Money For L.S. Action Used To Promote Gospel Message

Where is your money going? Have you ever wondered about the money you put in the envelopes given at First Lutheran Church? Possibly a few facts will help set you straight as to where it is going.

Working coordinately with the church, the L.S.A. at Dana receives 60% of the offering received in the envelopes at First Lutheran. The money raised by special offerings and Lenten banks is also used for L. S. Action.

The goals set for this year are as follows:

The major part of the local budget goes into the regional treasury. This year the Dana L.S.A. has pledged $450 to the regional. After subtracting a small amount for regional expenses, the remainder is sent into the National L.S.A. Council where it is used both at home and abroad to further the spreading of the Gospel among college students. Through the National Student Christian Federation and the World Student Christian Federation we join with other Christian student movements to help Christian students throughout the world. This money furthers the work among students abroad by helping to organize Christian students on foreign campuses and providing food, clothing, and scholarships for needy students.

Missionary Donates Money To Library

On Tuesday of this week, Dr. C. C. Madsen received a letter containing a $25 check from Pastor Donald V. Wahlgren, a missionary serving in Nigeria. This gift was delegated for the purchase of Biblical books and other books in the field of religion for the Dana College Library.

Rev. Wahlgren is a graduate of Dana College. In 1956, he went to Africa as a teacher. He returned to take seminary training at Wartburg Theological Seminary and was ordained in 1959. He and his family are at present doing evangelistic work and teaching in Pella, Nigeria.

This gift to the library is an expression of their deep interest in the current expansion program.

It is hoped that $100 can be sent to Mark Thomsen, who is in Nigeria, West Africa, to add to the seminary library there. Fifty dollars has already been sent.

Fifty dollars has been designated to help interested students to attend the Ashram to be held this year at Conference Point Camp, Williams Bay, Wisconsin, during the week of Aug. 27-Sept. 3, 1961. Ashram, which means spiritual quest, is a religious retreat whose purpose is to bring the vitality of the Gospel to the college student. Students from foreign lands will also be participating.

This year the L.S.A. hopes to start a scholarship fund which will be used to help a foreign student attend Dana. The $100 scholarship is expected to be started next year.

Local expenses are expected to amount to about $100 this year.

This year's goal is $900. Will it be met? Are you doing your part? Remember all Dana students are members of the L.S.A. It is an all-campus organization.

If by chance you were missed and did not receive a box of envelopes, see either Al Girtz or Dean Brockhoff.

Peterson Ends Career As Basketball Coach

With the closing of the 1960-61 Dana basketball season last Saturday night against Yankton College the career of Dana's popular head basketball coach came to a close.

With the closing of this season Coach Peterson, better known to everyone on the Dana Hill as Coach "Pete," has announced his retirement as the coach of the Viking basketball quintet in order that he might give more of his time to the office of Athletic Director, and to the teaching of academic subjects in the field of Physical Education and Health.

Director of Athletics

Coach "Pete" graduated from Dana in 1941 and became head football and basketball coach in 1942. In 1950 he became director of athletics and physical education, and assistant football coach.

During his four years at Dana, Coach Peterson earned eight letters in the sports of football and basketball. He was elected football captain and honorary basketball captain in his senior year. Honor athlete for the year 1939-1940, "Pete" was noted for his faithfulness and outstanding ability in football and basketball and for the scholastic rating he maintained.

While attending Dana, "Pete" met his wife Ruth. They now have three children: Brian, age 16; Brent, age 13; and Beth, age 10.

As head basketball coach, he expressed his hope to always have "twelve men who are willing to pay the sacrifice to form a respectable team." He also noted that he always emphasizes the importance of good character to all students he comes in contact with.

His future hopes are to continue to take part in a well-balanced physical education program for professionally training men and women.

Incompletes Due!

Saturday, March 4, is the last day for the removal of incompletes which were acquired during the first semester this year. All work not completed by this date is recorded as a failure; otherwise it is accepted when turned in and given a grade without regard to its lateness.

Very few students, only about one half of one percent receive an incomplete and these usually are given because of the failure of the student to take quizzes and finals, or submit research papers for some reason beyond his control.

Erasing an incomplete is strictly the duty of the student, not the teacher.

