Four Dana Alumni Seen Among New Faculty Faces

The beginning of school brings many new faces into view on Dana campus. New students as well as new faculty members are making their place in the Viking community. Some of the faculty are already "old timers" of the campus and the rest will soon become so. This year Dana added sixteen new members to the teaching staff.

A husband and wife team, both former Dana alumni, have returned to teach. Ronald Johnson will hold the position of head librarian. His wife, Bodil Strom Johnson, will serve in the language department as a Danish instructor.

Mr. Walter George has been employed as assistant professor of German. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mr. George has done graduate work at the University of North Dakota. He comes to the Viking campus from Duke University.

Former Dana students may remember Mrs. George better as Anna Harms, the first female Student Body President. Mrs. George will be returning to the campus as an instructor in the English department. She received her M.A. from the University of Nebraska and has done additional work at Duke University.

Joining the staff this summer as director of Alumni Affairs is Kenneth Anderson. Mr. Anderson is a Dana graduate and also a graduate of Boston University.

Returning after several years on The University of Omaha campus is Clois Coon. He received his B.A. from Henderson State College in Arkansas and his M. B.A. from the University of Arkansas. The accounting department associate professor is a Nebraska C. P.A.

Dana's new assistant professor of music, Allan Brandes, earned his Bachelor's and Master's degree in music at the St. Louis Institute of Music.

Mr. Jack Beal enters as a new addition to the math department staff. He received his B.S. and M.S. from the University of Kansas and has done further graduate work there.

Retired Air Force Colonel George Griffith will be Dana's assistant professor of sociology. Mr. Griffith earned his B.A. from Gettysburg College and his MA. from the University of Illinois.

Assistant professor of Romance Languages, Sara Penick, holds the C. P. F. from the Sorbonne in France. Miss Penick is a graduate of Park College in Missouri and also from the University of Missouri.

Mr. Stephen Morgan, a graduate of the University of Omaha and current graduate student at Omaha University, is teaching part-time in the English department. He is finishing requirements for his Master's degree.

Two instructors have been added to the physics department to fill the position temporarily vacated by Mr. Arvin Hernes who is on leave studying under a National Foundation grant at the University of Nebraska. Mr. David Peterson is a graduate student at the University of Nebraska and Mr. Howard Izawa is the assistant professor of physics at Midland.

Miss Roberta McGonagle will be instructing in sociology and anthropology. She received her B.A. and M.A. from the University of California at Davis.

Mr. Arne Gadeberg, graduate of Haslev, Denmark, will be teaching Danish part time. He has been teaching at the Folk High School in Slagelse, Denmark.

Miss Mac Not Forgotten

For the first time in many a model teacher and a model person, Miss Mac will not be returning to Dana this fall.

Those who knew Miss Mac will never forget her. She inspired many with her quick wit, fun-loving attitude and her sincere interest in what she was doing. Her belief in the importance of education, faith in students and dedication to the teaching profession made her what she was—

She often jokingly quoted the old saying "Those who can't, teach" and added "and those who can't teach, teach teachers." Her life was spent disproving both.

Dana College is the richer for having had Miss Mac on its faculty for fifteen years and she will be missed.

Communication—Job Of College Paper

The most important job of a college newspaper is communication. This communication includes student to student, faculty to student (and vice versa), and student to administration (and vice versa). It also includes accurate coverage of campus events.

With this in mind, I think a statement of policy is important so that there will be as great an understanding between us as possible.

Since Dana is growing so much, both physically and academically, it is necessary that the paper grow too. For this reason, we need a larger staff for better coverage of that growth. I appeal to those of you who are interested in working on the paper to contact me at Box 774.

Editorials will be written by the editorial staff. This includes the editor, the associate editor and assistant editors. They will be initialled so that the student may know exactly who wrote them. Occasionally there may be a guest editorial.

Letters to the editor must be signed by the writer. Names will be withheld if requested by the person who writes the letter. A pen name may be used if desired; however, the editor must know the name of the writer or the letter will not even be considered for publication. The letters must not be libelous to an individual or organization. The editor reserves the right to make grammatical corrections as necessary and may edit the letter if it is too long for the available space.

