Special Service Stresses Intercessory Prayer

Rev. Jensen Delivers Inspiring Message On March 14

At a special service prepared for the World Student Christian Federation Day of Prayer, Rev. Theo. I. Jensen spoke March 14, to the Luther Leaguers on the subject "The Need of Intercessory Prayer."

"Intercessory prayer has tremendous possibilities and it is our duty and privilege to pray for others. At this time in the church year we are reminded of Jesus' remembering to pray for his disciples and the world even as he was suffering. There is never any time when these prayers are not needed."

"We are living in a day when there is particular need for the folded hands of God's people. As the days are so also shall our prayers be. The church has been called upon to pray for students in all parts of the world."

"The intercessory prayers of Christian young people should be centered in the foreign mission fields. Most of our missionaries are being forced to leave their fields. Let us remember these men when we pray. At some time the Lord might ask you why you don't go and work in such places."

"The church, which is our spiritual mother, should be remembered in our prayers. Ask God to give faith, wisdom, and courage to the leaders of the church and school. Pray for those who have suffered because of the war. Pray that the Lord will help the grieving through their sorrow."

Several members of the student body participated by reading Bible selections and by offering special prayers. A special offering was collected for the support of the World Student Christian Federation.

Cathedrals Subject Of Dr. Swansen's League Address

On March 7, Dr. H. F. Swansen was the guest speaker at the Dana Luther League meeting. He gave an introductory talk on the history of cathedrals, in which he stated that cathedrals can convey a message to us. We too should learn to be a beautiful temple of God. Our lives should be possessed with grandeur and beauty, filled with lofty aspirations, and we should always be mindful of the fact that we are living temples.

This was followed by the showing of pictures and slides of many of the famous cathedrals in Europe. The first pictures shown were those of a Danish cathedral. Then the Leaguers journeyed via pictures to the sites of some famous cathedrals in England on the continent itself.

Dr. Swansen commented on the slides and pictures as they were projected upon the screen. He especially emphasized the beautiful structure and art windows of the various cathedrals and how they have not been surpassed in modern architecture.

Open House Savors Of "Sugar 'n Spice"

Back in grade school, the boys would hoot derisively when we read the poem containing the lines:

"Sugar 'n spice
'N everything nice
That's what little girls are made of."

But on February 16 they didn't laugh as they noticed the theme of "Sugar 'n Spice" for the open house held in the girls dormitory. Not that they don't know how to laugh anymore—their reaction to Audrey Jorgensen's reading concerning "Der Sturdy Oak and der Klinging Vine" proved that they could.

Others on the short program, which began at 8 o'clock, were Betty Jensen who welcomed the guests, Lynn Christensen with a medley of popular songs, Mildred Romer, Dody Jensen, and Joy Larsen singing "Mighty Lak A Rose," and Marilyn Guyer and Maxine Smith in a drama in three tempos. Joy Larsen completed the program with a saxophone solo.

Following the refreshments, the visitors made their way to the third and fourth floors for their first inspection of the various domiciles. Perhaps it is safe to say that Albert, the deaf-mute Blair friend of the students, enjoyed the evening more than the others.

Deloris Hansen held the position of general chairman for this annual event, with the following sub committees and chairmen: Sigrud Christensen, refreshments; Helen Olsen, decorations; and Isabel Jacobsen, clean-up committee. Eunice Carlsen did the work on the printed programs, Doris Johnson made the poster and Doris Lind took care of the pecuniary affairs.

"Denmark and the War" Title of Tonight's Talk By Rev. Christensen

Rev. A. Husted Christensen

Students to Contribute Musical Selections

"Denmark and the War" is the topic of the talk to be given this evening by Rev. A. Husted Christensen of Jacksonville, Iowa, at a meeting of the Dana Chapter of the American Scandinavian Foundation. The program, which is to be held in the Girls' Reception Room at 8:00, will also include musical numbers.

