Teams Give Programs In Iowa and Nebraska

Deputation teams from Dana have recently taken part in programs at Shelby and Atlantic, Iowa, and at Plainview and Staplehurst, Nebraska.

These teams, which provide programs for churches upon request, are designed to bring Dana to congregations and to acquaint Dana students with various church functions.

Rev. C. M. Videbeck's church at Atlantic, Iowa, was visited by a deputation team on Sunday, October 25, for "Our Mission Night."

The team was composed of a quartet which included LeVerne Nielsen, Ann Jessen, Elna Nielsen, and Peter Mathiasen who also spoke. Eileen Larsen served as accompanist. Of interest to Dana students is the fact that Kathy Nielsen, a former Dana student, is parish assistant in the Atlantic congregation.

Three Teams Tour

Three teams went out on Sunday, November 1. The first of these teams went to Shelby, Iowa, where Rev. Stanley Carlsen is pastor. Elmer Petersen was the speaker for the family fellowship meeting which also included songs by a quartet of Elmer Petersen, Arne Jessen, Mocky Eriksen and Marilyn Anderson. Pat Petersen was pianist for this meeting.

Mrs. Rasmussen's home town, Plainview, Nebraska, where there are two churches served by Rev. Virgil Anderson, had a deputation team at a morning church service and at afternoon and evening meetings on November 1. Speaker for these meetings was Bob Hemmingson. Loren Hagen, Ron Pilegard, Dottie Jensen and Janet Rasmussen composed the quartet sent to Plainview as part of the team.

Films Featured

An extra feature, a film of Dana and a religious film, was added to the program presented at Rev. Ingvard Andersen's church in Staplehurst, Nebraska. An afternoon program was presented as well as a church service in the morning. Bette Miller was accompanist for the quartet composed of Nadine Johnson, Margie Baxter, Dick Jensen and Ralph Spear. An address was presented by Ralph Spear.

Plans for a future engagement of a deputation team are being made. The church is the Boomer (Continued on page 4)

Presenting the theme "Preparation for Penetration" the Fall Midwest Regional Conference will get underway tonight at Lincoln. The three day affair will emphasize such things as personal devotions, Bible study, L.S.A. and LSAction. The conference also includes the regional L.S.A. business meeting where matters such as budgets, aims and officers for the year are established. Time will be allotted for fellowship and recreation.

Delegates Attend

Each school in the region is expected to send two official delegates to the meeting, one being the local president. Representing Dana at the conference are: Mary Jacobsen, Pat Beck, Ada Andersen, Pat Petersen, Doris Jacob and Joanne Jersild.

The program gets underway tonight at a social mixer at 7:30. This will be followed by the vesper service and keynote address. Saturday morning will feature matins by Kansas University representatives and Bible study groups. The K. U. group will stress personal devotions. Saturday afternoon will be taken up with the business meeting. At 6:00 Saturday evening the banquet will be held.

Entertainment will be supplied by groups of Kansas representatives presenting a skit and the latter schools providing special music. The installation of officers will be held immediately following the banquet. Bible study groups will meet Sunday morning preceding the church service.

Male Glee Club Prepares to Tour

Director Don Olsen plans to take the male glee club on tour again this year, probably in April. Again the glee club's program will be split into religious and secular portions, centering around a long modern oratorio by Randall Thompson entitled "Testament of Freedom." It is based upon selections from the writings of Thomas Jefferson.

Ten new members bring the glee club to a total of sixteen, with Arne Jessen, Jon Petersen, Marion Hudson, Ken Fehl, Galen Hafar and Gordon Christiansen returning from last year's aggregation. The new members are Dick Jensen, Duane Spong, Bill Ingle, Elmer Petersen, Phil Pagel, Russ Moseman, Jack Phillips, Derol Hafar, Ron Pilegard and John Hansen.

An effort will be made this year to try and sing in more of the Omaha high schools, and to branch out into more of the U. E. L. C. churches in Iowa.

Choir to Tour West Coast

The Dana College Choir leaves on its annual tour Friday, November 27. This year the choir will make a swing through the Northwest, returning non-stop from Portland, Oregon, and arriving back at Dana the Tuesday or Wednesday immediately preceding the start of Christmas vacation.

