Nine Dana Seniors Selected To Appear in 'Who's Who'

Nine Dana seniors were recently chosen to be included in the 1962-63 volume of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Being listed in this publication is one of the most significant honors that can be conferred upon seniors. Each senior will have a biographical sketch included in the volume.

The following seniors were chosen on the basis of scholarship, contribution to the college in general and leadership in campus activities.

Arden Dorn

Mr. Arden Dorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Dorn of Pickrell, Nebraska, is a music major and an English minor.

Activities in which Arden has been active are American Scandinavian Foundation, Fine Arts Club, Folk Dancing, band, choir and LSA. He has been a member of each of the above listed organizations all four years at Dana.

Arden is holding the office of president of both the choir and band this year besides serving on the Student Council as a representative-at-large and handling the LSA deputation teams.

Last summer Arden toured parts of the West and Midwest as a member of the "Trailsmen," the Dana College male quartet.

This play considers the question of man's suffering and uses the book of Job as the framework for the exposition of MacLeish's philosophy concerning human suffering.

This play is being staged every evening, except Mondays by the Omaha Playhouse from November 16 through December 1.

Lawson Twins Present Concert On Duo-Pianos

Dana College presents the first of the 1962-63 lyceum programs, Faith and Hope Lawson, duo-pianists, on Wednesday, November 14 at 8 p.m. in Alumni Memorial Auditorium. Admission for students will be their activities card.

Faith and Hope Lawson, who have been performing together since the age of ten, have given concerts throughout New York and Pennsylvania for the National Federation of Music Clubs, colleges and civic organizations.

Although a duo-piano team, they entered the Julliard School of Music as soloists and were graduated with the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Master of Science. While students at Julliard, they studied piano on scholarship with Gordon Stanley, Joseph Bloch and Sascha Gorodnitzki. They also appeared in concerts at the Julliard School where they were members of Mu Phi Epsilon.

These famous twin duo-pianists were born in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, in 1938. Their musical training began at the age of five when they showed an interest in the piano. Their teacher soon recognized their talent. In the succeeding years, they received the Paderwski Gold Medal, High School Diploma and scholarship for superior ratings in the National Piano Guild Auditions.

As members of the National Federation of Music Clubs, they were awarded the Gold Certificate for five consecutive superior ratings in annual festivals. While studying at the Chautauqua Summer Music School, the twins were selected as soloists with the Chautauqua Student Symphony Orchestra.

"These young artists possess excellent technique . . . and when performing together one is constantly surprised at their sensitivity of balance." The Baldwin School of Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, says of their concert, "Beautiful concert, beautifully played, and a rare pleasure for students and faculty alike." This program is co-sponsored by the Blair Friends of Performing Arts. Preceding the program this group will hold a discussion analyzing the program. Lucile B. Ferguson will lead the discussion from 7 until 7:40. The discussion is open to all faculty and students.

Dana College Seal Symbolizes Viking's Vigor And Power

Dana College adopted a college seal or coat of arms in 1931. This seal was much the same as the present one. The covers of Dana College matchbooks still display the old seal.

The parts of the seal are symbolic in meaning. The Viking in the center symbolizes not only the Viking ancestry of Dana's founders, but also vigor and power. The original seal had a torch of knowledge on one side and a harp representing the music department on the other. When the seal was "modernized," these were removed. The cross at the top is symbolic of Dana's Christian mission. At the bottom of the seal appears the college motto, "Veritas Vincit" — Truth Conquers.

Editor's Note—Saga of the Tower: A History of Dana College and Trinity Seminary" by William E. Christensen, and Miss Luella Nielsen were the sources of information for this series of articles.

By Way of Bob For Girls Only! Way To Popularity

Friends of Dana and the "Dana Family" witnessed the formal dedication of the Charles A. Dana Hall of Science last Sunday afternoon. As expressed numerous times during the dedication program, the new science hall is "a dream come true, the product of many painstaking hours of research and planning."

Dana College is indeed indebted to Dr. Dana, not only for his challenge which made the new science hall possible, but also for his great interest in Dana College as an institution of Christian Higher Education.

