Entrance Requirements For Seminary Changed

Conscious of the pressing need for men to fill vacant pastorates and to man the new mission fields in America, the Board of Education of the United Ev. Lutheran Church calls attention to the rules for admittance to Trinity Theological Seminary.

The shortage of pastors while serious now is sure to be more acute in a few years unless recruits for the Gospel ministry step in and unless the usual training process is accelerated.

The Committee on Education of the Board of Trustees of Dana College and Trinity Theological Seminary adopted the following statement:

Whereas there is a pressing need for men to enter the ministry of our church, and

Whereas there are men whose educational training has been seriously interrupted by the war, and

Whereas there are men who at a mature age feel called to the Gospel Ministry

Be it noted that while the normal basic academic requirement for admittance to Trinity Theological Seminary is the B. A. degree, the faculty and the Committee on Education may recommend the acceptance of worthy applicants who are not college graduates.

As always, each case will be considered on its own individual merits.

Consequently some will be able to finish training earlier than is the case with students coming directly from high school through college. It will be possible for some to complete the combined course in less than seven years, receiving the B. A. degree from Dana College with a major in Christianity and a diploma from Trinity Theological Seminary.

Interested young men should apply immediately to the Rev. Theo. I. Jensen, Dean, Trinity Theological Seminary, Blair, Nebraska.

Signed:
Alvin M. Petersen, Chairman

Convocation Honors Students, Grandy Gives Talk

For the purpose of awarding certificates to students of outstanding scholastic ability, Dana College held its annual Honor Convocation, Thursday, April 11. This special presentation of awards is held at the close of the third quarter in order that scholars unable to attend the commencement exercises at the close of the year may be honored.

President R. E. Morton introduced Supt. C. W. Grandy of the Blair Public Schools, as the speaker for this convocation. Supt. Grandy spoke on "The Importance of Selling Scholarship." He raised the question; "Are people getting so that they don't want to solve problems?" and brought out that a true scholar is one with a well-rounded personality and a religious background. He stated that scholarship has potential value; that in this changing world it still is rated highly.

The Dana College Male Quartet composed of Ewald Sorensen, Franklin Highby, Phillip Larsen, and Allison Hansen, sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Salathiel and "Supplication" by Gillingham. A piano solo, "Harmonious Blacksmith" by G. Handel, was played by Jeraldine Johnsen.

Those students receiving certificates for their high scholastic averages during the first three quarters were: Eunice Carlsen, Blair, Nebraska, 94.22; Joan Andersen, Ringsted, Iowa, 93.75;

Board Inspects Plans, Approves Proposed Campus Study

With the convention dates drawing ever nearer, the building committee of Dana College is completing minor changes on the plans of the new Administration and Library building to be submitted to the convention in June. At a meeting of the Board of Trustees, held at Dana recently, the Board unanimously approved the "Campus Study" plans; the elevation sketches, however, for the proposed Ad and new Library building, together with the floor plan, were returned to the building committee for minor revisions. Action on this proposed new building, which is the result of the five year jubilee drive, will probably be taken at this year's convention, provided the revised plans can be acted upon by the Board of Trustees before the convention meets.

Dr. M. J. Nelson, Dean of the Faculty, Iowa State College; Mr. Alvin R. Jensen, contractor from Minneapolis, Minn., Wm. Mickelsen, also a contractor from Minneapolis; The Rev. C. M. Videbeck, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Dr. N. C. Carlsen, Synodical President, and R. E. Morton, President of Dana College compose the building committee whose task it is to act with the architect in planning the proposed buildings. These plans are subject to the approval of the Board of Trustees of whom the Rev. C. Justesen, Cedar Falls, Iowa, Chairman; P. A. Magnusen, Blair, Nebraska; Dr. R. O. Skar, Cedar Falls, Iowa; Mr. S. R. Knutson, Hutchinson, Minn.; Mr. Clemens Vig, Chicago, Illinois; Dr. Ethan Mengers, Northfield, Minnesota; Dr. Silas Andersen, Minneapolis, Minn., the Rev. Al-

