As I look back, this year's Homecoming was very special. I was thrilled to learn from Jennifer Karre that I had made the court along with several other great people.

The Friday night pep rally went smoothly and led into the coronation. Andy Meyers was crowned King and I was crowned Queen. I'll never forget Andy whispering, "I'd kiss you, but your husband, Troy, is watching!"

Saturday brought perfect weather and a large alumni crowd for the football game. After having been driven around the track at halftime I decided that the car should be Andy and my reward, nobody else agreed. Well, once again Homecoming was successful and one I will never forget.

The Dana Drama Department was busy this year with many wonderful and diverse productions. The year began with the "Madwoman of Chaillot" and the choral reading of "Gilleleje 43". At Sights and Sounds in December "The Implausible Clause" was produced much to the delight of students and guests alike. Second semester took off with "Antigone" and the two student directed plays: "Haiku", which was directed by Kim Zulfer and "The Madness of Lady Bright" directed by Dana Holz. The year ended on a high note, literally, with the musical production of "Pump Boys and Dinettes" which had the audience not only on their feet but actively involved as well. The 93-94 dramatic season was not only a success in the utilization of the many fine actors on the campus, but they also behind the scenes talent as well (kudos to Karl and Austin). One can hardly wait to see what will follow next year.

This year Dana, along with the rest of the world, became increasingly aware of environmental issues and how we can make a difference right here at Dana. EAO (Environmental Awareness Organization) spearheaded this year's movement with their infamous "Toilet Trash" and their efforts to place recycling bins in many of the buildings. In the Dana Classroom Complex, every trash can came with a saddle basket in which pop cans could be easily separated from regular trash. It seems everywhere you turned there was someone else doing something to promote environmental awareness through recycling. This was not the first year that Dana sought to do more for the environment, but it was maybe the first year it was felt as a movement throughout the entire campus.

Three kids under the age of ten ran the fourth floor of Mickelsen hall during "Lil Siblings Weekend". After going to the women's basketball game the kids couldn't sit still any longer, and once back in the dorms chaos erupted. Pillow and stuffed animal fights (which are considered deadly if you are unskilled in that sport) were launched in the first wave. Then the the Movie, "The Mighty Ducks" briefly caught the attention of the ten-year-old and Junior Pat Forck engaged in an extensive card game of war with the nine-year-old; peace was brought back to the floor. Yet, education major, Carmen Toel, found out just how energetic a five-year-old can be, even when reading books. All in all, it seems that the big kids still had fun, including hall director Greg Earhart. Between Saturday's scheduled activities he could be found playing catch in the halls of Mickelsen with Amy Bredthauer's youngest brother. It seems that we all have a soft spot for the lil' ones. All in all, the weekend was rated a success by students and siblings alike.

First-Year Student, Heidi Gerth takes time (and a lot of patience) to teach some little ones how to play "golf".

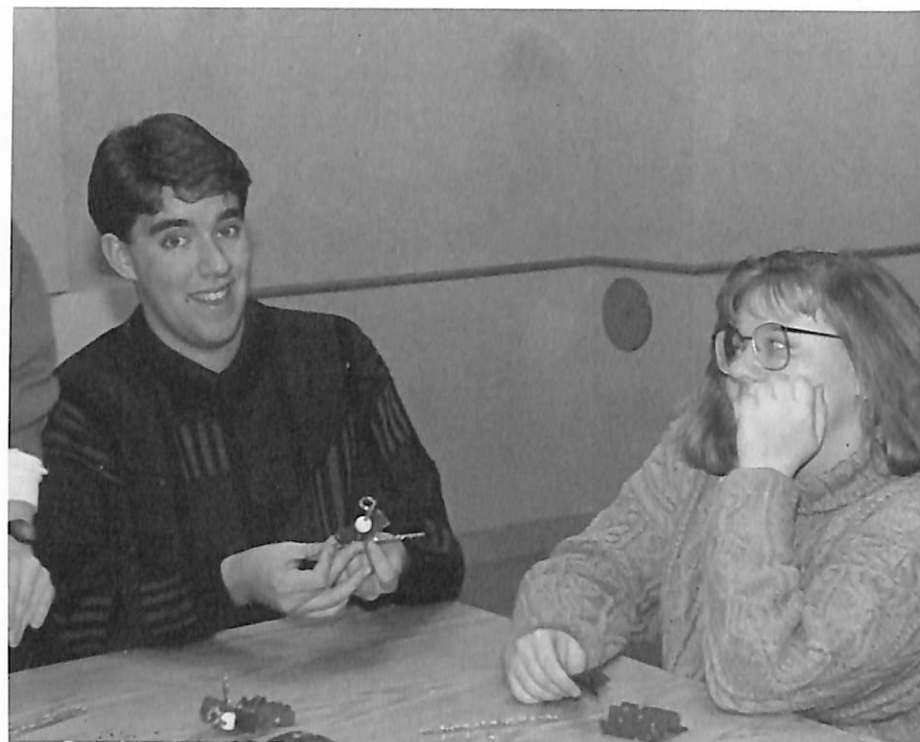

Michelle Bristol seems distracted as her friend waits anxiously to continue their playing.

