

Members of Faculty Publish Writings

Dr. L. P. Jacks, editor of The Hibbert Journal, England, has written Professor George H. Hartwig that he accepted with "much satisfaction" his paper entitled, "The Friendship of Carlyle and Emerson." The paper is a study about six thousand words in length, of the extensive correspondence of the two men, covering the time from early manhood to old age. The paper will appear in an early issue, probably in January. In the April number, Professor Hartwig had a paper on "Emerson and Historical Christianity." The Hibbert Journal ranks among the foremost journals of the world in theology, philosophy and education. Dr. Jacks, its editor, who lives at Oxford, stands in the very forefront of editors, and this journal goes to most of the significant libraries of the world.

Dr. Swansen, in his special study of Norwegian pioneer life in America, has written an article called "The Norwegian Quakers of Marshall County, Iowa." This article was published in the recent issue of the publication, Studies and Records, a magazine published by the Norwegian Historical Society. The article deals with the history of the only large Norwegian-speaking Quaker settlement in this country.

Dr. Swansen is now working on another article to be published, pertaining to the Congregational Library of the Paint Creek Congregation of Allamakee County, Iowa. This will be the fourth article which he has written for publication in this particular magazine.

Grace Andersen's Parents Visit Dana

The Reverend and Mrs. I. M. Andersen of Waupaca, Wisconsin, were recent visitors at Dana College. They were the guests of their daughter, Miss Grace Andersen; of Miss Sena Bertelsen, who is a sister of Mrs. Andersen; and of Miss Eva Tophigh, who is Rev. Andersen's niece. The visitors were accompanied by their daughters, Irene and Miriam, and by Miss Aleine Miller.

During his visit Rev. Andersen addressed the students at one of their chapel exercises. The Andersens remained here for several days and then left for western Nebraska where they visited other relatives. They made another stop at Dana on their homeward journey in order to pick up Miss Miller who has been visiting the classes of some of her former instructors.

Before returning to Waupaca the Andersens will visit their son, Raymond, who attended Dana last year and is now a student at the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Miller and Miss Irene Andersen are alumni of Dana College. Miss Andersen was here 1935-6 and 1936-7 and Miss Miller from 1929 to 1933. Miss Miller is the present treasurer of the Alumni Association.

German Doctor Gives Address ON HITLER REGIME

"Undercover Activities of Nazis in America" was to have been the subject of the address given by Dr. John Gelbert in the college auditorium October 3, but upon request he deviated somewhat from the subject announced and devoted the major part of his speech to conditions in Germany under the Hitler regime.

"Hitler is the best salesman I have ever seen," Dr. Gelbert declared. "He has sold himself to 65,000,000 people. Much of his popularity is due to the fact that he clothed and created jobs for many of Germany's unemployed." Before the Munich Beer Garden Putsch, Hitler received financial backing from the former Kaiser who was given the promise of restoration.

Dr. Gelbert claims to have been arrested 97 times during a four and one half-months stay in Germany in 1937. Once he was arrested as a spy because he was observed reading an American newspaper on a street-car and once for buying more butter than the law allowed.

Concerning Nazi activities in America the speaker said there are 30,000 active Bund members and 200,000 sympathizers. Presumably the purpose of the Bund in the United States is to unite all the Germans and then open a new government. Dr. Gelbert cited several examples of cases in which Bund members could not withdraw from the league.

Final Improvements on Bondo Memorial

The improvements on the Bondo Memorial, home of Pres. Siersbeck, were completed this summer. These improvements included renovating of the kitchen and sowing grass in the newly terraced lawn.