Dana Choir Presents Religious Concerts

Dana College's A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Prof. Paul Neve, is preparing to leave on its spring tour April 22. Numerous week-end tours have already been made to near-by towns. On March 17, the first full concert of the year was presented in Kennard, Nebraska. Two concerts were presented March 31, in the afternoon at Underwood, Iowa, and in the evening at Moorhead, Iowa. The choir was well received in Moorhead by an audience of nearly 600 people, the large church being filled to capacity. On April 7 the choir journeyed to Omaha, Nebraska, to present a concert at Joslyn Memorial in the afternoon. Supper was served to the choir members in the Council Bluffs church, and a concert was presented to the Council Bluffs congregation in the evening. On April 12 the choir left for a week-end concert tour which included congregations at Davey, Ruskin, Superior and Hampton. A program of many beautiful and varied sacred songs includes such numbers as "Wake, Awake!", "Praise to the Lord," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Committee Begins Festival Plans

Plans are well under way for the May Festival to be held May 11 in the auditorium. The committees to plan for the evening have been chosen and have had two meetings with Coach Peterson. They are Alfred Tan Creti, business manager; Viola Nelson and Margaret Hansen, refreshment committee; Nadine Guyer and Ernest Hansen, decoration committee; Lorraine Sandberg, Allan Jorgensen, and Maynard Andersen, program committee.

All prospects point to a most enjoyable evening. Outside talent will provide the major part of the program.

College Purchases Visual Equipment

Considerable visual equipment has been purchased by the college from a contribution by the Women's Missionary Society amounting to $1000 which was presented to Dana last summer. The equipment includes a 16 mm. Bell-Howe sound projector, a kodascope, a movie camera, and a new and larger screen.

Artists Jaunt to Joslyn

Cows are the most beautiful of all animals to the artistic mind. That might have been the conclusion reached by Prof. Thomsen's art classes after spending Tuesday afternoon, April 2, viewing the art work on exhibit at Joslyn Memorial. No one kept count as to the actual number of "Bovine Bessie's" observed, but everyone was in agreement that they far surpassed their other animal friends in number.

"Where's Schmidt?" That was the most frequently asked question by members of the group, because Betty, the character involved, insisted on separating herself from the group. Betty's jaunts proved to be extremely interesting; among her finds were the photography display and a huge open vault, in which some of the members would have been willing to store Schmidt for the duration.

If Myrna Olsen were to paraphrase Shakespeare, she would probably sing, "Under the Beechwood Tree," because that is how she wants to spend the rest of her life—casually reclining on a comfortable sofa and gazing at the "Beechwoods" which she vows will be hanging over her fireplace.

El Grecco's "St. Francis" and the water color exhibit appeared to be Solevad's and Nielsen's favorites, although J. W. spent considerable time before a painting of a concealed man (it was actually a painting and not a mirror.)

At one point in the tour, Helen Olsen came running along the corridor, bubbling over with excitement. "I can read it, I can read it." The rest of the group, not sure of her condition, followed Helen, who led them to a series of drawings of the French Revolution. "I can read it", she gurgled again and pointed to the French captions. "Wouldn't Madam Bale be proud of me?"

It was a divided group that left Joslyn's that Tuesday. Each of the students had his favorite. Some liked impressionistic painting, others didn't; some preferred waters, others oil; some upheld the old schools, others, the modern. But on one thing they were agreed—"We've got a long way to go in our art work."

Open House Features Hen Session Upset, Food and Falls

Open House was officially opened Friday evening, April 5, at eight o'clock when Midge Nelson welcomed the men to the girl's dorm. The guests who were seated on soft chairs and the hard oak floor in the reception room, were entertained by a very informal program. The setting for the program and skit was a typical room in the dorm, together with sagging bed, bulletin boards, banners and Van Johnson's picture.

