Baccalaureate, Graduation Services to Be Held May 25

Baccalaureate services for the Dana-Trinity graduates will be held in the auditorium Sunday, May 25, at 11 a.m. Rev. M. P. Bollesen, pastor at Audubon, Ia, will deliver the Baccalaureate address.

Speaker at the Commencement exercises to be held Sunday at 3 p.m. will be Dr. William P Hieronymus, president of Midland college, Fremont, Nebr.

The valedictory will be given by candidate-for-ordination Joe Andersen.

Following the graduation exercises, a Kaffeboard will be served at 5 p.m.

Senior music students will be featured in a recital Saturday evening, May 24, in the auditorium at 8 p.m. Participating in the recital are Lois Petersen, soprano; Clarice Sommers, soprano; John Lassen, tenor; and Juri Taht, cellist.

Some of the numbers included in the program are "To The Children" by Rachmaninoff sung by Lois; the aria, "O Don Fatale" sung by Clarice; "Vesti La Giubba" from Pagliacci sung by John; and "Concerto in D Minor" by Lalo played by Juri.

Dr. and Mrs. Morton will hold a tea for all college and seminary seniors at their home Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. The President's tea is held traditionally on the Sunday before Commencement.

Music Students to Present Recitals

Dana college students will present two recitals this Sunday, May 18. Three senior voice students, Clarice Sommers, Lois Petersen and John Lassen along with Ann Harms playing the clarinet will give a recital at Joslyn Memorial in Omaha in the afternoon.

Voice students will also present a program at Dana at 8 p.m. The evening program will include: Gaylan Hafer, basso; Joyce Petersen, soprano; John Bendorf, baritone; Don Olsen, baritone; Shirley Hansen, soprano; Marlene Kempf, mezzo soprano; Esther Lank, contralto; Kathleen Nielsen, mezzo contralto; Rodney Knudsen, tenor; Marilyn Jacobs, contralto; Shirley Andersen, soprano; Carl Pedersen, tenor; Marilyn Spanton, soprano; Margaret Christiansen, soprano and John Hansen, basso.

Clarice Sommers and Don Olsen will also sing a duet.

Improvements Scheduled for Summer

With work well under way on the painting of the Vet's apartments, Gay Carlsen and his summer crew consisting of John Hansen, Paul Nyholm and Floyd Petersen are planning work for this summer.

Both the men's and women's dorms will be painted on the outside. All the rooms in the women's dorm that were not wallpapered during Christmas vacation will be painted including the hallways. The showers in the women's dorm will also be repaired.

Liberal Education Defined

I believe a lot of us are not exactly clear in our thinking as to what a liberal education really is; yet a majority of the graduates who leave here claim to have such an education when they apply for a Bachelor of Arts degree (shortened from a Bachelor of Liberal Arts).

A liberal education does not consist of the massing together of a wide variety of facts. The studying is not spread so thin over such a wide field that the student "doesn't learn anything about anything" as has been criticized. There is specialization of some type, so each student must pick a major field. But a liberal education does not stop with this. Minds are stimulated, developed and broadened. The aims of a liberal education are not so much to teach the student "things" but rather it aims to teach the student to think, to recognize and to cope with the problems of life. It aims to mature religious thinking and to deepen beliefs.

The doctor's responsibilities do not end at the hospital door, nor do the teacher's responsibilities end at the classroom door. There are home, community and national responsibilities which each one of us must face, as well as moral and religious responsibilities. All of these are not only important to us as individuals, but to humanity in general.

Tomorrow, we, as the educated people of the world, will be expected to be able to discern the vital from the unimportant, to be able to find a reasonable answer to the pressing issues. If today we can train and develop our minds, tomorrow when responsibilities and decisions are thrown upon us, we will be of more use to ourselves and mankind.

A true liberal education not only prepares its student for a profession, but also prepares its students for life. Bruce Jensen

Senior Examines College For Fulfillment of Purposes

Four years ago the class of "52" entered Dana, and now they are on the threshold of entering the business world, teaching and other occupations. Let us examine ourselves and Dana. Have we done all that we could as individuals and as a class for our school? Has Dana given us what we were looking for when we decided to enter college? Has our Christianity been strengthened? Have we matured and developed during our four years at college?