Rev. Christensen was born in Denmark, and it was there that he received his college education, having attended the University of Copenhagen. After leaving the University, he went to Belgium, where he served for some time as an interpreter. In 1927, Rev. Christensen came to Canada, where he lived until a year ago. He attended the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Waterloo, Ontario, for one year, and graduated from Trinity Seminary in 1936. For six years he served as pastor of the Church in Standard, Al- of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Jacksonville, Iowa.

Musical numbers for this evening's program will be presented by Joy Larsen, who will play a saxophone solo, and Helen Olsen, who will sing a vocal solo.

Following the program, refreshments will be served in the Reception Room.

Greenos Hosts To Students At Supper

"Oh, I ate too much!"—"This sure reminds me of home." Sayings such as these could be heard from all parts of the dining hall last Friday night after the dinner given for the student body by Dan and Marie Greeno.

After everyone had eaten all that he could, a short program was presented. Rev. Morton expressed our thankfulness for all the things that Dan and Marie have done for us here at Dana. He then introduced the boy's quartet, Franklin, Stan, Phil, and Lloyd, who sang several numbers chosen from their repertoire. Esther Seybold played two piano solos. On behalf of the student body, Homer Larsen, expressed our appreciation and thanks to Dan and Marie, who most of us know as our "second parents."

All in all, everyone really enjoyed the dinner even if he did have some trouble getting up from the table. We all want to thank Dan and Marie very much.

Letter from Herbert

Dear L.L. Presidents,

This is just a brief note to remind you to place an order for the 1945 Danian.

Fifty-six of our leagues have already done this and I really think you should keep in step with the rest of our synod's leagues, don't you?

We have only a limited supply of Danians so send your order with $2.50 to Doris Petersen, Dana College, Blair, Nebraska, immediately.

Yours truly,
Herbert.

Pocket Guide to Nebraska Spring:

Note: This guide is published for the benefit of those students who are unfamiliar with Nebraska in the hope that it will help them to understand better the weather, the natives, and their own reactions.

You are now entering that season to which the natives fondly refer as spring. Spring comes from two Winnebago Indian words, "Sprhal" meaning "wet" and "Kryoling" meaning "wind around the corner of the ad building". The problem of what to wear in order to be dry and comfortable as often as possible can be approached in a more or less scientific manner. If the sun is shining at eight o'clock, wear a raincoat because it will soon rain. On the other hand, if it is raining at eight o'clock wear a raincoat anyway because the rain may last all day. Don't be discouraged if you don't like the weather today. It will probably be quite different in about fifteen minutes.

Natives can be distinguished from the foreign population by their ability to stand up against what they call a 'gentle breeze.' Diligent practice on behalf of the student will soon make him a master of this art. New, shining paint, such as is now being applied to the windows of the dormitories makes its appearance with the first robin, and should be noted.

As in every land, spring in Nebraska occasionally sends a young man in search of a girl. The very young Brian Petersen and Yvonne Bale have discovered each other in this way. Almost no reaction is noticeable in the case of Abbie Ann Vaughan who appears to suffer from spring fever all year around.

With these warning words as a guide, you are now ready to face that most bewildering of all seasons—Spring in Nebraska.

Popular Performers Appear Again on Dana Campus

A repeat appearance has been made this week by the popular performers, the mid-term examinations. Although not loudly applauded, they have appeared, and will undoubtedly appear, every nine weeks. There is no starred actor, no scenery, nothing appealing to the finer senses; however, they seem to be one of the most popular acts on the various campuses. The script is difficult at times, and the attender must always interpret the meaning in his own manner.

The press notices have never been known to say anything flattering about these stars. Yet, their shows, especially the matinees, are attended by more students than any other featured program on Dana's series.

As their most severe critic, I will say that although they have proved to be most unpopular, their running will be among the longest of the great hits. Undoubtedly, they will never be welcome and it is quite miraculous that they have managed to stay "on top" for so long.

WORDS OF LIFE

"Let me live in my house by the side of the road
 And be a friend to man."