The home was given to the college by the Bondo family of Neola, Iowa. Three members of that family are pastors. They are Rev. Henry Bondo, Trinity Lutheran Church, Albert Lea, Minnesota; (Continued on Page Three)

Male Chorus Organizing

A Male Chorus has recently been organized on the Dana campus for those who wish to join such an organization. Both college and seminary students are taking an active interest in the enterprise. Members of the group include: Homer Nielsen, Sheridan Svendsen, William Merrill, Herschel Hansen, Charles Nielsen, Adolph Kloth, Maynard Hansen, Alvin Rueter, Harold Sorensen and Thorvald Hansen who are singing tenor. The basses include Arnold Nielsen, Howard Mickelson, Alton Neve, Harold Andersen, Frank Hengevelt, Paul Neve, Robert Berthelsen, Emery Petersen, Bob Hogzett, Carl Wildrick, Leonard Andersen and Ethan Svendsen.

Edward Hansen has undertaken the leadership of the group. The repertoire of the organization includes both sacred and secular numbers. The chorus plans to work up several numbers which may be used for public appearances at some of the school functions.

Organizations such as this one, the violin ensemble, and the male quartet are an asset to the life of the school. They not only give the student a chance to make use of his talents, but they also express the true Dana spirit.

Seniors Begin Raising Funds

The first meeting of the Senior Class was called by president Anchor Sorensen on September 26. Minutes were read by the secretary-treasurer, Elaine Jespersen. It was decided to begin work immediately on gathering funds. Fred Jacobsen was placed in charge of candy selling at the football and basketball games. The girls are selling Dana sport shirts, and the boys, Dana plates for cars. Members of the senior class are: Elaine Jespersen, Vera Ruth Knutsen, Marie Mikkelsen, Ione Christensen, Anchor Sorensen, Thorvald Hansen, Fred Jacobsen, and Howard Mickelson.

Once more the National Youth Administration is an aid to college students who otherwise would find it difficult to meet the expenses of an education. Dana has nineteen students thus enrolled this year, under the (Continued on Page Four)

Homecoming Speaker Chosen

Rev. C. Justesen of Golgotha Lutheran Church, Chicago, to be Main Speaker

The Reverend Christian Justesen, pastor of the Golgotha Lutheran Church in Chicago, has accepted the invitation to be the main speaker at the Dana Homecoming Banquet on Saturday evening October 28th. Pastor Justesen is a graduate of St. Olaf College and Trinity Seminary, and is one of the younger, more prominent figures in our church.

Friday night, the 27th of October, the Dana football team will open the Homecoming activities with a night game against Hebron College. As the team has already won an impressive victory, this promises to be a well fought affair. Saturday afternoon there will be a program in the gymnasium. And then on Saturday evening will come the climax—the banquet. A well planned menu and lively entertainment are anticipated in addition to the main speech. On Sunday morning joint services with the local congregation will be held in the College gymnasium.

Tickets are now available for the banquet at a cost of 55 cents per plate for students and 60 cents per plate for all outsiders. If you are a student, you are urged to buy your tickets as soon as possible from Mr. Anker Jensen. All outsiders should send for reservations to Mr. Anker Jensen, Dana College in Blair. October 26th has been set as the last day on which reservations will be accepted.

Faculty Take Part in Conference

Those members of the faculty who took part in the annual Lutheran Faculty Conference held at Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minnesota, Friday September 29th to Sunday, October 1st were Pres. L. Siersbeck, Dr. H. F. Swanson, and Prof. Paul Nyholm. Others in attendance were Professors Thomsen, Lyche, Kraft, Hansen and bursar P. V. Hansen.

Pres. Siersbeck gave the opening devotional message on the topic "All Things Are Yours," as the introduction to the conference theme, "Our Lutheran Cultural Heritage."

Dr. Swansen spoke in the social science section while Prof. Nyholm had charge of the sectional (Continued on Page Three)

Girls Conduct Monday Devotions

The system of weekly devotions has again gone into effect in the girls' dormitory. These meetings are held every Monday evening and are conducted by the girls themselves. They usually consist of hymn-singing, scripture reading, musical numbers, and devotional readings. The old hymn books from the chapel have been presented to the girls' dormitory for this purpose.

Luth. Brotherhood Entertains Students

The members of the Lutheran Brotherhood of the First Lutheran Church of Blair were hosts to the students, faculty members, and friends of Dana College at an unusually interesting doughnut and coffee party Friday evening, September 29.

