"In An Old Dutch Garden" Will Be May Fest Setting

Association of Dana Women Adopt Orphan

(JN)—The Association of Dana Women have recently adopted a war orphan from Europe through the Foster Parents Plan. This project is financed by donations from the members, and requires $15 per month for maintenance. Dana women also plan to send individual gift boxes from time to time.

The adopted girl, Dimitra Galvala, is 8 years old and lives in Greece with her 10 year old sister, Helen, and her grandmother. Both of her parents were killed during the German occupation of Greece. The three of them live in one sparsely furnished room, with an income of $6.66 per month. Some food, clothing and medical care come to Dimitra through the plan, plus a small cash grant to the grandmother for their needs. Dimitra has brown, curly hair and brown eyes. She is in the second grade in school, and hopes some day to become a school teacher.

The Association of Dana Women plan to have a bake sale on Thursday, May 11, for the purpose of raising money to keep up payments for Dimitra's support during the summer months.

Fine Arts Club Will Sponsor Exhibit

On Sunday, May 7, the Fine Arts Club will sponsor an art exhibition in the Women's Reception Room. The showing will consist of the work which has been done by the various art classes during the past months.

It will include pencil drawings, pastels, oil paintings, water colors, and copper tooling. Exhibition hours will be from 2:00 P.M. to 5:00 P.M. There will be no admission charge, and the club extends an invitation to all who might be interested in this exhibition.

"In an old Dutch garden
There's an old Dutch mill."

This will be the setting for the annual May Festival tomorrow evening at 8 P.M. In this Dutch atmosphere, complete with windmill and flowers, the King and Queen elected by student vote will reign over the festivities. Breaking tradition, the 1949 royalty will crown the new ascendants to the throne.

The program will feature mainly high school talent from Blair, Craig, Oakland and Tekamah. Refreshments will be served at the close of the program.

Directing the preparations are Esther Ericksen and Bob N. Hansen as co-chairmen. Colleen Crees and Russ Eckert constitute the program committee with Margarethe Hansen and John Lassen, the decoration committee, Phil Christensen, publicity, and Carolyn Hansen and Dorothy Jensen, the refreshment committee.

Danians and Leaguers Gather for Christian Service Rally

(RN)—A Christian Service Rally was held in Pioneer Memorial Chapel on Friday evening, April 21.

This program was held to bring together all those from the seminary and pre-seminary group as well as all others who are interested in Christian service. In attendance at the rally were Luther Leaguers and pastors from some of the leagues in the near vicinity of Blair.

The main feature of the evening was an address by Rev. E. W. Mueller of the National Lutheran Council. He spoke to the group in the interests of the rural church and pointed out some of the challenges and possibilities for service in that area of the church. Art Sorensen, junior at Trinity seminary, sang a solo as a part of the program.

Music Department Announces Plans for Spring Recitals

by Jim Sorensen

The first of the spring music recitals will be given Sunday afternoon, May 14, at 3:00 P.M. in Alumni Memorial. Marilyn Stefensen, freshman from Chicago, will present a piano recital. She will be assisted by Delores Burnett, soprano, and an organ-piano duet by Lois Petersen and Darlene Holm. One of the feature works which Marilyn will perform is Chopin's Ballade in G Minor.

Sunday, May 21, will see a varied program when Paul Jersild of Chicago, violinist, will present a recital in Alumni Memorial at 3:00 P.M. He will be assisted by John Lassen, tenor, and Paul Jersild will perform the first movement of Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto in E Minor as his feature work.

The date for the senior recital of Allen Nygaard, trumpet, and Don Poh, piano, has not been definitely set, but it will be some time during the last week of school.

All of these programs shape up to be well worth the time spent to take them in, and every student who can possibly do so should avail himself of this opportunity to listen to some very fine music. There is a noticeable dearth of the finer music on the campus during the majority of the school year.

Programs Presented by Seminary in Iowa and Nebraska

(RN)—The Trinity Seminary quartet together with a professor from the seminary have been traveling to various congregations in Iowa and Nebraska during the month of April presenting a program.

On April 16, the group traveled to Winnetoon, Nebr., where they presented their program at the morning worship. In the evening, they were at the Plainview church.

The following Sunday a program was given in our church in Royal, Ia. On the last Sunday of the month, the quartet and its speaker were at Coulter, Ia., in the morning and in Des Moines in the evening.

Speakers on the successive Sundays have been Dr. C. B. Larsen, the Rev. Theo. I. Jensen, and Dr. Ethan Mengers. Accompanist for the quartet has been Joan Petersen.