Three-Part Program

The choir's program this year is divided into three groups. The second group is composed entirely of Christmas selections from various countries. Nations represented include Denmark, France, England, Spain and Germany.

Other selections in the repertoire of the choir are Liszt's "Benedictus," "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us," a Bach motet, "For All the Saints," "Beatitudes" and "Onward, Christian Soldiers." The only number which is a repeat from last year's program is "Peace," an original composition by Mr. Neve.

The choir's itinerary:

- Friday, Nov. 27—Minden, Nebr. (evening)
- Sunday, Nov. 29—Brush, Colo. (afternoon)
- Denver, Colo. (evening)
- Tuesday, Dec. 1—Norwalk, Calif. (evening)

Neve to Attend New York School

Dana College music department will undergo a temporary change next semester when the choir director, Prof. Paul Neve, will make use of the sabbatical leave of absence granted him to continue his graduate work in the field of sacred music. Mr. Neve will travel with his family to New York, where for the second semester of this year and through the 1954-55 school year, he will attend the School of Sacred Music at Union Theological Seminary, New York City. Mr. Neve, the fourth faculty member here at Dana to obtain the sabbatical leave, will be working towards his Doctor's degree in music.

The position of choir director left vacant during his absence has not yet been filled, but is expected to be so soon. Mr. Neve will return again in September, 1955.

A Real Hep History Some Gone Ancestors

Once upon a time in the land of Oodanmarkee there was a group of real hep Lutherans. Now they were awful unhappy 'cause the taxes in the land were the most to say the least. One night when they were in a hot joint picking upon some ribs, one of them said, "If we had anything on the ball, we'd cut out and go to America."

"Wild," said the others, and the very next day they chartered a real crazy ship and were on their way. The trip was over in no time and they pulled off the boat in New York. Their leader Svend, a real gone guy, said, "This city is for the birds. We'll just have to push west."

Some Goofed

By the time they got to Chi, some of the pioneers pooped out and said, "This trip is the most. Let's dig in here."

"Yah, it's a gasser," said Svend, "But let's keep the show on the road. It must be better farther west."

"West, shmest," said the pooped pioneers. "We're stayin' here."

"O.k., o.k.," said Svend. "Don't get your liver in a quiver. But the rest of us keep goin', see? You'll wish you were with us when we're gone."

"Yah, we know you're the swingin'est," said the pooped ones in a sarcastic voice, "but we're tired of your old jazz. Let's just say that somebody goofed."

Svend got his scruff in a huff, but he didn't feel like jawin' with them further so he and the others pulled out.

Dana Founded

Soon they were in Nebraska and Svend said, "This is crazy country. Let's cut out and dig in."

The pioneers settled down on their farms and raised some real wild crops. But hard as they worked, they still had time for parties. A lot of them paired off and dispatched to the altar forthwith. Many families were started this way, and before long the pioneers had children they didn't have names for.

As usual, Svend had the most so he said, "Man, we'll have to start a school for these cats. These crazy, mixed-up kids need a place where they can make out." They needed dough for a well bred school, so everyone coughed up with the best and brightest and there was more than enough.

So Dana was founded. Like everyone said when Svend turned the first shovel, "Man dig that crazy college!"

Well, I'll Be Dormed

It seems there's a new type of alarm clock that rings especially for the sleeper-inners on Sunday morning. It roams the halls, stops and clatters in the kitchenette and reception room, it climbs to the top floor where it stands and sings and wails to its mate down in the lower reception room. But then—who minds forfeiting the one day they can sleep in? I mean, really?

We grin at each other, moan, toss and turn, and then hop up, grab our coats and throw them on over our pajamas, roll up our pants legs and we are off to the races. That is, we race to the canteen, get in just before the door closes and locks behind us. We pick at the now dry crumbs that are the remainders of the sweet rolls; we gulp down the strong black coffee that is now only lukewarm and somewhat thick with coffee grounds. We slink out of the den, and go to solemnly view the remains of Beethoven. Looks to me like he blew his top.

