United Danish Evangelical Lutheran church and the pictures were taken by the Reverend Elmer Christensen, pastor at Avoca, Iowa.

FISH SWALLOWING OPENS PARTY

Swallowing live gold fish by Kenneth Lange and Ray Thomsen opened and featured the all school party in the gymnasium Friday evening, April 28. They, being the ace performers of the evening, also produced sounds of horror from the ladies when "Kenny," posing as a beauty expert, demonstrated his new "fool-proof" facial, the ingredients of which were liquids of various colors and a raw egg broken on and applied to the face of his "victim," Ray Thomsen.

Relay races and various group presentations of proverbs in pantomime were interspersed with novelty performances like Leonard Andersen playing his singing saw. His playing was a surprise until it was discovered that Arthur Tingley was producing the music which appeared to come from the saw. A Professor Quiz contest staged with Frank Hengeveld acting in the capacity of the professor brought to light interesting data about Dana and her family. By special request last year's male quartette sang two numbers at the close of the program before luncheon was served.

An overtone of originality and freedom tinged with enough variety to appeal to all tastes made the party a unique success.

TRAUB COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

It was disclosed May 3 that the Reverend Walter H. Traub, D. D., pastor of the Kountz Memorial Lutheran church of Omaha, will deliver the address at the commencement exercises May 26 in the college auditorium. The Reverend W. H. Traub is known to many people and also to several Dana students.

DISCOVER TWO MORE NATURAL MUSICIANS

Two more students were added to the list of Dana people having perfect pitch. They are Miss Harriet Cornell and Mr. Alvin Reuter. The other two are already known, Mr. Paul Neve and Professor Elwood Kraft.

Naturally this is only native ability with the new discoveries and has not been developed to the extent they are able to hum a given tone, but given a tone they can designate what it is remarkably well.

The discovery came during some aptitude tests given in the music department. Professor Kraft expressed as much surprise as did the students. He stated that there were only three at the University of Iowa during the time he spent there who had perfect pitch.

HARTWIG REPORTED MUCH IMPROVED

The good news was released a few days ago that Professor George H. Hartwig, head of the English department, who was stricken with pneumonia about two weeks ago is much improved at this time. He, together with the students, hopes to resume his duties in a very short time.

JORGENSEN HERE MAY 21

Word has recently been received from the Reverend Harold C. Jorgensen of Coulter, Iowa, newly called pastor to Blair, that he expects to arrive here May 16 and to be installed in the First Lutheran Church of Blair Sunday morning, May 21.

A THANK YOU

The party committee extends a grateful thanks to all who cooperated to make possible the success of the last all school party.

—The Party Committee.

DANA FOUNDER'S WIFE DIES

Wednesday evening, April 26, Mrs. A. M. Andersen, wife of the Reverend A. M. Andersen, founder of our school, died at her home in Glendale, California. Illness overtook Mrs. Andersen the day after Easter and under doctor's instructions she has been confined to her bed since. The telegram received by Mr. H. J. Hansen of Blair April 27 informing of her death came as a surprise. The latest reports received indicated that she was expected to recover.

Mrs. Andersen was buried Monday, May 1.

BACCALAUREATE SPEAKER CHOSEN

The Reverend M. G. Christensen of Cedar Falls, Iowa, will be the speaker at the baccalaureate services held in the First Lutheran church of Blair, Sunday evening, May 21.

Pastor Christensen is president of the Iowa district and has for several years served on both the Board of Education and the Board of Trustees of Dana College.

A SHOWER FOR "NURSIE"

"Nursie" was caught in an April shower Monday night which brought not May flowers but an array of gifts from the Dana girls. As she opened the festive looking bundles, linens, dishes, towels, a toaster, and other gifts were uncovered. After the presents had been examined and admired, ice cream was served.

Miss Sylvia Askov, our school nurse, was married to Sven Bach February 27. She has continued her studies and her work here at Dana but plans for the future are not as yet settled.