Dana Band Presents Afternoon Concert Here, May 7

(JS)—The Dana College Band will give a concert Sunday afternoon, May 7, in Alumni Memorial as part of the Lilac Time festivities. The Band has been a welcome addition to the musical organizations on the campus since its creation two years ago. The band has evidenced steady improvement together with a considerable growth in size this year. Among the numbers that the band will present Sunday afternoon are the last movement from Schubert's Unfinished Symphony, Bolero by Ravel, March Slav by Tschaiikovsky, Elsa's Processional to the Cathedral by Wagner, and Chorale and Fugue by Bach.

Prof. Widman Sings At Joslyn Recital Sunday

(JS)—Professor Melvin J. Widman of the Dana music faculty is taking part in a recital to be given in the concert hall of Joslyn Memorial in Omaha, Sunday, May 7, at 4:30 P.M. Mr. Widman will sing five numbers, Non Cever—Mattei, Jaglied (hunting song)—Mendelssohn, Till Bruden—Peterson-Berger, Songs of Grusia—Grechaninov, and Your Quest—Manna-Zucca. Included on the program will be remarks by Pres. R. E. Morton and former Dana coach Rufus Olsen, presentation of letters and awards by Coach Peterson, and a traditional song by the new D-Club initiates.

Neve, Thompsen, and Rasmussen, to Give Fine Arts Program

By Jim Sorensen

Next week, May 8, Professors Neve, Rasmussen, and Thompson will present an evening program of contrasts in the fine arts. They have chosen three musical compositions which will be illustrated by pictures taken from Walt Disney's technicolor movie "Fantasia." These pictures are specified works to illustrate the individual compositions which are "Ave Maria" by Schubert; "Night on Bear Mountain" by Moussorgsky; and "Rite of Spring" by Stravinsky. Professor Neve will discuss the contrasts in the music itself, Professor Thompson will explain the relationships and contrasts in the pictures illustrating the works, and Professor Rasmussen will show some of the psychological aspects involved in the compositions and the pictures.

This should prove to be one of the most educational and interesting programs to be presented this spring. These programs in past years have always been interesting and highly enlightening. At the same time, many who have only a nodding acquaintance with classical music may avail themselves of this opportunity to find out a little of what they've been missing.

Summer School Will Begin, June 6

Summer classes will commence on Tuesday, June 6, at 7:50 A.M. Students will be permitted to carry a study load of nine semester hours in the regular summer session, June 5 to July 28, and three semester hours during the post session, July 31 to August 11.

Registration for summer courses should be completed no later than June 5.

Those students who desire information or who have not received the bulletin should consult Mr. Larson or Miss Johnson in the business office.

The Church College

The following is from an article "I Am For the Church College" by Governor Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota. Our thanks to Pastor A. V. Neve of Sleepy Eye for making this available to us, and we will let it "speak for itself."

"For three hundred years the church college has served its country well. These three centuries of achievement vindicate its right to be and prove the sound judgment of . . . early pioneers.

"The church college stands for life's highest ideals. It is engaged in an eternal quest for the truth. It lays emphasis upon genuine scholarship, upon the discipline of thorough study. It sends its sons and daughters forth with vision and spiritual power to see them through life's darkest hours.

"From its halls and classrooms and chapels have come presidents, governors, legislators, judges, educators in greater proportion than from any other single source . . .

"What we need today is not only intellectual literacy, but social, civic, moral, spiritual literacy as well. Too much of our higher education in these past years has been concerned with training competent technicians, in supplying facts and more facts . . . It has worshipped the false god of success . . . Its measures of success have been the bank account, the size of one's home, the cost of one's automobile, the membership in an exclusive club . . .

"The education which merely makes people smart and clever in acquiring money, place and power but fails to touch their moral lives, may be worse than no education at all."

Governor Youngdahl is a graduate of a church college, and he sends his children to church colleges.

Our Fantastic Worth

"For what will it profit a man, if he gains the whole world and forfeits his life?"

Matthew 16:26.

The name of John Williams is one of the most illustrious in all the annals of missionary heroism. Before his conversion, Williams was fraught with manifold temptations and associated with a group of worldly companions. He was on his way to spend the evening with them in a tavern when his employer's wife invited him to come along to Whitefield's tabernacle in London. The Rev. Timothy East preached that night on the text, "For what will it profit a man, if he gains the whole world and forfeits his life?" The Holy Spirit convicted young Williams that night and he dedicated his life to Christ. Speaking in this same tabernacle twenty-four years later he said, "Throughout eternity I shall rejoice that I was led to see that I was the chief of sinners, that even so great a sinner had a soul of priceless worth and that through Christ there was salvation for me."