Mr. N. T. Lund, president of the local brotherhood, acted as toast-master. He introduced Dr. N. C. Carlsen, who opened the program with scripture reading. "Dana" being the theme of the evening, Mr. Lund called upon Mr. H. S. Nielsen, present Danish instructor, who entered the college as a student in Dana's early days, for reminiscences of his school-days. Mr. Nielsen's anecdotes of the professor who wore a stove-pipe hat and a swallow-tail coat and rode a little yellow pony to and from school proved to be highly entertaining.

His stories of the days when only boys attended Dana, when the present library was the dining hall, and when the students had their room on the fourth floor of the administration building were also very amusing.

The student of fifty years ago had lots of chores to do before he could begin his winter studying, Mr. Nielsen declared. He (Continued on page four)

Pres. Siersbeck Active Speaker

In addition to his regular duties on the campus, President Siersbeck has been speaking at several neighboring churches during the past two weeks.

Sunday, October 1st, he was guest speaker at the English Lutheran Church, Avoca, Iowa, which was celebrating its annual Harvest Festival. President Siersbeck spoke at all of the services, morning, afternoon, and evening. The following Sunday he spoke at the morning service at the Benson Lutheran Church, Omaha, Nebraska. There the occasion was a mission festival.

In the Lutheran Church of Wahoo, Nebraska, the home of Luther College, he addressed the people at a special Luther Service, Wednesday, October 11th.

PAYABLE WITH INTEREST

How pitiful it is to see so many of the youth of today squandering away the best years of their lives. They sell themselves and their futures cheaply in order that they may get the most satisfaction out of the present. They over-indulge thoughtlessly in eating, drinking, smoking, loafing, and even in studying—never taking a thought to the future. The student who spends the whole night studying and takes no time for sleep and recreation and then gets the jitters from pure nervousness is just as guilty of excess as the one who smokes too many cigarettes.

Charles C. Colton once wrote: "The excesses of our youth are drafts upon old age, payable with interest about thirty years after date." How true a statement that is. It is when we should be in the prime of life that we must suffer the consequences of our youthful follies. How can we fill well the places God intended us to fill if we have burned the candle at both ends.

An efficient mind works best in a sound body. It is all very well to talk about geniuses who were physically weak, but they probably rose to fame in spite of their handicaps and not because of them. God gave us a wonderful body; it is up to us to keep it in as good a condition as is possible.

Let us look at the matter from a spiritual standpoint. God wants us in His service. He wants our bodies, our minds—our all—as a living sacrifice. Many people are willing to have their souls saved eventually but they want to turn their bodies over to God only as dead corpses to be kept for the day of resurrection. But God is practical. He wants, not lifeless corpses, but living bodies as a sacrifice. He wants our lives to be lived in such a way that they may reflect His glory. How can we do this if we fling away our time, strength, health, and talent before we reach our greatest opportunities?

WHAT A CARRY-OVER!

Dana students have poorly concealed the joy that was theirs last Thursday night. Something had happened which Dana students have not experienced for three long years. Energies which had yearned for expression, enthusiasm that had been mildly or somewhat artificially manifested, was granted release. The Vikings had won a decided victory on the gridiron.

"What a game! What a team!" Yes, but better still, "What a carry-over those grins all are wearing!" That's just what we're after as a student body—unity—a solid front that backs up enthusiastically each and every student activity. Not that a "pasted-on" smile, or a hen-pecked husband's "yea and amen" is desired. By no means. We seek the inner satisfaction which comes from working together in a course and toward a goal that is worthwhile and that has real interest.

The question inevitably arises, "How shall we judge what is worthwhile and what has real interest?" It deserves an answer; it must be answered if the desired end is to be obtained. The answer is just this: show your evaluation honestly and let your neighbor show his. Thus, majority opinion will determine what should be continued or discontinued, and interest will be maintained. Bear in mind, however, just this one thing—remember your better self and that of others.

