Borup Building Is Rescheduled For Opening in Late March Proposed Date For February 23 Fails to Materialize

A February 23 opener for Dana's new Borup Physical Education Building was reluctantly cancelled when it became apparent that the basketball floor would not be ready in time. Revised plans are for an opening program by a Danish gymnastic team late in March.

The playing floor, when completed, will run most of the length of the huge building. One basket will be flush with an end wall. The other will hang from the ceiling in front of a large bleacher section. The floor, when side bleachers are rolled back, will have separate practice floors running across it. There are fittings at one end for a portable stage to be wheeled in for commencement exercises and other large-crowd programs. The bleachers at the end with the hanging basket will be reversible. That is, they can be turned around to provide spectator seating space for swimming events in the indoor pool.

Although exterior work on the Borup Physical Education Building appears to be nearly complete, workmen are working as rapidly as possible to complete the interior as shown above.

Pool Is Unique to Nebraska

The 100-thousand-dollar pool will be the only one of Olympic specifications in Nebraska, which should prove a source of satisfaction to many AAU officials and swim enthusiasts in the area. At one time within the past year the Omaha City Council was asked by an AAU representative to consider building an Olympic pool in Omaha. He said major swim attractions from all over the country could be brought to use it.

Overlooking the pool area and the basketball floor from the second story are picture windows of coaches' offices and a special press box.

'Crucible' Showing Scheduled, Feb. 22

Immediately following the Liberal Arts study of Arthur Miller's The Crucible, the Lyceum series will present, on February 22, a French movie based on the play.

Yves Montand, Simone Signoret, Mylene Demongeot and Raymond Rouleau star in the screenplay written by Jean-Paul Sartre. Entitled "Les Sorcieres de Salem," the film's dialogue is in French with English subtitles.

Although in both the film and the play the setting, characters and action are basically the same, the message of the play has been changed by Sartre. He has used the play's framework to preach his own existentialist philosophy and the movie adds some scenes Miller didn't have.

A definite time and place have not as yet been set for the movie's showing.

College Students Share World-Wide Prayer Day Meeting Scheduled Sunday, Feb. 18

Students at Dana will join students all over the world in the observance of the Universal Day of Prayer for Students, February 18.

Next Sunday evening at 7:30 in Alumni Auditorium, a program will be held to, in the words of Paul Petersen, LSA president, "Share with your fellow students this hope of a uniting together for the one faith, one baptism, one Lord and Savior Jesus Christ." The avowed purpose of such an observance is to spread the gospel on college campuses all over the world, and through it transcend the barriers which separate mankind: lack of a common language, racial prejudice, opposing political traditions and convictions and often radically different church backgrounds.

Cell Groups Under Reactivation Plan

Cell groups which are presently being reformed and reactivated within the Dana LSA, open to all students, will hold their first meeting of the new semester on February 20. Times and places of meetings will soon be announced.

Leaders whom the students should contact if interested and the groups they head are Ron Nielsen—Missions, John Seburg—Evangelism, Brenda Francis—Visitations (Aged), Pete Nelson—Marriage and Dating, Judy Kronberg—Bible Study, Vivian Jenkins—Race Relations, Ned Kitomari—Current Events, Jerry Jones—Interfaith, Clayton Nietfeld—Prayer, Larry Tantow and Becky Roesner—Personal International Relations.

Groups to visit students in the infirmary, study great literature, study creative Christian writing and to study vocations are planned, but do not yet have leaders.

Debaters Travel to State Speech Meet

Professor Sieghard Krueger of the Speech Department has announced that the Dana College Debate Squad will attend the Nebraska Inter-Collegiate Speech Meet to be held in Lincoln, March 9-10, 1962.

Past activities of the Dana debaters have included sending representatives to an inter-collegiate meet at Pittsburgh, Kansas, on January 26-27. David Snowbeck and Bill Archibald participated in this event.

Frontiers, the publication of the Lutheran Student Association of America, states the purpose as reviving "the channel of our vertical fellowship through which our horizontal fellowship will be strengthened and renewed. On this Universal Day of Prayer for Students, we would like to pray for one another and for our renewal, so that our witness to Christ and our service with Christ and our unity in Christ may become more abundant for the sake of the whole world."