John Williams recognized that the soul is of far greater value than the whole world of material objects and sensuous enjoyments. He also saw that Christ motivates one who has been saved to impart to the world that knowledge of the soul's surpassing worth.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Lyle Plans Coaching Career

ELVA JENSEN

Flash! The campus spotlight of Dana College is now shining on a student who hails from none other than McNabb, Illinois, (population, 149, when Lyle is gone). This great personality was born in McNabb on September 10, 1927, to the Karl Morgensens when they weren't looking. At least, I don't see how they could have been looking—well, anyway, this little wonder was born to the Karl Morgensens who were at that time living on a farm. (Personally, I don't see what living on a farm has to do with it, but that's what Lyle told me.) After spending some time in the McNabb elementary school, Lyle finally got to high school, and in due time was graduated from the Swaney Consolidated High School, which, incidentally, is in McNabb.

Lyle, or Curley as he is called, on account of his beautiful blond curly (?) locks, has spent all his college years at Dana. He has served as student body treasurer for two years, and has also served on the student council, as well as being a member of the executive committee of the D Club. He is, at present, the assistant manager of the Book Store (PLUG), says he used to be interested in some other "stuff," and has played basketball for three years, golf for two years, and baseball for one year. He has also served as "chief statistician" (in other words, Pete's little helper) for the football team for two years.

This popular (?) student was a prince at the May Fest in 1948.

Lyle says that his major is business administration, and his minors are education, physical education, and English. His future includes plans to teach and coach.

Views of the News

—Jack Christensen

In a recent Time magazine there is a very interesting sentence. The sentence reads as follows: "The U.S. is spending $12,500,000 for the Navy's guided-missiles program in the current fiscal year and roughly three times as much—$34,415,608—supporting the price of peanuts." This brings out perhaps more clearly than anything else the absurdity of our crop-support program. Thirty-four million dollars supporting the price of such a crop as peanuts. Thirty-four million dollars out of the general fund to support the income of a tiny minority of the population. Who are these people that they should rate so highly? Who are they that they should get the hard-earned money of the American tax payers? What makes them so special? I doubt if anyone would object if the money were going to a worthy cause such as the March of Dimes or to combat heart disease, but thirty-four million dollars to support the price of peanuts seems ridiculous. It is not only ridiculous—it is fantastic. It is probably the greatest swindle in the history of the world.

Ex-president Herbert Hoover has asked for the scrapping of the United Nations as it now stands, and reorganization with the exclusion of Russia and her satellite countries. Because, as Mr. Hoover brought out, the world is divided into two hostile camps, and as long as this situation exists there can be no effective work done in the United Nations. Hoover has merely stated the facts that others have known for a long time, but have been afraid to admit. The one-world theory of which all freedom-loving, peace-minded people have dreamed has burst like a bubble. Now it is time to get our feet back on the ground and face the fact that Russia is seeking world domination. Our job is to thwart her designs in any way possible. If we can do the job better with her out of the United Nations, then we must kick her out.

— By Norlan Hanson

He spent his life among the primitive peoples of the South Sea islands. He recognized that the coming of Christ into the world to save sinners was motivated by an infinite love that shrank not at an infinite sacrifice. Williams was motivated by the love of Christ. He wrote, "I examined my motives and found that a sense of the value of an immortal soul—the thousands that were daily passing from time into eternity—and a conviction of the debt of love I owe to God for His goodness were the considerations by which my desire was created."

In the midst of our daily routine of studying we need to stop and ask ourselves "Have I realized the worth of my soul?" "Am I living each day with the motivation of Christ's love in my heart?" And especially now during these last hectic weeks of the school year there is the danger of neglecting to take time to speak to God and to let Him speak to us.

As we return to our home communities, or go to work in new communities, we must not think only of ourselves but of those around us. Every soul is worth more than the world. Through us, Christ is able to speak to others as He spoke to John Williams when he was invited by his employer's wife. God knows our "fantastic worth." Do we?

"Sower" Emerges Through Smoke Haze Ready for Printers

The SOWER (not sewer, for that is a receptacle for all that is odious) SOWER, I say, for it disseminates all manner of fertile seed for the mind to ponder or to nourish and bring forth in wisdom and joyful fecundity, is rapidly approaching the printing stage.

