Who's Who Selects Fifteen

Fifteen Dana students have been accepted for inclusion in the 1967 edition of Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges.

Who's Who is a national publication containing sketches of selected students who have maintained high levels of scholarship and have served as student leaders on their individual campuses. A certificate of merit will be presented to the selected students at the traditional Honors Convocational held shortly before Commencement in the spring.

Danes Give Dana Four Chandeliers

Four hand-made brass chandeliers over one hundred years old have been donated to Dana by the "Grosserer-Societetets" committee in Denmark. They decided to donate the chandeliers to Dana since it is the only four year college in America with a strong Danish heritage.

The chandeliers were patterned after King Christian IV's royal crown and until recently have been hanging in Borsen (the stock exchange) in Copenhagen.

The chandeliers were shipped to Dana by courtesy of the Swedish American Line. Where they will be placed on campus has not yet been decided.

Awards Offered To Best Student Entries In Sower

The student anthology, the Sower, annually offers various awards for literary and artistic excellence.

This is the students chance to see his own masterpiece in print and be rewarded for it.

Poetry and prose are rated objectively by the Sower staff. The Langland Award in prose and poetry is annually presented by Joseph Langland, professor of English at the University of Massachusetts.

Translations are also part of the anthology and with the aid of the language professors they are rated. The rating is according to thought process undertaken rather than length of results. The Kaj Munk Memorial award is presented for the best translation of poetry or prose from any language. The award is given in memory of Kaj Munk a martyred

Danish pastor and playwright

Art and music are also a major part of the Sower. This year if enough interest is shown the Sower would like to add photography. The award in these areas is the Hal Evans Cole award presented as a memorial to a former student, Hal Evans Cole.

Along with the art work for the Sower a cover design or photograph is needed. The cover does not necessarily have to follow the theme suggested by the Sower.

Some things to remember if you turn in a cover design are: Identify the work, the name of the school, its address, and the date of the issue. The cover size is 6x9 inches.

All prose or poetry should be double spaced and in duplicate and may be turned into either Box 853 or Mr. Bansen.

Sound and Light Is Theme Of Annual Yule Program

The departments of music, art and religion are combining efforts to present a special schedule of Christmas programs for the coming week.

A Christmas production entitled, "Sound and Light" is scheduled for Sunday and Monday, December 4 and 5, at 8 p.m. in Alumni Memorial Auditorium. There is no admission charge for either performance.

"Sound and Light" will feature the Dana College Choir, Chapel

Choir, and Dana's Band brass quartet. Special effects by the art department and an original Christmas narration by John Nielsen will also be intricate parts of the program.

Wednesday, December 7, the Dana College Band, under the direction of Dr. Wise, will present its annual Christmas convocation. The program will be held in A.M.A. at 10 a.m.

This year the band is fortunate in having many talented soloists and the concert's numbers are centered around these fine players.

Aid Now Available For Graduate Study

Attention Seniors and Juniors! December and January are the months to be thinking about and applying for financial aid from graduate schools around the country. Information concerning Graduate Scholarships, Fellowships, and Assistantships from more than thirty sources has been posted in Pioneer Memorial outside Dean Christiansen's office.

The scholarships and other forms of aid are limited and deadlines have been set for February and March. If you are a senior and interested in graduate work, it is necessary that you begin now to plan in this area for preparation of application and financial assistance to graduate schools.

Available from various graduate schools are scholarships ranging from $1,200 to $3,500 making it possible for almost any college graduate to further his education in graduate work. These sources include the Universities of Omaha, Drake, Wyoming, Iowa, Nebraska, Virginia, Alabama, North Dakota, Oregon and Rochester.

Along with the traditional Christmas number "Christmas Festival" by Leroy Anderson, the program will be varied with Bachs "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring," the popular "Porgy and Bess" and two fine concert marches.

Feature numbers of the program include: "Trumpeters Three" with Rod Hutton, Ron Hutton and Dan Hutchinson; Dan Hutchinson; "Londonderry Air" with John Orwig, Baritone horn; and "Porgy and Bess" featuring Pam Petersen, Jeanne Machlin and Robert Whitney.

Friday, December 9, the festive week will be concluded with a convocation program given by the Dana College Chapel Choir.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING . . .

America's 'Baby' Policy Needs Some Revisions

In September of this year, there were twelve million young Americans between the ages of eighteen and twenty. Some of these young people are attending school, some are holding full-time jobs, and others are in the armed forces. Yet less than four per cent of them have the right to vote.

These young people are in a paradoxical position. They can be tried in courts as adults and, if found guilty, can serve terms in State and Federal prisons; yet they have no voice in the laws under which they are tried. All can sign job contracts and are required to pay property and income taxes; yet they face taxation without representation. Most are considered old enough to get married without their parent's consent; but they have no voice in building the society in which their children must live.

