Dana Board of Regents Plans Campus Future

New members of the Dana College Board of Regents are Miss Margaret Fischer, well known Omaha attorney, Mr. Harold Miller, representative of the Mutual of New York Insurance Company in Omaha, and the Rev. Niels Carlsen of Pasadena, California. They were officially welcomed into membership of the Board of Regents when the Board met at Dana November 9 and 10th. Incumbent Board members are Rev. Otto Fangmeyer, Beatrice, Nebraska; Dr. Erwin Goldenstein, Lincoln, Nebraska; Carl Gustafson, Denver, Colorado; James Hansen, Cedar Falls, Iowa; Irving Jensen, Sioux City, Iowa; Dr. Eirer Juel, Atlantic, Iowa; and Ben Krantz, Blair, Nebraska. Byron Langenfeld, Racine, Wisconsin; Joe Lindholm, Audubon, Iowa; E. Nielsen, Prairie Village, Kansas; Rev. Reynold Tange, Canby, Minnesota; Lorentz Thorngren, Omaha, Nebraska; Norman Williams, Omaha, Nebraska; and honorary member, Peder Mickelsen, Minneapolis, Minnesota complete the Board's roster.

The main item of business centered around the approval of the two current building projects. The board approved the projects in essence—the construction of a new men's dormitory and the campus center. They did not give final approval of the architect's sketches of the two projects but instructed the architect, Helleberg and Helleberg of Kearney, to submit revised plans which will be approved by the Executive Committee of the Board of Regents. It is hoped that construction on both projects can begin early in the Spring of 1965 with a tentative completion date set for September of 1966.

The new dorm will be located south of Holling Hall and the campus center in the general area of the upper campus parking lot. The center will contain food service facilities, dining room, coffee shop, bookstore, lounges, meeting rooms, television game-music listening rooms and several offices for student activities.

The Board commended the Administration for securing ideas for facilities to be included in the center from students, faculty and other interested persons. This information was given to the architects and as a result, they have come up with a plan which embodies the best of all of these ideas.

The Board urged the administration and faculty to continue their study of long range planning and projection of student increase and needs for additional facilities. They also suggested the use of professional help in making these long range campus plans.

An operating budget for the 1965-66 academic year was approved by the Board. Tuition will increase in the amount of $50.00 per year. The varied charges for housing on campus this year will be dropped and all campus housing will carry the same rate beginning in the Fall of 1965.

"Earnest" Spends "Wilde" Weekend With Students

Are you a bunburyist? It is obvious that Jack and Algy are bunburyists and both being Earnest increases their dilemma. Gwendolyn and Cecily are both in love with and engaged to Earnest and both Jack and Algy profess to be Earnest. Who is the real Earnest, and who is in love with whom? Only Oscar Wilde knows and the answer can be found in his delightful play THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST.

How did you like your cucumber sandwiches and your English muffins? Jack and Algy love them and thought that you might like to share their enthusiasm. Both men will visit our campus this weekend, along with their troupe of cohorts. They can be seen on Saturday and Sunday nights in A.M.A. at 8:00 P.M. Whether or not our campus will survive their visit, only time will tell.

The cast includes Cy Warmmanen, a Junior from El Monte, California as Algy; Dick Moosmann, a Senior from Aurora, Colorado as Jack; Janet Jensen, a Freshman from Fremont, Nebraska as Gwendolyn; Mrs. Louis Savage as Cecily; Mrs. Diane Whitaker as Lady Brecknell; Phillip Nelson as Dr. Chasuble; Margaret Wold as Miss Prism; Steve McIlree as Merriman; and Michael Taylor as Lane.

The play is a delightful comedy in three acts and will be produced complete with buck and wing set and footlights. Are you a bunburyist? Who is Earnest? Saturday and Sunday evenings will solve these major problems and a host of minor ones. Be sure to see Oscar Wilde's THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST.

Bannermen to Sing Mrs. Shane Speaks On Dana's Campus On Mental Care

The Bannermen Quartette will perform on Dana's campus December 6th. This concert is sponsored by the senior class as one of their fund-raising projects for the May Fest celebrations.

Members of the quartette are seniors Chuck Jorgensen and Gerald Jorgensen, both of Pine River, Wisconsin, and the other members are Norman Christensen, Omaha, Nebraska, John Sutura, Omaha, Nebraska, and pianist Dave Paulsen, Council Bluffs, Iowa. The Bannermen will sing Negro spirituals, gospel songs, and folk melodies.