Observance of this day originated in the castle of Vadstena in Sweden, in 1895. It has since come to be celebrated in America on the third Sunday in February.

The Pre-Seminary Club has been given charge of the arrangements for the evening. A half-hour service is tentatively scheduled with the emphasis placed on directed prayer.

Spain Spotlights By Mrs. Ferguson

On Sunday, February 17, the Student-Faculty Social Hour will present Mrs. Gordon Ferguson who will show slides and describe her stay and studies in Spain.

As on previous Sundays, coffee and a snack will follow the entertainment. This coffee hour is open to anyone unable to attend the afternoon program.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: Did you ask a gentleman out for Reverse Night?

If Our 'February Presidents' Swapped Historical Positions...

The birthdays of two great Presidents of the United States are celebrated this month—Abraham Lincoln's on the twelfth, and George Washington's on the twenty-second. We have all heard the stories of these men since we were small children and know of the great things they did to make their mark in history. What we do not know, however, is what would have happened to this country if these men had changed places making Lincoln the first President and George Washington the sixteenth President.

It is hard for us to picture Lincoln standing stiffly in a boat crossing the Delaware or posing for a portrait with gray hair and equally as hard to see George Washington keeping a country store or living in a log cabin.

These men had two different personalities and each became great because he seemed to be what this country needed at that particular time.

Some may say these men stand out in history because of events during their times, such as the establishing of a new nation during Washington's term and the Civil War during Lincoln's stay in office. That well may be, we really can't say. We do know that each man worked for one thing—this great country of ours.

'Fraternities? Who Needs Them?'

Wayne State has the rivalry associated with these Greek organizations in the form of dorm conflict.

This is evidenced by the intense "feelings" displayed at intramural games, opposition that results in scheduling the "best" all-school parties, and differences of opinion stated by dorm representatives.

Some students on campus are so prejudiced (or jealous) that they even avoid attending dorm parties other than their own.

Berry Hall, the newest dorm on campus, was built so it could accommodate both men and women students. Berry is now classified as a co-educational dorm where both the men and women work together. However, some feel Berry should separate its activities and be classified as two dorms, planning parties and activities separately. This too seems to be a symptom of jealousy on the Wayne State campus.

A healthy rivalry among group and organizations frequently serves to vitalize and strengthen them, but petty jealousies and vindictive sniping work only to their detriment—a fact learned too late by the Greek-letter groups on many campuses.

The above editorial appeared in the Wayne Stater. We desired to publish this as an example of why we took a stand against social fraternities here at Dana. Re: "Dana Social Fraternities—Are They So Necessary?" Hermes, Feb. 1, 1962. —The Editor.

Blair Bridge Plans Toll Emancipation

The Nebraska-Iowa Bridge Company, which operates the Missouri River Bridge east of Blair, has notified the Iowa State Highway Commission that it will become debt free this year. As a result, the bridge will be turned over to the states of Nebraska and Iowa.

Once this transaction has taken place, the bridge will become toll free.

For several years Danians have been plagued by this added expense when traveling to and from the state to the east. News of the possibility of free access to the bridge has brought joyous applause from students who pass into Iowa frequently.

I DO

I feel Him,
 Don't you?

He's everywhere,
 Just look around:
 You'll feel Him, too,
 I do.

He's in the very breeze that blows about you
 Forming each seed to scatter far and wide,
 Witnesses of the Creator,
 Witnesses of the God of Love.

How tenderly He watches His Creation
 Gently caressing with sunshine and rain,
 Cov'ring for rest with crystals of snow,
 Dressing with hues of beauty and love.

Just stop and listen...
 Hear nature sing?
 That's God only whistling
 At work in His world.

Reach out to nature;
 Open wide your hearts;
 Become alive...
 Alive with Him.
 Then stop!
 Look around, and listen...
 You'll feel Him,
 I do.

Liberal Arts Reading?

During the past few weeks, there has been considerable discussion among faculty and students concerning the Liberal Arts Reading Program. Most of the interest has centered around the use of short-answer questions on the Book of Job. Objective questions do have certain advantages over subjective ones. The grading is more uniform and involves less time and work. However, the multiple-choice questions eliminate the opportunity for students to express opinions and give original ideas in writing.

