Pastor Dares Dana To "Come Alive!"

Spiritual Emphasis is coming! On October 29 through November 1, Pastor Lee Snook, Lutheran Chaplain at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, will be on campus as guest speaker for the event. The theme is "Come Alive!"

The kick-off will be Saturday night when the movie "La Dolce Vita" will be shown at the Home Theater starting about 9:30 p.m. Pastor Snook will speak before the movie. He will also speak at the Sunday service and in Monday and Tuesday's chapel periods.

An Ounce of Prevention— Worth A Pound Of Cure

Look recently pointed out that the second largest cause of death on college campuses is suicide.

No, this editorial is not an outgrowth of a recent suicide at Dana. There wasn't one. Most of us on this campus have had no contact with suicide. But there is no guarantee that it will always remain this way.

Potential suicides are not always easy to find. But suicide is not the only indication that a person may have a serious psychological problem; and every person who has a serious psychological problem may not end up committing suicide. There are other indications of a problem. A student who can't cope with the everyday situations of college may find his own means of withdrawing. He may get depressed for no apparent reason. He may go to LSD or pot. He may drink heavily and frequently. When things get too much for him to cope with he may attempt suicide.

At universities, where the problem is more apparent than it is at Dana there is usually a counselling service. This service takes care of many kinds of problems—intellectual, financial and psychological.

At Dana, it seems there is no adequate counselling system to help the student cope with the pressures that college imposes. Floor counselors are expected to handle all problems on the floor. When they feel they aren't able to handle the more serious ones, they tell the student to see a faculty member or a member of the administration. While this may be all right for minor problems, there should be a counselling service for problems which must be handled professionally.

Must we wait while there is another attempted suicide on this campus or can we realize there is such a problem and try to cope with it before it's too late? I hope the latter.

Gullickson Chosen For Select Choir

Senior James A. Gullickson will represent Dana in the fourth annual Select Choir composed of representatives of 33 Lutheran college choirs throughout North America.

The Select Choir will be featured at the sixth annual Church Seminar to be held October 20-23 at Gettysburg (Pa.) College. The seminar is sponsored by Lutheran Brotherhood, a fraternal insurance society.

The Select Choir members will hear lectures, participate in choral workshops and rehearse before giving their public concert. Dr. Theodore Hoelty-Nickel, seminar chairman, is head of the music department at Valparaiso (Ind.) University.

Mr. Gullickson, who is majoring in sociology, plans to become a Lutheran minister.

Erling Rasmussen

Danish Freshman Is Internationalist

Our exchange student from Denmark this year is Niels Bryanne, a freshman from Odense, Denmark. He is originally from Malaysia, but he lived in several places in Denmark and in London before moving to Odense, where he attended high school. His main courses were physics and mathematics.

Niels is planning to attend Dana for one year, then go back to Denmark and study at Polytechnic College in Copenhagen, where he plans to major in chemistry and study civil engineering. Later, he plans to travel in South America.

Niels speaks five languages, including German, French, Swedish, English, and Danish, and his main hobby is tennis. Architecture is Niels' special interest.

When asked his opinion of Dana, Niels said, "I like Dana and its faculty very much. There is much more note-taking, but I am getting used to that."

Since Niels' credits are not transferable to his college in Denmark, we hope his year at Dana is very rewarding and profitable to him.

New Dean of Men Comes From Iowa

We all take pride in welcoming Mr. Erling Rasmussen to Dana as our new Dean of Men and Assistant Dean to the Students. Mr. Rasmussen hails originally from Harlan, Iowa. He attended Buena Vista College in Storm Lake, Iowa where he received his Bachelor's Degree.

Mr. Rasmussen then received his Master's Degree from Northeast Missouri State College and did additional graduate work at the University of Missouri, the University of Iowa, and the State College of Iowa. Before coming to Dana, he was the Director of Guidance Service in Harlan for nine years.

Mr. and Mrs. Rasmussen are now residing in Blair with their two children, Cindy and Tony.

When asked what he thought of Dana, Mr. Rasmussen commented, "I am very impressed with the school and student body. I think Dana has a strong faculty and an outstanding administration."

We, at Dana, hope he continues to keep this complimentary opinion of our school.