This month we will make another test of the age-old adage, "If March comes in like a lion it will go out like a lamb." The results should prove very interesting to weathermen, physicists, mathematicians, and of course, the atomic bombers. According to 97% of all the almanacs printed since the year March received its name, if the weather at the beginning of the month was terrible the weather at the end of the month was pleasant. A few almanacs went so far as to say that if the beginning of the month had pleasant weather, then the weather at the end of the month would be miserable.

Although superstition once seemed to be concealed behind this proposition, it is now accepted by leading scientists from the bushman tribe of Australia to be scientific fact. Along with recent reports smuggled across the "metal curtain" from reliable sources, evidence appears to suggest that there is a good possibility for this proverb to be a valid time-tested scientific fact.

For this reason the United States has set up a weather observation satellite to record the weather of the world for the month of March. Speculation rises every year and this year it is at its peak; therefore, the government also feels it expedient to make this test for the benefit of all amateur and professional gamblers. It will go down in history as an important step in the advancement of the affirming of weather superstitions.

It is the opinion of this writer, however, that so many atomic explosions have taken place since the proverb became popular, that it will probably not hold true in the year 1961.

Last week I dwelled on the topic of organized labor and its effect upon the American economic system. Since this is a topic that affects us all, I wish to briefly cover two other areas that I failed to mention in my last column.

The first point that is seemingly insignificant to labor is the increasing competition of the foreign labor force. Competition for employment is increasing in the United States as well as in the world market. If the spiraling rise in production costs is not soon reversed, the American market abroad and at home will soon price itself out of existence. This would not only directly unemploy 4.5 million engaged in trade itself, but indirectly those engaged domestically for whom a foreign counterpart exists.

Labor also falls short in its theory of productivity gains. Somehow the idea seems to have been adopted that "... when the productivity of a business increases, in terms of the statistical ratio known as 'output per man-hour,' a proportionate increase should take place in wages. Any such 'formula' for specific application is quite impractical even if it were accurate or meaningful on a short-range basis." Such an interpretation of productivity gains shows little consideration, on the part of labor, to the contribution of capital and management skills that combine to try to place a better, yet more economical product on the domestic and world markets.

I challenge labor with its pleas for a "fair share" to come back down to earth and let the American consumer as well as her allies abroad get a fair share of consumer product for their dollar.

W.A.A. Is Female Counterpart Of The Male "D" Club

Among the organizations for women on the Dana campus is the Women's Athletic Association, or W.A.A. as it is usually called. Sometimes called the female counterpart of the D Club, the W.A.A. is active in promoting athletic intramural events for the women on campus, and it also promotes physical efficiency, good sportsmanship, fellowship and recreation through participation in athletic activities.

The W.A.A. was organized in 1932, and the sports participated in at that time included such things as basketball, tennis, soccer, pug-ball, volleyball, badminton, archery, and ping-pong.

At present this club holds regular monthly meetings. A different sport is planned for each month. Included are basketball, softball, volleyball, and tennis, with a chance for everyone to participate and have fun in these sports. Also, sometime this spring the W.A.A. plans to sponsor a swimming party.

Officers for this year's W.A.A. are: President, Dixie Hagedorn; Vice-President, Mary Jane Folkerts; Secretary, Ruth Meyer; and Treasurer, Kathy Wollenhaput. The faculty advisor of this organization is Coach Paul Peterson.

Improved Dining Hall Menues Promote Cheery Atmosphere

Have you noticed the more cheery atmosphere in the Dining Hall before, during and after meals? The reason cannot be an easing up on study assignments, so the only other logical answer is the food. Even the biggest "food-complainers" on campus have been forced to admit the meals have really been tasty!

The meals have not only been more appealing, however, but also have been served in larger quantity and with more variety. We like the addition of the table for hot drinks and relishes outside of the food door, and the menu board gives an appearance of greater organization.

We students know that we cannot take much of the credit for the change just because of our "Gripe Night" petition, because we know that the kitchen help had already come to the students for suggestions on improvements.

Until several weeks ago there had been a definite undercurrent of displeasure about all three of the meals served in the Dining Hall, but in particular there was criticism of the noon meal. Now, we all must agree that the addition of "soup cups" plus the regular dish, leaves little room for complaint.

And so, we would like to express our appreciation and thanks for the wonderful work done by Mrs. Carey and the kitchen staff. As long as the food remains this good we will keep on smiling!

Letters To Editor

TO CONFORM, OR TO IMPROVE

A certain amount of conformity and individuality appear in most all people. How they regulate these two personal qualities is their own business. We must all agree that individuality also appears in conforming or not conforming with something.