Dana College Parents' Weekend included many events for students and their families to attend. There were football and volleyball games and a presentation of "The Madwoman of Chaillot" performed by the Dana Drama Department. Parents were also invited to a sampling of student classes. During lunch the parents were greeted by President Christopherson and enjoyed the talents of the New Day Choir. According to freshmen Kerry Maas and Holly Peterson, this was a good way for their parents to not only enjoy the weekend, but to also get to know the Dana Community as well.

Every year Dana College presents "The Sights and Sounds of Christmas" to the public, and every year it draws thousands of people out into the cold to eat, laugh, sing and celebrate the season.

Every year, however, no one seems to take time out to really appreciate what the people of Dana have to do to pull all of this off while making it seem effortless. This publication would like to say thank-you to the students, faculty, and staff who scramble like crazy before the big day with the rehearsals, the hanging of an entire exhibit, the sewing of costumes, making allof the food and decorations, and everything else that goes into making it what it is, a joyous celebration of life.

The Nebraska Undergraduate Juried Art Competition is virtually the only time during the year that college students across the state get to compete. This year, two hundred and eight entries came from twenty-five Nebraska Colleges and Universities. Eighty-two pieces were selected overall, seventeen being from Dana, which made up a full twenty percent of the show.

The exhibition was on display at the Walker Art Gallery at the University of Nebraska at Kearney from October 3rd through the 31st.

This year Jennifer Allemang, Marilyn Anderson, Stephanie Carlson, John Cromwell, Bryan Dirks, Kate Eller, Stephanie Frey, Karl Hermanson, Chris Krier, Meredith Novak, Jesse Render, John Rhodes, Lisa Stark, and Candy Suverkrubbe all had pieces on display.

Seniors, art student s, BryanDirks, Mareta Osborn, and Karl Hermansen are shown loading some of the works that were displayed at the show.

Armed with cameras and nervous smiles, 12 Dana German students and Dr. Sybille Bartels embarked on a three week study trip to Germany. Some of us had never flown. Most of us had never left the country and a few had barely ventured out of their hometown.

We all fully experienced Germany. In Munich we danced on stage with a Bavarian band, tasted German beer and saw several churches and cathedrals.

Sidetrrips took us to see the extravagant castles of King Ludwig II and Salzburg, Austria.

In Berlin we walked freely through Checkpoint Charlie and other places where the wall once stood. We danced at the Metropol Disco after 3 a.m. We met native Berliners including Dr. Bartels' family and discussed America and Germany with them. We experienced every possible mode of public transportation.

From Berlin we took sidetrrips to the historic cities of Potsdam and Wittenburg.

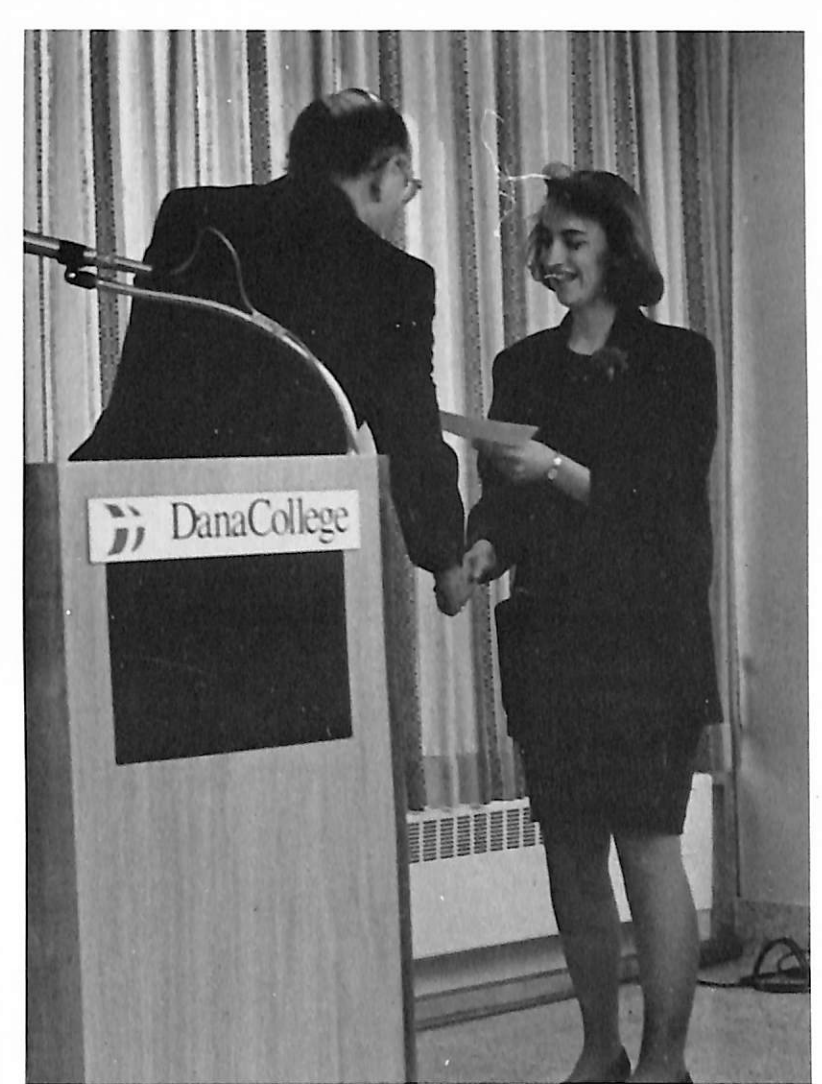

The small northern German city of Bad Segeberg was a highlight for everyone. Each of us was assigned a host family for our three day stay.