Continue in the spirit in which we have begun.

Chapel Gleanings

How often we sing our hymns without considering the thoughts contained! Many times a background is lacking for the proper understanding of a song.

One morning in our chapel worship, we sang the well-known hymn, "We May Not Climb the Heavenly Steeps." The first stanza seemed paradoxical, and the second was puzzling, so we referred to the complete poem, "Our Master," by John G. Whittier, from which the stanzas of this hymn were taken. The hymn becomes clear when read with some of the accompanying verses as they are found in the complete poem:

"Hush every lip, close every book,
The strife of tongues forbear;
Why forward reach, or backward look,
For love that clasps like air?"

"We may not climb the heavenly steeps
To bring the Lord Christ down:
In vain we search the lowest deeps,
For Him no depths can drown.

"In joy of inward peace, or sense
Of sorrow over sin,
He is His own best evidence,
His witness is within.

"And not for signs in heaven above
Or earth below they look,
Who know with John His smile
of love,
With Peter His rebuke.

"No fable old, nor mythic lore,
Nor dream of bards and seers,
No dead fact stranded on the shore
Of the oblivious years:—

"But warm, sweet, tender, even yet
A present help is He;
And faith has still its Olivet
And love its Galilee."

RELIGION

"If it be so, why am I thus?" Genesis 25:22.

Why, Lord, why do the generations of men fester and burst with pride and jealousies and hatred and murder and rottenness? Why does each new age make of itself two battle lines and blast itself to pieces? Why, Lord, why do You not lay the scalpel to the nations' boils, lance them, and free us all from our filthiness?

Why, Lord, why with all my training in the Way that I should go, with all the blessings I have received in this life, with all the possibilities I contain in my person, with all the reasons I have to hope and believe in my own future—why, Lord, do I fail and fail again? Why am I proud and jealous, why do I hate and murder? Why do You not lay the scalpel to my ugly boils, lance them, and relieve me from the fevered pressure of my sinfulness?

This was my prayer. And the Lord answered me and said:

Let the nations writhe in the agony of their disease as long as they will, "but when the Son of man shall come in His glory, and all the holy angels with Him, then shall He sit upon the throne of His glory: and before Him shall be gathered all nations: and He shall separate them one from another...."

As for your own weakness, "my grace is sufficient. There has no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but I am faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that you are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that you may be able to bear it."

Dr. Gelbert Exposes Inner Life of German Citizens

The conditions of the German people as we have pictured them in our mind based on the press and other periodical reports which we may have read, were confirmed with more elaboration by a man who had felt the arm of the law in Germany some ninety times, and who had seen the deplorable conditions of the German people as they exist in reality.

I felt an attitude among the students after the lecture, which seemed to point a critical finger at the well-informed speaker, as if to say that some of his points bordered on the line of exaggeration or perhaps humorous interpretation. I can excuse this sentiment to some extent, when I realize that we, as American citizens, live in a country where freedom of the press, speech and certain liberties are granted to such an extent that we cannot begin to picture the horrible realities that would exist if we were deprived of these liberties. We are so intoxicated in our happy American life, regardless of what major or minor difficulties may exist, that we cannot comprehend the conditions as they really exist in Germany, when they are presented from personal experience by such men as Dr. Gelbert.

Dr. Gelbert, in my opinion, spoke with a sincere spirit, and what we considered humorous interpretations, were, upon second thought, terrible existing realities, which have never been experienced by American citizens. I agree with our speaker that we should bow our knees every night before the Master of all human beings, regardless of nationality, and thank Him for our country and the government with which we have been blessed. Last, but not least, pray for our fellow brethren in Germany and other countries who are deprived of the freedom to worship Him who loves them. H.M.

When asked to comment on the address by Dr. Gelbert on Nazi activities at home and abroad, it was not without much hesitation that I consented. In view of these chaotic times when beguiling propaganda is thrown at us from every side, arousing our patriotic and humane feelings, it is difficult to know just how much to believe. By this I do not mean to say that I choose to be one of the "wise guys," as Dr. Gelbert called them, who claim to know it all; nor do I want to "smeaz any more honey around the snoot."