When I decide to go watch Dana play basketball, am I an individual or am I going because everyone else is? It is my understanding, that because I made up my own mind, I am individually responsible for my actions. When a college raises a large sum of money exactly the same way as another respectable college did is there any individuality involved? There certainly is. Individuals wrote personal letters, they met people personally asking for loans. They made personal announcements in church, they personally raised the money and got personal satisfaction for a job well done.

Having dances on the Dana College campus would be conforming to some people, others think it would be a good idea and still others think it would be absurd. Some think by having dances on campus, Dana would lose their individuality. Would they? Dana now has probably the smallest physical education building in our conference. This makes Dana a distinct individualist, but with the school's wholehearted support we are building a new one. Is this conforming or is this realizing our weaknesses and trying to improve them? Our physical education facilities and courses are improving fast. We now have a section of our physical education devoted to dancing plus an added course in rhythms that is required for any student majoring in physical education. Is this conforming or is this improving?

I realize that some students can't dance and others that disapprove of dancing will not appreciate dancing on campus. They have every right in the world to their beliefs. What are these students going to do when everyone in P. E. class starts dancing. Are they going to protest because they don't like it? Then anyone who didn't particularly like the sport conducted in P. E. class for that week wouldn't have to go. Whether basketball, tumbling, volleyball or tennis, everyone has to have four semesters of P. E.

Individualism can go so far then a person must realize his weaknesses and try to improve them. That is what we at Dana who support dancing are trying to do. Not to conform but to improve.

Males Allowed Behind Forbidden Stone Walls

Twice this year, boys are allowed into the private little cells of what has been referred to as the nunnery. Ordinarily it is only the parents of these residents who may wander around inside, but March 4 gives boys of the same general age group the chance to explore behind those forbidding stone walls.

Perhaps this is the first time some of you have been within these confines so allow me to prepare you for the shock! Instead of stone grey walls, the divisions between cells are brightly painted in yellows, pinks, greens and tans! You will be shocked to find that what you thought were bars in front of the windows are merely screens!

The residents are permitted all of the personal property that the cells can hold (and you would be surprised how much junk the ingenious girls can crowd into even a little space!) Unfortunately you will not be permitted to examine all of the various categories of junk, since most of it will be padlocked in drawers and closets.

You will see, however, scores of adorable stuffed animals which will peer at you from all corners. And if drapes were not furnished I am sure you would see many fluffy white curtains. As it is, the most distinctly feminine feature of the cells (which oddly enough you will now be classifying as rooms despite what you have heard) would be the dresser. On this piece of furniture will be thousands of jars and glass bottles which will all smell the same to you (whatever you do—don't admit it!!) And, oh yes, by the time you notice this it is about time that you leave—you have already come close enough to the padlocked drawers without receiving a well placed blow on the head!

Jerry Martin To Speak At L.S.A.

Jerry Martin, a former Dana student who graduated last year, will be the guest speaker at the Tuesday evening meeting of the L.S.A.

Jerry, who is now employed by the Omaha City Mission, will tell about his job and the work of the mission. The program should be of special value to anyone who is interested in the field of social work.

Van Cliburn Slated For March Music Hall Appearance

Van Cliburn, internationally known pianist, will give a concert in Omaha at 8:30, Tuesday evening, March 21, at the Music Hall in the Civic Auditorium. He will be presented under the auspices of The Tuesday Musical Concert series with single admissions priced at $5, $4 and $3. Mail orders may be sent to The Tuesday Musical Concert Series Box-office, Music Hall, 18th and Capitol Ave., Omaha.

The young pianist from Kilgore, Texas, had already made his mark on the American musical world when the Tchaikowsky Competition in Moscow catapulted him to world fame. In 1954, when he was not yet 20, he won the coveted Levintritt award which had not been granted to any aspirant for five years previously. This led to his highly praised debut with the New York Philharmonic the next season. Last fall he returned from a triumphant tour of the Soviet Union under the U. S. State Department Exchange Program. New York welcomed him with the first ticker-tape parade ever accorded a classical musician. This year Van Cliburn made one of his rare television appearances on the Bell Telephone hour.

The public sale begins March 1 and from the eager inquiries already made at the Civic Auditorium box-office, the Van Cliburn concert promises to be a sell-out.