Christian Answer To Education

The question as to what a student expects from a college education might result in a variety of answers, but there are a few basic questions which all of us want answered in our own minds before we can be satisfied with an education. These questions concern ourselves and the world in which we are living. How can man live in peace with his fellowmen, and what is his ultimate destiny?

As students attending a Christian college, we are receiving an education which has come out frankly with definite answers to these questions.

In contrast to the stand of the Christian college on these basic issues, the secular college and university have evaded them. Putting their faith in reason and the "objective" searching after knowledge, they have implicitly denied the limitations of man's reason and have constricted reality to the present, forgetting death and any thought of an eternal hereafter. Waving the banner of "progress" the idea has been inculcated in the mind of the student that the technological advances of our age will result in the ultimate solving of our problems.

Two world wars within a generation have dampened these ideas a bit, and yet today we still read the statement of a leading educator that man has simply overemphasized the physical

I believe that Dana should strive to raise everything to a high college caliber. A Christian college is a place where students go to develop intellectually, socially and spiritually.

The level of some classroom lectures can be raised. Lectures should be thought provoking and they should stimulate the student to search further by himself. The faculty should keep their teaching methods on a college level rather than stooping to high school methods in an attempt to make the students study their lessons. If the students are interested in getting an education, they will study. The students should be given more responsibility.

Much concern is shown by the faculty over the number of absences in classes. The way to cut down on absences is to make the lectures so vital to the course that the student will feel that he can't afford to miss them. Many students use their allotted number of absences, because they feel that they aren't missing much if they skip a lecture.

Dana is spreading its program in all directions in an attempt to lure students here. I believe that Christian education should be stressed foremost. Other schools can offer a better extra-curricular

Plans Considered For Memorial Fund

Plans are being completed for establishment of a memorial fund honoring Hal Cole, Peggy Kinion, Bonnie Dealy and Jean States.

Being considered at the present time is a recorded chime and amplifying system which would provide music and chimes whenever desired across the campus and in Pioneer Memorial.

Friends who would like to contribute to the fund are asked to send their gifts to Memorial Fund, Dana College, Blair, Nebr.

Another year has come and gone. As this last issue of the Hermes is put to bed, the editors breathe a final sigh of relief. It seems like yesterday that we wrote an article stating that it would only be with the help and encouragement of all that the Hermes could remain a weekly newspaper for the entire school year. Thus it has been.

Through the effort of a group of willing workers we were successful. We had our troubles—late stories, excuses, errors, etc.—but we managed to smile our way through all of these. It has been a real experience for all and especially to the editors. Certainly we wish to extend a hearty thanks that cannot adequately be expressed in words to everyone who contributed both physical and moral support.

We hope we have served a purpose during the past year and our efforts have not been in vain. Not always saying as much as we would like, we have attempted to be honest in what we did say. Also we were attempting this year to set a precedent which will be followed in the years to come.

As a weekly the Hermes can be only be a real newspaper.

As you will notice this issue is almost entirely a feature edition. We felt a challenge to examine Christian education, its failures and successes, as well as a thoughtful analysis of Dana. We hope that these articles will be studied in the light of being a helpful analysis.

We feel that Christian education today is facing a challenge. It is easy to state accomplishments in an ideal sense that Dana as a Christian institution might obtain. But does it? Are we really sending out students who for the most part make Christianity uppermost?

There are those who believe that the state institution can produce better Christian men and women with the aid of the LSA organization, than can the distinctly Christian institution. These believe that Christian beliefs become weak-kneed and lax in the atmosphere of a place like Dana.

If we do not agree with these ideas, Dana must prove that it does succeed.

by Merv

"Full Year Scheduled for Dana Students" read the first lead heading of this year's Hermes. True, it has been a full year for the seniors, juniors, sophomores, freshman and faculty.

Glancing farther down the line of Hermes editions nailed up in the office, events of the past year rapidly flash back.

As usual there was Homecoming, made better by the Vikings 21-6 victory over Friends university; the Christmas Banquet and a most successful May Fest.

Something new was added to Dana's extra-curricular program this year. The first full-scale musical, "The Mikado," was given by the junior class and the music department. The production ushered in a new medium of building good-will—a television appearance by leads of the cast.

Revival of the Male Glee club also occurred this year. Under the direction of Don Olsen, 16 men who sing because they like to sing, presented a full home concert, several local programs and appeared over KMTV Omaha.

Oh, everything wasn't extra-curricular. There were lectures, tests, tests and more tests.

One of next year's top athletic prospects was on the campus the first of this week, Jim Thomsen, Denmark, Wis., a brother of Mark Thomsen. Jim, outstanding in football, basketball and track, should bolster next year's athletic program.

Well, this is so long, until we meet next fall.

Put on the Bond of Love

We will soon be heading down Dana Hill and spreading out into the various parts of the United States to our homes and places of employment. And as we wonder about the year that has nearly passed, we can think of many new friends we've made and also new experiences and influences that will help us to carry on our lives more successfully. This year, like each year before it, has held its joys and sorrows, its headaches and pleasures, but it has also, I believe, been another splendid opportunity for each one of us to learn about Christ and our proper position and purpose in life.

We have shared many new experiences with each other and we have learned much from our contacts with one another. We have influenced and been influenced in the college "bull sessions." We have had our differences of opinions and ideals. We have criticized and been criticized for our various actions. And perhaps we have learned to realize that there is a certain amount of truth in the statement, "There is none more critical than a college student." But through this year we should have learned to follow our Master's voice more closely. We have been reminded of His way of life during the various chapel services and devotional meetings. He has come near to us and has spoken to us in many different ways and at various times, and if we have been receptive, we have learned more about our Lord.

And, as we prepare to leave Dana this spring, I believe that we have a very important word of advice found in Cor. 3:14; "And above all these things put on love, which is the bond of perfectness." Of all our new experiences and advancements, I believe that these few words sum up the importance of our lives. For the more we learn to love our Lord and our fellowmen, the richer and fuller our lives will become. —Walt Kirkegaard sciences and must now return to the social sciences, the knowledge gained thereby resulting in the control of his destructive weapons and the emergence of peace on earth and good will among men. Such a solution to the problem is about as realistic as going lion-hunting armed with a pea shooter.

Certainly the Christian answer to the plight of man is most profound. It realizes that the trouble comes from within man himself and is an expression of his defiance toward his Creator. Man's relationship with God determines his relationship with his fellowmen, and only when he is in the right relationship with God will be in the right relationship with man.

It is a question whether our educational system with its emphasis upon reason and the scientific method will readily admit its limitations and confess its helplessness in providing the answers to the basic issues which confront us concerning man and his destiny. The Christian college of today must be a trumpet, sounding forth loud and forcefully the message of eternal truth—the truth which makes men free. The vantage point of faith is needed for man to realize that life is not a problem to be solved but a pilgrimage on the way to eternity. The answer is found not in his own strength but in his dependence upon God.

—Paul Jersild

Letters to Editor

Dear Editor:

We wish to express our appreciation for all the tokens of sympathy—food, cards, flowers and gifts—extended to us by the college and seminary students and faculty at the time of the death of our little son. A special thank you to the seminary quartet for their selections at the funeral. What a joy to live among friends like you at a time like this!

Holger and Beulah Nielsen

Individual Must

Make His Christianity Vital

Many students have become very concerned about the religious life here at Dana. We certainly have the opportunity for a strong spiritual life, but why aren't we making use of our opportunity? Why is chapel attendance so poor? Why don't we get into more real discussions among ourselves on Christian problems? Why do we ignore and all but approve the kind of talk and actions on our campus that aren't in line with our standards? Why do we hesitate to form any definite standards of Christian conduct?

I believe our religious life can be considerably strengthened. In the first place, it seems to me that we must make certain that all incoming students know and realize what our standards are. Then when the students arrive it is up to the upperclassmen to set an example of Christian living to show the freshmen what our attitudes are. Another very important thing is to give the students a chance to express their Christianity in talks and discussions. We have a tendency here to let the same people do too many things and not give others a chance. In the two years that I have been at Dana, just for an example, I have not had one chance to talk or be on a discussion panel. There are many students who were active Luther Leaguers, but who we never hear from. Students don't remain interested in things where they don't have a chance to actively contribute. Furthermore, we grow through expression.

Finally, and probably most important, it's up to each individual Christian here to make his own

Athletes Receive Awards at Banquet

Comradeship, courage, code and coaching are the four "C's" that make up a top athlete was the remark by Glen Trump, Nebraska college sports editor of the Omaha World-Herald, at his speech made at the annual All-sports banquet in the dining hall, Tuesday evening.

In addition to Mr. Trump's speech, the banquet included addresses by Dr. R. E. Morton; athletic director, Paul Peterson; and football coach, Keith Skogman. Toastmaster for the event was Leonard Jackson.

Chairman of the faculty committee on athletics, A. J. Snowbeck made the presentation of special awards to the Dana athletes of the 1951-52 school year. He presented the honor athlete of the year award to sophomore, Neil Moore. Moore lettered in football and track the past year and made an outstanding showing in Golden Gloves boxing competition the past year.

Four year letter winner awards in the form of Dana blankets were awarded to Leonard Jackson, four years in football; Bob Nelson and Harold McKercher, four years basketball; and Kenneth L. Christensen, four years in basketball and baseball.

Joyce Hayek, president of WAA, made the presentation of awards to the members of the association which she heads.

Conference Meet To Be in Omaha

Dana travels to Omaha university Saturday to compete in the Church College conference track meet. Other conference members besides the Vikings are Tarkio, York and Concordia. Of the Nebraska teams entered, Concordia is given a slight edge. Little is known about Tarkio, who participates in meets mostly around eastern Missouri.

York appears weak in both the track and field events. Only their 880 relay team and Bob Miller, a 440 man, pose any sort of a threat. Coach Mark Haight's cinder crew has suffered a humiliating defeat at the hands of Wayne State Teachers and only last week placed a poor last in the Hastings triangular.

The Concordia Bulldogs loom as definite threats in the distance events. Their miler and two miler are reported to be swift. Carl Everts bolsters the squad in the field events, standing out in the shot. They have more depth than either Dana or York, and therefore, are conceded an advantage.

Lack of depth will again hurt the Vikings, who have succeeded only in taking a number of thirds and one second. Bright spots among the cindermen are Neil Moore and Mark Thomsen. Neil has consistently placed in the low and high hurdles. Mark runs the 100 and 220 and must be counted as one of the favorites in his special events. Neil captured a first, two seconds and a fourth in last week's triangular. He stands out as one of the favorites in his special events.

Meet Dana's Minor Sports Teams

For the first time in a number of years Dana has teams in golf and tennis. The linksters and racketmen have been making some fine showings this spring and we of the staff feel that it would be a good idea to let you, the readers, know something about these teams, and above all about the players in these sports. The conference meets for both these sports will be held on Friday, May 16.

Golfers representing Dana will be Charlie Pedersen, Boyd Nelson, Dick Jacobsen and Tom Nelson.

Charlie is a sophomore from Blair. He is noted for his long-driving ability. It is not unusual to see Charlie drive over 250 yards. In the two meets in which he has participated this year, he slammed his way to victory over a Wesleyan opponent and was able to gain a point against Concordia's strong first man by throwing a couple of birdies at him on the second nine. A wrist injury prevented his playing against Creighton.

Boyd, better known as Pep, is a junior from Wauwatosa, Wis. Pep, like Charlie, is a long-ball hitter. He's been playing golf for six years now and expects to be in top shape for the conference meet. He has won from both his Creighton and Concordia opponents.

Jake is a senior from Racine, Wis. He has had much previous golf experience and is expected to be a big help in the conference meet. He has scored victories in both the Wesleyan and Concordia meets.

Tom, a sophomore, is Pep's younger brother. He has also been playing golf for six years. Tom carded the best score of the Vikings for the year against Creighton, but was still defeated. He has won both of his other matches.

The tennis team is made up by Russ Eckert, Steve Sutton, Leon Piphoo, Paul Nyholm and Tom Nelson.

Dana Thinclads Score Second in Triangular

Copping 11 out of 15 events, Hastings College tallied 96% points to win the triangular track meet held there last Saturday. Dana placed second with 41 1/2 points and York came in last with 23.

Neil Moore led the Viking tracksters with 12 points. A first in the 220 yd. low hurdles, two seconds in the 120 yd. high hurdles and the 220 yd. dash and a fourth in the century event brought him the honors. His times included 26.4 in the lows and 16.01 in the highs. He ran behind Corder of Hastings in the 220 dash, the time for the first being 24.1.

Tug Allen took a first in the shot put with a heave of 39 ft. 1 3/4 in. He also got a second in the discus, tossing it 116 ft. 7 in.

Seconds in the 440 and 880 were hung up by Gerhardt Mengers and Bob Coffey respectively. They also recorded fourths, Coffey in the mile and Mengers in the 880.

A three-way tie for first place in the high jump resulted when Wilbur Layman of the Vikings and LeRoy Rudd and Ron Zook of Hastings failed to top 5 ft. 6 in. Layman leaped 19 ft. 3 3/4 in. to place third in the broad jump. Other Vikings who scored points were Olie Ahlquist with a second in the pole vault and Jack Allen with thirds in the 100 and 220.

The winners of the other events were:

Mile—Bob Hoffarber, Hastings, 4:48.2
440—Bob Miller, York, 55.9
High hurdles—Church Cookston, Hastings, 15.5
100—Charles Corder, Hastings, 10.4
880—Hoffarber, 2:09.4
Two-mile—Vern McAleer, Hastings, 11:04.6
220—Corder, 24.1
Pole Vault—Cookston, 11-5
Javelin—Don McKenzie, Hastings, 163-7
Discus—McKenzie, 125-8
880 relay—Hastings, 1:36.9

Russ, from Racine, Wis. is now in his first year in seminary and is player-coach. He will be unable to play in the conference meet since he is in the seminary. Russ is the strongest volleying player on the team. All his singles and doubles matches this season have gone three sets. He has two victories to his credit.

Steve is a freshman from Blair. He has the best serve of anyone on the Viking team. Although only a freshman, he has had much previous experience and seems to be Dana's chief hope in the conference meet.

Leon is also a freshman and comes from Cedar Falls, Iowa. Leon also has a strong serve and is quite experienced.

Paul is a junior from Blair. He is also an experienced player. Paul shows a strong backhand.

Tom plays on the tennis team as well as on the golf team. He showed in his victory over a Tarkio opponent last week that he is a player who likes to charge the net.

lar program and a better educational program; therefore, we should stress Christian education. Religion should be emphasized because our school was founded on Christian principles and should continue on Christian principles. Keep high Christian principles and develop a strong educational program and students will be drawn to Dana because of what the school has to offer.

At times it seems that students receive marks which are higher than they deserve. Is the school letting some students remain in school even though they are capable of doing college work simply because of the money which it receives from them? The courses in all the departments should be kept on a college level and not adjusted for students who are not capable of college work.

There is a lack of maturity in the student body, which is probably because of the influence of the large number of freshmen and sophomores. Instead of the upperclassmen drawing these students to a higher level, the upperclassmen drop to the level of the freshmen and sophomores. College is more than a playground.

Many students show a lack of interest in Christianity. They are not interested in their religion and its beliefs. A Christian college is the place to develop spiritually; the time to seek the "meat" of Christianity and not just be satisfied with the "milk."

I haven't said these things merely to be critical about Dana, because I am interested in Dana and its future and these are important matters if Dana is to develop. Maybe we are wasting too much energy trying to add new things to our school in order to get more students when we should strengthen those that we have. A small Christian college can offer something to a student which larger schools do not have. For the sound future of Dana let us keep Christian education always first.

Make Christianity Vital

Christianity something vital, to take time for meditation and self-examination. We must set standards for our lives and refuse to compromise. We must be a living example to those who are not Christians. Christ expects much of us, for we have all had great opportunities. He has said in one of His parables, "And that servant who knew his master's will, but did not make ready or act according to his will, shall receive a severe beating. But he who did not know, and did what deserved a beating, shall receive a light beating. Everyone to whom much is given, of him will be much required . . ."