HISTORY CLUB PRESENTS GIFT

"The National Mind" by Michael Demiashkevich has been presented to the library as a gift from the History club. Michael Demiashkevich, a Russian, is a graduate of the Imperial Historico-Philological Institute of Petragrad, and is professor at George Peabody College.

The volume explains the meaning and purposes of the system of education in France, England and Germany. It is an excellent treatment of comparative education.

"ECONOMICS OF JESUS," THEME

Professor H. L. Shadle of the Commerce Department read a very interesting paper entitled "The Economic Teachings of Jesus" at the May 26 meeting of the Luther League. Miss Lorraine Peterson favored the group with a violin solo; Miss Charlotte Richter read scripture and led in prayer.

SOUVENIR BULLETIN IS PUBLISHED

The souvenir college bulletin for April featuring characteristic scenes from Denmark's royal visit has just been released. Over 3500 have been circulated.

It consists largely of photographs, most significant of which is the Crown Princess pouring coffee for Dr. N. C. Carlsen and the Crown Prince planting the memorial oak.

Ninety High School Seniors Come to Discuss Future Occupations

Under the direction and initiative of Professor H. L. Shadle, head of the commerce department here, the Vocational Guidance Conference held on the campus Friday afternoon, May 5, was a distinctive success. Approximately ninety high school seniors from the schools comprising the East Central Nebraska Conference Schools were in attendance.

Professor H. L. Shadle gave the keynote address, "Choosing An Occupation." The remainder of the afternoon was divided into four sessions. Each session was, in turn, divided into three groups meeting in different rooms and discussing different vocations. A student from the commerce department acted as chairman of each of these groups. The lecturers in these groups included local public officials and business men and members of the Dana faculty and administration. The discussions consisted of lectures on various vocations including agriculture, homemaking, law, college, registration, office work, journalism, clergy, beauty work, civil service, medicine, teaching, and industrial occupations.

The incidental expenses were defrayed by a concession on the first floor of the administration building arranged by Miss Jean Larson and Miss Gladys Hazard.

This conference is the first of its kind held here and owes its success to the cooperation of the students who served on the various committees and acted as chairmen. Not less are the lecturers responsible. Most of all is Professor H. L. Shadle, without whose initiative the conference would not have been.

PIANO STUDENTS IN JOINT RECITAL

The Dana College Music Department will present Lucy Ann Poucher and Paul Neve, advanced piano students of Professor Elwood Kraft, in recital on Tuesday, May 9, at 8:15 p. m.

These young artists will be assisted by the Dana String Ensemble.

The recital will be given in the college chapel.

TOURING SPEAKER AT CHAPEL SERVICE

Friday morning, May 5, Dana students had as guest speaker at chapel service the Reverend Theo. I. Jensen of Des Moines, Iowa. Pastor Jensen is touring the Nebraska district in behalf of the Luther League for the cause of the Inadomi mission.

CHOIR MAKES IOWA EXCURSION

Two post-tour concerts were given by the Dana college A Cappella choir Sunday, April 23. The choir appeared at Our Savior's Lutheran church of Audubon, Iowa in an afternoon vesper concert and presented an evening performance in Elk Horn, Iowa.

GROUP ATTENDS PASSION PLAY

Monday evening, May 1, about twenty-five Dana people attended the Passion Play presented in Omaha by the descendants of the original Oberammergau performers from Germany.

STEAM POWER

Water often symbolizes truth, and fire, love. Man has therefore been likened to a steam locomotive. The power that he has is the steam generated as result of the fire heating the water. Water alone will not effect steam. Neither will fire. One apart from the other cannot generate steam. If a man has only water (truth), and no fire (love), he is a cold intellect. If he has only fire (love), without water (truth), he is a raving fanatic. Even if he has both in the wrong proportion he will have no power. With the proper combination he will be able to generate steam which will give him strength not only to move himself but others with him. The amount of that strength is not only determined by the combination, but also by the amount of the two in the right proportion. A small locomotive does not have as much strength as a large one. More of both truth and love under favorable conditions will create a greater potency. To add to one and neglect the other is tragic.