Helen Tange (Petey Pan) and Joy Larsen (Jinny Dorsey) were the two funny persons telling corny jokes. They persuaded Asta Larsen (Jo Iturbi) to play a piano solo in preparation for "Open House." She favored the guests with two numbers—"Peter Peter" and "The March of the Dwarfs." Eunice Carlsen (Jane Airee) told about a silly girl she had seen at a football game one day. This added a high note of gaiety to the evening. Jo and Helen played Sentimental Journey on their sax and flute, and Lorraine Sandberg (Tommie Dorsey) played an occasional note or two on her trombone whenever she could stop laughing.

Shirley Holman (Clemintine) and Eunice Petersen (Daisy Mae)

Moments of Spiritual Thought

"There is grace for the soul who cries to heaven for mercy. Where temptation is great, the grace of God is even greater. If we fail to avail ourselves of that grace and power which we could have for the asking, we ourselves must resume the responsibilities for our sin.

It makes a difference if you believe in a God who carries you, or if you believe in a God whom you must carry. There are a great many people to whom God is just a burden—one more load to be carried, one more responsibility to be added, one more obligation to be met. These have never known God as a burden bearer. Their religion is a weight, not a wing.

To whom is a person courteous? In countries where women are chattel of men there is no courtesy extended them, even in lands noted for their politeness. It is only in the countries where women are held in esteem and respect that courtesy is accorded them. Prejudice between races, the contempt of one race for another, results today, as through the centuries, in serious disregard for the rights of others. The feeling of Jesus is clearly reflected in the surprise of the woman at the well that a man who was a Jew would speak to her, a woman and a foreigner. Jesus brought such a revolutionary ideas as removed prejudice of race, sex and station and He insisted that folks were God's noblemen in possibility, if not in actuality.

The stains of our sins are not on our hands, but on our souls, and nothing but the atoning blood of Christ can wash them away.

The message of Christianity is not that on top are the everlasting demands, but that underneath are the everlasting arms. Christianity is not a collection of burdensome principles we must keep. Instead, it offers a wondrous Saviour who keeps us. Christian faith is resting one's burdens in Christ.

Christianity too often has become a stifling thing, a series of do's and don't's. It has become an imposition of the law upon us instead of life within us. If only Christianity could become an attractive thing so that we would face and endure the cross because of the glory that is before us!

God is love. In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent His only be-gotten Son into the world that we might live through Him. Herein is love, not that we love God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sin. Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another. I John 4:8-11.

Only as a nation is steadied, guided, and inspired by Christian principles will it fulfill its destiny; otherwise it will pass the way of other nations which have perished from the earth."

"Lamb of God most holy, Who on the cross didst suffer Patient still and lowly, Thyself to scorn didst offer; Our sins by Thee were taken, or Hope had us forsaken: Have mercy on us, O Jesus!"

Editorials

Pressing Problems Face Synod . . .

"What have the Catholics got in their educational institutions that we are lacking." That was the inevitable question that came to the minds of Protestant students who attended the recent conference of the Nebraska Association of church colleges held at Duchesne College in Omaha.

One could not help but be impressed by the cultural atmosphere that pervaded the small campus. It was quite evident that Duchesne placed a definite value on art, music, manners, and literature.

Everything in the physical plant also revealed the progressive spirit of the school. Duchesne, which has a college enrollment approximately the same as that of Dana's, boasts of modern and well equipped classrooms and laboratories, a library which is conducive to study, and a chapel which was filled with a religious atmosphere.

Catholic students dominated the afternoon discussion, and as it later proved, they had a right to do so. Duchesne and Creighton students spoke with an ease and fluency which was equalled by only a few of the Protestant representatives, and when the Catholic students spoke, they revealed minds that were thoroughly trained in both the academic and the religious fields. They were college students aware of the world about them and prepared to face it.

Protestant Colleges, and Dana is no exception, appear to have taken a little nap and are waking up now like Rip Van Winkle to find themselves several decades behind the present day. The time has come for Protestant institutions to take a definite and progressive academic position so that they can offer as much and more than the Catholic colleges are doing.

If Lutheran Union can be realized within the next five or ten years, Dana's future plans should be taken in the direction of eventual union with Midland, Luther, and Concordia. If, however, the United Evangelical Lutheran Church feels reasonably assured that such a union will never amount to more than increased co-operation between the Lutheran church bodies, they should adopt extensive building and progressive educational programs now.