As stated in the college catalog, the purposes of the reading program are to provide an opportunity for intellectually stimulating discussion, to encourage faculty and students to become familiar with some of the great ideas in literature, and to provide practice in reading critically and in evaluating what is read. The intentions of the program do not appear to be achieved by the present system of written quizzes, either subjective or objective. Those students who read the selections do so in order to answer the quiz questions, rather than "reading critically and evaluating what is read."

Perhaps the procedure should be altered. Under the proposed plan, no written quizzes would be given. Rather, each student's performance in the group discussion would be evaluated by the faculty member present. A student would either pass or fail the course. If a student passed, he would receive a grade in Liberal Arts equal to his grade point for that semester. For example, if a student had a grade point of 6.4 for 16 hours of course work, he would receive a grade of 6.4 in Liberal Arts Reading also. So he would have 16½ hours with an average of 6.4.

The main criticism of this plan might be that students would not take part in the program under these conditions. However, it is felt that students who now read and discuss the selections would continue to do so, but the main emphasis in reading would shift from "digging for facts" to "reading critically and evaluating what is read."

The Liberal Arts Reading Program is of value now, but its effectiveness might be improved by a careful re-evaluation of the present system with respect to the stated purposes of the program.

Ken's Comments Band Launches

One had to look twice at the calendar this past Sunday to make sure that it was still February. With four more weeks of winter left, according to Mr. Groundhog's early February prediction, students seemed to be enjoying the fullness of an April Day. As my roommate so beautifully put it, "...the boys are out playing ball (in front of Mickelson Hall) and the girls are all hanging out of the windows watching them."

With the spring weather came Dr. Halvorson with a message that was even more invigorating than the tropical heat wave. Students who heard the addresses were very much inspired by content as well as the manner in which he spoke to us.

Recently someone came up to me with a question concerning library hours—mainly non-library hours. One has to answer that the situation of poor weekend conditions probably are due to the lack of funds and student librarians. However, it does seem strange that an institution of higher education can not afford to have its library doors open the evenings of Friday through Sunday.

It is true that if the library were open on weekend nights or Sunday afternoon, not too many people would avail themselves of the opportunity; but is it right to deny those who would use it? Many couples who would like to study together can not do so. If they seek to study in a classroom they are either chased out, if the building is closed, or given a funny look from passersby. Also the student who is financially forced to work part-time to earn his way through school is penalized scholastically by not being able to get to the library to do research or to complete assignments.

Any student or faculty member who wish to express themselves concerning a situation or circumstance on campus, whether covered in the HERMES or not, may submit a letter to the editor. Names will be withheld by request; however, the editor must know who submits any letter before it can be published. All letters will be accepted by 6:00 p.m. Sunday evening of the week of publication; later letters will be printed if space permits. Later letters received and not published will be held over to the following week.

Biographies Stock Library Shelves

There are various ways of reading history. One of these ways is through the various types of biographies. Several interesting ones have been added to the Dana College Library this past month.

Among these new biographies are Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory, a fascinating story on the Civil War by Blackford. For anyone who enjoyed Alice In Wonderland, Lennon's Victoria Through a Looking Glass is a must.

The Autobiography of Cecil B. de Mille by Hayne is a historical account of the movie industry. Jim Fisk: The Career of an Improbable Rascal is the story of a colorful character in a colorful period of the United States. The famous Sinclair Lewis has added another book to his long list, called From Main Street To Stockholm.

Alumni Association Views Constitution From the ALC . . . Tanganyika is Site of Medical Center

At a recent meeting of the Dana College Alumni Association Council a three-member committee was named to revise the organization's constitution. Those selected were the Rev. Fredric Youra, president of the association, David Parrish and Mrs. Richard Jorgensen. It has been several years since the constitution was brought up to date and there are several discrepancies to be resolved. One of the changes that has been recommended is the legalizing of mail balloting.

In addition, there were these committee appointments: Harold Qualsett, area representatives; Herbert Hjortsvang, class agents; Mrs. Simon Korshoj, Alumni-Senior banquet; Dr. Clifford Hansen, alumni scholarships; Mr. Parrish, Dana clubs; and Earl Pace, Annual Alumni Appeal.

President Youra said particular attention was given to endorsing the annual alumni appeal goal of forty thousand dollars.

