Dr. Lehmer Needs Summer Muscles

Dr. Donald Lehmer of the Sociology-Anthropology Department will be conducting an archeological field project for the North Dakota State Historical society during the coming summer.

Work on the project will consist of excavating an ancient Indian village located somewhere in the Missouri River Valley between Bismarck and the South Dakota line.

Dr. Lehmer says, "We are looking for student labor to make up the field party. Any guys who are interested in a summer of hard work on the end of a long handled shovel, tinged with a little of the romance of archeology, are invited to apply."

Work on the project will begin around June 1 and workers will be in the field about eight weeks.

There will be a general meeting of all those interested in the expedition at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 15. Pay, living conditions and equipment will be discussed at this meeting.

Danish Mayor Tours The Campus

Mr. Urban Hansen, Lord Mayor of Copenhagen, was a visitor on campus last Friday, April 10.

During the afternoon, Mr. Hansen showed a film on Copenhagen entitled "What Is A City?" and gave a short talk on the problems of city government in Denmark.

Following the lecture, there was a coffee hour in the Mickelsen Hall Lounge.

Homecoming Plans Discussion—April 16

First meeting of the 1964 Homecoming Committee will be on Thursday evening, April 16, following Student Council—8:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Memorial Conference Room. Members of the 1963 Committee are asked to meet with the 1964 Committee in this first planning session. Homecoming dates have been set for October 16-17-18.

New Officer Slate Elected on Friday

Elected Student Body President for the coming year in last Friday's elections was David Copperud, a junior from Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Vice-president for the coming year will be Timothy Jensen, a sophomore from Castro Valley, California.

Re-elected to the position of Secretary of the student body is Kathy Olsen, a junior from Reno, Nevada.

Serving as Treasurer will be Karl Petersen, a sophomore from Traer, Iowa.

The election committee reports that about eighty-five per cent of the student body voted.

Senior Study Plans Facilitated By Grants

As graduation time draws near, some of the Seniors have made plans and received grants and fellowships to go on for graduate study.

Phyllis Rasmussen, an English major, has received a Future Faculty Fellowship of $1000 granted by the American Lutheran Church. She will be studying for a Masters degree in Library Science.

Bill Thompson, a chemistry major with minors in biology and mathematics, has received a National Defense Education Act Fellowship tenable at the Science Research Institute associated with Oregon State University at Corvallis, Oregon. This amounts to $2000 per school year plus tuition and fees. He will be studying biochemistry.

Larry Weiss is the recipient of a U. S. Public Health Service Grant and a teaching assistantship from the University of Minnesota, School of Medicine, Department of Anatomy, for the amount of $2800 plus full tuition. He is currently a general science major and will be studying anatomy in graduate school.

Robert Hansen has received a fellowship from the University of Cincinnati to further his study in his major area—history. The fellowship is for three years tuition plus $6,600.

A biology major at Dana, Tom Lange will be studying medicine at the University of Wisconsin Medical School in Madison, Wisconsin.

Parents' Day Set For Christian College Sunday

Parents' Day, an annual event at Dana College, is to be held this Sunday, April 19. Invitations have been sent to all parents of Dana students as well as students who have registered for classes next fall.

Scheduled for the day is a worship service at 11:00 a.m. in Alumni Memorial Auditorium. The Dana College Choir will sing. Dr. Madsen will give the sermon and Rev. John Nielsen will be liturgist.

Dinner will be served in the college dining room. Reservations must be made ahead of time.

During the afternoon, open house will be held from 1:30-3:00 p.m. Parents are invited to visit all campus facilities including living quarters. Faculty members and administrative officers will be in their offices during that time period in the event parents want to meet them personally.

The President's Reception in Borup Coliseum will be held at 3 p.m. for all parents, students and campus visitors. Dr. Madsen will speak briefly. There also will be a greeting from Tom Lange, student body president. Coffee will be served.

Because of the limited facilities, the evening meal will not be available to parents and campus visitors.

At 7:30 p.m., the Dana College Choir will present the "Requiem" by Johannes Brahms in Alumni Memorial Auditorium.

Last year approximately 700 parents from eighteen states attended and a similar attendance is expected this year. This is Dana's way of observing National Christian College Sunday.

All arrangements for the day are being handled by the Public Relations Office.

Publications Editors

Publications editors were elected for the coming school year in an election before Easter.

Assuming the duties of Hermes editor will be Jani Johnson, a sophomore from Englewood, Colorado.

Judi Johnson, a sophomore from Englewood, Colorado, has been elected editor of Danian.

Janie Jensen, a junior from Blair, Nebraska, will be serving as Sower editor next year.