Dr. Gelbert told us of how many of the German people were forced to betray their most treasured convictions—freedom of self-expression, and religious worship—because of the severe punishment which would be meted out to them by the State, or more particularly "Herr Hitler." Many of us were heard saying after the address, "I don't know how much of that I want to believe, but one thing is certain, a guy like Hitler would never make me pray, 'Our Father, who art in heaven, and Adolph Hitler!' I wonder! In this land of bliss" where our religious freedom has not met serious challenge by the State, and where we have not had to place our lives on the other end of the balance, would we not do well to consider the ironical statement of Sinclair Lewis, "It can't happen here"?

Are we so firmly grounded in our convictions that we would give our lives for them? Would we not rationalize and say, "I'll just say 'and Adolph Hitler' and not mean it?" Would we not fail when we saw our fellowmen imprisoned, scourged, crucified, burned at the stake, or even used as human torches? Yet many have stood firm in trying times like these and given their lives because they would not betray Him who gave His life that you and I might have eternal life. Pauls, Luthers, and Wesleys have carried the Cross to us, how great a sacrifice are we willing to make to carry the Cross to our posterity?

I can but conclude that we must bow in solemn humility to God and admit our frailty. Let us remember what Paul said, "let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall."

JERROLD ELLING BECOMES RESIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold Elling have rented an apartment adjacent to the campus and plan to make Blair their residence in the future. Mr. Elling is a graduate of St. Olaf's and is enrolled as a junior in Trinity Seminary.

The seminary now has two of its members in public service, since Leo Andersen is the new mail distributor, and Carl Wildrick is the new school supply agent.

Older Brothers and Sisters

Greetings to the big Dana family from the alumni secretary.
Cordially yours,

New Hymnbooks for the Chapel

Seventy-five new hymnals of the new revised edition were presented to Dana College by the Synodical Luther League. These books are being used at chapel exercises. They are very attractive and serviceable in their dark blue bindings with a gold cross on the front cover. A sticker on the inside of the cover gives proper credit for the gift.

The 150 additional hymns in the new book will provide a much larger selection of hymns for the festival seasons of the church year.

This third edition of "Hymnal for Church and Home" was begun in the fall of 1936. The members of the committee who revised the hymnal and who prepared it for publication were: P. C. Paulsen, Ingvard M. Andersen, G. J. Malmin, J. C. Aaberg, A. T. Dorf, Fred C. M. Hansen, Christian Justesen, Ottar Jorgensen, and Eric Moller.

SO YOU THINK YOU KNOW WORDS?

To pronounce words incorrectly is to show grammatical weakness. However, it is surprising to note how many words are almost always mispronounced. Some of the common ones are in the following list.

Dissect has a short "i" and is accented on the second syllable. The "e" in penalize is long, and the "n" and "l" should not be slurred.

Alloy should be accented on the second syllable.

The "i" in respite is short. Resilient has four syllables, the second being accented.

Pianist is accented on the second syllable; the "a" is pronounced as in add.

The "o" in communicate should be pronounced as in oak; the "que" is pronounced as "kay". The accent is on the last syllable. Allied should be accented on the last syllable.

Anti, used as prefix, has a short "i".

Detail and excess are accented on the second syllable.

Root is pronounced with a long "u" sound.

LEO ANDERSEN ADDRESSES LEAGUE

Dana Luther Leaguers, gathered for their weekly meeting on Wednesday, October 11, experienced a stirring Christian challenge to be wise in the eyes of God. Leo Andersen, speaker, pointed out the consequences of a life spent in pursuit of transient things such as worldly honor, wisdom, and power. Recognition as a wise man in the eyes of God should be the goal of our life whether or not such a course marks us as wise in the eyes of men.

Joyce McLeod was devotional leader, and Harold Sorensen, tenor, sang Little's "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings."