Day In, Day Out

Well, this is rather a typical Sunday. But then there are the week days to contend with. Every day it is the same. We thought, at first, that by moving down to the suite, we would at last find a haven of rest. Ha! Big joke. Take Saturday for instance. Now you and I both know that we have no one on campus named Mable. Yet, one of the second floorers was certainly shouting for her. Maybe they were playing hide and seek. I guess Mable was hiding at that moment.

Mad Mayhem

Yes, radios blare in the kitchenette, dirty dishes are clanked into the sink and left there for someone else to do, girls shout at each other in order to be heard under (above?) the dryer. Sometimes I begin to wonder if the noise is as bad as the mess. There are always sloppy dish towels and rags, dribblings of chocolate cake spilled on the table tops, potato chips and newspapers on the floors and the dirty dishes are of course still where they were put.

I don't know. What has happened to the Little Woman of the days gone by? (by-gone days?)—the quiet, sophisticated wisp of a thing who never raised her voice, was always neat as a pin, not only about her personal appearance, but also about such places as the kitchenette? Ahem! Enough said?

Gilmore Predicts Soviet Crumble

Americans are overestimating Russia's war potential, according to Eddy Gilmore, just returned from 12 years as Associated Press correspondent in Moscow.

Speaking to more than 500 college newsmen at a press conference in Chicago, Gilmore predicted "crumbling from within" and foresaw no immediate danger of war with Russia.

Watched Closely

Gilmore described the Moscow theater, the people's clothing and the feeling of being spied upon constantly. "Don't underestimate the melodrama about telephones being tapped and people being followed," he said. Wherever he went, there was always a carload of "little men in blue suits" close behind.

He marvelled at Malenkov's "very penetrating black eyes" and said, "He looks to me to be the man in charge." Still he added, "the government of Malenkov is not a strong one."

He said he didn't know for sure, however, because he is not an expert. "There is no such thing as an expert on Russia—just varying degrees of ignorance."

As for Russia's inward crumbling, Gilmore pointed to a decadent factory and farm system. "Joseph Stalin was an evil genius," he said. "I doubt that Malenkov has the talent that man had."

"Joe's Had It"

The Pulitzer prize-winning reporter said he will never forget the day Stalin died—"I knew I had one of the great news stories of the world."

"One evening I noticed not a car going into or coming out of the Kremlin," he recalled, "and I said to my wife, 'I think Uncle Joe's had it.'"

Stalin was hated, not idolized, Gilmore told the college newsmen, and many of his mourners "just came down to make sure he was dead."

Gilmore said he doesn't think the Russians would keep their

Letter to Editor

It seems when we talk of redecorating the chapel, which is a fine idea, we forget so many things.

1. Do we need decorations and Gothic architecture to worship in? God doesn't care whether we worship in a barn, or a simple room so long as we come to Him in reverent prayer.

2. If we do have decoration let us put the labor part on a student basis, each student contributing part of his time and energy.

3. We must remember the school cannot possibly cover all the projects that are needed on the campus.

4. What we need much more than a redecorated chapel is immediate action by the board on the construction of a new gym. If Dana is to grow in size, the members of the congregations and the students of Dana must realize they have to sacrifice a lot in order to make the gym a reality. More than ever before in the history of Dana do we need a new gym. When the high school student comes to visit our campus, the first thing they say is "Dana sure has a cracker box for a gym."

5. Let us students of Dana be the first to sacrifice and show the board that we are primarily interested in a new gym.

Let us pray in one, that we can see our dreams of a new gym, and the growth of Dana become a reality very soon.

Gridiron Gleanings . . . Vikes Travel to Buena Vista for Final Game

by Diz

Gone . . .

Although the Vikes did fail to gain undisputed possession of the CCCC grid championship, they did pull through with a creditable seasonal performance in the league. The 3-1 conference mark enables them to share the top spot with the Concordia Bulldogs, who undoubtedly will run away from Tarkio this weekend. Thus, for the first time in three seasons since the league was organized, Dana is able to command some of the glory of the short-handed conference.

Now look! . . .