On November 11th Dana College was privileged to have Mrs. Joan Shane of the Nebraska Psychology Institute lecture on the care and treatment of mental conditions.

Mrs. Shane comes originally from New York where she has worked in a child's adoption agency. She has also helped in the Children's Court in New York and with drug addicts in one of the eastern prisons. She received her education at Hunter College and obtained her Master's Degree at New York University.

Mrs. Shane is currently working in the Family Therapy Department of the Nebraska Psychology Institute. Here she tries to help families settle problems which they suddenly find themselves involved in. Such problems include broken marriages, children in trouble with the law, or emotional problems of a member or members of a family.

At the end of the long but interesting lecture, the Dana students who attended found themselves better informed about mental problems and the processes needed to help cure an individual of these problems.

VACATION!

Due to Thanksgiving vacation, the 25th through the 29th, Hermes will not come out again until December 11. It would be virtually impossible to have an edition the 4th of December, due to the shortage of "reporter power" around here during the vacation.

Reflections Color Past and Future

Thanksgiving Day celebrations are like autobiographies. Some autobiographies portray lives filled with love, joy and happiness. Others reflect the opposite. Autobiographies are interpretations.

By dwelling on misfortune or minimizing the use of opportunity, prominence could be given to failures that could reflect a life of meaningless activity. Attitude and interpretation make the difference.

The Old Testament Psalmist wrote, "The Lord hath done great things for us; we are glad." In spite of a history of slavery, wanderings, captivity and war, he wrote, "... we are glad." For, in spite of the record, he knew he belonged to a favored nation, an elect people of God. He heralded his present, not with a wailing litany, but with a song of praise.

Thanksgiving Day celebrations, too, are the result of attitude and interpretation. As one sits down to a Thanksgiving dinner, he can think upon all his failures, ill-fortune, loss of opportunity and "bad luck." Or he can cogitate upon the more positive aspects of his existence.

A serious-minded person will be aware that the result of his reflection — like an autobiography—can continue to remind him of his past. It can also color his approach to the future.

On this Thanksgiving Day we are invited by God to celebrate a positive, Spirit-filled, God-given day of thanks. May it be just that!

Pacific Lutheran Hosts Fifth Annual ALC Conference

Next Tuesday, November 24th, twelve Dana students will depart for Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, Washington, and the fifth annual American Lutheran Church College Conference. This year's Conference, which is entitled "Church College Community—Why?" will attempt to find the basic reasons for the existence and the activities of the church college, and to understand how the church colleges can act to better fulfill their purpose. Some of the essential questions which should be asked over and over again are: What is the role of the church college in the life of the church, education, nation and world? Is the church college active in student movements or just becoming a benign community with a happy "family" relationship? How can we enliven what is missing in the church schools?

The Conference will include approximately 150 students, who will come from nearly all of the various institutions of higher education of the American Lutheran Church. Approximately 110 of these delegates will travel to PLU together, as they will be riding the same train from Minneapolis to Tacoma.

Keynote speakers will be Dr. Luvern Rieke, Lutheran Law professor from the University of Washington, who will speak on "The Vocation of the Church College Community," and Dr. Arthur Fleming, President of the University of Oregon, who will discuss "Christian Action in Today's World." Their presentations will be supplemented through speeches by Dr. Robert Mortvedt, President of Pacific Lutheran University, and Rev. Ewald Bash of the ALC Youth Department, by various art and liturgical forms, and by a program entitled "Folk Songs—A Campus Expression" led by Mr. John Ylvisaker.

It is hoped that the delegates will not leave on the West Coast the ideas and insights that they gain from the Conference at PLU, but will bring them back to Dana and make them live here as well.

"Silence," as defined in The American College Dictionary, is: 1, the absence of any sound or noise; stillness; 2, the state or fact of being silent; muteness; 3, an omission of mention; 4, oblivion; 5, secrecy; 6, to put or bring to silence; still; 7, to put to rest (doubts, etc.); quiet; or 8, to still (enemy guns, etc.), as by more effective fire.

Since Karl Petersen tactfully evaluated our physical education program, there has been a scarcity of sound from the Physical Education Department and, fully realizing my mental deficiencies, I venture forth the following opinions on the Department's silence.

I have a feeling that this state and fact of being silent is maintained in the fond hope that Karl Petersen's positive pronouncements will hasten into oblivion. Perhaps the feeling is that a small storm has stirred the skeletons around Borup. If everyone will hold their places and remain silent, the skeletons will return to their places and we can continue to swing and sing through four semesters of physical education. Once stirred, skeletons find it hard to sleep again.