A short business meeting was called to act upon the resignation of Alvin Rueter as treasurer. The resignation was accepted and Arnold Nielsen was elected to fill the vacancy.

LUTHER LEAGUE ELECTS OFFICERS

Election of officers was the most important feature of the Luther League business meeting held October 4. Iver Iversen was elected president; Howard Mickelson, vice-president; Viola Hansen, secretary; and Alvin Rueter, treasurer. Mr. Rueter however has handed in his resignation because he already holds the office of treasurer for the choir. This executive committee is to hold office until the first regular business meeting in January.

The program featured George Pallesen, one of the second-year seminary students, as speaker, Alvin Rueter as devotional leader, and Bob Hogzett as baritone soloist.

As the theme of his message Mr. Pallesen used I Corinthians 1:18—"For the word of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us who are saved it is the power of God." He told about some of the court fools of the Middle Ages who, he said, often made valuable suggestions to their rulers under cover of their nonsense. Then he went on to discuss the wise fools of today—those people who appear foolish to the world but are wise in the sight of God.

FARM NOTES

The Dana College farm is not only a laboratory for the agriculture department, but it supplies food products for the kitchen. The work which this entails is done by students and thus it is also a means of aiding students financially.

At present six cows supply the milk for the kitchen.

There are also about 250 laying pullets, 50 to 75 old hens and cockerels, and 12 large turkeys. Soon the hens will be sold and the cockerels will provide the students with a couple of chicken dinners.

Last week the Animal Husbandry class selected six gilts from the eighty-five feeder pigs to be used for spring farrowing sows. Some very nice gilts were classed and rated. There is also one sow with a litter of eight pigs.

Saturday, October 7, one of the silos on the farm was filled with Atlas Sorgo. Student labor assisted in this process of cutting the ensilage, hauling it in, and putting it into the blower. A field cutter was used, and two trucks hauled it to the silo.

Not only was this silo-filling day, but much clean-up work was also accomplished and things look pretty neat there now.

ART CLASSES WORKING HARD

The art classes are progressing rapidly under the direction of Mrs. Winifred Selby. Plant forms such as flowers, leaves, and berries have been studied by the public school drawing class who have considered them in the light of Wilberforce's quotation: "Lovely flowers are the smiles of God's goodness." The next project to be taken up will be the study of trees and landscapes.

Other art classes have also been at work. The lettering class is making alphabets and will soon begin on window cards. The class in engineering drawing is studying instrument technique in preparation for work in lettering, and the drawing and painting class is making pencil sketches of outdoor scenes.

MOVIE ON

NICKEL SHOWN

A sound movie presenting the merits of nickel was shown Tuesday evening, October 10, in the chapel by the International Nickel Company. The processes by which the crude ore is converted to lustrous, ductile metal were portrayed. It was shown how the nickel is amalgamated with copper, then rolled into sheets, pressed, and polished for use. Nickel is most important in its form as Monel Metal, which also contains twenty-five percent copper. Table tops, washing machines, sinks, and many other appliances, made from this alloy have been proved to withstand resistance of all kinds better than most other materials, including the hardest steel.

There was a supplementary film showing the beauties of the city of Washington. Pictures of the well known buildings such as the White House, Capitol building, and Pan-American Conference building were included.

Because of an unfortunate condition, the sound equipment was rather poor, but the film proved to be of interest to everyone present.

OUR LATEST FAD

As everything must, fads come and go. A fad as defined in Webster's Dictionary is a custom, amusement, or the like followed for a time with exaggerated zeal. The American people are, as a rule, very much addicted to fads, especially among the youth. This can be very clearly verified by walking down our city streets or going to informal gatherings.

This latest fad is comprised of a white polo shirt with red letters spelling Dana College and a Viking emblem on it, signifying the name, insignia, and colors of the college. This fad has been universally accepted by the boys, but the girls are a little reluctant in taking it up.

It is certain that this fad is not confined to Dana College alone. It has, it must be admitted, swept nearly every high school and college in the country.