Some people live by the side of the road but never see the traffic passing by. They never see the old man living next door limping down the walk. They never see the little children merrily running to school. They never see the neighbor on his way to the office or factory each day.

While we are here at school we are living in a forest away from the traffic of the highway. We are living in a beautiful setting where we have our work, fellowship, and fun as a large happy family. For this we are truly thankful because in such surroundings we have ample opportunity to fill our lives with something which will be valuable to us later.

This, however, is not to be our good fortune all the time. We will soon be moving out of this forest and find ourselves by the side of the road where the race of men go by. Your neighbor may be an old crippled man; the lady living in the next apartment may not be Lutheran or Protestant, or even Christian; the children playing in your yard may be of all nationalities.

As we come to live by the side of the road, are we going to be a friend to man, or are we going to continue to live secluded and never look out the window? It has been possible to do that here, and we have gotten a great deal from the fact that we have been apart from the world, but that is not to be our fate all our life. While we are here at school, we should be filling our lives with treasures that we can give to those who pass by when we find ourselves by the road side.

This was Christ's example when he walked on this earth. Do you remember the story of Christ on the road to Emmaus when he opened the scriptures to the strangers on the way, how their hearts were "burning within"? Do you remember the incident when the disciples just didn't have time to be bothered with children, but Jesus took time to take them in his arms and bless them? Do you recall the many times that Jesus stopped along the way, either to heal someone or to be a blessing in some way.

What will be our purpose in life when we find ourselves living in the house by the side of the road? Perhaps even here at school we can practice at least to some extent, the example Christ set. We might even here help someone on the way so that when our narrow lane broadens into a highway we may really be a blessing.

Oscar E. Johnson.

My dear Mr. Nielsen,

Considerable interest has been shown by the student body throughout the year in a Student Union. The Committee chosen for the purpose of studying this project has met with me on several occasions, and we have discussed it in detail. The fact that nothing concrete has come from this suggested project does not reflect upon the Committee. The purpose of this letter is to explain the absence of any definite progress on this much needed project.

The Board of Trustees has approved the idea of such a Student Union. Several suggestions were made as to possible locations of this Union. The most promising seemed to be the rooms on the south side of the first floor in the south wing of the Administration Building. Further action by the Board was delayed pending an opinion from the architects who were to examine "Old Main". Since the construction of such a Union in the south wing necessitated the removal of a number of partitions, the architects strongly advised against such alterations, saying that it would weaken the south wing structurally if this were done. It was therefore decided not to use these rooms.

The real obstacle to the Union is not so much lack of funds, as space in which to locate it. A number of suggestions have been made by students, and each one is given consideration. We invite further suggestions from the student body. Every effort is being made, and will continue to be made, to provide a student union as soon as possible.

Very truly yours,
 R. E. Morton

His Death and Resurrection

And it was the third hour, and they crucified him. And the superscription of his accusation was written over, THE KING OF THE JEWS. And with him they crucified two thieves; the one on his right hand, and the other on his left. And the scripture was fulfilled, which saith, And he was numbered with the transgressors. And they that passed by railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Ah, thou that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in three days, Save thyself, and come down from the cross. Likewise also the chief priests mocking said among themselves with the scribes, He saved others; himself he cannot save. Let Christ the King of Israel descend now from the cross, that we may see and believe. And they that were crucified with him reviled him. And when the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour. And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, said, Behold, he calleth Elias. And one ran and filled a sponge full of vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink, saying, Let alone; let us see whether Elias will come to take him down. And Jesus cried with a loud voice, and gave up the ghost.

Mark 15:25-37.

And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James and Salome, had bought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him. And very early in the morning the first day of the week they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun. And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre? And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away: for it was very great. And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted. And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is risen; he is not here: behold the place where they laid him.

Mark 16:1-6.

Lt. Buck Sorensen, '40, of the marine corps was on the Dana campus last week visiting friends. He has been overseas for two years and was in the battle of Guam.

Now attending school in Paris, France, is Lt. Harold Hughes, '41, of the U. S. army.