We were treated as guests of the city complete with a reception at the city hall with the mayor.

Our trip ended with stays in Ribe and Copenhagen, Denmark. On one adventurous day we waded in the North Sea at low tide in the midst of blustery winds, rain and a small amount of hail.

The trip made our studies of German language, history and culture real and applicable. The three-week experience taught us more than any number of years of textbook learning could.

The Dana Classroom Complex, i.e. . . THE NEW BUILDING

Among the many memories of a Dana student could be as a band member who played on a near frozen instrument in swirling snow for the official ground breaking of the Dana Classroom Complex and Trinity Chapel on November 6, 1991. Others will remember the grand Homecoming Dedication of the Facility on a bright, crispy Saturday as the band played a rendition of Martin Luther's "A Mighty Fortress".

Memories of this Homecoming weekend will be cherished in the minds of students, faculty, staff, Alumni and friends of Dana College. The event was celebrated with honored guests including His Excellency, Peter Dyvig, Ambassador of Denmark to the United States; Dana Alumnus and Regent, Paul Simon, U.S. Senator from Illinois and other distinguished alumni. The ceremony was filled with outstanding speakers to an audience of about 1,000 people.

D.C.C. contains over 40,000 square feet for classrooms, faculty offices and specialized laboratories as well as the first permanent Chapel for Dana. Built at the cost of approximately six million dollars, this marvelous facility will serve as a center of instruction for generations to come.

As the light from Main went out on August 25, 1988, a new light from the ninety foot tower now shines from the hill as well as in the hearts of those who pass through Dana College in the future.

This year, as in previous years, the Student Senate set out to make Dana College a safer, more fun place to be. They kicked the year off with the second annual Back-to-School Bash. After the fun however, the senate got down to business and held two successful budget meetings, organized a Budget Organizational Handbook, a pamphlet for writing an Organizational Constitution, wrote a brochure on what the senate does, as well as updated the by-laws in the Dana Constitution.

The Student Senate had representatives at the Lutheran Leadership Conference in Minneapolis, Minnesota. They also participated in a leadership exchange with Midland College.

The Dana College Concert Band, led by Professor Michael Anderson, is the principle instrumental ensemble of Dana College. Members also participate in the Pep Band which provides musical entertainment for all of the home football games is greatly enjoyed by all members (especially when it rains and they get to leave!) The band is open to all students, regardless of major, and provides scholarships for many. This year the band went on tour to Chicago and back for a few days before the year was even over.

Letter from the editor

(reprinted from the May 13 edition)

Dear faculty, staff, and students:

I would like to thank you for your support of the Hermes in the two years I have been editor. During this year especially everyone has taken the effort to inform the Hermes staff of happenings and concerns of the campus.

I think it has finally been realized that this is your paper. We do not spend each Thursday putting it together for ourselves but for the Dana community.

The Hermes has been given new life and respect from your input and contributions. This year we received 18 signed letters to the editor compared to only two the year before.

A campus newspaper should serve as a forum for ideas and concerns. This year you have made it so.

I would like to thank my executive staff and underrecognized reporters for all the time they put into the Hermes from week to week.

Many times they do all the work for no glory and no pay. I would not be able to put out a single issue without them.

I know I am demanding at times but my reporters have continued to put up with it and come through time and again with a great story.

Finally I would like to thank my friends for their support during my stint as editor. They have come to know all too well the implications of paper day. Many times I couldn't have done it without their listening ears and words of encouragement

Thank you and God Bless

This year was, to say the least, chaotic. With an inexperienced staff that wasn't always sure what to do next (especially the editor) we strove to turn out a book that we could possibly be proud of and that could actually be delivered into the hands of the students the following year (No, I don't know when or if the 91-92 yearbook will be available). We dealt with trying to increase the number of pages so that hopefully more people could thumb through and see themselves in something other than their mugshot. While we unfortunately were unable to catch every individual in a candid shot, no one was left out on purpose (anyone who feels neglected has my apologies). Hopefully, next year things will run more smoothly for everyone involved.

Danian '94

HERMES

Renegade Radio turned legal and came out of the closet in 1993-94. The 21st year for radio at Dana College saw KDCV leave the attic on 3rd floor Pioneer Memorial, and relocate to new studios and office space in the new Classroom Center.

Musically, it was another great year with breakthrough releases from Smashing Pumpkins, Lemonheads, James, The Breeders and Crash Test Dummies. Follow-up albums from Nirvana and Pearl Jam were also in heavy rotation for several months. The live Metallica set, along with new discs from Pantera, Anthrax, Soundgarden, Nine Inch Nails, Fight and Motley Crue kept the 'bangers in traction for most of the year.

The best undiscovered and unsigned bands could be heard every week on Guide Wire Radio, a half-hour program featuring independent artists and musicians from around the country. If "alternative" radio truly exists, this show is it.