What caught the aesthetic sense of its pursuers? Is it that they follow fashion's dictates, or do they wish to show off their manly chests—physiques? Quite possible. Try it and you will know.

Another reason that may be put forth as an explanation for the widespread acceptance of this fad is the economy of this means of displaying school spirit. The purchase price is low, the shirts are laundered with ease, and they are comfortable to wear. How long the fad will last no one knows, but it is a fad which seems to have a measure of practicality.

Dana Beats Luther 13-0 in Return Tilt

13 no Jinx to Vikings; Merrill and Jensen both score in second half

The Dana eleven successfully gained their revenge on Luther on Friday the 13th by a score of 13-0. No. 13, Bill Merrill, lugged the pigskin across the goal for the first touchdown. The entire team staged a fine exhibition with Petersen and Bob Jensen flashing.

The first quarter was played in Dana's territory most of the time. Nielsen and Jensen tore off several yards and Merrill intercepted a Luther pass. Although Dana was in possession of the ball most of the first canto, Lawson, of Luther, made a 40 yard pass to Banksen putting the Wahooians in scoring position, but the Dana defense tightened.

The second quarter opened with Dana punting from their 45 yard line and Mickelson recovering Luther's fumble on their 23 yard line. Two plays put the ball on Luther's 3 yard line where the Danes, were held. Andersen of Luther made a 72 yard run, but the play was recalled and Luther received a penalty for holding. The second quarter ended in rather loose ball playing.

The second half found Svendsen and Robeson executing some outstanding defensive work. Dana's major offensive was checked on the 10 yard line. Intercepting a Luther pass, Dana showed determination and finally scored. The end of the third quarter saw Dana heading for another touchdown.

Early in the fourth Luther stopped the Danes' march in the shadow of her goal posts. But Jensen's return of a Luther punt for 25 yards led to another touchdown.

In the closing minutes, Dana showed her aerial attack. Payne was on the receiving end of two well-executed pass plays.

Penalties were numerous throughout the game. Dana got 14 first downs to Luther's four.

had to bring up coal for his stove, carry out ashes, fill his kerosene lamp, and clean its chimney. Then he could settle down with his feet on the stove, a book in one hand, and the coal shovel in the other.

Mr. A. O. Sick spoke on the benefits Dana College gave the city of Blair.

Rev. Harold Jorgensen also gave a short talk. A number of musical selections were presented by the male quartet, the violin ensemble, and Miss Agnes Larsen and Arthur Tingley, who played several flute and violin duets.

CO-ED FOOTBALL GETS WORLD-HERALD MENTION

The Dana girls' football games, because of their novelty, received mention in the sports section of the Omaha World-Herald. The story stated that Dana coeds were at last having the opportunity to engage in one of the more strenuous sports by playing kick football according to rules drawn up by Coach Rufus Olson. It went on to say that the shin-kicking takes place every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. The World-Herald should have mentioned the fact that Ruth Svendsen and Becky Anderson have proved themselves to be shin-kickers extraordinary.

Dana Vikings Tounce York B's 25-0

Visitors Never Threatened Lopsided Victory

Dana's hopes for a successful football season were partially fulfilled last Thursday evening when Coach Olson's Vikings rolled over York B 25-0 at Blair high field.

In a sense, the victory was a tradition to the winds as it was the first win for the Vikings in three seasons of play.

However, it is not to be expected that the local gridsters played the brand of football that characterizes winning teams. The carrying, blocking, tackling, punting, and team spirit played by every Dana player was of the highest caliber that the minded fans expect.

Time after time the Dana defense opened holes in the opposition for its backfield men to be charging through, and when the defense, this same line held through York's offense to reach the ball carrier in the visitor's backfield.

In regard to the Viking performances we can say that their performances were equally as efficient as those in the Dana ranks. They intercepted passes, blocked a kick and stopped the advance of the opposition, the few times their ball carriers got past the Dana line. Their ball carrying ability was best shown by their tremendous advantage in yards gained over that of the visitor's team.

