Dana Profs Attend Language Meeting

Two Dana professors Dr. Herta Engelman and Dr. A. Gordon Ferguson, will attend a meeting of the Midwest Modern Languages Association in Bloomington, Illinois, May 7-9. The main theme of the meeting will be Shakespeare, in observance of the 400th anniversary of his birth.

At the meeting Dr. Ferguson will read a paper entitled, "España actual en la novela reporterial de Francisco Candel" (The real Spain in the novel of Francisco Candel). Candel, in the face of rigorous censorship, writes what he sees in contemporary Spain.

Dana Represented At ALC Convention

This past week the Annual Convention of the Central District of the American Lutheran Church was held in Oklahoma. Dr. and Mrs. Madsen, Reverend John Nielsen, Reverend Wm. Thomsen and Mr. Boas Weismann attended the convention representing Dana College.

Reverend Nielsen participated in a panel on Christian Higher Education. Chairman of this panel was Reverend Donald Falon, who is present chairman of the committee on Christian higher education. Students may remember Rev. Falon as one of the speakers for Spiritual Emphasis Days during the 1962-63 school year.

Falk Wins Local Loveman Award

John Falk has been named winner of the local Amy Loveman Student Library Award. His winning entry was chosen from three submitted by Dana Students.

Each entry consisted of a selection of books from the student's library, an annotated bibliography covering the 35 books, and an essay concerning the student's library and plans for his future library.

As the local winner Falk's bibliography and essay will be submitted to the national contest where the prize is $1,000.00 in cash.

Therm Accepted For Peace Corps Training

Therm Kaldahl has been accepted by the Peace Corps for training during the summer and possible assignment overseas. It is highly probable that he will take part in a secondary education project in Turkey. Final selection of volunteers will not be made until the end of the training period.

If accepted for the project, he will be the eighth Dana student to be accepted for Peace Corps training and the sixth to serve overseas.

Former Dana students now serving with the Peace Corps are Larry Dornacker (in Nepal), Paul Larson (Thailand), Ruth and Kenneth Muehl (Philippines), and Brenda Francis Krueger (Nigeria). Siegard Krueger, former Instructor in Speech, is also serving in Nigeria.

Dana Receives Grant for Science

A grant consisting of $7,750.00 has been awarded to Dana College by the National Science Foundation. This sum will be duplicated by college funds, giving a total of $15,000.00 to the Science Department.

This money will be used for purchasing laboratory equipment for use in teaching new courses. Dr. C. A. Christiansen declared that the two new courses, Biological Methods and Cellular Biology, will be introduced in the 1964-65 school year.

In commenting about the grant, Dr. Christiansen stated; "The addition of these two new courses will better prepare Dana graduates for graduate school in biology, teaching in secondary schools and careers in the medical sciences by giving them an introduction to the methods, techniques and instruments used in experimental research biology as well as a broader background in the area of cytology, cell physiology and bio-chemistry."

'Camelot' Relives As Theme For May Fest

Students and guests will be transported to the fabled land of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table this weekend as the Seniors present the annual May Fest which this year features the theme of "Camelot". Festivities will be held May 8-9.

On Friday, May 8, festivities begin with the banquet, 5:30-7:30 p.m., in the Dining Hall. This is free to all students who hold seven-day meal tickets. Cost for others is $1.50 paid at the door. At 8:00 the Coronation ceremonies for May Fest King and Queen will be held in Alumni Memorial Auditorium. Following will be a concert by the Dana College Band.

The May Fest Dance will be held on Saturday evening from 9 p.m. - 1 a.m. in Borup Coliseum. This year it will feature the music of The Starliters. This dance is semi-formal and the cost is $2 per couple.

May Fest tickets will be on sale this week in the Dining Hall during lunch, 11:30 - 1:00 and at night from 5:30 - 6:30. Off-campus students who do not eat lunch in the dining hall may purchase tickets in the canteen on Wednesday, May 6, 10:30 - 11:30 a.m. and Thursday, May 7, 9 - 10:30 a.m. in the canteen.