This analogy was presented at the opening reception last September. Attention was directed to our purpose for coming to college. Most serious students came to increase the size and power of their locomotive. They were warned against drowning in the cold icy waters of the truth they might acquire here. The same analogy fits at the sunset of this school year in reminiscence. Has a direct proportion of fire been added each time you increased the water supply? If not, the water is cold. If you have added love with each addition of truth, you have the combination that will give you power to meet the need of a world that is tragically dying for lack of both. If we have acquired any truth or facts, love alone can give it power. A love-heated truth has power to face the challenge of a hostile world and to draw it with us, by His love, to Him.

"Yea, verily, the greatest of these is love."

IT'S A GREAT LIFE IF

Goethe says, "Life is a quarry out of which we are to mold and chisel and complete a character." Knowing only too well the barrenness of an unintelligible shape and similarly of a rough-hewn life, we can understand this apt analogy. It is the molding, chiselling and polishing that lend satisfaction and the true contentment to our lives, but deviation and hesitation are so alluring that we permit their delusion. This only means retreat and delay, though most of us are slow to realize it. Herein lies the function of education—to awaken a realization of the function of life and to lend skill and efficiency to our molding.

Knowledge and experience are the main-springs of attention and interest; therefore, he who seeks knowledge and experience catches the fascination and satisfaction of living. He has a vision of the completed structure and lives in its sunshine, while the other fumbles with the cold stone and trembles as each chip falls. Perhaps it was just such a vision that brought you to college, perhaps its appearance keeps you here. Thank God for your vision and your opportunity.

—H. L. A.

CHAPEL GLEANINGS

We are too often unhappy, forgetting the song, "For Thou, Lord, hast made me glad through THY work."

"Rejoice in the Lord always. and again I say, Rejoice."

Are you going down hill because you are satisfied with yourself?

Because we cannot live up to our ideals does not mean that we should discard our ideals.

Many people are thirsting near the Fountain of Living Waters; but they do not take the last step, drink, and find satisfaction.

"The supply of time is truly a daily miracle, an affair genuinely astonishing when one examines it. You wake up in the morning, and lo! your purse is magically filled with twenty-four hours of the unmanufactured tissue of the universe of your life!

"You cannot waste tomorrow; it is kept for you."
 —Arnold Bennett.

Time is sacred and we are under contract to God to account for our use of it.

The day before us, the portion of time which we call, now, is that with which we must deal, and if we do so—thoughtfully and prayerfully—our past, present, and future will become vital and serviceable to God and to man.

DID YOU KNOW?

The chairs in which Crown Prince Frederik and Crown Princess Ingrid sat in the auditorium have been purchased for the archives of Dana College.

That Anker Jensen did not shake hands with the Royal couple but that he says, "I was the first one to shake hands with Verner Carlsen after he shook hands with the Crown Prince."

Crown Prince Frederik threw more shovels of dirt on the tree than was asked of him. He said, "for good measure."

Photographers said he was not a WPA worker. "He works too fast. We didn't have time to get a picture of him throwing the dirt."

Someone took the flowers from the bouquet given to the Princess, and she didn't get the bouquet after all.

Leonard Andersen's grandparents on the day of their golden wedding received a special message from "Kong" Kristian. His silver jubilee is the same day. "Kong" Kristian's father died the day Leonard's grandparents celebrated their silver wedding. Rather than lower their flag to half-mast they took it down entirely because they did not want it at half-mast on such a festive day as a silver wedding anniversary, says Leonard.

LITERARY CORNER

Have you ever thought seriously of the meaning of that blessing given to the peacemakers? People aren't always expecting peace in heaven; but you know whatever peace they get there will be ready-made. Whatever making of peace they can be blest for, must be on the earth here; not the taking of arms against, but the building of nests amidst, its "sea of troubles" (like the halcyons). Difficult enough, you think? Perhaps so, but I do not see that any of us try. We complain of the want of many things—we want votes, we want liberty, we want amusement, we want money. Which of us feels or knows that he wants peace?
 —John Ruskin.