Perhaps the Department's silence is an effort to put to rest the student's doubts and questions concerning the physical education program. However, more than the deep waters of silence are needed to quench the thirsty minds of college students.

Then, again, this silence could be taken as a disdain for student opinion. I will be the first to agree that students are often proud of what little knowledge they possess. We show little tolerance for time-honored, tried and true institutions. Our questions are often irreverent. Our criticisms are often negative. However, upon discovering the cause of a patient's illness and the cure, a doctor does not remain silent. Our illness may be intolerance, but the cure is not silence.

This silence could very well be an acknowledgement of the faults of the physical education program. If this is true, I for one would like to know what the Department is doing or is going to do to strengthen the physical education program. However, if the department has a defense, I would like to hear it. The enemies of the present physical education program will only be silenced when an audible announcement is ventured by the Physical Education Department.

Add Extra Thanks This Thanksgiving

As all of you well know Thursday is Thanksgiving Day. How many of us, however, seriously stop and think and really give thanks to God for the many blessings we have?

Our country is not war-torn, nor are our people starving or homeless. These alone are things to be thankful for every day. Parents and family, too, we take for granted. Yet how many young people elsewhere are without a father or mother, often being left to manage on their own?

We here at Dana are blessed in other ways, too. First of all, the opportunity we have accepted in attending college to further our education; secondly, the people we have met who have helped us to broaden our ideas of the world and the people around us.

One could go on continually about all we have to be thankful for. The point being presented is this: Instead of going home just to see family and friends, and gorging yourself with all the choice holiday goodies, why not make it a Thanksgiving in which you truly show your thankfulness. When you attend church, say an extra prayer for those who are in the war-torn countries, for those who are homeless, starving and orphaned.

Many churches have clothing drives, and food crusades which climax at Thanksgiving. Why not give of yourself in order to help others who need help. It will be a blessing to both them and you.

A happy and blessed Thanksgiving to all students and faculty.

Reflections . . . In Memory

There is a sickness in the land,
a strange, wasting sickness that infects the body politic.

There is a sickness in the land,
when that erodes upon which the state is founded:
when the particular rises up against the general,

the individual against the collectivity,
the member against its head,
any man against his fellow man.

There is a sickness in the land,
when the life,
the liberty,
the pursuit of happiness

of one,
of anyone,
is denied

because another one has made himself the final arbiter.

And such have been the things that have transpired transpired in these days.

There is a sickness in the land.

It is not new,
would that it were.

It has broken out before,
and when occasion comes,
it will erupt again.

The names shall then be different,
not Kennedy and Tippit,
Oswald and Rubenstein.

The names shall then be different,
but the stirrings shall be the same

REFLECTIONS I was, written by Reverend John W. Nielsen shortly after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. A portion of this has been quoted here.

Letter Expresses Dana Compliment

The Administration would like to share the following letter with the students and express to them their gratitude and pride for the fine impression they make on visitors to our campus.
Dear Doctor Madsen:

May I express my personal appreciation for the courtesy and hospitality extended to me yesterday (November 6) on the occasion of the meeting of the Nebraska Association of Church Colleges on your campus. It was my first experience as a guest of your institution and I assure you that it will remain one of pleasant memories.

During the interval of the business meeting, I took advantage of an opportunity that comes too rarely—I strolled back and forth leisurely across your campus, mingling a bit of meditation, relaxation and fresh air. During that time I must have passed some thirty-five or forty students, singly or in pairs, going from one building to another. I was much struck by the fact that with one exception, each of them greeted me with a cheery "Hello" or a friendly "Hi" — and in every instance the student offered the greeting first. I found this rather an uncommon experience and a very satisfying one. It speaks well for the training your students are receiving and equally well for your sense of hospitality to visitors.

I was also much impressed by the service in chapel—the decorum, tact, and elegant good taste in which it was conducted.

Looking forward to the pleasure of renewing acquaintance at some future session of the Association, I remain,

Gratefully yours,

Dedicate Book To Team Meets Tarkio Late Acting Lester In Seasonal Match

And then there's that evasive new book for the lovelorn male, still without a title because no one knew just what to call it. Some suggested titles were "Step It Up, Stupid," "Wake Up, Weirdo," and "If you're Not Totally Confused Yet, but Maybe Just a Little, Perhaps You're Not Trying Hard Enough." None of these titles met with complete approval.