Seniors Indicate Future Plans

Elizabeth A. Nielsen has received a graduate assistantship in the amount of $3800 from the University of Wyoming. At Dana, Liz has majors in math and art, and an English minor. She will be doing graduate study in mathematics.

Roy Williams will be doing graduate work next year at the State University of South Dakota at Vermillion in the area of business administration. He received an assistantship of $1200 to cover all school expenses plus a small monthly expense allowance. He has a major-minor in business administration and an English minor.

Richard Jorgensen received a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for one year amounting to $1800 plus tuition and fees. He plans to attend Duke University in Durham, North Carolina, to do graduate work in the field of history. Rich has a major in both history and English, and a minor in German.

Therm Kaldahl has been accepted for training by the Peace Corps. His major at Dana is psychology and his minor is English.

Stone Research Paper Published

Mr. Larrie Stone of the Dana biology department has published a scientific paper entitled "A Chromosome Analysis of the Domestic Pig (Sus Scrofa) Utilizing a Peripheral Blood Culture Technique". The paper appeared in the Canadian Journal of Genetics and Cytology in March 1963.

This study, made by Mr. Stone, utilized a relatively new technique of white blood cells in tissue culture and then later using the cells for chromosome analysis. Through this technique the chromosomes can be analyzed without harming the organism; thus, they can still be used for breeding purposes. A correlation of the chromosome complement and a breeding program can then be made.

Mr. Stone has received nine requests from individuals in foreign universities wanting translations of his paper.

Peace Corps Test Given Saturday

The next Peace Corps Placement Test will be given on Saturday, May 9. Anyone interested in taking the test should see Mr. Emmerich in PM 307 immediately.

Efforts of Many Seen In New Worship Setting

A new worship setting, consisting primarily of an altar, lectern-pulpit, and back drop paneling, now replaces the old chapel setting in Alumni Memorial that has been used by the college for quite a number of years.

The setting is representative of a great deal of work on the part of several faculty members and students. Conceiving and designing the project were the Rev. John Nielsen, campus pastor; Mr. Rod Whitaker, dramatics director; and the Rev. F. William Thomsen, art professor. The building was done primarily by the drama department's technical crew consisting of chairman Steve McIlree, Fred Lange, Jim Beck and Jan Dudley.

The open-front altar, the tapered podium and the wooden back-drop paneling are made of Philippine mahogany. The entire setting is collapsible and can be set up in any desired place, for example on the east end of Alumni Memorial or in Borup Coliseum for graduation-commencement exercises.

Doing the art work for the setting were Fred Lange and the Rev. Thomsen. The dove of hope with the green sprig in its beak on the lectern-pulpit was conceived and wrought by Fred Lange. It is presently made of very thin wood, but plans are for it to be made in either brass or wrought iron.

The two stained-glass windows which are in the paneling above the altar were also designed and made by Fred. These two are not the final product, as in the near future the present "glass" will be replaced with real stained-glass.

A Greek cross made of the same material as the dove on the podium will one day be affixed to the front side of the altar.

Hanging above the altar in the center is a painting done by Rev. Thomsen entitled the "Call and Commission of Isaiah." The basis for this is in Isaiah 6: the historical setting was in the "In the year that King Uzziah died . . ." about 730 B. C., just previous to the Assyrian capture and dispersion of the ten tribes of Israel. Isaiah is fearful that a collapse will follow and it is a period of crisis and trial.

It is out of this crucible that ". . . I (Isaiah) saw the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up . . ." God speaks to Isaiah and he is mindful of his sin: "Woe is me! for I am undone; because I am a man of unclean lips . . ." and at the same time he realizes that he dwells ". . . in the midst of a people of unclean lips."

Then one of the seraphims (represented in the painting by the wings) that Isaiah sees in his vision of the Lord, comes to him and cleanses him, ". . . having a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar." And with this coal he touched the lips of Isaiah and declared "...Lo, this hath touched thy lips; and thine iniquity is taken away and thy sin purged . . ."

Following this the Lord asks for someone to go in the face of great danger, into the wasteland, into the cities ". . . wasted without inhabitant and the houses without man (depicted in the painting as a row of empty houses), and the land . . . utterly desolate" (depicted by the scraggly-looking branch, a symbol of desolation.)