News has just been received that Bob Hogzett, '42, is at the present time in a hospital in England. It was reported that he had lost his voice entirely for a time but it is now returning.

Several former Dana students are now in Germany—Lt. Bob Berthelsen, '42, received a battlefield promotion recently to the rank of first lieutenant. Bob Jensen, ex '44, and Glenn Neve, ex '45, are also in Germany. Ewald Sorensen, ex '45, who is somewhere in Germany writes that he plans to attend school either in France or England during demobilization.

Ensign Marion V. Petersen, '36, who was recently transferred from Hunters College, Bronx, New York, to the Naval Air Station at Astoria, Oregon, visited friends in Blair about two weeks ago.

Accepting an appointment as chaplain in the United States Navy, Rev. Gilbert A. Jensen of Kenmare, North Dakota, has resigned his congregation. He will leave Kenmare April 1st.

Chapel Gleanings

We think of what Christ did for us during Lent. Lent receives the soul at a very low spiritual ebb and lifts it to a higher plane.

It is quite easy to acknowledge that we are Christians when all the people round about us are praising Christ. However, if the people round about us are ridiculing the things of Christ, it is rather easy to keep quiet and say nothing rather than to stand up for those things we hold valuable. We like the glory and honor but we hate to share the ridicule. It is hard openly to defend our faith when our faith is subjected to ridicule.

If we are ashamed of the Gospel, then Christ later on must be ashamed to admit that we are followers of Him. It is a dangerous thing for us to feel that shame. If a person has the Christian life, he can't be too much ashamed of it without hurting himself and his Savior.

"I am the way." Very few people are not more or less consciously thinking of heaven. While we all have the same general goal in mind, not all people travel along the same route. Nearly all claim to be traveling toward heaven, but there is no agreement as to the road. "I am the way." It might be that all roads lead to Rome but you can't reach that which means most in life, heaven, by any kind of road. Following the Jesus Way means securing the future by entrusting ourselves to the Almighty and it means that we see all of life through the eyes of Jesus. Many are trying to get to heaven by way of sincerity, devotion, and morality. "Neither is there any other name under heaven, that is given among men, wherein we must be saved."

You came to college to gain courage. May God grant us all and you young people in particular, the right kind of courage.

Our religion is worthless unless we can translate it into a religion of deeds.

Faith is a blessed thing. It gives courage in life, it gives joy even in sorrow. Faith begins where thought leaves off. We are willing to go out on the spring board and we are willing to examine it and its make-up; but we are not willing to take the jump into the uncertain.

Campus Personalities

Sophomore
Eunice
Carlsen

Participates in Numerous Activities

Anyone in search for dramatic talent on the Dana campus is usually directed to the subject of this issue's "Campus Personality," namely Eunice Carlsen. Sufficient evidence of her ability is found in the fact that she won the Freshman Oratorical contest in 1943-44.

One of the campus eavesdroppers laughed uproariously when Eunice said "spinach and mice" in reply to a question concerning her dislikes; whereupon Eunice emphatically announced "That isn't very funny, I think they're awful!" However, the senior who presented her with the aquamarine ring this week is very definitely not classed as awful.

The occasion for that presentation was Eunice's twentieth birthday—she was born in Royal, Iowa, on March 19, 1925. At the age of five, Eunice migrated to Blair, Nebraska, with the rest of the Dr. N. C. Carlsen family. Here she completed her secondary school training in 1942, as valedictorian of her class. After a year's intermission in which she worked (and met Homer) she enrolled at Dana in the fall of 1943.

As associate editor of Hermes and president of the Dramatics Club, in her freshman year, and associate editor of the Danian, secretary of the student body, and vice-president of the choir this year, Eunice has found plenty to do with her spare time. Her background for her college journalistic activities was formed while she was editor of "The Informer" which is the Blair high school publication.

Maine, Oklahoma, and the Rockies have all been visited by this diminutive sophomore who likes to eat popcorn and read poetry simultaneously. Although she is taking such courses as philosophy, psychology and literature, Eunice probably will be an office girl until she acquires her "P.F." degree.