Speaking of glory, one might be inclined to say that the conference is somewhat short on it. Dana, Concordia and Tarkio, forced to play a double round of games because of the absence of York from league wars this fall, did their utmost to make a respectable loop season. However, it must be admitted that only three members in a conference tends to make league play less interesting. Now then, this corner suggests that the league moguls at their next meeting contact other church colleges in an attempt to enlarge on the number of teams.

But there are not any other colleges to look to, you say. Phcoey! Even though Midland is having a fair go of it for once in their conference, they could probably be brought over to this side. However, this is not saying that they would walk off with all honors. Far be it! Other schools? How about Westmar of LeMars, Iowa, a Sioux Falls College, or even an interlocking conference with some other o.c. Come on. Let's make this thing larger!

Don't blow . . .

Okay, okay, these are only suggestions! Before winter sports scene swings into operation, how about getting the cheering section whipped into shape? Suggestions? Better yells, a definite pep band, some stunt or two to add color to the cheering section, different cheerleaders' uniforms for the basketball season and . . .

Congrats! . . .

With the grid season almost completed, this corner takes time to show our congratulations to the coaching staff for their excellent work with the football squad. Sure, there were plenty of mistakes, but they are atoned for in part by the successful campaign which the team has had. So hats off to Coaches Keith Skogman and Paul Petersen!

And to the squad itself, this corner tilts its hat. The best football team in three years today winds up its fall campaign. With the close of the season, several gridders will likewise be closing their football careers.

CCCC Teams Rank High Reveals NAIA Statistics

Ranking high in the recent NAIA statistical report are grid-ers from the CCCC's two leading teams, Dana and Concordia. Backs from both schools dominated the weekly listing.

Gary Seevers of Concordia and Marion Hudson of Dana ranked 16th and 17th, respectively in the national rushing statistics. Seevers has racked up 590 yards this season for an average of 98 yards per game, while Hudson has carried for a total of 552 yards and a 96-yard game average. Dana's speedy half back also ranked an impressive 3rd. among the nation's leading scorers with 67 points.

Concordia's passing ace Omar Dittmer, ranked 4th. among passers, having completed 40 passes out of 66 for a .666 mark. His completions have been good for 666 yards and 10 touchdowns. Dittmer also ranks 13th in the total offense department.

Dana holds 4th. position in the team rushing standings. The Vikings marched 1,921 yards in 228 carries in their first 6 games. This gave Dana an imposing game average of 320 yards for the listing. This listing did not, however, include last week's game with Concordia. In this game the Vikes ground out 176 yards to boost their season total to 2025 yards, over a thousand more than they have given their opponents. Concordia, in stopping Dana, showed some of the defense which gave them a 7th. place rating on the national defense listing.

Seeking their fifth win against two losses and a tie, the Vikings take on Buena Vista at two o'clock this afternoon at Storm Lake, Iowa.

Coach Chet Anderson's Buena Vista outfit has not had what could be called a successful season. They have won only one game while losing five and tying one. These statistics may be misleading, however, since several of these games were lost by only one or two points.

Vikings Bow To Concordia

Concordia Teachers College avenged an earlier 19-6 defeat by downing the Vikings last Friday night on Vet's field in the latter's last conference tilt. It marked the first time this season that the Vikings were held scoreless. In being halted the Vikes lost their chance to gain sole possession of the CCCC crown.

Provided Tarkio pulls an upset in their final conference tilt with Concordia, Dana would have sole possession. Otherwise, both squads share the title.

Seevers Tallies Twice

A 30-yard punt return and a 15-yard penalty levied against the home squad gave Concordia its first scoring chance from the Dana 33. Gary Seevers tallied seven plays later in the third frame. In the fourth period, the visitors tallied again, this time on a 60-yard march. Seevers again ran over after successive runs of 28 and 21 yards.

Dana was headed by Jim Thomsen and Neil Moore. Outstanding defensively were Vordyn Nelson, Russ Moseman, and Jerry Petersen. Viking halfback Marion Hudson missed the game due to a back injury suffered in the Tarkio game.

Standouts on the Concordia side were Omar Dittmer, Gene Oetting and Marv Schaus.