Final approval has been given by the executive committee of the Lutheran World Federation Commission on World Missions to implement the plans to establish in East Africa a three million dollar medical center.

To be located at Moshi in northern Tanganyika, it will be named the Kilimanjaro Christian Medical Center, since it will be almost on the slope of Africa's famed highest peak.

Dr. Robert T. Jensen, American medical missionary, has been designated director of the Kilimanjaro project. First stage plans call for erection of a 400 bed hospital and school to train top grade nurses and assistant medical officers. Dr. Jensen said it is hoped to have a full scale medical college at the center in the future.

Swedish, German and American Lutherans have pledged $2,450,000 toward the construction and equipment costs, and the government of Tanganyika is expected to cover 60% of the operating costs.

At the present time Lutherans operate 17 hospitals in Tanganyika as well as two nurses' training schools, one medical assistants' school and one mental hospital.

Thoughts on -- The Extreme Right

Today we hear a great deal about those zealous American patriots that make up the far right. The author does not intend to involve himself in a complete definition of what constitutes the extreme right. Be it sufficient to say that there are no adequate definitions. Located geographically they are, however, on the far side of the conservative element.

Let us now concern ourselves with what these groups are trying to do. We shall operate on the assumption that they want what is best for America. This is a noble enough end, however, the methods by which they hope to strengthen America are what we want to question.

Some elements, namely the Minute Men, are of the opinion that our national defenses are in such a sad state of deterioration that only their reliant Boy Scout antics can save us. There is also another group that has received a good deal more public attention because of their suggestion on how to make America secure (for whom is not clear).

The Birchers suggest that we should get out of the U.N. (entangling alliances), stop foreign aid (the great give-away), impeach Supreme Court justices (soft on Communists), and purge a former President because, they say, he has Communist leanings.

These groups think it is necessary in order to defeat the Communists to use the same tactics they use. They do this in the name of safeguarding our liberties and keeping us free. They also indicate a startling lack of confidence in democracy. By their repressive methods they are denying that men can govern themselves. Yet only if all ideas are free to compete can man achieve democratic freedom.

We must play the games by the rules, the ones we set up, namely American fairplay. In order for our concept of democracy to be any good the means by which we achieve our ends is the single most important guide line. If any of you are considering supporting the extreme right view, I suggest you give a great deal of consideration to methods before you rush out and buy a war surplus soldier suit.

Westmar Eagles Bomb Vikes 80-73 in Conference Contest

Dana's invasion of the Westmar College Eagles' basketball camp proved to be an unfortunate one as the Vikings of Coach Wilbur Clements submitted a Tri-State Conference game to the Blue and White 80-73.

The Viking squad went down to a bitter defeat at the hands of sharp shooting Eagles Larry Voas and Roger James. The defeat left the Vikings 6-4 in Conference play.

The lead changed hands several times but the traveling squad could not muster enough scoring punch to enable them to come out

Wrestlers Pin 19-11 Loss on Midland

After dropping the first three matches, the undefeated Dana matmen came back strongly in the five upper weight classes to trounce Midland's Warriors by a 19-11 score.

Dark-horses Lynn Barnes and Jim Hanson plus assistant Herb Knudsen, Ernie Abariotes, and Lowell Larson cinched the victory.

Clements' Dribblers Bounce By Raiders

Last Thursday night found the Northwestern Red Raiders submitting their second conference game to the Vikings, 96-74.

The sizzling Vikings found the goal in the first 20 minutes of play 27 times. The victory was carried mostly on the shoulders of Gary Sebbert and Bob Erickson who kept the Vikes in the lead throughout the ball game with 28 and 22 points respectively. It was one of the hottest scoring games for the Red and White as they hit at a consistent pace and played a well-rounded defensive ball game.

For the losers Howard Beernik and Darell Kruen meshed 15 points each. The defeat left the Red Raiders in the Tri-State cellar and gave Dana two victories over the Orange City, Iowa, crew for the season.

on the long scoring end. The Red and White could hit, but not so consistently as previously in the season. It was nip and tuck all the way and Dana was not completely out of the ball game at any time during the contest.

Possibly the thing that hurt the most was the loss early in the second half of center Bob Erickson who was out of the game for twelve minutes due to fouls. Combined with this was the fact that usual scoring leader Gary Sebbert was off his usual point production.