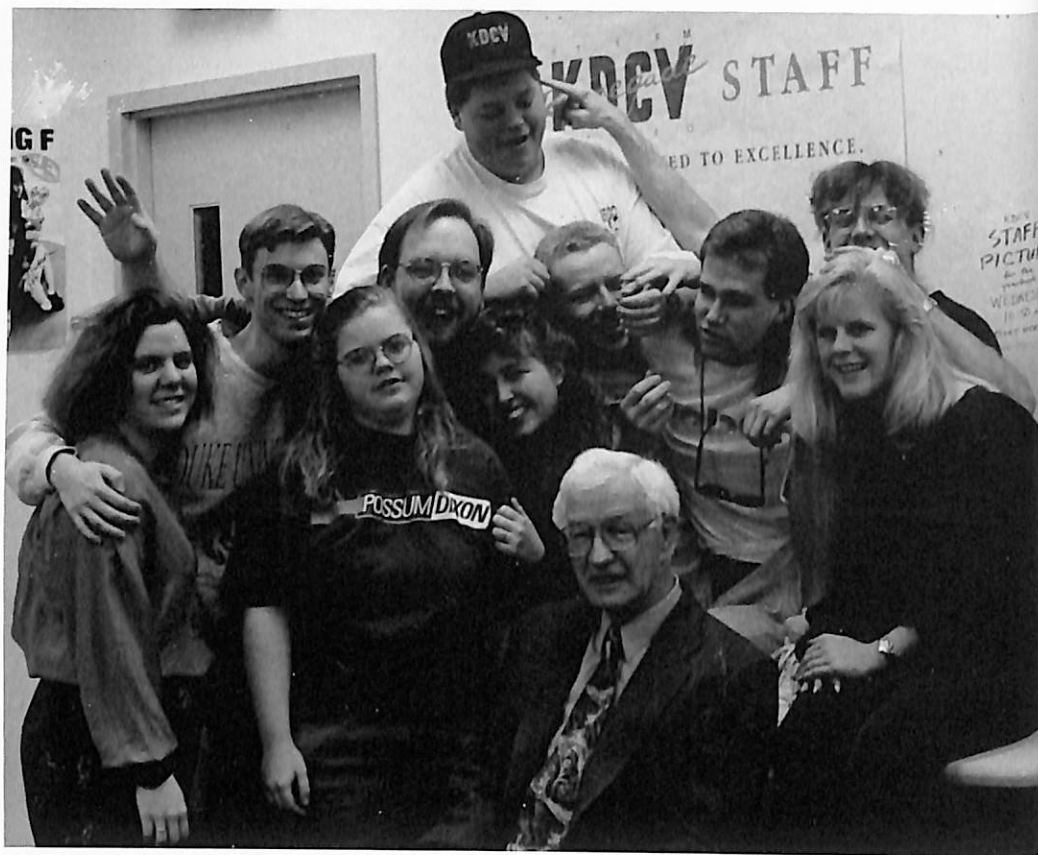

Coverage of Viking sports continued throughout the entire year, with students providing play-by-play and color commentary for dozens of home and road games. The Men's basketball team gave our announcers plenty of reasons to be excited this season, before finishing the season in the second round of the playoffs. We even covered volleyball this year, as the Lady Vikings hosted their first-ever playoff game at home in Borup Coliseum.

We sent two listeners to see Nirvana in Omaha in December, only to mourn the death of lead singer Kurt Cobain in a special tribute four months later.

Quarter Theater became a staple of weekend activity on campus, with the radio station staff sponsoring the almost-weekly movie nights. Soda and popcorn sold for 25 cents each, while students relaxed in the near-comfort of DHA and enjoyed films on the big screen.

All in all, not a bad year for the Renegade. We could have done more but, hey, we have lives too, ya know. Look forward to more live shows, more promotions, more sports and more great music next year!

The A-Team is a group of students who work for the admissions office as a positive link to prospective students. Members have the opportunity to meet people and develop their communication skills through their work with counselors, the innumerable mailings they do, and serving as campus hosts and tour guides to the many visitors we have on campus throughout the year. For Laurel Minnick, a four-year member of the team it has been a great experience and a way to give something back the school. She says, "The A-Team has a lot of responsibilities because without it, the school wouldn't grow."

DVTV

The television program this year has gone on fairly steadily. We have used most of the year to settle into our new studio area, which we find very suitable. We are just starting to take advantage of the enormous sound studio that we have. For the most part, because of the lack of some important connections, we have used the smaller production/storage studio for most of the shows that we have done this year. This year saw, if only briefly, the introduction of delayed broadcast of Dana sports over Channel 5. We did, as always, run the Blair sports for the community. We also laid down a few episodes of the re-vamped "Big Art Show" (now entitled "The Viking Show"). Many in-house video productions were done this year, not the least of which was the taping of the lectures that jazz-great Jim Chapin gave, as well as the following jazz concert that he participated in. And, as always, the broadcasts of the services at First Lutheran Church continued as long as the station was up.

I am looking at next year and wondering exactly what is going to happen; With the departure of Mike Moriarty, we are getting a new general manager who will undoubtedly bring a new view of what DVTV should consist of. I see next year as a year of restructuring of the television media program and hopefully the beginnings of a corporate video program at Dana, with the help of Starla Stensas. Corporate video is "where its at" in the broadcast world.