There are problems in being this age. They can't act like irresponsible children. But they can't be free adult citizens either.

There is a special paradox for the student. On one hand, he must devote more time to education because society demands it. On the other hand, he doesn't have any of the rewards or responsibilities of involvement until, at his twenty-first birthday, he is plunged completely into involvement with no previous practice with responsibility. On the campus, this paradox is manifested in the policy of in loco parentis.

It's hard to find a politician who is against the eighteen-year-old vote. But it's even harder to find one who is willing to be aroused to action for this principle.

Perhaps this is because there is no united group fighting for their suffrage. Any suffrage movement must be backed by those who are about to be enfranchised.

The time to back this movement is now. Young people are becoming increasingly important and it's time they got to help make the decisions that concern them.

Letters To The Editor . . .

Suitcase College of the Year - - Dana

Citizens of Dana rejoice! We have been named "Suitcase" College of the Year." Be proud, this title says a lot for our college! Also, this honor is a great help in enhancing out of state students to Dana!

Let's just look at what this honor means. First, the campus is always uncrowded on the week ends. Starting Friday night it is possible to walk from P.M. to Rasmussen Hall without even once spotting a soul. This helps cut down on socializing around the campus, and helps save the grass.

Secondly, more people from New York, Ohio, Maryland, etc., will be just dying to come to Dana. The college is so peaceful on weekends it takes on the air of a second rate morgue. Believe me, if there is one thing you come to college for it's to be alone and never meet new people.

Thirdly, just look at the great impression left on Saturday visitors. Isn't it nice to be able to find the entire population of Dana in the T.V. room on a Saturday?

Fourthly, isn't it nice to sit in the new Student Center at night and see only darkness all over Dana?

Students, isn't it about time we woke up to the fact that we are at college and not tied to our home. So let's try staying on campus and making life a little nicer here at Dana.

Reader Doubts Cliques

Dear Boyd Horst:

As soon as you are through drowning flies I would appreciate a conference with you. I have a problem and feel that you are capable of helping me out of my difficulties.

My problem is simple. I do not belong to any of the "cliques" that you outlined. I would like to belong but I cannot find any. I enjoy conversing with athletes, art majors, and the intellectual fringe. But I am not an athlete, an intellectual (as my grades will testify), an artist, a Catholic, nor a band member. Where do I belong? Possibly not at Dana! But if not at Dana, where?

Please Boyd, help me. With your knowledge of the situation here at Dana I know I would find your evaluation very (but hopefully not excessively helpful.

Freshmen Reveal Variety In Weekend Talent Show

Yes, believe it or not, there is talent in the freshmen class; much of it is hidden, but it is still there. Saturday, December 3, a few lucky people will have a chance to find themselves and their talent. The setting for this important psychiatric probing will be a small dark and desolate building which is referred to by the Danians as AMA.

Fifteen brave souls have agreed to subject themselves to the mental and emotional anguish which is caused when a building filled with skeptical on-lookers tries to see if they really have talent. Some of the cases are really bad. To start with, Janet Winkel, Sharon Boone, and Naomi Kenyon think that a microphone is their country and sing to it "This is My Country." Later on in the show they really get carried away and think that it is their "fair lady" friend.

Maybe we shouldn't give out the next bit of information, but we will; there is an escaped convict (John Dalton) in the program who is simply wild about "buttons." When he sees them he gets so excited that he starts reliving his life in prison. I'm not sure what his talent would be considered; he's just acting naturally.

Don't tell anyone, but Chris

Anderson and Andy Leiske think that they're from Europe. Chris always runs around like a Spanish senorita with long frilly skirts. Andy, poor boy, wants to wear a skirt also; there's just one thing, his skirt is short—very short. It matches the plaid of that queer looking instrument he plays.

Then, of course, as everyone knows, some people like to sing. We even have people who lie about their age and grade just so they can appear in public; or is it to inspire others to appear with them? Who knows?

Don't let anything keep you away from this rare, once-in-a-life-time, talent show. We'll be saving a place for you December 3, 1966 at 7:30 P.M. in the AMA building. Come early to get a seat up front where the action is.

Recognition must be given to those who have earned it. The head psychiatrist and the person who is now ready to take the couch herself is Dr. Janet Winkel. She was assisted by intern Nancy Galley, who littered the campus with posters, and Intern Susan Rodda, who made available tickets for this nights meeting. A special note of recognition should go to Dr. Paul Larson for leading the meeting and seeing that everything was kept well in hand.

VIKING SPORTS

Dana Basketball Team Is Tall and Experienced

Dana opened its 1966-67 basketball season with a dramatic come-from-behind victory 84-78, over Wayne State on November 29.

Four more games are scheduled before the Christmas vacation: at Tarkio, December 6; Doane at Dana, December 10; Nebraska Wesleyan at Dana December 14, and at Doane, December 16. Conference play will begin in January.