Last Monday evening, one of those blue days that is necessarily and typically Monday, the editorial staff gathered in room 413 of the men's dorm, and after displacing the occupant sportsmen, appropriated the card table and green eyeshades.

At that time, for five hours, amid an ever increasing haze of smoke so substantial that it could with difficulty be cleaved by a machete, the dummy was filled (no, chillun, we didn't have an idiot on the staff). A veritable Thousand and One Nights of wisdom and delight was being prepared for the reader.

In the last issue of Hermes some information was given concerning the contents of the SOWER. So many inquiries have been made that a further preview or expedition past the wine coloured cover of the literary anthology is in order.

What could be more appropriate than romance during Spring?

Would you inquire into the love story of a young English instructor, a modern Pygmalion—and wish to learn what befell at St. Andrew's-by-the-sea? You can in the short story, The Rose.

And if you, men, are perturbed by the fair sex, and would learn how to get a date with the O.A.O., Bruce Jensen has the answer for you in one of his stories. (Girls, don't neglect noticing the psychology involved.) The hero in John Beck's The Searching Eyes is involved in a triangle. Who's the lucky girl, Connie, the "blonde tornado," or Ann?

Leaving the romance department, we learn about The King of the Mountains. Tony Cruz isn't presenting a treatise on hypsography. Rather, in a highly unusual story, written only as a Latin (or a Ernest Hemingway who has caught the essence of the Latin spirit), can, we find a shepherd from the Mountains of Spain or Portugal who appears to suffer from a form of megalomania and has a strange fascination for having his picture taken by a corpulent lady tourist.

In Masquerade, Dorothy Petersen has a strange meeting at the ball in a story that is written in a style reminiscent of Edgar Allen Poe.

In one of the two Christmas stories included, John Beck tells a significant and moving, at times humorous, tale of how the Christmas plans of American troops in Kwan-ju are changed when they run into a Baptist missionary from Missouri, in Korean Christmas.

For the erudite, the able analysis of Carl Sandburg's "Work Gang," one of the several essays on literary criticism, will be of special interest. Art Simon is the author.

This year, perhaps more than in the past, poems have been given a goodly portion of space. And there are many excellent ones such as Carol Petersen's Mood and Doris Bartl's Transfiguration.

There are many excellent stories, poems and essays besides the ones mentioned above that will appear in the 1950 SOWER which will be ready for distribution about May 15.

Paul Skovlund of Chicago, business manager, in an unpaid testimonial, says: "The SOWER may not be a compendium of all learning, but it's worth the dough!"

If you agree, see Paul, and he'll take your order. Price F.O.B. campus, $0.50. Price, mailed anywhere within the continental limits of the U.S.A., $0.60.

Lutheran Seminary Students

Meet in Washington

By Reynold Tange

Nearly ninety seminary students gathered in Washington, D.C., for a two day seminar. Meetings were held April 3-4 in various places in the nation's capital including the State Department building and the Capitol building. The seminaries in the East were best represented. However, a number of students from the Midwest were also present. There were five foreign students in the group including two from France, two from Germany, and one from Jerusalem. All of these foreign students are studying here in preparation for service in their home lands.

The purpose of the Washington meeting was to stimulate a greater interest in the relationship between Church and State. The Lutheran Church is recognizing the need of a broader application of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It has seen that separation of Church and State is something that can easily be emphasized beyond the point of real value.

We as students were made aware of the work that the Church is doing today through the men who are working in Washington. We were made aware of the fact that the statement of the Church is welcomed by the State. We were also challenged to assume our responsibility as individuals and as a Church in increasing the influence of the Church in the affairs of the State.

High lights of the conference included a visit to the House of Representatives and Senate in session, a visit to the State Department, and a tour of the Voice of America studios.

As I'm replacing John's column this week, you'll have to bear with me. I guess John (Beck that is) has been pretty busy cadeting for the past few weeks.

Hats off to President Morton this week for having the insight of seeing the real value in training tables for our athletes. Word from the President's office says that training tables will be in effect come football season next fall.

Orchids this week to two fellows. One is Bob Coffey, sensational freshman miler. Bob broke his school record by running the mile in 4:57. The other goes to Dana's pole vaulter, Ole Ahlquist. Ole broke the school record also in the all Lutheran meet last Monday when he vaulted 10 feet 7 inches.

Coch Peterson found out over at the Midland meet that he had a new javelin thrower. Clad in street clothes and puffing on an old cigar, "Shorty" Youmans tossed the javelin just inches from a qualifying distance.