No matter what happens next year, we had fun this year, and we hope the fun can continue for a long, long time.

Help Our People Expand HOPE

The purpose of his organization is to provide leadership, instill pride, and motivate and unify students. Activities and events include bringing culturally diverse programs to the campus to better educate all students about different cultures.

Who Is Campus Ministry?

Some still believe Campus Ministry only consists of "those people" who meet in the Linden room every Wednesday night. This is not true for two reasons:

- 1) They now meet in the Gathering Place in the Dana Classroom Center.
- 2) Campus Ministry is unique in the sense that it incorporates talented students from all areas of campus life into service.

This year alone, worship life has expanded to the use of four different contemporary services, separate daily worship services during Lent, and a weekly Monday night communion service. In order for these services to materialize, much student leadership was required. Mike Ostrom, Campus pastor, does not see himself as a "ministry vender" but rather draws from the talented resources found in the student body. The planning for these services began this past summer with collaboration and the hard work of Dana Holz and Pastor Mike.

"I am really excited about the development of Campus Ministry. My hope is that Chapel will become a part of everyone's campus life." (Dana Holz)

Pastor Mike views communion as a vital part of this community effort. "Communion not only strengthens our identity as Christians and our relationship to each other but also creates an awareness of ethics. The Eucharist is how we become a better area of service and support. We are no longer fragments, but a whole community."

Community is built not only through worship life but also in the activities and groups associated with Campus Ministry. Service to others has been a major theme for many of the projects accomplished in the Blair and Omaha areas. Early in the year a Crop Walk was held on the Dan campus and both students and faculty took part to raise money for the hungry. During Interim "Servant Saturday" was a successful project serving the Open Door Mission, Lydia House, and Habitat for Humanity. An educational retreat was held in Lincoln with the Nebraska A.I.D.S. Project where students from Dana helped to lead a discussion with high school students

New groups created in association with Campus Ministry a Liturgical Choir and a new chapter of Fellow Christian Athletes, headed by coach Dave Jensen. FCA is seen by many as a way of incorporation of different ministries. "Sports touch many lives and act as a witness to people who are not Christians. In FCA we talk about issues involving sports that provide a community feeling," states Paul Gardener. The fine arts have also played a large role in the development of Campus Ministry," says Gretchen Last, co-director of Liturgical Choir. "Dance, instrumental music and singing all have added to Chapel services.

In the coming years it is hoped that Campus Ministry will continue to grow and become an integrated part of Dana life.