Book Nook

"THE BUILDING OF JALNA"
by Mazo de la Roche. Little, Brown and Company. 1944.

In her latest book, Miss de la Roche tends to be very descriptive. Her aim in attempting to bring "Jalna" to the reader has been brought about through some ideal methods. Descriptive writing is difficult because it must be handled carefully. Description must not be forced, nor must it be overdone. In either case, if a reader detects such mistakes, a dull impression is formed. But in "The Building of Jalna" Miss de la Roche has combined abstract mental emotions with concrete, physical appearances, and how magnificent a combination it is.

Miss de la Roche has eight books preceding "The Building of Jalna," the first being "Jalna" which won the Atlantic $10,000 prize in 1927. It is only now that "Jalna," the residence of the Whiteoaks, is described. Miss de la Roche begins her ninth book by relating what preceded the building of Jalna, then turns to the actual building of the mansion.

Adeline Whiteoak was strong in courage, rather impulsive at times. Her husband, Philip, was sometimes irritated by her disposition, knowing that whatever it was Adeline was impulsive about, she would get her own way. Here lies one of the faults of the book. Adeline and Philip Whiteoak seem to be too much like "fantastic Hollywood highbrows"—Adeline is too courageous at times; Philip, too sentimental. This fault is true of some of the other characters in the story also. It is a hindrance to the reader, and in places, distracts the reader from the thought the author originally intended.

The Whiteoaks had lived in Ireland before making the trans-Atlantic journey to Canada. In relating incidents of the journey, the author describes the sentiment among the passengers, the conditions of the ship, and also the sentiment of the crew.

Living quarters on the ship were close and the sentiment of the people were corresponding to the living conditions. The crew also was somewhat disgruntled about the situation and in this connection Miss de la Roche describes a fight between some members of the crew and one of the male passengers. Adeline becomes a heroine in making peace on the ship.

When the Whiteoaks arrived in Canada, they started their search for an ideal tract of land for building. They found their land, a beautiful, wooded site. Miss de la Roche gives a very apt description of the land, although no direct adjectives are used. "Upon my soul," Philip said, "you'd think the land knew we owned it—it's so smiling." This indeed is a remarkable description. This indeed is a remarkable book.

Rev. M. G. Christensen Addresses Students On Religious Series

Rev. M. G. Christensen of Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Racine, Wisconsin, gave a series of inspiration messages during Spiritual Emphasis Week, March 4-8 inclusive.

His evening messages were also clearly co-ordinated. On Monday night he emphasized the fact that humanity's sigh for something better can be hushed by work and worldly pleasures but never entirely silenced. This is because individuals long for something stronger than wealth and earthly treasures. It's God. On Tuesday eve., Rev. Christensen's lecture was centered about Hebrews 3:9: "For it is good that the heart be established by grace." He commenced by saying that the heart needs strength. This is given by God's grace. Grace is present when God bends way down where we are and lifts us up toward him.

There are two groups of people on this earth about whom our guest speaker spoke on Wednesday evening—those with God and those without God. Without God everything is empty and meaningless. Walking with God we know where we are going.

The climax of the week was Rev. Christensen's last message. He spoke of fields white unto harvest and reminded us of our Christian duty to witness at home and abroad.

Viking Review

Following the football season eleven Dana men reported for the '44-'45 basketball season. After a few practices, however, Bob Parker was called into the Air Corps.

The season opened with every prospect for a bright future. The Vikings defeated Luther 38-18 in their first game. The squad then played several losing games on the road with Norfolk, Hastings, and Concordia. Dick Dankert, with his threatening left handed shots, was absent from these games due to an injury received in a practice scrimmage. The following week Dana again bowed to Hastings, this time on the Vikings' home floor. The boys then made the trip to Wahoo and beat Luther 42 to 23 for their second win. Bob Baker, a second semester student, played in these games but was soon ordered to report for his army physical. Norman Hansen, spark of the squad, left for the air corps a few weeks following the second semester.