In that case, this year is the time for the convention to adopt a vigorous building program. Nothing has been added to the physical plant of the college since the late twenties, and such a record is not an asset to any institution. There are and will be those who will argue that this is not an opportune time to launch a program of construction. To them let it be made known that there will always be wars and depressions. Then there will be those who will again suggest moving or closing Dana. The time has come for the United Evangelical Lutheran Church to decide what it wants and then to go after it with all its energy instead of consuming its strength in petty quarrels.

Sentiment has been the driving force of Dana for too long. A school can probably exist on sentiment, but it certainly cannot thrive on it. What Dana needs is a solid program of expansion and financial backing in the form of good, hard American dollars for such a program. Indications are that the board possesses an adequate program. It remains only for the Convention to support this program by endorsing the proposed budget and for the people of the synod to put forth greater effort in behalf of their school.

The issue goes beyond Dana in relation to state educational institutions; it rather involves the question of Protestant vs Catholic teaching. It is of the utmost importance that the Lutheran church take a bold and firm stand in its academic endeavors. Dana, no matter how small she may seem, is a testing ground in a broader struggle and may be a barometer of an approaching crisis. In the future you may regret a complacent attitude.

—J.W.N.

Shall Dana Die?

On June 18, the 60th convention of the Evangelical Lutheran Church will convene. One of the main topics of discussion at this convention will be that of erecting a new building on the Dana Campus. Many people will attempt to delay or completely kill the Dana College Building plan. Consider the results if the present building program is even postponed for the time being. The students and faculty are already cramped for class room space. With the return of the seminary and many new students the load on "Old Main" will become more than it can bear. This will be only the immediate results of any retarding of the building program. Each year the building program is retarded, the greater will be the chance that it will be completely dropped.

In the light of these statements the students of Dana have only one course. We must get solidly behind the Dana building program or lose Dana. We must do everything in our power to boost Dana. We want Dana to grow. Now we have the opportunity to do something real to further our cause. Will you do something NOW, or are you content to see the Dana Spirit die in the wrecks of "Old Main"?

—James Stone

Important Decisions Made by Board

The Board of Trustees of Dana College and Trinity Seminary met on the Dana Campus for its spring meeting on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 26 and 27. Several important decisions were made by the Board. It was decided to enlarge the college faculty by the addition of six faculty members in six different departments. The Seminary faculty will also be enlarged by two members in the Old Testament and in the Practical Theological department.

Building plans were discussed and voted on. The Board approved the plan to buy additional property around the college to aid in the expansion of the college's physical plant.

A Public Relations man will be added to the staff as soon as possible. He will also work with the Alumni Association as Executive Secretary of the Association.

OPEN HOUSE

harmonized on "Doodly Doo," and "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles." Lynn Christensen (Mildred Pierce) swung out with the "Boogie Woogie Washwoman" and a more soothing "Serenade in Blue." After these renditions, Lois Andersen and Margaret Hansen, came from under the bed where they had been studying French "In the Dark."

A knock on the door, and eight people disappeared under the bed. It was the presence of Marilyn Guyer as (Dizzy de Dean) that caused this disturbance. The highlight of the evening's program came when "Zorina" Abbie Vaughn did her famous "East-side, West-side," tap dance.

Refreshments were served by Doris Lind, Jeri Johnson and Eunice Petersen. After lunch, the boys were invited to visit the rooms in the dorm. Merl Nielsen was the official inspector, who rubbed his fingers around the window sills of each room. Phil Larsen and Norm Hansen decided that Alice Romer's bed is or was the softest bed in the dorm, but that it falls easily. One room obliged the guests by handing out kisses, (candy ones, for anyone's specific information.) Betty Schmidt had a unique way of serving popcorn. Of course no one complained about eating popcorn from her bed.

Such unusual visitors as Pee Wee Sorensen and Tiny Andersen were seen in the dorm. Pee Wee, the official woman-hater, was seen on third and fourth actually talking with girls. Curt Johnson was seen in one room and one room only on third floor. hmmm!