ATHLETICS

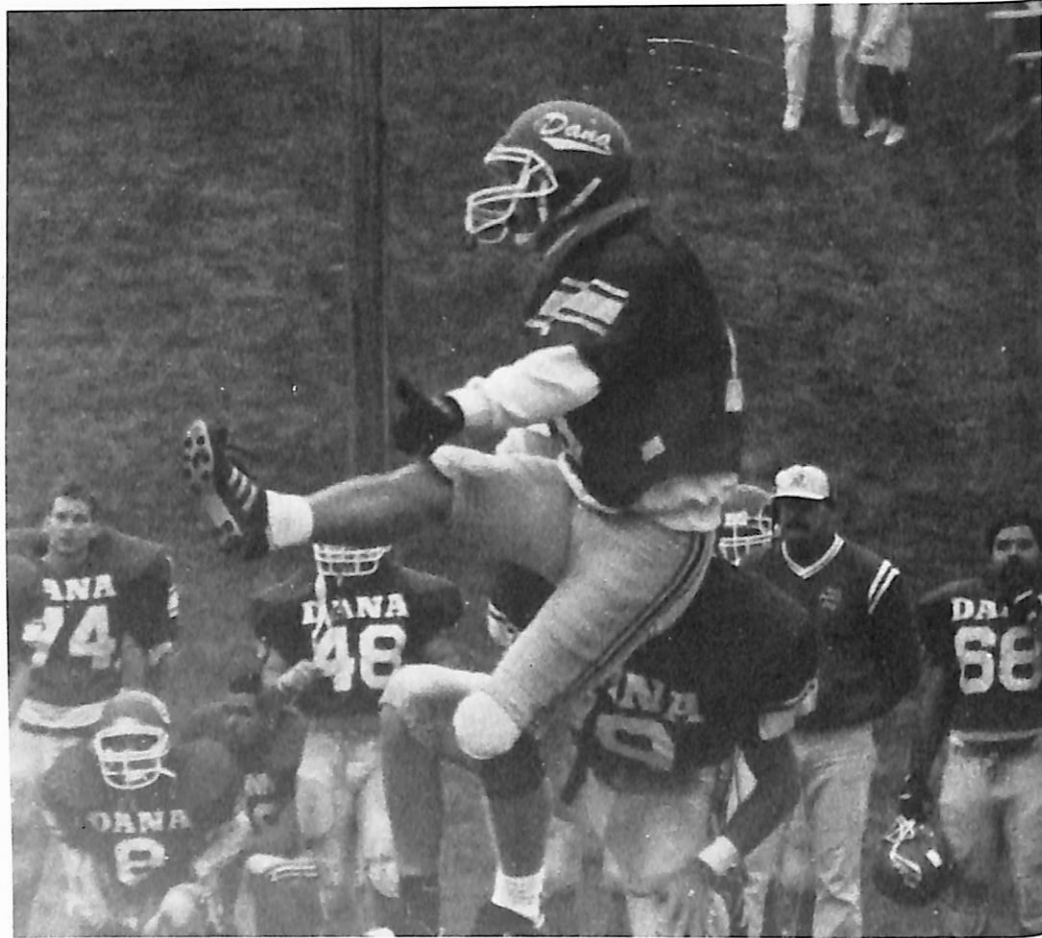

Even before the 1993 football season began for the Dana Vikings, it looked as though it was going to be a difficult year - the team had lost head coach Leo Mckillip to retirement over the summer as well as a number of key veterans to graduation. Mckillip's replacement, former assistant coach Jim Krueger, inherited a squad of first-time starters and rookies.

The team was initiated early in the campaign with a string of humbling defeats. They flustered to a 0-6 record before a thrilling, story book victory over Concordia at Viking field on a last-second field goal. From there the team began to operate as more of a unit and competed with their opposition for their remaining contests. Despite losses in their final 3 games, the Vikings were beginning to gel into an exciting, hungry football team. Their improved play and performance at the end of the season certainly set a solid foundation for the future years in Dana College Football.