Coach Dale Lemon looks forward to a good season. Half of the varsity players are 6'4" or taller, and should be strong on the rebounds. The boys have shown a real competitive spirit in the practice drills, and there will be reserve strength this year.

Nine lettermen have returned to the squad. The seniors are: Bill Weigel, West New York, New Jersey, and Tom Kalchek, Racine, Wisconsin.

New players on the varsity squad are: Jim Ellis, Omaha, and Jerry Larsen, Racine, sophomores; Mike Clement, Blair, freshman.

The junior varsity will also face a strong schedule this season with 15 games. They are coached by ex-Viking letterman, Wally Welander.

Recognition Given To Football Stars

Several members of the Viking football team have received recognition for their outstanding efforts during the 1966 season.

Gerry Quirk, a senior from Racine, Wisconsin, was elected honorary captain of the Dana squad. He was the only Viking named to the Tri-State All-Star football team by the Omaha World Herald. He caught 23 passes for 352 yards in his last season.

Quirk and John Drbal of Blair were named the most valuable offensive players. The most valuable defensive players were Brent Peterson and Gary Hansen, also of Blair.

Quirk, Peterson, and Bob Longacre, a junior from Omaha, were also named to the Tri-State All-Conference team.

Peterson led the Vikings in tackles with 29, and 16 assists. He also punted 56 times during the season, for a total of 1992 yards and an average of 35.6 yards per punt.

Drbal was the leading ground gainer. He made 515 yards in 143 attempts, with an average of 3.5 yards per carry. His record placed him fourth in the Tri-State Conference.

Marlow Remmers, a senior from Pickerel, Nebraska, received honorable mention for his defensive efforts. He intercepted 8 passes, and was credited with 23 tackles and 18 assists during the season.

Wrestling Begins Thursday at Borup

The Viking wrestlers will open their 1966-67 season against Wesleyan at Borup Coliseum, at 7:00 p.m. Thursday, December 8. Eleven meets have been scheduled.

Four Dana lettermen will be in action again this season. They are Walt Duda, Omaha sophomore; Marv Staben, senior, and Tom Bisbee, a junior, both of Blair; and Mark McKenzie, a junior from Northfield, Minnesota.

Several of the new members of the squad have high school wrestling experience to their credit. The wrestling coach this year will be Harold Ortmeier, who teaches in the Blair schools.

FM Radio Station Proposed for Dana

Is Dana going to have an F—M radio station? This question and many more have been asked about the campus recently. To help answer many of these questions, the Hermes in cooperation with Mr. Dibben of the speech department has gathered the following information.

The deciding factor whether Dana obtains a radio station is, of course, the source of money. The cost, which should amount to approximately $4,000, will be paid, it is hoped, by the Board of Regents of the A.L.C. The station will function on a power of ten watts giving us a broadcasting range which should cover Missouri Valley, Blair and the surrounding area.

Beginning with the fall semester of 1967, Dana's F—M station will broadcast 3-4 hours a day, 5-6 days a week. This time may increase according to need and interest. The programming will feature semi-classical and classical selections, lectures, discussions on such topics as the book being read for LARP at that time, campus talent shows, daily news concerning events on Dana's campus, concerts, sermons, and play by play broadcasts of sports events.

The station will serve as a basis for training in the areas of speech, radio engineering, radio announcing, music and drama; in fact, there is an endless list of areas which would prove the value of having a radio station on the campus of Dana. It would provide a public relations media for the college, offer radio service for Dana College and the surrounding area, and furnish programs for listening pleasure.

A radio station on Dana's campus was once only imaginary, and these plans are yet tentative. Whether they become real and a station is built on this campus depends largely upon your interest as a student of Dana. Mr. Dibben or the editor of the Hermes welcome any questions or comments which you might have concerning these plans whether they be in agreement or not.

14 Danians Attend ALC Conference On Love and Sex

The Sexual Revolution has been a recurring topic wherever discussions of the present generation occur. Regarding love and sexuality, the college campus has been a point of sharp inquiry.

Last weekend, students from the ALC colleges met at Augustana College to discuss this theme. Questions considered included: What about the sex life among the unmarried? Is marriage the best form of life together in society? Is the New Morality nothing but the "old immorality" or is it a more responsible morality than that of preceding generations?

Friday morning, the students heard Dr. William Hulme speak on "Sex With Sincerity." Basically his address dealt with the idea of the new morality—a morality governed by a love that implies sincerity and self-giving, and a motivation (the important factor in the sexual relationship) that is centered around that love.

Mr. Gene Outka addressed the group Friday evening. He too spoke on the new immorality. He discussed the various standards concerning sex currently being debated, and the basic options the Church has set up concerning the new morality and the traditional basic guidelines governing sexual relations.

Though no blanket statement can be made concerning student opinions of the questions considered, most of those in attendance leaned toward situational ethics and questioned the Church's stand