It behooves us here at Dana to always remember Dr. Dana's philosophy as reiterated by his representative, Dr. Henry Littlefield, Vice-President of the Charles A. Dana Foundation: "I never give a dollar; it is always an investment." In the use of this new facility, all those who study or do research in this new science hall must do their part in making this investment of Dr. Dana's bring worthwhile dividends.

The sophomores are to be commended on the fine carnival which they held in Borup last Saturday. It was a great deal of fun for those who took part and was a real contribution to the social activities of the campus.

Hymns Slighted By Long Chapel Talks

Our morning chapel services seem to have become a lecture class rather than a period of worship and meditation. The chapel speakers seem to think that the most important part of the service is the meditation which they present. This is obviously shown in their speaking so long so as to not allow time for the singing of a hymn at the close.

Speakers should remember that they have an allotted time in which to speak, and that their running overtime (and this is constantly being done) actually ruins the end of the service; because after a speaker has spoken longer than he should have, those listening realize that he has run over his time and that the rest of the service will have to be cut short in order to allow them to get to their respective classes on time.

A lot of students come to chapel almost exclusively to sing the hymns which are an integral part of worship, and then when they come to chapel and get to sing only one hymn (or maybe a hurried stanza of a hymn at the end of the service), they leave the chapel feeling that their morning's worship is not quite complete.

To alleviate this problem, each speaker should take into consideration when preparing his address to make it so that it will not be longer than the allotted eight to ten minutes, or whatever the case may be, therefore allowing ample time for the singing of an entire hymn at the end of the service.

And while we're offering suggestions, why not have a "hymn-sing" soon? They are enjoyed by everyone and really "go over big."

Isn't It Strange?

When the other fellow takes a long time to do something, he's slow. But when I take a long time to do something, I'm thorough.

When the other fellow doesn't do it, he's too lazy. But when I don't do it, I'm too busy. . . .

When the other fellow goes ahead and does something without being told, he's overstepping his bounds. But when I go ahead without being told, that's initiative.

When the other fellow states his side of a question strongly, he's bullheaded. But when I state a question strongly, I'm being firm.

When the other fellow overlooks a few of the rules of etiquette, he's rude. But when I skip a few of the rules, I'm original.

When the other fellow does something that pleases the professor, he's polishing the apple. But when I do something that pleases the professor, that's cooperation.

When the other fellow gets ahead, he sure had the lucky breaks. But when I manage to get ahead, Man! That's hard work.

Strange, isn't it . . . or is it? (Borrowed from "The Alumnus," Pacific Lutheran University. —Editor)

"The Popular College Girl" was the title of an article in Hermes, January 1, 1927. On the last page of that paper was a short item, part of which follows here:

"Note Well, Girls!"

"A popular college girl, from the masculine viewpoint, must have certain attributes. The essential requirements, as I see them, are:

She must be fairly intelligent. She must be vigorous and sportsmanlike.

She must be passably good looking.

She must not be "snobbish" or "catty."

She must not be overly sentimental, or "mushy."

She must be capable of assuming responsibilities.

She must be of refined character.

She must possess a reputation for fidelity and fraternity."

So, those were the "good old days." Have ideas really changed much?

Council Clips

By Tom Lange

Under old business at Student Council last week Herb told us that the discussion topics chosen for the ALC College Conference to be held at Dana will be athletics, business and literature and that prominent figures from each of these fields will be selected as lecturers.

The first new business discussed was the possibility of keeping the swimming pool and pool room at a warmer temperature. Two people from council were asked to look into the matter.

The subject of dances on or off campus sponsored by organizations was brought up but was tabled until the administration's present policy could be learned.

Kay McGill presented the idea of purchasing a school flag and showed the council a proposed design. The cost of about $150 would be raised in some special project. Kay also said the social committee is looking into the possibilities of renting current theater movies to be shown free of charge to students.

Council adjourned after a brief discussion concerning student tutors who could be hired by the school to tutor in their major subject area.

Rev. Joe Bash, vocational director of the American Lutheran Church, will be the speaker at the LSA meeting on November 13.

His program will be planned around the hymns and songs to which he has given the calypso beat. These new arrangements were originally designed for youth groups and Luther Leagues.

Gary Hanson, LSA president, says the meeting promises to be a very enjoyable evening.