In the first game with the tall Midlanders the Vikings played good ball but lost 50 to 35. Two Vikings, Norlan Hansen and Bill Hanson were unable to play in the last game which was with Concordia. The remaining seven players played an exceptionally good game against Concordia, losing 70-52.

Although the Vikings didn't win many games this year, the season was a success to the men themselves. With only a few men on the campus Coach Paul Petersen did a splendid job with the material he had to work with. The boys maintained high spirits throughout their defeats. It is interesting to note that in several games that the Vikings lost, they outplayed and outscored their opponents in the second half. The Vikings showed good sportsmanship throughout the entire season which is a credit to the team and to Dana. As sports commentator Tom Daly would say, "It isn't that you won or lost, but how you played the game."

Vikingettes Win First Game

Concordia triumphed in the final game against the Dana Vikings, 70-52, on the latter's floor. It was a fast and free scoring affair in which Concordia seemed to have the upper lead. Although Concordia was in the lead continually, Dana had the fight and spirit to keep them on their toes. Concordia took an early lead, and led at the half 40-24. Von Fange and Scheer were their spearheads in the Concordia attack.

The Vikings did not lose sight of their goal and came back in the second half to bring the score within 10 points as the third period ended. Dankert and Hansen led the attack with an exhibition of fine marksmanship. The defense of both teams was rugged and wide open as Concordia took advantage of every opportunity for scoring in the final quarter. Because of the lack of subs the Vikings Quintette soon gave way. The Dana Vikings played their best game of the season, although Phil Larsen and Lloyd Neve were withdrawn from the game on personal fouls.

The scoring was a bit unusual as four players hit the 20 mark: Von Fange, 23; Scheer, 22; Dankert, 21; and Hansen, 20.

Tournament Progresses With Hotshots in Lead

Hotshots Trounce Ded Heds

With half of the games in the W.A.A. tournaments completed, the "Hotshots," captained by Lillian Hansen, remain undefeated. The "Kidehims" follow closely, having lost one game.

Handicapped by the absence of one player, the "Ded Heds" fell at the hands of the "Hotshots" by a score of 32-16.

Doris Petersen, high point player for her fighting quintette, scored fourteen points, while Lillian Hansen earned the same amount for the Hotshots.

Hotshots Beat Kidehims

"Hotshots" handed the "Kidehims" a taste of defeat by a score of 15-14 in the hard-fought battle of March 15th.

By the end of the first half the Hotshots secured a seven point lead, the score being 15-8. Determined to fight despite the unfavorable margin, the "Kidehim" guards came back to achieve an unusual record by preventing the opposite team from scoring during the second half.

It could easily have been "anybody's game," but the final second found the "Hotshots" leading by one point.

Lillian Hansen, with a total of ten points, proved high point player for her team, while Deloris Hansen and Isabel Jacobsen shared the honor for the "Kidehims" with six and eight points respectively.

Kidehims Nip Ded Heds

Though they acquired an early lead, and the game seemed inevitably theirs, the Ded Heds were downed by the "Kidehims" in a battle ending with the score 23-22.

The half-time score was 18-15, with the Ded Heds in the lead. Not until the last quarter did the Kidehims show evidence of matching the score. Then they began to click, and when the buzzer sounded, the Kidehims were on top.

Captain Doris Petersen was high-scorer with fourteen points for the Ded Heds. Deloris Hansen earned the same position with twelve points for the winners.

Hotshots Trim Vikingettes

Taken at the hands of the "Hotshots," the "Vikingettes" bowed to defeat, 20-5.

Lillian Hansen led the Hotshots with twelve points, while Lorraine Sandberg and Virginia Vaughan made the five points for the opposite team.

Defeat was again their fate when the "Vikingettes" met the "Ded Heds" and fell, 30-6.

Doris Petersen gave her team sixteen points. Esther Ericksen, substituting for Lorraine Sandberg, earned the six points for the Vikingettes.