Goe, soule, the bodie's guest,
 Upon a thanklesse arrant;
 Feare not to touche the best—
 The truth shall be thy warrant
 Goe, since I needs must dye,
 And give the world the lye.

Tell zeale it lacks devotion;
 Tell love it is but lust;
 Tell time it is but motion;
 Tell flesh it is but dust;
 And wish them not reply,
 For thou must give the lye.

Till Fortune of her blindness;
 Tell nature of decay;
 Tell friendship of unkindnesse;
 Tell justice of delay;
 And if they dare reply,
 Then give them all the lye.

 And applied His craft today,
 Doing His honest carpentry
 In His own perfect way;
 Oh! would He find His workshop

 Within there works a Jew"?

Oh, would they take Him from the shop,
 And drag Him down the street
 To Brown House, or to a secret place,

Where Nazi Brown Shirts meet?
 And would they strip His body bare,

And beat Him black and blue
 With rubber truncheons, just because

He had been born a Jew?

And when they had insulted Him,
 And bruised Him at their will,
 Would they send His broken body,
 When hate had its fill,

To some great concentration camp;
 And say it was His due
 To keep Him from His fellow men,

Because He was a Jew?

He sees the Jewish boys and girls
 Condemned to sit apart
 On a back bench in German schools,

To feel the stinging smart
 Of the taunts of their companions,

Their blows and bullying, too.
 The Friend of Children feels their pain;
 That Friend was born a Jew.

Oh, you who name the Name of Christ

And claim to walk His ways,
 Can you join the Jews' oppressors
 In these last evil days?

If you persecute His people,
 You pierce His heart anew;
 They were His kinsmen here on earth—

YOUR LORD WAS BORN A JEW!

ALUMNI

Dear Fellow-Alumnus:

Calling all loyal graduates and former students of Dana College and Trinity Seminary to the cause of their Alma Mater! Don't throw this earnest appeal into the waste basket before you have given it your most careful consideration and worthy support. Meet the challenge with YOUR HEARTY RESPONSE IN THE FORM OF A WORTHY CONTRIBUTION!

This is our goal fellow-Alumnus: Your Alumni Association adopted at its last convention the goal of making our School a recognized one in the North Central Association of Colleges. The goal has been given publicity in The Ansgar Lutheran, the Hermes, and delegates to District League conventions have been urged to bring back information regarding it to their local Leagues. Thus far the treasury has benefitted only to the amount of $111.44. We still need about $300.00 to assure our School the financial outlay necessary for an investigation by the North Central Association. This investigation, if you are not acquainted with it, is for the purpose of advising OUR School exactly what extensions and improvements will be required for admission as an accredited institution into this Association of Colleges.

Every loyal alumnus should be vitally concerned in this endeavor of his Alumni Association. It is a goal which can easily be attained "IF" YOU and every other Alumnus lends his support TO PROVIDE THE $400.00 NEEDED FOR THE WORTHY PURPOSE OF THIS INVESTIGATION.

Fellow-Alumnus, we have reason to rejoice at the encouraging reports coming from our student body under the administration of our new President, Rev. Siersbeck. Let us therefore determine to lend our assurance and lively zeal for our School's future progress.

EVERY graduate and former student of Dana or Trinity Seminary is eligible to membership in the Association. One Dollar ($1) entitles you to membership—and it will render a concrete service for the good of YOUR Schools. Kindly send it (and as many more as you wish if you are interested in making an additional contribution) to the Alumni Association Treasurer, Miss Aliene Miller, 302 North Street, Waupaca, Wisconsin.