Cavemen Propose To Organize Club

A spelunking club is in the process of being set up by Mark Lagenfeld, a freshman from Racine, Wisconsin. An organizational meeting will be held within the next two weeks for all those interested. The purpose of the meeting will be to establish a constitution, elect officers, and to explain the basics of spelunking.

The tentative plans for the club are to have meetings once or twice a month and then every two months take weekend trips to Iowa, Minnesota, or Kansas to explore caves in that vicinity. Also it is planned to investigate one of the larger caves in Missouri during a long weekend such as semester break.

There are two approaches to cave exploring; spelunking, the sporting approach, and speleology, the scientific approach. To be a good cave explorer one must have a combination of both approaches because to get anything out of the sport one must have some knowledge of caves, and one must be in shape if one is going to gain any scientific knowledge from the cave.

Spelunking is likely to be more dangerous than fun if one does not know how to spelunk properly. The essentials for proper spelunking are grubby clothes, proper footwear, protective headgear, and most important three sources of light, which should include two flashlights, candles, and waterproof matches.

Girls as well as boys are welcome to join the club, also faculty members are especially welcome.

Confirmation Class Starts Instruction

Confirmation classes are held each Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in PM314, with Pastor Jensen giving the instruction. Anyone who is interested is invited to attend. A class of six weeks is held each semester.

This semester's class consists of twelve people. The majority of these are Lutherans who are reviewing. The remainder of them are wives, husbands, and fiancés of Lutherans who are studying to join the church.

When those to be confirmed have completed their instruction, Pastor Jensen writes a letter to the pastor of the church of their choice to tell him of their completion of instruction. Then they are confirmed in that church.

On the Gridiron

It was a beaten Viking ball club that went to the dressing room at half-time in Midland Saturday. Not beaten from the point of time, but attitude. Why give up just because you're behind and the other team is "up"? The mark of a strong ball club is the ability to come from behind when the chips are down. The Vikings this year have this ability if they would get mad once in awhile. How about it gang?

Dana was not so much outplayed Saturday, as they were more-so a victim of a psychological edge. A team is not stopped when they can still put together 147 yards rushing, only 25 yards shy of their opponents. Dana's punting towered over that of Midland's. But the aerial attack of Dana faltered, and was not aided by the loss of quarterback Phil Andersen in the fourth quarter. Dana needs those passes and "hands" to be up to par.

There is no doubt in my mind that the Braves of Sioux Falls will die in their teepees Saturday if the Vikings play the style of ball they are capable of.

The Braves to watch will be Skogerboe and Robinson. They are quick and tough on offense, but they fall as hard as anyone else when someone grabs their knees. The Dana defensive unit will have their work cut out for them.

Dana can finish at the top of the conference this year if they take the attitude that they will.

GO BIG RED

Midland Surprises Sleeping Vikings

Dana, displaying football under-potential and under-par, sputtered in defeat to the Midland Warriors, 14-0. The Vikings were out-hustled, out-powered, and out-played by an "up" Midland ball club. The only light in the Dana defense was two pass interceptions by senior safety man, Marlow Remmers.

The first half was very much a defensive battle, except that the Warriors seemed to pick up the vital first down much more easily. The farthest that Dana could penetrate was to the Midland 25 yard line. The attempted field goal was wide.

Scoring twice in the second quarter, Midland was able to keep the Dana Vikings in check for the entire second half. Bruce Green, outstanding fullback for the Warriors, was the powerhouse of the day. Many times it took more than one to bring this boy to the turf.

It seemed to prove true that to stop Midland, one has to stop Green. Midland now has a 1-1 conference record, as do the Vikings.

Statistics:

	D	M
First downs	9	14
Rushing yards	147	147
Passing yards	16	217
Passes	4-18	8-23

8 Ball Anyone? Call Your Shots

The newest innovation to the sport page of the Hermes comes through the facilities in the game room of the new Student Center. A billiard challenge board has been set up, consisting of twenty names, to provide the means for determining some of the better "sticks" on campus.

Anyone on the board may challenge either of the two names above him, and newcomers wanting to break in may challenge players 19 or 20 to gain a position. All games will be played in a best 2 of 3 series of "call shot" eight ball. Rules and specifics are posted in the game room.