Welsch Stars In Club Benefit

The History Club will present "An Evening with Mr. Welsch" on April 23 at 8:00 in AMA. This will be Mr. Welsch's last performance on campus. So he has chosen those folk songs which are his favorites, representing many of the countries of the world. He says that "it will be an interesting and fun evening. I hope to see as many of my friends as possible."

This program is a benefit. The History Club is starting a fund for a microfilm reader for the library. As it will cost about $600, all contributions will be appreciated. There will be a twenty-five cent admission charge for students and a fifty cent admission charge for adults.

NOTICE

Because the budget of Hermes will only allow for so many issues, there will not be an issue on April 21. The next issue will be distributed on April 23. Material for that issue may be turned in at any time between now and then.

YGOPs To Sponsor A Whitaker Wipeout

T.V. comes to campus! As subtle and as interrogating as the censorship laws will allow. (A few blackouts can be guaranteed.) The program sponsored by the YGOP (Dana's Young Republicans) will be similar to the "Tonight Show" and the "Jack Parr Show;" Mr. Rod Whitaker will moderate an "Assorted" program.

Known participants in the program include the J.D.'s, the Squires, and the Dana Players; the Young Republicans will improvise when necessary.

Jeepneys and Carabaos Characterize Dasmarinas

(Following is an article written by Mrs. Kenneth Muel (Ruth Meyer), 1963 Dana graduate, who with her husband is stationed in the Philippines where they are both teachers.)

DAY IN DASMARINAS

Morning comes to Dasmarinas with sound even before sunrise. The world is still dark. The curtain goes up when the horn of the bus announces its first trip through town to Manila.

"Hot food. hot food," cries the eight-year old seller walking with his wares on his head.

I go downstairs to prepare breakfast before the electricity goes off for the day.

The soft sound of the bamboo broom on the front steps can be heard. Roberta, one of the two young Filipinos, is already at work. She bends from the waist, sweeping with short brooms of the East. Virginia unlocked the gate and picked up the bread which was delivered to our gate around 4:30 a.m.

The light continues to come up, gradually revealing more of the town to us. Men riding carabaos out to the rice fields, wrinkled women carrying their products on their heads to market and children doing their morning duties is the scene before us. Pigs, chickens and dogs roam the streets looking for food.

We have running water, but all are not so favored. Other residents go to the river with gasoline cans, balancing them on their shoulders by a pole.

Before seven o'clock, we start for school. Ken walks or rides a jeepney. The jeepney is a World War II type jeep converted into a small bus which holds half a dozen or more passengers. These little vehicles have highly personalized names and elaborate paint jobs

School may start between seven and eight o'clock depending on the number of pupils one has there.

School continues in an informal manner with occasional interruptions—smugglers selling their wares, beggars asking for money, pupils deciding to sweep the floor and many others.

Noon time arrives and we return to our homes for lunch. This is the time we see the carabao wallowing in a muddy pool. Immersing in the water all that is seen is just his nose, eyes and tips of his horns. With the sun beating on my skin, I envy the carabao in his bliss. It is a daily necessity to keep this animal cool for he has no sweat glands.

Returning to school, we follow the same pattern as in the morning. This may be broken by the bells of the Catholic Church telling us of another funeral or a meeting called by the principal.

During the day, the older men and the jobless young ones sit under the shade of the mango tree. They will move when I bring my remedial reading classes outside, yet remain close enough to watch us.

After school we return home and prepare supper. While eating outside, we can see the workers returning from the fields. It's only an hour before darkness. Since most families do not have electricity, they prepare for bed. The curtain goes down on this barrio when the sun sets.

Shakespeare Proceeds To Promote Foreign Student

Once again, as in the years past, the Shakespearean Literature class is preparing, for presentation to the public, excerpts from three of Shakespeare's better known works. Since the class has a rather unique problem this year, (a shortage of men) they had to seek some outside assistance. Therefore members of the Dana Players and other interested students will be supplementing the cast, crew and directing staff.

For the program this year, the class has chosen excerpts from Much Ado About Nothing, Richard II, and Midsummer Night's Dream. The segment from Much Ado . . . deals with a chronic woman hater (played by Paul Dirks) and an avid man hater (played by Sidney Larson) that are duped, through the combined efforts of servants, friends (?) and enemies, into believing that each is loved by the other. The results are quite interesting.

In two highly dramatic scenes from Richard II, the Duke of York (played by David Falksen) places loyalty to his king over family ties when he discovers his son (played by Jack Seeley) is about to engage in treason by professing loyalty to the deposed king of England.

Highlighting the evening will be the excerpt from Midsummer Night's Dream. Here we have a group of clumsy workmen who aspire to please the Duke by presenting a classical tragedy to the wedding party on the Duke's wedding day. Bottom (played by Tim Jensen) is assigned to play the part of Pyramus, a young lover, and Flute (played by Larry Palmblade) is to play the part of Thisbe, the object of Pyramus' affection. The "play within the play" turns out to be a slightly fractured version of Shakespeare's own Romeo and Juliet.