To say that two or three plays played outstanding football would detract from the brilliant performance of the team as a whole.

From the first Dana touchdown a pass to Vic Payne in the end zone, it was somewhat surprising that the visitors could not cope with the brand of football played by the Vikings.

The first point after the touchdown was attained by Paul Peterson's accurate pass-kick late in the initial quarter.

The second quarter found the ball in the Vikings' possession for the greater part of the time. When the gun sounded in the half, the York Panthers were being shoved back deep in their own territory, trying to stop the offensive drive of the Red and White team dangerously near a second touchdown.

Dana kicked to York in the second half, but the visitors could not gain yardage and the fourth down went back into the formation. It was here that Peterson hurled the line and blocked the kick which Sorenson recovered on the Panther 25. On a succession of line plays which evaded some of the finest blocking of the evening, Phipps carried the ball across the line for the second Dana touchdown. The try point failed and York again tried to receive. Again the defense of the visitors could not prevent the Dana defense and as a result Darwin took to the air lanes in an endeavor to gain the much needed 30 yardage. It was here that Bill Merrill intercepted a York pass, on his own 30 and reeled off a beautiful 40 yard run along the sidelines, carrying the ball to the York 30. Using line plays, the Vikings carried the ball forward to York's 8 yard line where Jensen (standing up) crossed the goal for the third marker.

The last quarter found every player on the Dana squad in action, but the offense of the Vikings did not bog down as a result. This was best shown by a fourth consecutive march down into the visitors' territory, culminated by a 35 yard pass, Nielsen to Repsholt, who caught the ball in the end zone for the final score of the game.

Although the final score somewhat denotes the margin of the Viking victory, the following statistics give an even more accurate account of the game's happenings.

First downs: Dana 16; York 5. Punt average: Dana 45 yds; York 36 yds. Passes intercepted: Dana 3; York 0. Penalties: Dana, 5, 15, 15, 5 yds.; York, 5, 15, 5 yds. Total yds. gained: Dana 283; York 100 (approximate).

WITH THE VIKINGS

INJURIES AMONG THE PLAYERS

Eldon Fahrens will be seen in the backfield position again. He has been recovering from a leg injury received during practice.

Four first string players suffered injuries during last Thursday's game with York. Leonard Andersen suffered a broken rib and Vic Payne received a broken nose. Bob Miles dislocated his knee and Ethan Svendsen had a similar mishap which may keep him on the bench, too.

Some bright person the other day mentioned that whenever Captain Sorenson intercepted a pass and rushed for a touchdown the crowd should begin singing "Anchors Aweigh."

Warning to all football players—be sure to eat all of your candy before you arrive at the locker room. Coach Olson was caught taking jelly beans away from a poor, defenseless freshman named Boe, last Monday afternoon.

The game last Thursday evening with York certainly showed that Coach Olson's Vikings still have the spirit and will to win, even though the first game of the season was a defeat. The line and backfield have greatly improved their blocking and running attacks on both the defense and offense. We feel sure that if they display as great an improvement in the future games, they will have a very successful season. So why not help support the team by coming to every game and cheering the Vikings on to victory.

Monday night coach asked Nelson Boe which end he knew the signals for. Boe's reply was somewhat of a jigsaw puzzle and went thus: "I know the signals for Payne's end, but since Payne is playing Andersen's end I had better take the end which Fahrens is playing."

CANDY MACHINES INSTALLED

Tuesday a candy and gum machine was installed in each of the dormitories and one in the administration building. They consist of a large steel box which has several kinds of candy bars in columns, and the same may be extracted upon the insertion of a nickel in the proper slot.

These people have work about the campus and college farm, take care of the college laundry, are typists and assistants of the faculty, and help keep the classrooms and dormitories in shape. Vera Ruth Knutson and Luther Keay conduct classes in the N.Y.A. project in Blair under the supervision of Mrs. Hitchman.

Saturdays in particular are busy days on the Dana campus when almost any glance from a window shows someone hurrying along with a broom, pail, shovel, or laundry basket.