Valuable Materials Added To Library

Dana College recently received a number of additional books and articles for the library. Dr. William C. Smith, formerly of the Sociology Department, sent a copy of The Journal of Religious Thought, in which his article appears "When Will the Churches Wake Up?"

Miss Rubie Jessen of Omaha presented the library with forty-six volumes in the Danish language, which included not only standard literary works but also older books. Among the most outstanding of the latter were five music books published in the 1840's and containing songs and ballads of various countries.

Mr. Sigurd J. Anker, former instructor at Dana, now of Beaumont, California, recently sent a five volume set of Brache's Nordens Historie.

Added to the Dana College historical file are two copies of the play "An Idealist: Herod the King" by Kaj Munk, as revised by Professors Luella Nielsen, Sieghard Krueger and Norman C. Bansen.

Vikings Meet Tigers In Last Football Game Of Season

In the last game of the football season, the Dana College Vikings will be guests of Doane in a non-conference tilt on Saturday afternoon. The Vikings will be capping a winning year with a share of the conference title in their grasp.

Last year Dana faced Doane in the second game of the season. Dana lost, 21-0, in a battle which saw many fumbles. This year, thus far, Doane has won only one game. Although they are weaker than last year, they are a young team and are improving with each game. Doane's passing game is to be feared and will make the contest Saturday very tough for the Vikings.

Vikings Upset By Meet The Vikings Plainsmen 13-2

Last Friday night the Dana College Vikings journeyed to Lincoln to meet the Nebraska Wesleyan Plainsmen in the latter's Homecoming game. The Plainsmen got some breaks, the Vikings got many penalties, and Wesleyan won 13-2.

Dana's defense outscored the offense in the second consecutive game and once again it was Byron Jensen who played an important part. This time Jensen tackled a Plainsmen back in the end zone for a safety. This play was set up by a 57-yard punt by Al Reinking, a punt that rolled dead on the Plainsmen 5-yard line.

Dana shares the Tri-State Conference championship with Concordia, as a result of the Bulldog's win over Midland on Saturday night.

Teachers, Have Mercy!

I am neither old nor stuffy.
I was tutored past McGuffey
And I cut my second dentals
On the good old fundamentals.
But dear teacher, have a care,
You are giving me gray hair.
Please ease off this nightly dorm work,
I've had enough of Johnnie homework.
I tell you it must stop,
Or I'm bound to blow my top.

Jim Nilmeier—Fresno, California, sends freshman Jim Nilmeier who excels at offensive end. The "Big Reds" already feel his helping hand on the gridiron. Jim should really be a mainstay next year, after showing us what he is capable of doing.

Mike Pedersen—Mike Pedersen of Omaha, Nebraska, is a sophomore end. Mike should blossom into a fine defensive end this year as he has a lot of desire and should be tough.

Brian Peterson—Brian is a Blair, Nebraska, youth who has developed as a mainstay on the Viking squad. Although only a freshman, Brian has shown some every experienced line play.

Gerald Jorgensen—From Pine River, Wisconsin, comes sophomore Jerry Jorgensen. Jerry has capabilities at both guard and tackle and should add much to the defensive line with experience.

Greg Mitchell—Berlin, Wisconsin, sends an outstanding freshman fullback in Greg Mitchell. "Mitch" is a hard-running speedy fullback who just doesn't know when to stop. Throughout high school, "Mitch" acquired some very valuable experience which is really paying off now.

Jan Murphy—From Burbank, South Dakota, comes freshman guard, Jan Murphy. Murphy shows great promise as a defensive linebacker and after gaining experience this year, he should show what he really has.

Kenneth Quirk—From Racine, Wisconsin, comes Ken Quirk, a sophomore halfback. Ken is quite inexperienced, but he is developing into a back who can play both offense and defense.

Marlow Remmers—Marlow hails from Pickrell, Nebraska, and excels at end. As a freshman he is gaining valuable experience. Marlow has good hands which could go well with a fine Dana passing game later on.

Brian Rich—Brian, a junior halfback from Falmouth, Maine, is an inexperienced rangy back who is being groomed to bolster the defensive backfield.

Clifford Staben—Sophomore Clifford Staben is a fullback from Herman, Nebraska. Cliff may see action after gaining more experience in college football.