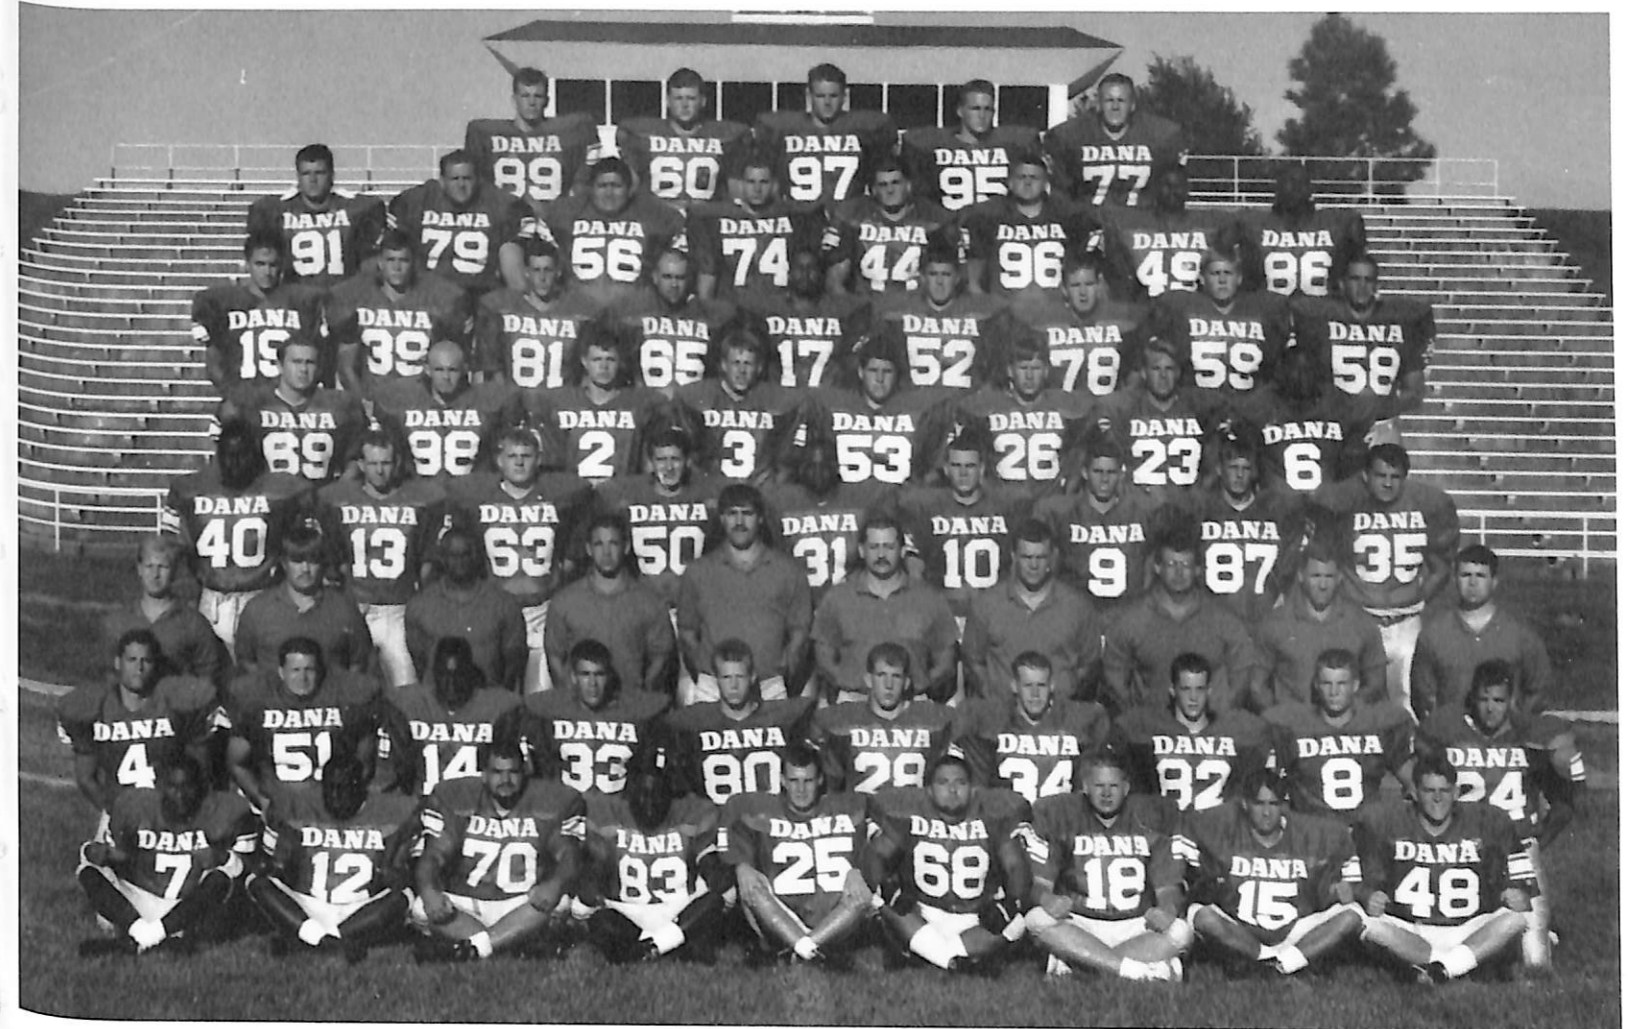

Although it was one of the toughest years for the Vikings in recent memory, it had its share of highlights. A number of first year players, including quarterback Jack Riggins and defensive lineman Jeff Jones, established themselves as key players in the Vikings' future, while veteran running back Mike Haddock and offensive linemen Brett Williams, Chris Begay, and Nat Hill had solid years. Haddock, the Vikings' most valuable player, established a school record when he rushed for 264 yards against Concordia and was also the leading rusher in the conference with 1060 yards. Haddock and Brent Williams were named to the First team All Conference and the Omaha World Herald named Haddock and Jeff Jones to the NAIA All Nebraska First team.

The future may be bright for the Vikings. Though it may take time, they should continue to build on the strengths developed during the '93 season. And, with a lot of hard work, dedication and discipline in the off season, they should be able to pocket a few more wins next year.

Viking FOOTBALL

The Lady Viking volleyball team had a lot to celebrate this season. As the only senior player on the team this year, it was the best way for me to go out.