The boys had their chance to see how neat the rooms are and had a good time doing it. When midnight came around they were all herded out and sent to their own rooms, in their dormitory. If a good time was experienced, credit should be given to Mary Howe, Joy Larsen, Midge Nelson, and Liz Solevad, who planned the program and entertainment.

Dutch Tenor Charms College Audience At Lyceum

The Dana College Lyceum Program for this year came to a close on the evening of Monday, March 25, with a concert by Hendrik de Boer, talented young "Holland-Dutch" tenor. Despite a lack of advance publicity, the college chapel was well filled for the event, and Mr. de Boer's singing was favorably received.

Among the selections on the program, which included both classical and semi-classical numbers, were an aria from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," "The Dream" by Massenet, "Morning" by Oley Speaks, the negro spiritual "Were You There," and a folk song from the soloist's native Holland. Piano accompaniment was by Professor Neve of the College faculty.

Sociology Class Hear Local Workers

H. Lyle Guyer and Mrs. Bertha Hall, Washington County Social workers, spoke to the social problems class last week on their work in this field of service. The class is under the direction of Dr. H. F. Swanson.

Spring Fever by Lynn

"In the spring a livelier iris changes on the burnished dove; In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." —taken from "Locksley Hall" by Alfred Lord Tennyson

I once heard a man on the radio paraphrase the last stanza of this famous quotation to "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to that the girls have been thinking about all winter." This may and may not be true, but Dana has definitely been invaded by this phenomena. we call Spring Fever.

The bell in the Girl's Dorm seems to be continuously ringing—with cries of "Coming" echoing throughout the building.

Bright, crisp cotton dresses have been taken out of mothballs (so to speak) and are being initiated into the spring and summer season. The fellows are shedding sweaters and sport jackets and are looking very cool and comfortable in T-shirts and sport shirts.

This is just the weather for picnics and Skull's Gully is the favorite "spot" right now, but I've heard some say that "any ol' cornfield will do."

P. S. Just to show how Nebraska weather changes, since I wrote this column, we have been dragging out our sweaters and skirts again. But then, that's life. It changes every day.

L. S. A. Hear Madsen, Elect Jorth as Head

Archie Madsen, one of the pre-seminary students from Hampton, Nebraska, was the main speaker at the L. S. A. meeting Wednesday, April 3. Myrna Olsen was in charge of the meeting, and Fred Bringleman led in Scripture reading and prayer. In his talk Mr. Madsen stressed the importance of Christ's agony while praying in the Garden of Gethsemane, and the need of more earnest prayer.

After the devotional part of the meeting, election of the officers was held for the last two months of this school year and the first month of next year. Marjorie Jorth, a freshman from Milford, Iowa was elected the new president. The vice-president is Virgil Bolleson, freshman from Audubon, Iowa, and Eunice Petersen, also a freshman, from Ruskin, Nebraska is the new secretary. Before adjourning, the Little Ashram, to be held in Omaha, May 9-11 was discussed.

Mortons Entertain Students at Tea

President and Mrs. R. E. Morton entertained the student body at a tea held in their home, Sunday afternoon, March 24.

After an afternoon of visiting, a lunch of cake, cookies, coffee and candy was served. Mrs. J. P. Nielsen and Mrs. Christensen assisted in preparing and serving the lunch.

Camp Brewster Site Of Little Ashram, Nolte Speaker

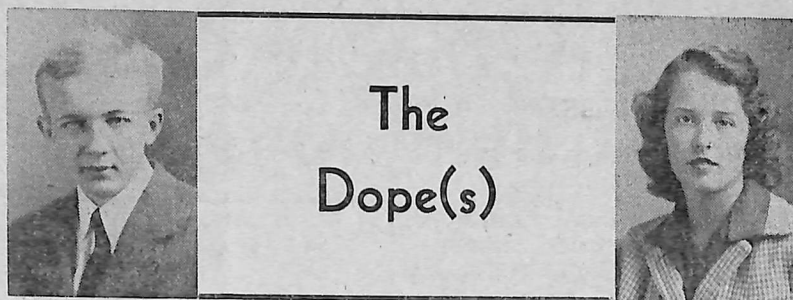

Camp Brewster, Omaha, Nebraska, is to be the scene of the Little Ashram on May 10, 11, and 12. Dr. F. W. Nolte of Westboro, Missouri is to be the principal speaker.