THE VALUE OF LITERATURE

Anker Jensen

PART V

The writer may imitate the actions of men as they are, as they ought to be, or as they ought not to be. In the first case, realism will be the result; in the second, idealism. Suppose that a writer is a humanist and has for his idea the good of the state. If he pictures the actions of men as they ought to be from the humanistic point of view, he will set forth in as attractive and alluring a manner as possible the actions of men who labored bravely and heroically for the humanistic ideal—the good of state and society. Since the readers automatically identify themselves with the heroes, they will be inspired toward an emulation of the heroic deeds set forth by the writer. This will be true whether the writer paints attractively the actions of atheists, Christians, Epicureans, or Republicans. We might point out innumerable instances of how the desire to emulate certain deeds is prompted by fiction. For instance, many boys pride themselves on developing a keenness and sharpness of vision, like that of Hawkeye, after they have read the LAST OF THE MOHICANS. The tendency of readers to emulate the actions of fictitious characters is evident in the desire of many of our young people to do the things which their screen heroes and heroines do. Sometimes the screen hero does things that are questionable ethically. But he does them in such an attractive and charming manner that members of the audience develop a desire to emulate him nevertheless. For this reason, many preachers (and I am not now referring to those in our own Danish Lutheran Church) are opposed to the movies. They say that the movies make vice attractive, popularize questionable deeds among our young people, and make them want to live in accordance with a standard of living far more extravagant than any they can ever hope to attain. Some of you think that is not now our subject. Upon closer observation, however, you will observe that this is all very closely connected. We cannot separate literature from the movies of today. It is upon the screen that we find fiction presented in its most vivid and colorful manner. Much of that which is true of fiction in general, then, is also true of the movies in particular, perhaps even on a more intensified scale, since the visual presentation supersedes the printed page in the power of its appeal.

Regardless of how the fiction is presented, we must consider the relative value of setting forth the actions of men as they ought to be, as they are, and as they ought not to be. We immediately see that we are dealing with an extremely difficult subject. We recall that the reader is able to identify himself with the hero and in that way gain an outlet for his inhibited emotions and desires. A person may, for instance, have a desire to steal. Society prevents him from satisfying that desire. But in fiction he can experience vicariously the attainment of that desire by identifying himself with a hero who steals. Similarly, a person who has been restrained in other respects may experience vicariously with a wicked protagonist the delights of lying, swearing, and committing adultery. Since this is so, are we then to conclude that undesirable actions should never be imitated in fiction? By no means. We are, however, to conclude that the deeds of wicked men should be set forth in such a way that the reader will not be incited to emulate them. This can be done, as Shakespeare generally does, by having the virtuous protagonist triumph and the wicked ones attain their just reward. If wicked deeds can be painted in a sufficiently repellent manner, the reader will tend to abstain from them. We may conclude, then, that there is a value, not only in the fiction which paints actions as they ought to be, but also in that which paints them as they ought not to be.

sin.

Remember!!! Our School's future success and service rests upon the loyalty of its Alumni. Therefore—PLEASE ACT FAVORABLY—AND AT ONCE! Our Convention meets June 12, 1939, in Oakland, and your contributions should have reached the Treasurer before then.

Ingward Olsen, Alumni Assn. Secretary.

ALUMNUS MARRIES

Miss Birdie Hurdum of Blair, 1929 Denmark tour choir member, was united in marriage to Mr. Viggo Andersen, also of Blair, April 27 at the home of her father. Professor Paul Nyholm officiated at the ceremony.

PLANS READY FOR SUMMER SESSION

Plans for a nine weeks session of summer school at Dana this summer are now well under way. This year the dining hall and dormitories will be maintained, thus assuring the students excellent meals and cool rooms in which to work and rest. Arrangements are being made with the local golf club and with swimming pool authorities, so that the summer school students may also participate in these activities.

This year, a number of Dana's regular college faculty members will teach during the nine-week term, thus offering the same benefits to summer students as to regular students. Some of the teachers who will teach this summer are: Dr. C. X. Hansen, Professors G. H. Hartwig, A. N. Carlsen, A. C. Wind, S. M. Thomsen, E. H. Kraft, Mrs. W. U. Selby, and Mrs. M. McQuarrie.