The clutch playing of Erickson netted 18 points and Bud West who snagged 15 along with Gary Lebeck's 12 kept Dana in the ball game.

The Dana grapplers will hope to continue in their winning ways this Friday afternoon as they entertain Kearney State Teachers in a non-conference meet in the gymnasium.

The match, which will take place at 3:30, will proceed the Midland-Dana basketball game.

Kearney is expected to provide the toughest opposition that the Viking wrestlers have met this season. The opponent school is considerably larger than Dana and is a member of the N.C.C.

Buena Vista Presents Strong Opposition for Dana Cagers

Monday evening, February 19, the Viking basketball squad will encounter the toughest opponents of the current season. The Red and White will travel to Storm Lake, Iowa, to tangle with Buena Vista College in a non-conference tilt.

The Iowa team is having a red-hot season with a 19-2 over-all record and an 11-1 conference standing. Dana will be out to stop Little All America candidate, Jim Ahrens, who has broken seven school records in rebounding and scoring. The 6'6" senior is averaging 25.3 points per game.

Another threat to the Vikes is Larry Dick, a 6'5" sophomore, who is clipping off a 19.5 points per game average.

A tough scoring battle between Sebbert and Ericksen vs. Ahrens and Dick should develop as the Vikings set out to upset the Iowans who are seeking a post-season playoff berth.

Meet Your Team

Gary Lebeck Gary is a 6-1 junior hailing from Walnut, Iowa. This is his third year of caging at Dana and he is proving his experience by his fine basketball playing for the Vikings.

Gary's excellent ball handling skills, combined with a deadly jump shot from outside make him a threat to the opponents he faces. He can be counted upon when the chips are down and since making the starting lineup has been a definite asset to the Viking offense.

Gene Wallman "Wally" is another letterman who has been playing for Dana three years. The 6-1 junior has been playing an outstanding relief role and can usually be counted upon for a large number of rebounds and a high standard of defensive play. Gene is quite capable of scoring and has one of the best set shots on the varsity squad. Wally has exceptionally good hands and is a key factor, with his experience, in aiding the team.

Gary Hanson Gary is another Iowa product who comes to us from Somers. Gary, a junior and high-point man in intramurals last year, has broken into the varsity lineup later in this current season. Gary has a great desire to play and has scoring potential under the basket. His hook shot is near deadly and his fine rebounding powers make him another reserve that is essential to the power of the over-all success of any team. Gary's aggressiveness and winning attitude make him a valuable contributor to team success.

Vikings Meet Warriors In Conference Contest Clash with Midland Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night will find the Vikings and the Warriors of Midland clashing in one of the oldest rivalries in the area. The two teams will tangle at 8 p.m. in the Gymnasium.

The Vikings have given up all hope of obtaining the Tri-State Conference Championship laurels. Coach Wilbur Clements and his cagers are hoping to trip up the Warriors who are destined to capture this honor.

The situation was much the same last year at this time. Dana was out of the running and Midland was sweeping through the conference much the same as they are doing this year. This was true last year until Viking forward Gary Sebbert, in a last minute desperation attempt at a field goal, sunk one to win the ball game 72-71. This seemingly stunned the Warriors into realizing that the 'Vikes' were, and are again this year, something to be reckoned with.

Dana is smarting from last weekend's loss to Westmar and appear to be ready to turn out one of their best hard-wood performances of the season.

However, the Orange and Black cannot be discounted. The loss of fine cager Rick Hillman has not seemed to hurt their over all threat to teams that they meet. Word is around also that the Midlanders have obtained Homer Thurman from Illinois who has filled Rick Hillman's shoes. Their unbeaten record this season is evidence of the potency that Midland possesses.

Sports Editor Adds a Note

The battle that is to take place tomorrow night at 8 in the Gym will renew a keen rivalry that has been going on for some time.

For Dana the satisfaction will come not from beating the Champions of the Conference, but, rather the satisfaction will be in beating Midland College in an athletic contest that matches them equally with the Vikings.

Dana Plays Host to Faculty Get-Together

Dana College faculty members will be host to approximately 50 faculty members from Luther, Midland and Concordia Colleges, Saturday evening, February 17, in Alumni Auditorium.