Isaiah was alone (portrayed as the man in the painting with his arms uplifted towards heaven); he was the prophet of the Lord in a time of great crisis and difficulty. Yet there was hope in the tenth that would be saved and continue, the "holy seed shall be in its stump" and Isaiah sees the perpetuation of the true Israel of God.

This picture of Pastor Thomsen's has appeared in several magazines, two of which are Response and Christmas Chimes 1960, edited by the Rev. John W. Nielsen.

An Open Letter Question Raised On Student Congregation

Perhaps I should have expressed my views on the student congregation before this, but at the time I didn't feel quite as disturbed about it as I do now. It is true that student services have been held on campus only one Sunday. However, the relationship between the college and the town is already being affected. The church pastors are under the impression that they and their congregations are to blame for the students not wanting to go to the established churches.

Many (more likely most) of the Dana students don't realize that for many years the college and the town were practically two separate communities, neither getting involved with the other if it could be avoided.

The past few years this has been changing, but it took a lot of work on the part of certain individuals and this work is still continuing. By breaking away and setting up our own campus church we are hurting this relationship between the townspeople and the Dana students. We are beginning to withdraw again into a "private community on the hill."

Is this really what we want? Aren't the churches in the community in which we spend nine months of the year "good enough" for us?

I urge all students and faculty members to seriously think about this fact and decide just how much a student congregation would help or hurt Dana College.

At Rock Island Meet

The end of the year is nearing and with it comes a last minute rush to do everything that we have been putting off all winter.

At times this pessimistic little quote of unknown origin seems to apply rather well: "They told me 'Cheer up! Things couldn't get any worse'. So I did, and they did."

Following May Fest we have a week's grace before we must face that long week of reckoning—semester finals.

They say that they are spreading them out to make it easier on the students and give them time to study between tests not to prolong the mental anguish and agony. It's all in the point of view.

This is the time of year when the past year's editors get a terrible feeling of foreboding. Something is sure to go wrong before they are through and, with a sigh of relief, can turn all the work over to next year's optimist. They would keep their fingers crossed until the final issue on May 12 but crossed fingers are awkward for typing.

L.M.K.

On the first and second of May, seven trackmen went to Rock Island, Illinois, for the 23rd annual Augustana College Viking Olympics. Only three Dana athletes managed to place, but they gave the team eighth place out of a field of eleven. Ron Beck placed third in the shot put with a heave of 46' 10", Les Haussler tied for third in the high jump at 5' 10", and Owen Vasby took second in the pole vault with a new school record of 13' 1/2".

Don Sutton took third place in his heat of the semi-finals of the 440 with a time of :52.0, but didn't qualify for the finals. Knight Wynn broad jumped 20' 10" and finished in sixth place. Gary Hiemke also failed to qualify for the finals. He ran a 2:03.4 half mile, and finished fourth in his heat. Dennis Barker failed to qualify in the hurdles.

The team standings were widely spread out among the eleven participating teams.

Luther	77 1/2	St. Olaf	10
Wartburg	41 1/2	Dana	9
Valparaiso	34	Concordia-Nebr.	8
Augustana	30	Carthage	3
Concordia-III.	13 1/2	Augsburg	2
Concordia-Minn.	10 1/2

Vikinas Split for Fifth Straight Time

For the fifth consecutive time the Dana Vikings split a doubleheader. This time it was with the league-leading Greyhounds from Yankton. The first game went to Yankton in extra innings, 4-3. With Dana leading, 2-0, going into the bottom of the seventh, the Greyhounds scored two runs to tie the score. In the top of the eighth, Dana scored a run to go ahead, but in the bottom of the inning Yankton came through with three walks, an error and a hit to push across the tying and winning run.

The second game was a different story. Dana gained the lead and never relinquished it, winning 6-4. The defeat was the first in the conference for Yankton.

PHT, as you may know, stands for Putting Hubby Through. And that's precisely what Beverly Schaefer is helping to do — put her hubby through Hofstra University, Hempstead, N. Y. She's a part-time Tupperware dealer, demonstrating and selling those fine plastic food containers at home parties. It's profitable. It's enjoyable. It's easy.
