

DANA FOCUS 86

DANIAN:

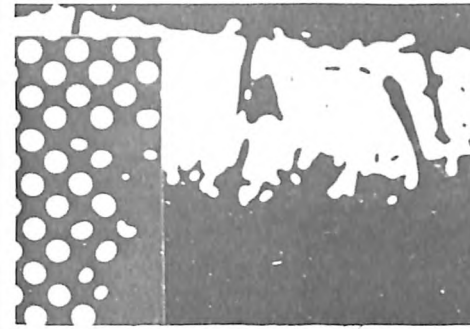

FOCUS ON DANA

1986

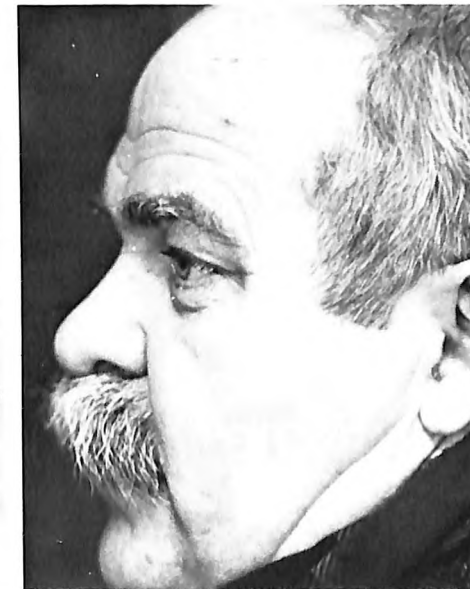

Dana College
Blair, Nebraska

Each year is different; each year is the same. The campus changes students, faculty, and events, but the traditions of Dana keep the year in FOCUS. This year as part of a staged remodeling of campus, the Danish lamps were moved on to the patio of Old Main. In their new place, the lamps once again shine bright on Dana's students.

FOCUS ON ACADEMICS

HISTORY

World events past & present are the focus of Dana's History professors Richard Jorgensen (left) and Don Warman (far left). Warman took the role of Faculty Follies M.C. this year, and brought the once-every-four-year tradition back to life.