For the confusing prediction of things to come I'll stick my neck out and say, with all due respect to Bob Coffey, that Gerry Borglum will be one of Dana's greatest all time two milers. He has all it takes and has really been trying.

Harold and Howard Romer and Rod Gilchrist will make bids at Norfolk this weekend for the Midwest A.A.U. Boxing Championship. Winners at Norfolk go to Kansas City for a crack at our next Olympic team.

Vikes Grab First in Triangular Meet

Dana's Vikes grabbed first place in the Triangular meet held in Tekamah Friday the 21st of April with 87 2/5 points. Dana's 53.6 quarter mile by Paul Laursen and Fairbury's 21-foot 6-inch broad jump by Andrews were the two top performances of the day.

Midland Nine Bows to Vike, 6-2

The Dana baseball nine went on, after trailing Midland six innings, to win 6-2 with a three-run seventh inning assault, May 3, at Fremont.

Wilbur Clements and Harry Conklin led the Dana attack each getting a double and Kenny Christensen a single.

Bob Hansen went the route for Dana on the mound and Lemon relieved Berkey in the ninth for Midland.

This was the first win in five starts for the Vikes.

With Bob Hansen on the mound again for the Vikes, Luther College of Decorah, Iowa, turned back the home nine 8-6 after cooling the ninth inning rally by the Red and Whites. Bob managed to get 7 strikeouts before retiring in the fifth inning. Cal Jorgensen ably relieved him and went on to get 4 more strikeouts.

Governor Stresses Need for Responsible Christian Citizens

Gov. Val Petersen addressed the opening convocation of the annual meeting of the Nebraska Association of Church Colleges held here April 15. The governor was introduced by the Rev. R. E. Morton, retiring president of the Association.

Speaking to the 300 student and faculty delegates from Nebraska's twelve church colleges, he stressed the moral responsibility of Christian citizens to support and maintain good government in their communities and states. He pointed to the "political gangsters" in the local governments in Kansas City as an example of the "type of government which people deserve" who are not willing to take an active interest in the enforcement of the laws of the community.

A special responsibility rests with the church colleges, he said, in training effective Christian citizens who would act both individually and through their churches to keep government free from corruption and gang rule. Separation of church and state, although good in principle, should not be interpreted to mean that the church and Christians should not take an active part in maintaining clean government and enforcing all the laws which have been duly enacted.

He pointed out that in the recent anti-gambling drive initiated by former Attorney-general Andersen, the local citizens including church authorities and good church members, were particularly lax in supporting their local officials. The primary responsibility for law enforcement, he said, lies not with the state government or even the local government, but with each individual citizen.

Dana Students Tour Dana Alumni of Wash. County Hold Annual Business Meeting

The annual Pre-Med day was held at the University of Nebraska Medical School last Saturday. Tours of the school were conducted by medical students who explained the equipment and presented demonstrations. The use of radio active iodine and Geiger Counters to test for iodine absorption by the thyroid gland was of particular interest.

Approximately six carloads of interested Dana students visited the Omaha Medical School campus. Following the tours and a lecture concerning application for admission to the medical school the various fraternities served lunch to the students.

Dana students provided the program for the Washington County Dana alumni meeting in the Methodist Church basement, April 24. Accompanying Lois Petersen and Lloyd Bansen, vocal soloists, was Darlene Holm. Marilyn Steffensen accompanied Paul Jersild, violinist; the flute trio, Lois Petersen, Ruth Neve, and Mary Lou Nielsen; and John Lassen, soloist.

At this annual business meeting the Washington chapter adopted a constitution and held election of officers. The newly elected officers are: president, Ralph Hendriksen, Blair; vice-president, Mrs. Lydia Hofstrom, Blair; and secretary-treasurer, Sigrid Christensen, Blair. Also included in the meeting was a report by President R. E. Morton on the Dana College Foundation.

Prof. Jones Attends Sociological Society Annual Meet

(VH)—Mr. Robert Jones, professor of sociology, attended the annual meeting of the Midwest Sociological Society April 20-21 at the Hotel Paxton in Omaha. On Friday Morning there were lectures on various topics concerning research and social change.

One of the topics of particular interest to Mr. Jones was, "Determining Trends in Theological Thought; Some Findings and the Problem of Research Methodology." This was a survey made of some 500 pastors of all denominations in which each were asked fifty-six questions about doctrines. This survey, which took two and a half years, showed generally that the trend is toward conservatism, and that there is more agreement in everything among the conservatives.