The "Squawk Box" will be used from time to time so that students may express their opinions without having to write a letter to the editor. However, I don't want to see this as a substitution for letters.

If at any time there is something that you feel is wrong with the paper or the campus, feel free to express this dissatisfaction to me. I will be glad to listen and perhaps try to help change it. I welcome criticism because I believe the only way to fight an idea is with a better idea.

Dana Scholars Honored At Fall Convocation

Twenty freshman scholars and 40 upperclassmen who made the Dean's List were recognized at the third annual Fall Honors Convocation on Thursday. To qualify for the Dean's List, the students had to maintain at least a 7.5 average last year.

Karen Rannells, who qualified for the Dean's List as a freshman last year, was awarded her bronze pin posthumously. She died suddenly of a diabetic ailment while enrolled in summer school.

President Clifford Madsen presented bronze pins to 24 students who made the Dean's List for one year, silver pins to 11 who made it for two years, and gold pins to 2 seniors who achieved a 7.5 average or above for three years.

The freshmen received scholarships from the Board of Regents for their first year at Dana College. These are renewable until they graduate as long as they maintain high grades

What Is Liberal Education?

The qualities of a liberal education were described in the Honors address by Dr. Clifford T. Hanson, chairman of the Humanities division.

He declared that a liberal education includes more than intellectual development. A person should also develop his ethical conviction and aesthetic appreciation.

As a critical thinker, he should learn to reason both deductively and inductively, and know the limitations of both. In deductions from general principles to specific cases, his premises may be open to challenge. But induction, from particulars to general statements, may cover more facts than the case warrants.

Beyond the ability to think critically and a store of factual knowledge, the liberally educated person should arrive at convictions in aesthetics, morals, and religion. Liberal education has been historically associated with religion. Dr. Hanson doubted whether the liberal arts can survive without religious faith.

Dr. Hanson described the subject matter with which a liberally educated person should become familiar. He pointed out that no one person can know more than a small fraction of all the facts that are to be found in a library. Therefore one should learn those which are most helpful in developing his understanding of himself and his fellow man.

Fellowships Offer Seniors Chance To Study Abroad

Are you qualified for graduate study abroad?

The competition for the 1967-68 United States Government graduate grants for academic study or research abroad, and for professional training in the creative and performing arts, will open officially on May 1st, the Institute of International Education (IIE) announced today.

IIE conducts competitions for U. S. Government scholarships provided by the Fulbright-Hays Act as part of the educational and cultural exchange program of the U.S. Department of State. Under this program, more than 850 American graduate students will have the opportunity to study in any one of 53 countries. The purpose of the awards is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the U. S. and other countries through the exchange of persons, knowledge and skills.

Candidates who wish to apply for an award must be U. S. citizens at the time of application, have a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by the beginning date of the grant and, in most cases, be proficient in the language of the host country. Selections will be made on the basis of academic and/or professional record, the feasibility of the applicant's proposed study plan and personal qualifications. Preference is given to candidates who have not had prior opportunity for extended study or residence abroad and who are under the age of 35.

Creative and performing artists will not be required to have a bachelor's degree but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Applicants in social work must have at least two years of professional experience after the Master of Social Work degree. Applicants in the field of medicine must have an M.D. at the time of application.

Two types of grants will be available through IIE under the Fulbright-Hays Act: U.S. Government Full Grants, and U.S. Government Travel Grants

A full award will provide a grantee with tuition, maintenance, round-trip transportation, health and accident insurance and an incidental allowance. in Ceylon, India, Japan, Nepal, Norway, Poland, Portugal, the Republic of China, and Turkey, a maintenance allowance will be provided for one or more accompanying dependents.

A limited number of travel grants is available to supplement maintenance and tuition scholarships granted to American students by universities, private donors and foreign governments.

Because of the growing interest in inter-American studies, there are grants available to a number of countries in the American Republics area in the fields of history, the social sciences, law, the humanities and other suitable fields. All applicants for these grants must be proficient in the spoken language of the country for which they apply, and should have an interest in the knowledge of the American Republic area, specifically in the country or countries for which they are applying. A major in Latin American studies is not required.

Candidates for these grants may be called for personal interview at university locations throughout the country.