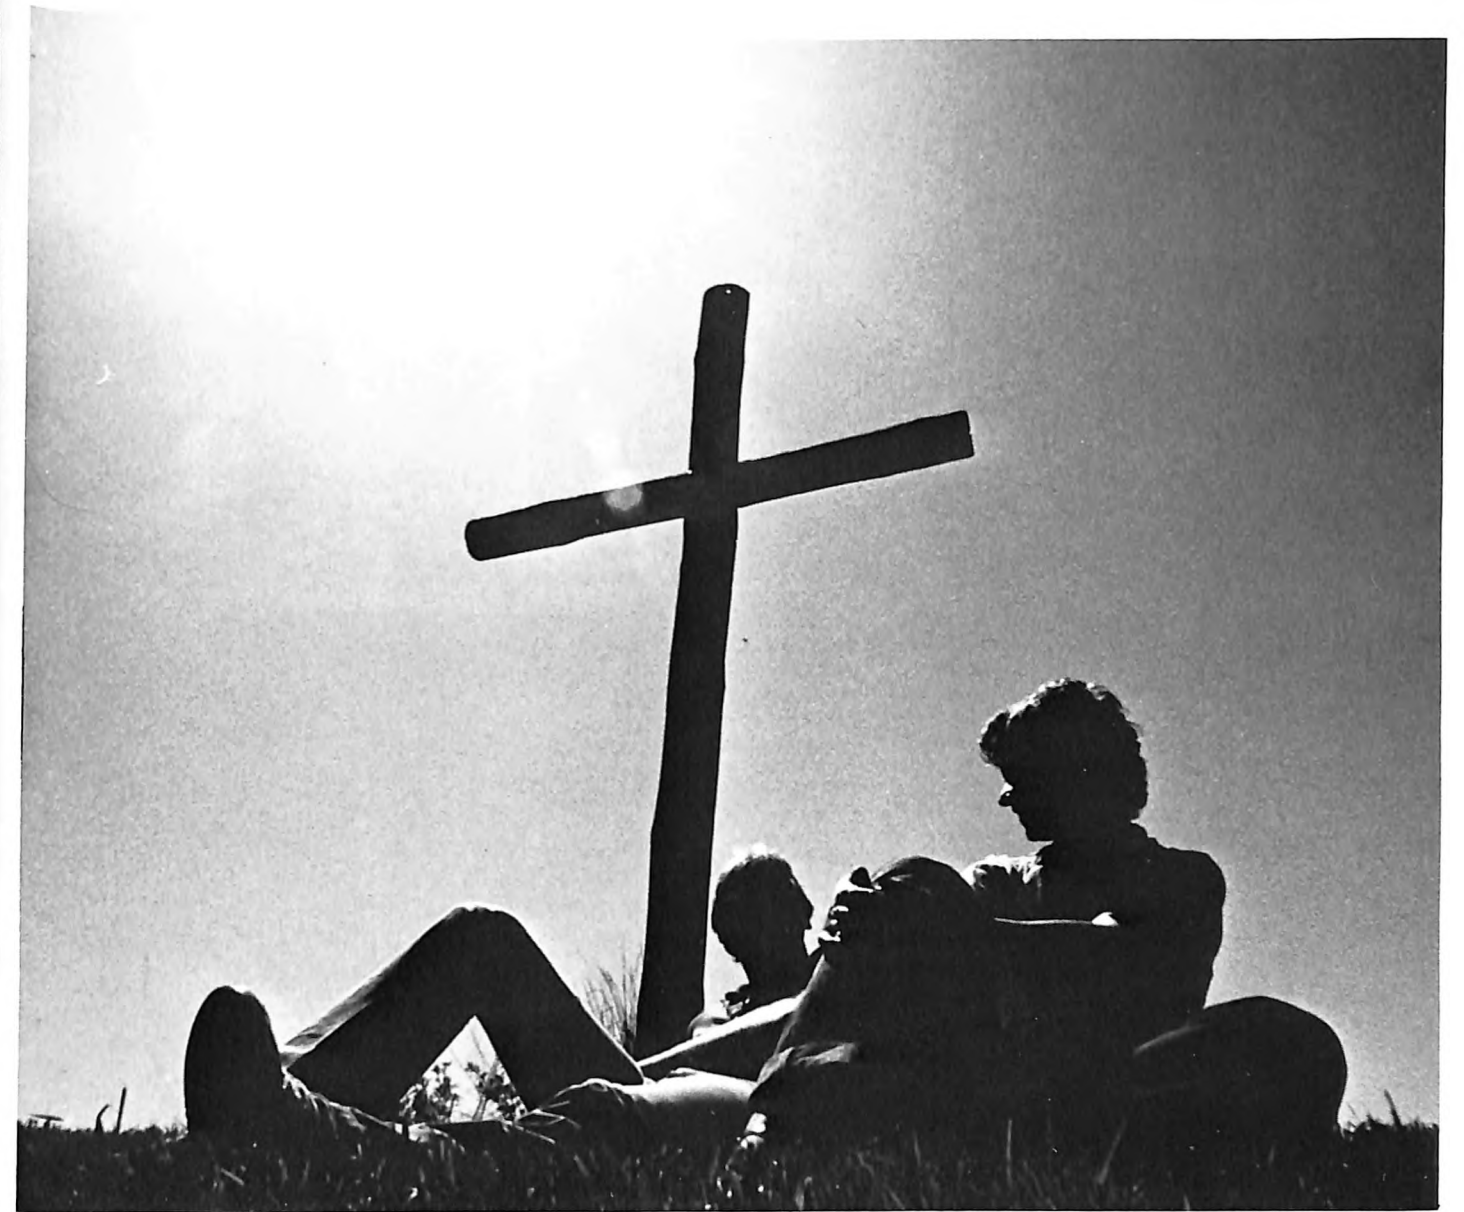

HUMANITIES

Dr. John Nielsen once again spearheaded the many faceted Humanities program. Highlights of the year included four major art exhibits in Parnassus. Dick Brink, Artist & Alumnus, was featured in the first exhibit and came to campus to speak on his work (center). Humanities classes were offered an opportunity to take in three plays at Minneapolis' Guthrie Theatre, and the European interim provided an opportunity for Dana Tucker & Carter Hansen (above) and others to tour Europe & the "Aegean World".