In addition, there will be special musical arrangements of some of Shakespeare's sonnets, a replica of the original Globe theater and paintings of scenes from Twelfth Night. A portion of the proceeds of the evening will be turned over to the support of a foreign exchange student here at Dana. The class would like to ask all of you to help with this worthy cause.

Directors for the evening are JoAnn Urie, Jack Seeley and Richard Moosmann. Performance night is Friday, April 17; curtain time, 8:00 P.M. Admission will be fifty cents.

Christian Colleges Question Validity

Some weeks ago an article in Hermes announced the forthcoming American Lutheran Church College Student Conference to be held November 26-28 at Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, Washington. That article presented the general theme of this fifth annual ALC Conference, "Church College Community — Why?", but now more concrete details are available.

Despite the considerable distance from Dana to PLU, costs will be extremely low. Delegates from most of the colleges (including Dana) who attend the conference will travel as a group from Minneapolis to Tacoma by train. The train will leave Minneapolis on Tuesday night, November 24, and return to the same station Monday morning, November 30. Because of very substantial subsidies by both PLU and the ALC Youth Department, the cost of the train travel will be no more than $18.50 per person, whereas the normal group rate would be approximately $63 per person. Board and room at Tacoma will be paid by PLU.

Because this special rare will be available to only a limited number of people, and because the conference will require a significant amount of advance preparation both individually and in study groups, if you do desire to attend it is imperative that you announce your intentions as soon as possible. This week there will be a notice on the Pioneer Memorial bulletin board. Please sign it if you are at all interested in going, and more information will be made available to you shortly thereafter.

Since this conference will pose some basic questions about the meaning of our church college life, I am confident that it will be of significant benefit to all who attend and also to the entire campus.

Responsibilities Of Dana's Blair Votes

A number of Dana students voted in the April 7, 1964, local elections of the city of Blair. This they had a legal right to do if they were eligible under the established laws. Certainly what the city of Blair does is of concern to all students at Dana College, just as much as what Dana people do is of concern to the residents of Blair.

Students who voted in Blair have established legal residence in Blair for this year and should vote there in the fall election. They have assumed the responsibility of citizens for voting, and also for the payment of the poll tax and other taxes levied in Nebraska on all citizens over twenty-one. They have also established legal residence in Nebraska so that, while they have lost the privilege of attending their home-state universities except on a non-resident basis, they have gained the right to attend Nebraska state colleges and universities subject only to resident fees. Such responsibilities as these usually lead most students to maintain their home states as legal residence.

The results of voting in Blair can be far reaching for Dana students and for Blair. To assume voluntarily such responsibilities as the above, as well as the rights of citizens of the city and of the state, can be a mark of maturity for the person who does so.

F.S.F.! Foreign Student Fund Plans

Fellow Students,

Several weeks ago the Student Council decided to undertake a project which would enable us to sponsor a foreign student at Dana. Although a great deal of communication will still be necessary for completing all the arrangements, we are confident enough in the value and mission of this venture to begin building our Foreign Student Fund now.

One of the sources of income for our fund will be the proceeds from the annual Elizabethan Evening to be performed this Friday evening. I urge you to support our project to bring a foreign student to Dana by attending this highly entertaining evening of Shakespearean comedy and drama. Tickets will be on sale from Student Council members and also at the door.

Tom Lange,
Student Body President

Council Clips

Any profit, over and above expenses, made on the Shakespearean production Friday, April 17, will be added to the Foreign Student Fund. Students are urged to support this fund in any way possible. Information concerning the involvement of home churches or other means of obtaining funds is available from Tom Lange, Student Body President.

A student government seminar for old and new officers, cabinet members and Council members will be held Saturday, April 18. The purpose of this is to better acquaint the new officers with the workings of the student government and to create a smooth transition of this administration to the next.

The proposed changes for the constitution were discussed at great length with Parliamentarian John Cederberg answering questions and clarifying points for Council members. Several suggestions by Council on the proposed changes were considered and subsequently written in for better clarification, wording or operation. Target date for a referendum ballot to approve these changes is set for April 24.

Tim Jensen, chairman of the Council's Student Congregation Committee reported on the progress made by the committee and read the letter which will be submitted to Dr. Madsen who will in turn submit the proposals made by the committee to the Board of Regents.

The proposals set forth by the committee were:

(1) permission to begin holding worship services on campus with the possibility of organizing a congregation in the future if the students so desire, but to keep the structure fluid enough to adequately meet the needs of such an organization and to allow it to minister as effectively as possible;

(2) permission to hold open communion with the idea being that the campus ministry would most likely have to be considered like that of the military chaplaincy where the communion of believers in the body of Christ transcends denominational lines; and

(3) since there would not be any formal structure as such or constitution at the onset, that the congregation of students be allowed to financially support those areas which it sees most fit without any definite commitment to any particular phase that might otherwise be established if a constitution were in vogue.