The theme of the Little Ashram will be the same as that of the National Ashram this summer—"One World—One Way."

Dr. Nolte will speak on three separate occasions, devoting his entire subject to the theme of the "Little Ashram." In his first address he will speak on "One World"; the second, "One Way"; and his final address will be the entire theme.

There will be four discussion groups: (1) "The Church and the United World" led by Prof. George Anderson of Lawrence, Kansas; (2) Christian Service at Home, led by Conrad Hoyer; (3) "Missions in One World", led by Rev. Elmer Danielson of Lindsborg, Kansas; and (4), "Christian Way on the Campus", led by Rev. Harold Hamilton of Lawrence, Kansas.

Registrations must be in by May 1st.

The Dope(s)

The Dopes are back but Garson doesn't have them! Yes, a pleasant vacation was enjoyed by all the staff while the Freshmen took over editorial responsibilities for an issue.

Here and now the Dopes admit We might as well just up and quit; The "Freshmen Follies" though green they may be, Really put us in the shade of the old apple tree.

Open House in the Girl's Dorm really did wonders (for the dorm, that is). Every room was bright and shining—probably for the first time this year—waiting to receive the made visitors. Norman Hansen was "chief bed-tester" and was he ever surprised when one crashed to the floor with him! Funny how sometimes your best friends can't even be trusted, eh, Norm?

At "Open House," the "Dizzy Dean" (alias Marilyn Guyer) ran around wearing her glasses on the back of her head for, as Betty Hansen said, "All deans have eyes in the back of their heads!"

Well, Archie, are you free to "Romer" around?

Perhaps the thing that struck the deepest at the Nebraska Conference of Church Colleges at Duschene College was the fact that young women, called girls at Dana) stood up and spoke forcibly, persuasively, effectively, and intelligently. Now I do not imply that Dana girls can't do that, but to date I haven't heard very many take an active part in a college assembly discussion.

To the old saying, "You can't take it with you," Highby says, "Nuts, you can't, she's in the choir."

I looked over the campus and what did I see—well, this is no place to tell it, Jean West.

Have you heard of the tri-limited?—that is, Midge Nelson, Nellie Nielsen and Bettye Duncan.

Too bad that picture didn't turn out, Tan. The "Little Deaconess" has such a pretty smile, too.

By the way, Ernie, is your roommate going to take Greek?

Finally school on Saturdays has been dispensed with. In honor of this day, almost everybody slept until eleven o'clock last Saturday morning.

We heard one high school girl remark after a college boy had bought her a coke—"Gee, college boys are surely different than high school boys. He even paid for my coke!" That's ok, but just wait till you get to college and find out the real dope on college boys.

The poor little fish in the Zoo lab just curled up his tail and died. Being the last of the family, "Fish" suffered many hardships throughout his short life—such as living in stale water most of the time, going without food most of the time and being alone all of the time. He leaves to mourn him the Zoo lab instructor, G. Lewis, who spent so many pleasant hours with him. Life isn't always "Rosie" is it, Gorkon?

Have your "Cookie-duster" rebristled if it is subjected to long and continual wear.

One first semester student came back to visit the campus. His error—he blew his horns. Well, some who live on the campus do that, too.

10:15 a. m.—most of the Dana students will be found at a local cafe eating rolls and coffee!

The girls attending the "Little Stinkers" "All Star" basketball game think that Ivan "Pop" Anderson was the star of the evening. What a character!

Stinkers Defeat Cuties, Win Championship

After sharing the bottom berth in the intra-mural basketball tournament with the Sad Sacks and the Campus Trotters, the Little Stinkers pulled the upset of the season by defeating the Corn Fed Cuties and capturing the intra-mural championship. Led by their captain, Ivan Andersen, the Little Stinkers maintained a constant lead throughout the game with the final score standing at 29-23.