Dr. John W. Nielsen

RELIGION

Dr. John Northwall

Dr. Del Hutton

The personal highpoint for Dr. Hutton this year was the opportunity to attend a seminar/research program to study Jewish & Christian interpretations of the scriptures in Jerusalem during January. Dr. Hutton's low point perhaps was his fall gall bladder operation. It came during the Staley Lecture Series, which featured Dr. Richard Simon Hansen from Luther College. This spring afforded another opportunity for a fine lecture by Dr. Timothy Jensen on "Buddhism & Christianity: Foundations for Dialogue".

Mike Hennick and Helen Block graduated this year from the Religion department, and we wish them well in their further studies.

Sights and Sounds of Christmas was the first semester high point for both the Choir and Band, and gave the music department an opportunity to display its breadth and depth of talent. However, large group concerts were not the only focus of Dana's music department. This was the first year of "New Day," a vocal and instrumental touring group. They performed an ambitious schedule that began with a six-week regional tour last summer. "New Day" was somewhere almost every weekend of the school year, and the heroic efforts of Dr. Palmer in developing the vocal music program won him the "Professor of the Year" Award for this school term.

Instrumental music had its ups and downs with a midyear shift in faculty. Professor Michael Anderson (not pictured) joined his wife Jeanmarie on staff and replaced Richard Quast. The spring concert offered a fine showing of the Band, Jazz Ensemble, and the Brass Quintet.

SPEECH THEATER

Darrell Dibben
Sieg Krueger

KDCV has been broadcasting for fourteen years now, and Kris Swank and Barb Meyer are taking their turn on the air (opposite page) to help Professor Dibben keep the music flowing. On the flip side, the drama crew has had a busy season performing "A Midsummer Night's Dream", an adaptation of "A Child's Christmas in Whales", and "The Dining Room."

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

This is the year that Professor Norman Bansen retired (bottom, opposite page), a long-standing faculty member of the English faculty. Students will miss his caustic wit and knowledge of our Danish roots. Those roots were strengthened this year with the addition of Pia Werborg, Danish instructor, who spent this year with us, and will soon return to Denmark. The foreign languages have taken an increased role in extra curricular activities such as sponsoring dinners, performing at Sights and Sounds (below) and building floats for Homecoming.

ART

SOCIOLOGY SOCIAL WORK

The Art Department got more than a face-lift this year. With the renovation of Old Main, the department moved into a completely remodeled facility. Napawan Harold (above) added spice to the classes as she taught students Thai phrases and students helped her learn the subtleties of English slang.

Members of the Social Work Department were up to their ears in paperwork this year as Jan Funk (center) and Richard Potter (right) prepared for the final stages of accreditation. Professor Ruth Sather (left) helped out part time to keep classes going. The year wasn't all work. The Student Awareness Organization focused on some of the big social issues of the year but may best be remembered for a few good parties that helped keep the Social Work/Sociology Department together.

MATH SCIENCE

Science and Math Departments "keep on keepin' on." Of note this year are two seniors in particular. Dave Ragan has done considerable work in computer graphics to aid the Math Department. Also, Paul Christensen (pictured above with Professor Gene Linblad) dusted off the electrophoresis equipment and obtained excellent results in the electric field separation of protein from bacteria cultures.

ECONOMICS BUSINESS ACCOUNTING

This year Professor David Miller joined Gil Ragan and Michael Doyle to make up the best Business Department Dana has had in recent history. With the dawn of the computer age faculty have done more planning and projecting than in past years, and many students are taking part in the largest and most popular department on campus.

EDUCATION/ PSYCHOLOGY

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

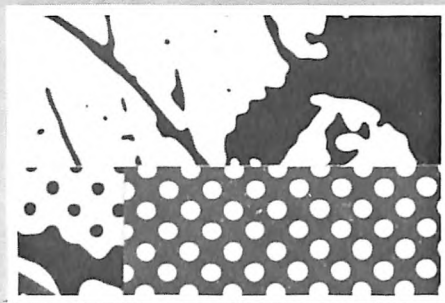

This fall the physical education curriculum was tested in its first full year of implementation. The curriculum focused on wellness & a wholistic view of physical health. Other changes included coach McKillip taking over the reins of department chair from Dan Travaille and the sudden illness and consequent retirement of Tom Brosnihan.