This annual affair which rotates between the colleges is a social get-together for faculty members and gives them an opportunity to visit and discuss topics of common interest.

Entertainment will be in the form of slides of the Dana Choir's tour to Denmark and several dances will be performed by the Folk Dancers.

Borup Opening . . .

The problem of naming the new building has proven a stickler for college officials. There is considerable support for calling it the "Dana Coliseum." One Nebraska newspaper already refers to it as the "Dana Sports Palace." Officially, it still is called the Borup Physical Education Building. The "student activities" part of the name was dropped when it was observed that it would become inaccurate when a new student union is constructed.

Faculty Committee Originates Policy for College Library

The Faculty Committee on the Library has existed on the Dana campus in one form or another for a number of years. As the needs of the growing library facilities have changed, so have the duties of this faculty group.

In the past in working toward accreditation the Library Committee attempted to measure the library as a teaching instrument and a source for individual development. The library was also evaluated in its relation to the fundamental aims of the college.

In rating a college library, these points were considered: 1. Use of library, 2. Financial support, and 3. Holding of books and non-book material.

Concerning improvements on the Dana College library these topics have come under discussion: building up of the audio-visual department; microfilming of college historical material;

1962-63 Calendar Changes Vacations

Dates for next year's college calendar are being set up by Dean of the College, Dr. C. A. Christiansen. Important changes are those concerning vacations and semester break.

All vacations will begin at 5:20 p.m. Thanksgiving and Easter recesses will each be slightly shorter; however, the Christmas vacation is extended to embrace three weekends from December 21, 1962 to January 7, 1963.

A semester break is also being planned for next year. Instead of beginning classes the Monday following first semester final examinations, they will begin on the following Thursday. This extra time is to give both students and faculty members ample opportunity to get themselves organized for second semester classes.

purchase of recordak machine, microfilm reader or microcard reader.

The Faculty Committee on Library this year includes Professor Clois Coon (Chairman), Miss Edith Fox, Miss Aagot D. Hoidahl, Dr. Donald Lehmer and Professor Paul Neve. At a recent meeting this committee discussed the status and potential use of the Swansen Memorial Room. Another matter of concern was the preparation of requests to the Association of College and Research Libraries, Division of the American Library Association, for money to be used by the college for the collection and preservation of documental materials relating to the Danish settlers in the United States.

This and other cultural growths at Dana College are nurtured by the interest and undertakings of such groups as the Faculty Committee on the Library.

Education Board Reviews College

Guests on the campus last Thursday were members of a committee of the Nebraska State Board of Education. This committee was here for the purpose of examining Dana and reporting whether Dana is giving adequate preparation for students entering the teaching profession.

At the three o'clock meeting, many favorable statements were made by members of the committee which indicated that they were pleased with the program of the College in general and also with the education program.

According to Dean Christiansen the official report to be sent from the State Board is expected to be very favorable.

Luther's Catechism Clarified Through Recent Translation

The first translation in contemporary English of Martin Luther's 430-year-old Small Catechism has been endorsed by the ALC's Board of Parish Education.

Luther's Small Catechism has been used as a basic text for doctrinal instruction of young people in Lutheran congregations since it was written by Luther during the Reformation.

Dr. C. Richard Evenson, director of the Board of Parish Education, says that "the new translation will be the first entirely fresh modern language text of Luther's Catechism. The last English translation was made more than 30 years ago."

Work of the committee was extensive. Careful word studies were made from the original German text. Existing English translations were surveyed and evaluated.

The new translation subtitled "A Handbook of Basic Christian Instruction for the Family and the Congregation," will be ready for use on December 1, 1962, if approved by other churches participating in the revision.

Development of the new translation was under the auspices of the Boards of Parish Education of the American, the American Evangelical, the Augustana, the Evangelical, the United and the United Evangelical Lutheran Churches. The Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, the Lutheran Free Church and the Suomi Synod also participated in the work.

Grand View Head Joins Knight Order

Dr. Madsen wasn't the only school president awarded the Order of Dannebrog knighthood last fall. Dr. Ernest D. Nielsen, President of Grand View College, Des Moines, Iowa, was also honored by the King of Denmark. Both men were deservingly appointed the honor in recognition of their valuable contribution to the strengthening of Danish-American cultural relations.