With Phil Larsen keeping Dick Dankert, the chief threat of the Cuties, well under control and Ivan Andersen and John Nielsen dominating the bang-board, the Stinkers not only amazed their audience, but also the undefeated and highly favored Cuties.

Student Discussions Held at N.A.C.C. Conference

In connection with the annual meeting of the Nebraska Association of Church Colleges, the students from the different colleges held a panel discussion at Duchesne College in Omaha on April 6.

A representative from each of the eleven colleges gave a three minute talk on the theme "Religion in Higher Education." Paul Larsen, as representative of Dana, spoke on "Is the Church College Failing in Its Work?" He pointed out that the church college must teach the youth the values of Christian morals, and must give Christian leaders to the nation, government, and to the church.

Some of the other topics discussed were in regard to extra-curricular religion, chapel programs, student religious leadership on the campus, courses in comparative religion, compulsory chapel attendance, and the advantages and disadvantages of required courses in religion.

vin Petersen, Lincoln, Nebraska; the Rev. E. F. Bondo, Willow Run, Michigan; the Rev. V. W. Bondo, Toronto, Ontario; and Dr. N. C. Carlsen, Blair, Nebraska are the members. The plans are then sent to the convention for final action.

Adventurous Co-eds Find Bones, Wade Creek on Picnic

"Over hill, over dale, we shall hit the dusty trail," was the theme song of all Dana Vikingettes Thursday evening, April 4th, as they hiked to Skull's Gully for a picnic which was filled with thrills, excitement, peaceful eating, and singspiration on the bank of Dana's favorite picnic grounds.

Some of the braver gals took to the more adventurous side of life by exploring caves, walking pipe lines, crossing creeks on logs, finding skeletons, and wading through muddy waters, while others enjoyed the country air and increased their knowledge of country life in the dusk of evening.

Eating the various kinds of sandwiches, their quota of a half a pickle, potato chips, apples, cookies and cokes was fun. After putting away all empty bottles, and apple cores the WAAers gathered together to bid farewell to "Friend Sun" as it sank low in the hills tinted with colors that made us want to pour our hearts out by singing "Day is Dying in the West." "Jacob's Ladder," and other favorites.

Who Will Reign?

Candidates for Dana's athletic king and queen were chosen at a recent meeting of the D Club and WAA.

Coronation will take place during the Saturday night activities of the May Festival which is to be held May 11. At that time two of the following will be crowned king and queen of athletics: Lorraine Sandberg, sophomore from Underwood, Iowa; Marjorie Jorth, Milford, Iowa, freshman, Anna Margaret Hansen, Canada; Forrest "Red" Leighton, freshman from Falmouth, Maine; Robert "Bob" Parker, Harlan, Iowa freshman; and John Hansen Blair freshman.

The party then broke up, some taking to a certain green and yellow Model A, some back over the hills which turned into a parading ground for a tribe of Indians, and some to the road resulting in a regiment of feminine soldiers led by able and competent sergeants. Tired and weary co-eds were happy to return to Dana campus.

Dr. Andersen Gives Talk on Medicine

Dr. Silas Andersen, Minneapolis, Minnesota, spoke during the Chapel period, March 29. Dr. Andersen, who is a member of the Board of Trustees, of Dana College and surgical staff member of Fairview Hospital in Minnesota, discussed several degenerating diseases of the middle aged person. Several of these diseases, which are still incurable, are rheumatism, high blood pressure, and a serious heart ailment called curinary thrombosis.

He also mentioned new techniques of surgery and application of recently discovered anaesthetics. Cyclopropane, probably the most popular anaesthetic among doctors, has no after effects on the patient as does ether. The only danger in administering cyclopropane is its explosive adaptabilities and this danger is expelled if an anaesthetist administers it. The anaesthetists are special trained nurses who can administer different anaesthetics safely.

Dr. Andersen then discussed sulfa drugs and their importance in curing pneumonia. Another new drug mentioned was streptomycin, which is expected to go far in curing leprosy.