For the grants to the American Republics area, preference is given to single applicants. Although married students may apply for the grants, the awards make no provision for the travel expenses or support of dependents and are thus better suited to single persons.

There will also be opportunities for teaching assistantships in India and Italy for students interested in teaching English as a foreign language; teaching fellowships at universities in Italy for the teaching of the English language and English or American literature; and teaching fellowships at universities in Sweden for the teaching of American literature and/or civilization.

Application forms and information for students currently enrolled in Dana college may be obtained from the campus Fulbright adviser, Mr. Warman. The deadline for filing applications through the Fulbright adviser on this campus is October 15, 1966.

New Year Opened During Ceremonies ALC Editor Starts Twin Cities Project

The eighty-second academic year was officially opened Sunday night by Dr. C. C. Madsen. Rev. Paul W. Dieckman, president of Midland Lutheran College, was the speaker. Rev. Dieckman has been president at Midland since 1952. Before coming to Midland, he served in Detroit, Chicago and Lakeland, Florida. He was among the organizers of the Nebraska Independent Colleges Foundation and the Tri-State Conference, of which Dana and Midland are both members.

Rev. Dieckman spoke about Faith for Today. He compared present-day student movements with present-day religion. Students rebel against administrations; people rebel against. Students want more administrative authority because they mistrust it. People try to play God because they slightly mistrust Him.

The convocation also included vesper services.

Luth. Scholarships Deadline Saturday

Any student who is a policyholder with the Aid Association for Lutherans life insurance company is eligible to apply for a scholarship. The company has recently allocated one $200 scholarship for this purpose. Selection among the eligible applicants will be made by the Scholarship Committee. Deadline for applying at the office of the Dean's secretary, Mrs. Cochran, is September 17.

Charles Lutz, 35, has resigned his position as editor of One magazine to become the first director of the new Center for Urban Encounter (CUE) in Minnesota's Twin Cities beginning November 1.

One is the monthly Lutheran youth magazine published through the division of youth activity of The American Lutheran Church.

In describing the ecumenical center, Lutz said. "CUE will be primarily concerned with training laymen by theological study and exposure - involvement in ways of ministry through secular structures of urban society. The Center will seek to attract Roman Catholic as well as Protestant laymen."

The Center for Urban Encounter is being sponsored by the Greater Urban Parish of the Twin Cities representing six Protestant denominations.

Coach Walls Predicts Improver Football Record

-World-Herald Photos.

"The Vikings expect to improve upon last year's record", said Grant Walls, as he begins his sophomore year as Dana's head football coach. A good aerial attack and a stronger interior line should be the keys.

With the return of sophomore quarterback Phil Anderson and senior ends Gerry Quirek and Marlow Remmers, the Viking passing game should be exciting. Balancing the offense will be a hard running backfield led by sophomore fullback John Drbal who as a freshman started several games when one of the regulars was injured.

Line play should see improvement this year also with the return of last years most valuable defensive player, Bob Longacre, aided by transfers Gary Hansen and Dan Busse and several big, strong, eager freshmen.

Intramurals Begin Sunday Afternoon

Sunday at 1:00 P.M. the 1966-67 Dana intramural program will get underway with three touch football games behind Borup Coliseum. Teams will again be organized by dorm floors with each floor being allowed to enter one or two teams. There will be sixteen teams this year, four more than last, thus necessitating playing at 1, 2 and 3 o'clock.

Last year's champions, the Floaters from fourth Elkhorn, led by Bill Weigel and Leland Sprinkle have been disbanded so it looks like the team to beat is last year's second place team, The Off-Campus, married men.

At press time, Roger Moller, Intramural Director, did not have a schedule of this Sunday's games but floor counselors will be notified before Sunday as to when, where and whom their team will play.

Cross Country Is Returning to Dana

Cross country team morale should be quite high this year as 12 students reported for equipment to Coach Paul Peterson. Last year the sport was dropped in mid-season due to lack of enough participants to form a full team.

Team leaders, Jim Ellis and Ken Koester will be helped by returning lettermen, Tom Bisbee, John Korzilius and several freshmen.

The team will open its season at Concordia next Saturday September 24, at 10 a.m.