Kate Gaard, Janet Barber, and Julie Miller ventured to Hawaii for an Interim student teaching experience at Hawaii Preparatory Academy this year (pictured above with Alumnus Paul Larson on staff at HPA).

The Special Education program focused on developing a better sense of community between its members. To this end a Big Sister program was developed to help freshman. A special SpEd reunion was planned for Homecoming weekend, and a "Senior send-off" picnic was given by the juniors at the end of the year.

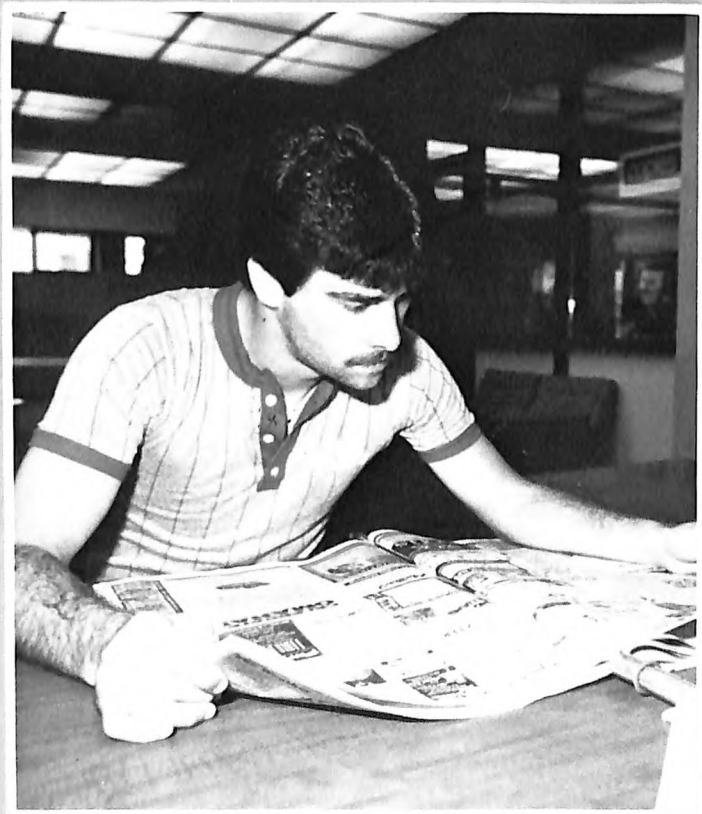

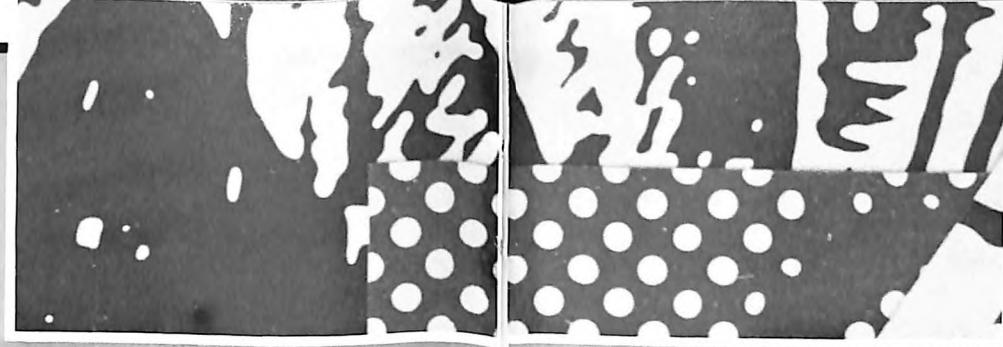

Last but not least, with the renovation of Old Main, Dorothy Olson had to move all her books, games and paraphernalia, and still does not have everything back into the new room.

Pastor Terry Cassell (left) joined the Dana family at the beginning of this school year. Under her direction chapel took some new shapes as services moved into PAC. Many spaces were used for church services including the "Black Box" for Lent and the theatre.

Nathan Kramer (lower left) headed Clown White, one of the most active of the ministry teams. Below are photos of a special workshop weekend organized by Clown White to further clown ministry in the region.