This indispensable book contains such valuable information as ten ways of asking a girl for a date. There are five ready-made telephone conversations and five point-by-point "in person" dialogues. So realistic are these conversations that a certain amount of stammering and stuttering has been included. Just think—a guy can merely read off the lines and wait for the answer. The book then includes several possible things to say after she refuses. Responses are classified from the dignified silence to the ranting indignation. If she accepts, your ego should be sufficiently boosted so that you can think of something to say yourself.

Other important information gives suggestions on what to say and do on a date, how to smile nicely, how to know when she's trying to get rid of you, and how to tell whether or not you're having a good time.

The book is dedicated to Lester Mopey, "who acted too late, and lost—poor skate!" Rumors say this rare book is already being distributed to all the boys' dorms. Could be true—I'm really not sure.

Department Offers "Interest Activity"

The Department of Health and Physical Education would like to announce an "interest activity" in the area of tumbling and gymnastics is offered to both men and women. This activity is offered to men under the supervision of Don Clark, who has had previous experience at Peru State Teachers College. All women who are interested are under the supervision of Donna Byreil. The meetings are held regularly from 6 to 7 p.m. in Borup.

Paul Peterson

Westmar won the Tri-State football title with a 40-13 victory over Yankton last Saturday. The win gave Westmar a 5-1 season record in conference play, compared to runnerup Yankton's 4-2 record.

Rumors have it the guys are going to have a gymnastic team this year. That's the way it looks over in the gym. Good luck, guys.

The prospects for the wrestling team are pretty good this year. Dr. Skogman reports the squad has more potential than last year.

There is a pretty good possibility of having better programs made up for the basketball season this year. The D-Club is looking into the cost of the project. The programs would be a great improvement and would be sold for next to nothing.

The D-Club is also considering selling concessions at the home wrestling matches this season. It has been felt there is a need for something like this at the night matches.

Intramural will start Monday night for sure unless something else comes up unexpectedly. The setup will probably be the same as last season, with games played at 7:00, 8:00, and 9:00.

Girls' basketball has started, and there are a lot of freshman girls out for the team to go along with the upperclassmen who played last year. Maybe it will be a replica of those teams from the good old days.

Sport Talk With CeeJay

Twenty-five guys have reported for the wrestling team so far this season, and they have been working out for a couple of weeks at this point. There are some lettermen and a few freshmen that have not reported yet.

Coaching the squad is the Greek, a senior who has wrestled for three seasons but is ineligible to compete this year. He also coached last season. The faculty supervisor for the team is Dr. Skogman.

The first match of the season is on Thursday night, December 3, a non-conference dual match with Tarkio. Starting time is 7:00.

Question of the Week

What do you think of your living quarters?

Mickelson Hall—

"It is good except the kitchens should be opened on each floor instead of using them for bedrooms."

Elkhorn Hall—

"I would hate to tell you the truth." "I think it's the coolest—meaning, I really like it."

Holling Hall—

"The counselors are too strict." "There aren't any pool tables."

"It's new."

The Units—

"I wish they would get some RAT TRAPS down here, because the rats and mice, etc., are eating us out of house and home."

Beck Hall (Beta Epsilon Kappa)

"It's the coolest frat house on campus." "The mice are much better now—we have a cat."

Argo Hall—

"It will be great when we get our light fixtures, a buzzer system, the mice killed, and a few less maintenance men at 7:00 in the morning."

Girls Units—

"It's the greatest."

As the campus population increases so too are the housing units. We all have to admit that the school is doing a lot to try to cope with this increase in population. Don't worry Argo, you will get your buzzer system.

Sparked Interest Exists On Campus

The writers of Hermes in the last issue thoroughly blasted you with the idea of your lack of attitude, empathy, spirit and participation, and whatever else that can be dragged into an article of that nature. We have made our point. Now, let me emphasize the positive side.

This past week there were two lectures, one on Monday and the other on Wednesday. Both were well attended, considering the nature of each. One dealt with the intellectual and his concern for the progress of man. (By the way, I am thankful to those who are intellectuals and to those who are striving to be intellectuals.) The other lecture dealt with the psychiatric services and treatment available at the Nebraska Psychiatric Hospital. Both were interesting and thought provoking in their own way.

Enthusiasm was among the stage crew workers. Enthusiasm was at the many meetings that took place during the past week.

Finally, there was enthusiasm at the communion service last Sunday. Almost two hundred were there—about one third of our student body—this is good.

A spirit of sparked interest does exist on our campus — D. I.

Hermes In Error

Hermes apologizes for an error in the article last week regarding the use of the library. In the last paragraph it stated "The present library hours have been in effect since 1960." This is not correct. The library hours have been expanded this year from 7:00 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.; it also opens earlier in the mornings.