All the classes will be held in the morning and a student will be able to earn nine college hours of credit towards certification or degree requirements. A wide range of subjects is being offered, and Dana looks forward to a prosperous summer term.

ROYALTY CHAIRS PURCHASED

Dana College has purchased the chairs in which the Crown Prince and Princess of Denmark sat during the auditorium program on their visit to Dana. As yet no definite place has been decided upon to put these chairs. At the present time they are in the president's office where they have been used by various visitors there to receive an inspiration.

SOFTBALL INTEREST KEEN

According to the latest reports, the manly "paw" and dainty fingers are being frequently employed in swinging the well known "timber" and flinging the related ball down on the athletic field, governing these antics according to the rules of softball.

The field has been marked out for two softball diamonds in corners diagonally opposite each other. Thus the women's and men's teams can play in satisfactory seclusion, only occasionally one of the games being interrupted by a nuisance ball from the bat of a Miss or Mister Babe Ruth.

As yet it's "choose-up" and play for fun (and for gym class credit), but all with an eye on the coming intra-mural contests. The boys play a freshmen-upper-classmen game, and the girls an east side (of the dormitory) versus west game. The event is scheduled for Thursday, May 11.

GUESTS HERE COUNCIL BLUFFS

President L. Siersbeck and family spent Sunday, April 30 at Council Bluffs, Iowa. The Reverend Siersbeck was guest speaker at the meeting held in Our Savior's Lutheran church there that day.

FRESHMEN CAPTURE INTRA-MURAL TRACK MEET

Boys Win 55-50. Miles High Point Man

Paced by Robert Miles and Charles Bissell, the Dana College freshmen downed the upper classmen in the annual track and field contest Thursday afternoon, May 4, to the tune of 55 to 50. The freshmen walked away with most of the honors in the track events, but had to take a back seat when it came to field events and the relays, in which the upper classmen held an edge.

The meet was very close throughout. It was only with their victory in the last event of the day—the 440 yard relay—that the freshmen pulled out of the 50 to 50 tie to win by 5 points. This intra-mural meet uncovered several very capable track performers in the ranks of Dana's athletes—a ray of hope for eventually including inter-collegiate track meets in Dana's athletic program.

High-point men of the meet were as follows:

- Freshmen: Miles, 19 1/4; Bissell, 18; K. Lange, 9 1/4.
- Upper Classmen: H. Nielsen, 11 1/4; M. Petersen, 6 1/4; L. Andersen, 6.

The freshmen captured 6 firsts, 5 seconds, and 3 thirds. The upper classmen placed first in 4 events, and took 4 seconds, and 6 thirds. Following are the results for each event, all names not otherwise indicated are upper classmen:

- Discus:
H. Nielsen; R. Ward—Fr.; J. Wallace.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT COMPETITION CLOSE

In the boys' intra-mural tournament, seven of the original twelve entries have now taken their bow. Results of the first round are as follows: Bob Hogzett over Carlyle Hansen, Marvin Petersen over Bob Ward, Victor Vig over Orlin Jorgensen, Homer Nielsen over Clifford Hansen, and Russell Lund over Ray Andersen. In the second round, with only two games played so far, Hillerup Rasmussen defeated Bob Hogzett, and Anker Sorensen downed Marvin Petersen.

Though the championship is still far down the road, Russell Lund, last year's tennis king, appears to have a good chance of winning the crown again.

WEST SIDE GIRLS WIN 42-32

In the women's division of the all-school track and field meet, in which the west side dormitory girls were pitted against their neighbors to the east, West asserted its superiority with a 42 to 32 victory. With the substantial assistance of Miss Agnes Larsen, who contributed 14 1/2 points as high-point lady of the day, the girls from the rooms of the setting sun held a slight edge throughout the meet.

Of special spectator appeal was the 120 yard walk, won by Miss Larsen, and the kittenball throw for distance, won by Miss Arles Andersen. The meet results were as follows:
