Student Council Completes Groundwork for Activities

Looking ahead to a full year of activity and projects, the student council has during the past two months completed the first groundwork.

In the near future the memorial chimes system will be installed and echo its music across the campus. This will be the fulfillment of the dreams and efforts of many past and present Dana students.

Under the leadership of Don Olsen and Shirley Andersen, plans are being made for an exchange program which will be presented to other neighboring colleges next spring. It is expected that this program will center around the Male chorus.

The student lounge will receive a complete revamping with the completion of painting, hanging of pictures, and addition of several other items, such as a T.V. stand and waste receptacles. Bill Bennett is in charge of this work.

Work on an entrance marker is being continued. This is a project begun last spring but never completed. Dave Nuland and several others are working on plans to be presented to the student body in the future.

The servicemen's committee of the student council is now compiling a list of addresses of Dana servicemen and expects to mail the first letter and material soon.

Another project being carried on by the student council is the establishment of a complete record and filing system, something which the council has never had before. A record of all activities is made with an analysis and suggestions for the future accompanying them.

The first week of December will mark the launching on a trial basis of a campus paper which will be published a few times a week and will carry notices, announcements and other campus information. It will also cover the national and world news events in short summary statements. The need for students to keep up on current affairs has long been felt, and it is hoped that this paper will help fulfill this need. This paper will not replace the Hermes but will only supplement it.

WAA Discloses Banquet Theme

The annual Christmas banquet, again sponsored by the WAA, will be held Dec. 14 at 5 p.m. in the evening. The banquet will be informal and have for its theme, "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

"Littlest Angel" highlighted the annual Christmas banquet last year. Group singing of favorite carols helped put the appreciative audience in the holiday spirit.

The banquet will open the evening of entertainment, followed by the annual production of Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

Movie Changed Due to Conflict

Because of a conflict, another selected historical movie, "Howards of Virginia," will be shown Friday evening, Nov. 21, at 7:30 in PM chapel in place of "Captain Kidd."

Based on the Literary Guild selection book, "The Tree of Liberty," "Howards of Virginia" shows all of the tradition and fervor of the Revolutionary period of American history in Colonial Virginia.

A story of the time of Washington, the film centers around Matt Howard. Thomas Jefferson, his friend, prevails on him to seek election to the House of Burgesses. The film follows Howard's career in the Continental army to the surrender at Yorktown.

Actors are Cary Grant, Martha Scott, Richard Carlson and Alan Marshall.

Student's Poem To be Published

Appearing in the latest edition of the Annual Anthology of College Poetry will be the poem, "Shock," which was submitted by Gunnar Mengers of Dana college.

Each year thousands of poems, written by college men and women representing every section of the country, are submitted to the National Poetry association. Only a relatively few poems are selected for publication, these being the finest in the opinion of the association. Gunnar's poem was one of those selected.

Male Group Makes Chapel Improvements

One of the projects of the Men's Christian Fellowship organization has been the improvement of facilities in the Old Main chapel. As a result of a previous Hermes news story in this connection, the Bethany Lutheran church of Ord, Nebr., contacted the group and offered as a gift altar furnishings which they no longer needed.

The offer was accepted and the furnishings were secured several weeks ago. As yet, only the altar is in use in the chapel; however,

Council Members, Committee To be Elected by Students

With the 1952 Homecoming celebration just one month past, the nominations committee met recently to select candidates for election to the 1953 Homecoming committee. Voting on the nominees will be held Friday, Nov. 21.

Nominated for Homecoming chairman are Arne Jessen and Al Hansen. In the vice-chairman position are Joan Nelson and Vern Svendsen.

Nominees for housing chairman are Jim Nelson and Carl Nielsen, while Marge Poh and Dan Hansen are in the banquet chairman spot. Program chairman will be either Peter Mathiasen or Gordon Christiansen, and Donovan Olson and Phil Pagel will compete for publicity chairman.

Nominated for pep chairman are Margaret Eriksen and Edna Skobo. Decorations will be handled by Dorothy Landbo or Ann Harms, and the work of clean-up will go to Gunnar Mengers or Kenneth Ostergaard.

The committee is expected to begin meeting shortly after the election to make early plans and to engage a speaker for the banquet.

Nominations for Fine Arts director of the student council were also completed with Joyce Petersen and Dagmar Steffensen named as candidates. This is to fill the position which was vacated when the student elected last year did not return. This election will also be held Nov. 21.

Philosophy Club Formed on Campus

For the first time in the history of Dana a philosophy club has been organized on the campus called the Alpha Zeta.

The officers are Phil Kaldahl, president, and Vern Simonsen, secretary. The purpose of the club is to be truth seekers, seeking the truth wherever they may find it in the spiritual and physical world.

Plans are being made to contact some eminent philosopher to speak to the club in the near future. Alpha Zeta is open to all and everybody is invited to attend the meetings. The next meeting will be announced soon.

Club to Present Christmas Carol

On Sunday, Dec. 14, the History club will give its annual presentation of Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

The complete cast has not yet been announced by the History club, but it will undoubtedly again include Phil Kaldahl admirably cast as Scrooge.

"A Christmas Carol" is perhaps the most familiar of the works of Charles Dickens. It relates the story of how Ebenezer Scrooge, a miserly old wretch, is shown the true nature of a joyful Christmas by three specters, representing Past Christmases, the Present Christmas and Future Christmases.

The first specter shows Scrooge his own youth and how he was embittered against Christmas. The second specter shows him how the Bob Cratchits are spending Christmas happily in their humble home, and the third specter reveals a glimpse of the future, in which Scrooge sees his clerk, Bob Cratchit, mourning over the grave of Tiny Tim, his crippled son, who would have lived had he but had the help which a man of Scrooge's resources was capable of offering.

Scrooge finally renounces his mercenary ways and thenceforth strives to live up to the spirit of Christmas as fully as he can.

Now Thank We All Our God

In a few days we will be observing Thanksgiving. We indeed have much for which we should be thankful. To a Christian the greatest and foremost gift for which he should be thankful to God is salvation through faith in Jesus Christ.

However, there are many more gifts which God has bestowed upon us for which we should be thankful. Among these gifts are a country in which we can believe and worship God with a great deal of freedom, a country which does not suppress our freedom of thought, Christian parents, opportunities to gain an education and a bountiful harvest.

But let us not forget as we observe Thanksgiving by worshipping God in His House and in our homes that we are God's stewards and have certain obligations to Him and our fellow men. Let us not forget as we partake in our Thanksgiving dinner our less fortunate brethren. We, as stewards of God, have an obligation to these less fortunate neighbors. We are not only obligated to bring to these people the good news of God's plan of salvation, but also to share with them our many blessings.

Let us not forget as we worship on Thanksgiving day to pray to God for Divine guidance so that we may render a favorable stewardship.

On Tour with the Choir

With the Dana
College Choir Tour
Sidney, Montana
Nov. 15, 1952

Hi, Kids!

We're in Sidney, Montana now, and we'll give our concert at 8 p.m. tomorrow night in the high school.

We came to Sidney at 5:45 tonite, and ate a wonderful dinner at their new church. They served us big slices of ham (and was it tender!), baked potatoes, fresh frozen peas, baked squash, a carrot salad and rolls with butter. Last night in Jean, South Dakota, we didn't do so bad either. We had all the fried chicken, mashed potatoes, gravy, corn and salad we could eat, and we really went to it. Anyone on tour who doesn't gain about 20 pounds must be sick. I wish you could have been there eating with us, those meals were really terrific!

There's never a dull moment on the busses either. The fellows and girls who hope to sleep sit in the front of the bus, but the rest congregate in the back and sing for hours. We really get good harmony, too, and we sing everything from popular music to songs we learned at Bible camp. When everyone gets tired of singing, they begin telling stories and riddles that are fun to figure out. Gradually the singing and story-telling die down and kids in the back take time to go to sleep. It's then that Paul Jersild and Kenny Ostergaard creep up with their cameras to take pictures of the sleeping beauties(?). We'll all be pretty anxious to see those pictures.

The views out the windows of the bus get pretty monotonous at times. Some of the land was level for miles and there were so few trees, but as we got into North Dakota we saw some of the hilliest looking hills sticking up out of the fairly level land. It seems pretty impossible to think that anyone could make a living farming that country, but they try, and most all of them succeed.

We saw the Badlands this afternoon at about 3 p.m. and the busses stopped at an observation point. They are really breath-taking and almost beyond description. We could see them for miles as we drove on, and it was really a thrill to see them.

It was pretty exciting to leave Dana last Thursday on this tour that will take us into country that few of us have seen before. At Sioux City, Iowa, where we had a "rest-stop" our bus load of kids ate the remaining half of a 5-pound box of candy, a going-away gift from Dr. Logan. Was it good! I guess we should go away more often!

We have really had nice homes to stay at, and our hosts and hostesses have just been wonderful. They've really gone out of their way to make us comfortable and at ease. If the rest of them on the tour will be as the ones we have had so far, it will really be amazing.

It's really inspirational to present the concerts for those who come to hear us. They are very responsive and they appreciate hearing the music. With such an audience, everyone really puts his heart into the singing.

Well, we'll be back at Dana in another two weeks, and we'll see you all then. Wish you were here, too.

Sincerely,

Joan

As We Forgive

Lyle Kohler

Seldom does a single day go by at Dana in which these words are not spoken either at our chapel service in the morning or at our evening devotions. Also in our individual private devotions these well-known words from the Lord's Prayer are often uttered. But the really sad situation is how often and how many of us really stop to realize what we are saying and what we mean? We are all so guilty of the indictment of Jesus when he says, "By their mouths do they honor me, but their hearts are far from me."

I think too many times we fail to realize the real meaning in these words "... as we forgive." Don't we expect, yes, even know, that when we pray these words sincerely, God does forgive us our sins?

We forget that we are making a two-way proposition with God. For herein we also promise God to forgive those who sin against us. Thus when we fail to do this, by holding a grudge against someone, which, of course, we always feel is justified, aren't we in effect limiting God? For in holding a grudge we are not carrying out our obligation to God. Is it not selfish, even hypocritical, to ask God to forgive us?

What then is our answer? For the truly contrite Christian, it can only be, just as Jesus instructed Peter, to forgive not once or twice but seventy times seven. And how often the softly spoken word, not of bitterness or deceit, but a word of genuine love and consideration to our would-be enemy, accomplishes immeasurably greater benefits. Certainly, we are not living in a utopia and each of us is going to be challenged to withstand our temptations to spout off, but let's really give it a serious try!

Thoughts of a Gobbler

Well, here he comes again—more corn. I've had enough in the last few weeks to feed a half dozen of my kind, and that look in his eye—when he looks at my drumsticks, he fairly licks his chops. I guess all boys his age eat a lot.

Then there is little brother. Aha! He has a wistful look in his eye—h'm, maybe if I were to gobble to him rather plaintively and look very sad he might exert some influence toward the prevention of my decapitation. After all, he is the only one I haven't tried to pick to pieces. But then he doesn't throw much weight around here. I guess I'm as good as roasted.

Over by the house I can see the head of the family. He isn't so young anymore, but he works

Two comments shall suffice in replying to the letter, "Three Sent's Worth." First, we are assured that at least two people read our last letter; and secondly, we question the idea that someone who does not accept wholeheartedly all new fashions is a rigid, narrow-minded conventionalist. We agree that it is "three cent's worth" of reasoning to debate continuation of this fad, but here we desire to put forth one interrogative statement. Is it necessary to wear fire engine red "woolies" to keep one's legs warm?

The remaining portion of our letter is written upon request of several students, and may not necessarily be our opinion. It has been suggested that a question be placed on the application form to

Alumni to Furnish First Competition for Dana Team

Two Alumni squads—one composed of older stars and the other made up of recent graduates—provide opposition for the Viking cagers Saturday night. The preliminary contest will pit the younger alumni against the varsity and in the main encounter the “oldsters” run up against the B squad.

Included among the Viking stars of yesteryear are: Charles Gaydou, Marcus Beck, Harold Hancock, Willard Petersen, Merton Jensen, Stanley Jensen, Ed Huuls, Stan Larsen, Monroe Bixler, Lewis Patrick, Phil Magnussen, Harold Qualsett, Elmer Hansen, Paul Petersen, Homer Nielsen, Gene Mergue and Bob Hogzett. The game will be played under rules which governed play then. Quite a contrast from present-day regulation, they include the center jump after each field goal. With the exception of shortened quarters, it will be a regulation game.

Four of last year's standouts are listed among the junior alumni. They are: Harold McKercher, Bob Nelson, Lloyd Lorensen, and “Little” Kenny Christensen. Others are: Dean Madsen, Jim Youmans, Bud Robinson and Lyle Morgensen. Most of these former cagers were on the NIAA championship teams of 1948-49 and 1949-50.

Vikings to Play Three Road Games

Three road games go to make up the holiday activity for the Viking cagers. Friday, Nov. 28, the Red and White travels to Pella, Iowa, to meet Central in the first known meeting of the two squads. The next day they go to Oskaloosa to battle William Penn that same evening. Then on Tuesday, Dec. 2, Dana meets Nebraska Wesleyan university on the latter's home floor.

Against William Penn, the Vikes will again contend with Ray Hammersley and Don Oxenreider, both of whom were scoring menaces in the two games last year. The Quakers lack height, but are fast and occasionally use a pressing defense.

Nebraska Wesleyan, victors over Dana last season, by a score of 54-39, is led by Don Boldebuck, 6' 10" sophomore center who dumped 16 points in the first annual meeting. Other offensive leaders for the Plainsmen are Jack Woods, a graduate of Lincoln Northeast and an all-stater in high school, and Burl Kreps.

Dana, on the other hand, has suffered heavily from graduation and transfers, with the result that only two lettermen, ‘Frannie’ Morrow and Vordyn Nelson, and Charles Andersen, who joined the squad towards the close of last season, are back. A large part of the team is comprised of freshmen.

Intramurals Begin, Seagrams And Phantom Eight Visitors

In intramural games played last Tuesday, the Seagrams Seven-One edged the All-Stars 41-35 and the Phantom Eight breezed past the Bachelors by a count of 49-31. This opened the season for the intramural setup.

Gunnar Nyholm with 17 points sparked the Seagrams Seven-One to their victory over the All-Stars, who were led by John Williams and Henry Rosenthal with nine points each. The score was knotted several times early in the contest and once the All-Stars momentarily went ahead. But the winners quickly regained the lead and led throughout the rest of the game.

Fouling was heavy with one of the victors sitting out the remaining minutes. One of the losers and two of the Seagrams squad collected four personals apiece.

Scoring 10 points to their opponent's three in the second quarter, the Phantom crew led 22-12 at the end of the half. The final two periods saw them increase their margin to grab their first win of the season.

Harold Laursen with 14 and Frank Wittig with 12 counters were high point men for the Bachelors, while scoring for the victors was well distributed. Dave Lindholm rippled the cords for 13 markers to head the Phantom point getters, followed by Neil Christensen, Diz Olson and Gunnar Mengers with 12, 11 and 10 points respectively.

Quarter scores were:

Phantom Eight	12	22	38	49
Bachelors	9	12	24	31

Action resumes in the league tonight with a total of three games scheduled. At 6:30 the Globetrotters tangle with Little A.J.'s, the Nebmichwises take on the Kline House Five-3 at 7:30 and the final tilt finds the Seminary squad, pre-season favorites, pitted against the Blanks.

On the Rebound with Diz

Cougars loom as threat . . .

With five veterans back from last season, Concordia Teachers shapes up a strong threat to the CCCC basketball championship, which was grabbed last year by Tarkio. Coach Luther Schwich of the Bulldogs should have little trouble in choosing his starting five from among; Omar Dittmer, Carl Everts, Rollin Cattau, Weldon Endorf, Larry Keiser, and Bernie Kluge, 6' 4" newcomer who is bidding for the center position left open by the graduation last spring of Del Meyer.

Meyer was the offensive star of the Bulldogs, and the entire scoring attack was built around him. As a result, the team was unbalanced offensively. It is this which resulted in their two defeats to the Vikings last season. However, the presence of Kluge and the five veterans should give Concordia a better-balanced squad this campaign.

Owls out for repeat . . .

Led by 6' 8" John Sinclair, the Owls are looking for their second consecutive conference title. Chuck Davis and Bob Dodge, both back for another campaign, will help form the nucleus of the squad, together with Sinclair and three sophomores from last year's starting lineup.

Tarkio will again boast depth, due to the large number of sophomores. Thus, it looks as if Neil Gates should have no trouble coaching the Owls to another title.

ON THE SPOT . . .

“Basketball players of today are generally more versatile and skillful, and because of these factors they are better able to adjust to the varied game situations.” This was the conclusion reached by Homer Nielsen, director of public relations, when asked his opinion of present day basketeers. Reluctant to make a comparison between former and present-day Dana teams, because of the differences in the type of game played then and now, he did say that the game is faster and more complicated today, because of changes in the rules, and because of de-emphasis on ball control.

A stellar guard, Homer started every game during his four years on the team, from 1937-41. Among his teammates were: Coach “Pete”, Monroe Bixler, recently elected to the Nebraska state legislature; Lewis Patrick; Robert Jensen; Elmer Hansen; and Robert Hagzett.

Competition, he said, was perhaps just as tough, with such foes as Creighton U., Omaha U., and Nebraska “B”, but the schedule was shorter, with perhaps an average of 12-15 games.

In closing the interview, he requested we all remember that those men wearing the red and white are our representatives and deserve all our support, win or lose. They'll work harder to win for us if we work harder in giving support to them.

Four Vikes on All-Conference

Position	Name	School	Class	Weight	Height
End	Vance Hinrichs	Concordia	Sr.	5'10"	180
	Paul Koehnke	Concordia	Sr.	6'2"	166
Tackle	Vordyn Nelson	Dana	Soph.	6'2"	190
	Gene Oetting	Concordia	Jr.	6'1"	215
Guard	Vaughn Christensen	Dana	Sr.	6'	160
	Frank Withrow	Tarkio	Jr.	5'9"	159
Center	Floyd Duesing	Concordia	Sr.	6'	193
Backs	Bob Bacon	Tarkio	Soph.	5'7"	145
	Omar Dittmer	Concordia	Jr.	5'9"	156
	Marion Hudson	Dana	Fresh.	6'	184
	Neil Moore	Dana	Jr.	6'1"	175

Gene Oetting and Neil Moore are the only repeaters from last fall's mythical squad. Oetting, who missed the championship game because of an injury, and Moore, who led the Vikes offensively this season, are both juniors and thus are almost certain of setting an enviable record next year for selections on an all-conference team.

Hinrichs was given a berth as end, although he played tackle during the season. His selection enabled the Bulldogs to place five men on the squad, closely followed by Dana with four.

Buffet to Speak At History Club

Howard Buffett, recently a national congressman from this district, will speak at Dana college on Dec. 4, in the women's reception room at 7:30 p.m. This is sponsored by the History club. The topic of his speech will be "The Future After the Election."

Mr. Buffett was born and has made his home in Omaha. He has been a member of the 78th, 80th and the 82nd Congresses.

The program will consist of musical numbers and a discussion. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Student Council

These are but a few of the ways in which the student council is serving Dana students. It is not always easy to see tangible results in all the council efforts, because much of the work is behind the scenes.

The council gladly welcomes ideas, suggestions and gripes, because it is the council's total purpose to serve Dana students in whatever way it can.

Dana college reading as follows: In attending Dana college, is your prime objective matrimony? This would certainly facilitate the dating problem and release some frustrations in both dormitories.

With this preliminary knowledge, it would be possible to arrange a competent marriage bureau; however, we could not advocate such a radical program. Nevertheless, we wish to point out that the present dating tradition revolves on peculiar principles and appears quite discriminating. These questions are asked: Should the one date necessarily institute a "hands-off" signal as is the Dana tradition from the men's point of view? Should a gentleman be ostracized from the feminine world because he desires to have several dating friends at the same time? Is variety undesirable?

Answers to these questions are to be addressed to the Hermes.