The purpose here is to arouse interest in this recreation which has been renovated in the past few years to the place where it is now one of the most popular date and family recreations. If the interest is found, an elimination tournament is forseen in the not-so-distant future.

CONFERENCE STANDINGS

This was the action around the Tri-State Conference last weekend. The conference leading Braves of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, edged a stubborn Concordia team 14-13. Northwestern of Orange City, Iowa, was an easy mark for Westmar, 32-14. Yankton downed Minnesota-Morris 27-6 in a non-conference tilt, and the Vikings of Dana bowed to a hustling Midland club 14-0. This leaves a three way battle for third place in the conference standings.

	W	L
Sioux Falls	3	0
Westmar	2	1
Midland	1	1
Yankton	1	1
Concordia	1	2
Northwestern	0	3

It appears that Sioux Falls is the team to beat but the Bulldogs of Yankton are to be regarded as the best all around team in the conference. Sioux Falls sports a fine offensive attack, backed by outstanding punting, while the Bulldogs play with equal finesse and aggressiveness on both offense and defense. Both are to be regarded as strong contenders for the conference crown.

This coming week-end will cause considerable shuffling of the pack as the Vikings of Dana take on the undefeated Braves at Howard Wood Stadium in Sioux Falls on Saturday. Westmar travels to Seward, Nebraska for their game with the Concordia Bulldogs. Westmar is the favorite in this battle as they have lost only to the leading Braves of Sioux Falls. Concordia has not shown the drive expected of them in pre-season predictions. The real tell-tale game will be at Yankton this Saturday. Bruce Green and company of Midland will make the journey to South Dakota to take on the favored Bulldogs.

The pairings this week are all very close owing to the uniformity of strength throughout the conference this year. All games could go either way. Watch the scores; they should prove interesting.

Business Students Attend Symposium on Economics

The Hotel Lincoln, Lincoln, Nebraska, was the scene Tuesday of the first Nebraska College Business Symposium.

Eighteen of Nebraska's twenty colleges were represented at the Symposium. Each delegation represented the top business students of each educational institution.

The program for the day included a morning presentation of four basic economic questions which the U. S. faces. A short talk on each problem was given by the panel members who included: Dr. Randall T. Klemme, vice president and company economist for Northern Natural Gas Company, Dr. Richard Tandry, economist for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Dennis W. Dunne, vice president of Northwest Bancorporation, and Warren M. Malloy, President of Ideas Inc.

Topics covered in the session were "Inflation", "Economic Growth", "U.S.A. and Underdeveloped Nations", however, discussion was not limited to these topics but related questions as to economic policy were raised.

Some comments of interest to non-business and business students alike were such items as: The strong possibility of a recession in late '66 or early '67 the lack of practical bases for the Gold Standard, and a view of optimism for American Agriculture as the farmer is brought into parity with the rest of the economy.

"This meeting has helped me to better see and understand the economic problems of the U.S.," commented Robert Thompson, a student from newly formed Bellevue College. The general consensus of most delegates was similar to this reply and all students had a stimulating, thought provoking day.

The meeting was deemed a success by chairman Frank P. Fogarty, Division vice president of the Chamber of Commerce and future Symposiums are now in the offing.

Student and faculty members attending the Symposium are guests of the local Chamber of Commerce in each community. The Symposium is sponsored by the Nebraska Association of Commerce and Industry in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Little Red Tops Junior Warriors

A few deserving words and blows were exchanged Monday afternoon as the Junior Vikings avenged the Viking loss to Midland. The J. V.'s played a strong defensive game to shut out the "not quite yet Warriors" 7-0.

The only score of the game came midway in the third quarter as Eugene Williams of Dana sprinted from the twenty around left end. Jerry Lammers converted the P.A.T. The strong defensive unit for the Vikings held late in the fourth quarter to stop the Warriors at the eight yard line. The outstanding player proved to be a young freshman from Minnesota — Don Ensted. Don led the Dana defense in tackles, and many times caught the Warrior quarterback with the ball still in his hands.

The J. V.'s now sport a 2-0-1 record, having defeated Concordia and Midland and tying with Doane. GO LITTLE RED