S.A.M. Donates Library Books Valued At $325

The Dana College Library was recently the recipient of some 50 books dealing in the fields of economics and business administration. These books were given to the Library by the Dana Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management.

Last December, S.A.M. undertook a project to expand the Library collection in the areas of economics and business administration. Letters were written to alumni and friends of the college who are presently associated with these particular fields of business. Replies to the letters brought several excellent books and $226. The largest contribution, however, was a check for $100 from Hagen's Fish Market of Chicago, Illinois. This gift was presented to Nena Wegener during the Christmas vacation.

The books were presented to the Library by project chairman, Roger Best, and were accepted by the librarians, Miss A. D. Hoidahl and Miss Edith Fox at the recent S.A.M. meeting. The volumes are indeed a welcome addition to the Library. The approximate value of the books is $325.

The books have been catalogued and are now ready for circulation. Nine of the books which deal with readings in the various fields of economics and business administration have been placed on a 3-day loan plan in order that more students may take advantage of this new material. The remainder of the books, which are on display in the Library reading room, are on the regular 2-week loan plan.

Lutheran Church Promotes Highway Accident Prevention

Recently the Minnesota congregations of The American Lutheran Church were asked by the three Minnesota districts to provoke discussion of moral and spiritual issues invoked by the rising highway death rate.

The Rev. T. L. Kurtz of South Saint Paul issued a statement suggesting that pastors and church members 1) practice driving discipline themselves; 2) ride as a passenger only with drivers who discipline themselves; 3) express "Christian opinion" on specific highway safety proposals; 4) work for public opinion which supports sound programs of engineering, education and enforcement; and 5) pray for God's protection of those who use the streets and highways and for His guidance to sound solutions of the highway safety problem."

The request was made to the Minnesota congregations because of the presently higher death rate compared to the record breaking number of deaths last year at this time, and also since there is a high concentration of members of The ALC living there.

Illumination Books Added To Library

Several very unusual books have been added to the Library this year. These deal with the illumination of books and show colorful presentation of the art of illuminating before the advent of printing.

The first book, The Great Lambeth Bible, written by C. R. Dowell, contains illuminated plates from the great Lambeth Bible which was produced for one of the Canterbury monasteries. "Its splendid decoration has the dynamic quality which is characteristic of the Romanesque art."

Another book, The Benedictional of St. Ethelwold, Bishop of Winchester by Francis Wormald, which was written in the second half of the tenth century, has long been known as "the supreme masterpiece of late Anglo-Saxon illumination." The original copy is now in the British Museum.

The Rohan Book of the Hours or Heures de Rohan by Jean Porcher, was produced for Yolande of Aragon, wife of Louis II. It represents some of the finest of French medieval art.

These interesting books are now on display in the library.

Greyhounds Nip Vikings In Overtime Play, 77-75

Dana Wrestlers Compete In Tournament Held At Midland

Last Saturday night the Vikings closed the 1960-61 season when they lost a thrilling overtime battle to the Yankton Greyhounds by a score of 77-75 here on the Dana Campus. The final season record for the Vikings is 5 wins and 15 losses.

"Bud" West led the Viking scoring in a losing cause with 20 points while Gary Schuster had 21 for the victors.

The game was close from start to finish. During the first half the visiting club led most of the time and had a 35-32 advantage after the first twenty minutes of play. During the second half the lead changed hands many times. With 20 seconds left during the regulation time Bob Erickson put in the tying bucket to make the score 70-70 as the buzzer sounded.

With six seconds left in the overtime period Gary Schuster put in two free throws to put the Greyhounds ahead by four points. Just as the gun went off Gary Sebbert of the Vikings put the final two points of the game through the hoop.

At the present time Luther's basketball team is in first place with a 10 and 1 conference record. On the Luther basketball squad there are six men who stand 6' 6" or better. The leaders of the team this year are Harley Olstad and Gary Henricksen as forwards and Loren Moen at center.

This past season a member of the football team, Gerald Anderson, was given Honorable Mention on the Associated Press Little All-American at the half-back position. Dave Swenson, a tackle, was named to the second team NAIA All-American team. During the past nine years the football team has had at least one member of the team given All-American Honors. During the past season the team tied for first place in the conference.

Last spring the Baseball and Track teams won the conference titles while the Golf team tied for the title and the Tennis team placed second in the conference meet.

So far this year the Wrestling team is unbeaten in conference meets with a 6 and 0 record.