Council members are reminded to write their critiques of Council activities for the past year, giving constructive criticisms, emphasizing the strong and weak points of the Council and/or officers, and analyzing to a degree the effectiveness or overall purpose that the Council has served this year in relation to the whole student body. These should be turned in Thursday, April 16, at the regular Council meeting.

Guest Appreciates Inspiration; Learning

"We really appreciated all the hospitality, and above all the best program I have seen sponsored by a church group. I am convinced that if many programs like that were presented in various churches, there would develop such an understanding of a true Christian life that more harvest of the gospel would result because I am sure action speaks louder than words. It was indeed a very inspiring program and I personally learned very much from it.

"We would like to thank you very much for all the kindnesses and hospitality extended to us, both by the faculty and the students. We really appreciated the friendliness of the people on the campus."

Very sincerely,
Mutuku John Mutinga

Spring Sports Season Sees Promising Future

Official opening of the spring sports season was earmarked when the track team traveled to Nebraska Wesleyan on April 3. Although the team did not make a terrific over-all victory in this meet the individual performances were quite good for this early in the season.

Returning lettermen include Ron Beck in the shotput, discus and javelin and Knight Wynn in the 100-yard dash, the broad jump and the high jump. Owen Vasby will carry the pole vault and broad jump duties. Don Sutton is returning to run the quarter mile and will run the 220-yard dash due to the shortage of sprinters.

Gary Hiemke is back to run the half-mile and Ron Petrick is back after a five-year absence to take up the shotput. Also returning after an absence is Walt Casson in the 440. Dennis Barker will be competing in the high hurdles and the pole vault.

New members include Les Haussler, a junior transfer from McCook, in the high jump; Mike Sink, a sophomore who is running for the first time and is expected to do a good job in the 440; Herluf Jensen in the 100 and 200 yard dashes; Jim McLaren, Wayne Sittler and Ben Rogge in the 440 and 880; Myron Hansen will be running the mile.

Results of the meet had Ron Beck taking second place in the shotput with a toss of 45 feet 5 inches, and fourth in the javelin with a throw of 162 feet. Knight "Train" Wynn placed second in the broad jump with a leap of 20 feet 10 1/4 inches. Owen Vasby was in third place behind "Train" with a 20 feet, 9 inch effort, and he placed second in the pole vault at 11 feet, 9 inches.

Don Sutton placed second in the 440 with a time of 53.9 seconds. Gary Hiemke took fourth place behind three Northwestern runners in the 880 with a time of 2:06.5. Les Haussler tied for fourth place in the high jump at 5 feet, 5 inches. Dennis Barker took fourth in the high hurdles in 16.9 seconds.

Overall team points showed Northwestern out in front with 119 1/2 points, followed by Midland with 38 points. Dana came in third with 17 1/2 points.

According to Coach Peterson all the returning trackmen started this season at almost the same level of performance that they left off at last year. This is an indication that although we are an extremely small team this year, we should have a pretty fair team with the men that are out.

The next meet is April 15 at Midland. This is the annual Midland Relays; it will start at 6:45 p.m. The only home meet of the season will be on Friday, April 17, with Westmar and Tarkio.

Candidate Speaks Before Local Dems

J. R. Swenson, Democratic candidate for Congress from the second district, spoke to a gathering of Dana and Washington County Young Democrats last Wednesday, April 8.

"Nebraska is progressive," said Mr. Swenson, "and the way to show the nation that it is to have active and effective representation in Washington."

In his talk, Mr. Swenson brought out the issue of river development, especially the development of recreation areas on the Missouri and other rivers in the area.

A second issue pointed out was that the future of the whole world depends on effective education. He feels that no state in the union is without resources to provide primary and secondary education but that some help may be needed in the area of higher education. There are two approaches to this problem, according to Mr. Swenson, that of providing assistance in building education facilities. The other, through direct aid to students through grants and loans. He pointed out that we can not afford to let talent go unused because of a lack of money for education.

American Image In India Changes

There is no single image of America in India, but many images — constantly changing. This was one of the points brought out by Dr. Gilbert Fite in his lecture here on April 1.

Dr. Fite went to India for the University of Missouri to teach on the college level. He noted that the impact of Americans working in India in various jobs is substantial and could be even greater.

Basic good will in India can be built in three ways (1) by getting the best individuals for particular jobs in India, (2) by more judicious use of foreign aid, and (3) by greater support to training of teachers for such things as American history in India.

There are no pat answers, according to Dr. Fite, but there must be continued concern for India and her problems on all levels.