Following is the score by quarters:

| | | | | | |
| Dana | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Concordia | 0 | 0 | 6 | 6 | 12 |

ADVERTISERS

Last Saturday Buena Vista lost to Dubuque University 7-6, even though they led the Dubuque school in nearly every department statistically. This game is of special interest if comparative scores are of any significance, since Dubuque lost to Parsons 24-14 after Dana had easily topped Parsons 32-6.

Heichel Heads Beavers

Leading the Beavers into today's game is Glade Heichel, fleet half-back. Heichel is Buena Vista's chief scoring threat, being especially adept at long scoring runs.

Playing their last football game for Dana are senior standouts Neil Moore and Jack Allen. Moore and Allen, along with Marion Hudson, have sparked the speedy Viking running attack throughout the season. Quarterback Jim Thomsen's passes, which have been connecting consistently in recent games, may prove effective against Buena Vista's reportedly weak pass defense.

Vikes Lead Opponents

So far this season the Vikes have racked up a total of 122 points while holding their opponents to 56. This compares favorably with the 111-111 point record compiled in the same number of games last year.

Probable starting lineups for both squads are as follows:

| Dana | Pos. | Buena Vista |
|-----------------|------|-------------|
| Jerry Petersen | LE | Ericksen |
| Jim Heiser | LT | Kerns |
| Russ Moseman | LG | Doud |
| Jon Petersen | C | Lewis |
| Frank Alexander | RG | Pitcher |
| Vordyn Nelson | RT | Kerbs |
| Rod Wead | RE | Parrott |
| Jim Thomsen | QB | Molitor |
| Jack Allen | LH | Heichel |
| Marion Hudson | RH | Johnson |

Mad Pranksters Celebrate Halloween; Campus Snafu-d

Orange and black table decorations in the dining hall Saturday evening were in keeping with the Halloween spirit. Paper black cats and pumpkins added to the effect of the evening.

Most of the students began in small groups soaping windows of cars on the campus and making noise from cars riding through town. The fun began with a large snake dance that assembled in front of Young's cafe. The students in the long "snake" went through several stores and restaurants ending at Lacy's Cafe. They sang the Dana pep song along the way. The long line of college students in the snake dance broke up in front of Lacy's and headed back to the campus.

The log from the center of the lower campus was put into the girls' dorm hallway. It was convenient for the tired girls who couldn't make the trip to the top floor.

Change of Address

With the aid of a dozen fellows, Bill Lawsen and Hank Rosenthal set up house keeping on the lawn in front of the boys' dorm. All their furniture including books were moved to their new residence. To add to the furnishings of the room, busts of Lincoln and Washington were put in the beds and another bust of Beethoven was off to one side.

There was only one misfortune in the evening of farcing. A sum of money was missing from Hank's drawer. The money belonged to an organization on campus. Also one of the busts was broken.

Version of ?-Bomb

One of the science students made up a "stink bomb" which was placed in the office of Dean Cora Rasmussen. The students waited a few minutes for the smell, but when Mrs. Rasmussen did nothing about removing the bomb, a couple students told her the sewer was backing up. The smell was getting strong and the students couldn't understand why she would not do anything about it. Finally one of the boys called her on the phone and said there was a bomb under her desk. Mrs. Rasmussen outsmarted the student's. While they were waiting for her to throw the bomb out the front door, she went through the kitchen and threw the bomb out the back door.

The evening of fun came to an end when the girls came in at one A.M. Several of the fellows continued their farcing downtown, but the life on campus quieted down for the early morning hours. With the exception of the misfortune, the farcing was a lot of fun and all enjoyed themselves with a good evening.

W.A.A. Votes On Year's Program

The last WAA meeting, held in September, was led by president Mary Jacobsen. The group decided to levy fines for absence from games and meetings, excepting illness or valid conflicts. It was also decided to play softball on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 4 p.m. The captains will select their players.

The girls voted to sponsor a Snow Carnival to be held in the afternoon and evening of Jan. 23, directly following semester exam week. May Festival was scheduled for the first week end of May. Also decided was a box social, exchange of small gifts and entertainment to replace the traditional Christmas banquet.