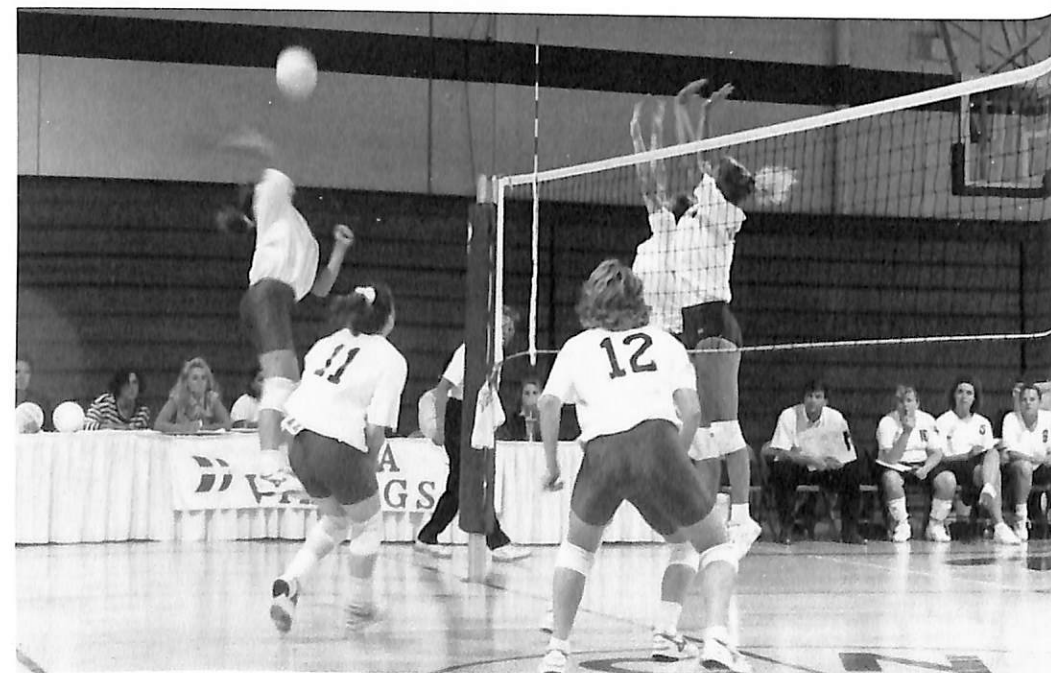

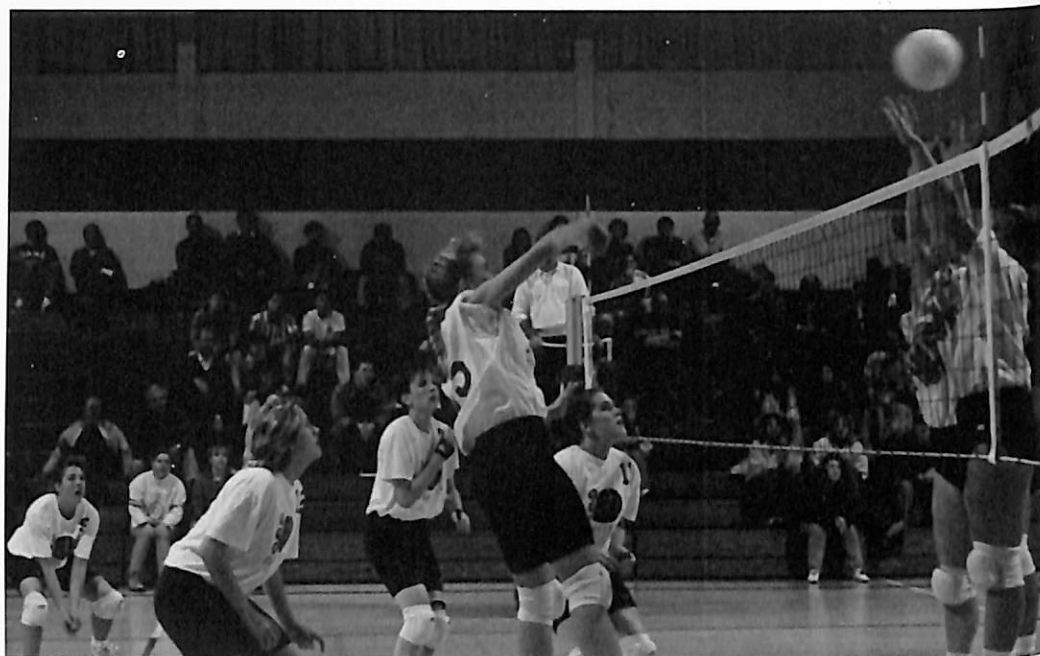

Which one stands out among the rest? I think the greatest thrill was the first ever victory over Hastings College at home. I can remember looking at the bench right before we scored the last point and seeing Coach Stevenson, known to the players as CS, crying. It was the most fulfilling sensation when we won that game.

Winning all of our home games except the one against Northwestern was quite an accomplishment. Along with these great tasks, we finished second in the Nebraska - Iowa Athletic Conference with 8-4 record.

With such a great season coming to a close, we were beginning to see Nationals as a goal. Unfortunately, Peru State College shattered that dream when they defeated us in four matches. However We were Dana's first volleyball team to ever win a NAIA post-season game.

To end the season on an even better note, CS received NAIA District 11 Coach-of-the-Year, and Stacy Haas and Katie Krueger were named to the All-District first team. Melanie Hild and Shelli Wiebelhaus were named honorable mention All-District. Haas, Krueger and Wiebelhaus were also NIAC All-Conference picks, while Hild received honorable mention.

Viking BASKETBALL

The Dana's Men basketball team closed out the 1993/94 season with a 16-17 overall record and a 4-8 mark in the Nebraska-Iowa Athletic Conference (NIAC) play, good for sixth place in the league. Highlights of the season included a 99-75 win over Doane on January 19 that ended a 48-game NIAC losing streak. Dana swept three games from arch-rival Midland Lutheran and scored a win over NCAA Division II Metro State CO in November.

The Vikings were seeded fourth in the NIAC post-season tournament and opened the post-season at home with an 87-79 win over Midland Lutheran at Borup in a NIAC semi-final game, 101-75.

Rob Coursey (3rd YR, G) was named to the elite 10 member NIAC All-Conference team in a vote of conference coaches. Coursey was Dana's leading scorer with an 18.5 scoring average. Tony Collins (3rd Yr, F/G), Chris Tignor (3rd Yr, F/C), Jason Jackson (3rd Yr, G) and Nathan Babbitt (1st Yr, F/G) all received honorable mention all-conference recognition. Collins is a three-time NIAC honorable mention choice for Dana.

Lady Viking Basketball

Dana's women's basketball team ended the 1993/94 season with a 6-21 overall record and a 1-11 mark in the Nebraska-Iowa Athletic Conference (NIAC) play. The young Viking squad, with no seniors, lost its first five games and then had a three-game winning streak. Dana was 3-16 in its final 19 games, however, and scored its lone conference victory over Northwestern, 66-60, on January 14. Dana and Northwestern tied for sixth place in the NIAC women's cage standings.

Dana had one player named to the elite 10-member NIAC All-Conference team. Heidi Grappendorf (3rd Yr, G) was selected for the all-conference team in a vote of conference coaches. Grappendorf was the league's top scorer with a 22.5 per game scoring average. Nichol Buenning (1st Yr, F) was given honorable mention to the all-conference team.

With no seniors on this year's team, the Vikings could return all 58 of their points-per-game next season. After the rebuilding season this winter, Foley will look to move the Viking women back into the hunt for the NIC championship and into the national-tournament contention once again. The Vikings advanced within one game of the NAIA Division II national tournament in 1991/92 and 1992/93.

-Paul Clark

VIKING WRESTLING

Senior Scott Stickler placed fifth in the NAIA national tournament and earned All-American status to highlight the 1993-94 Dana wrestling season.

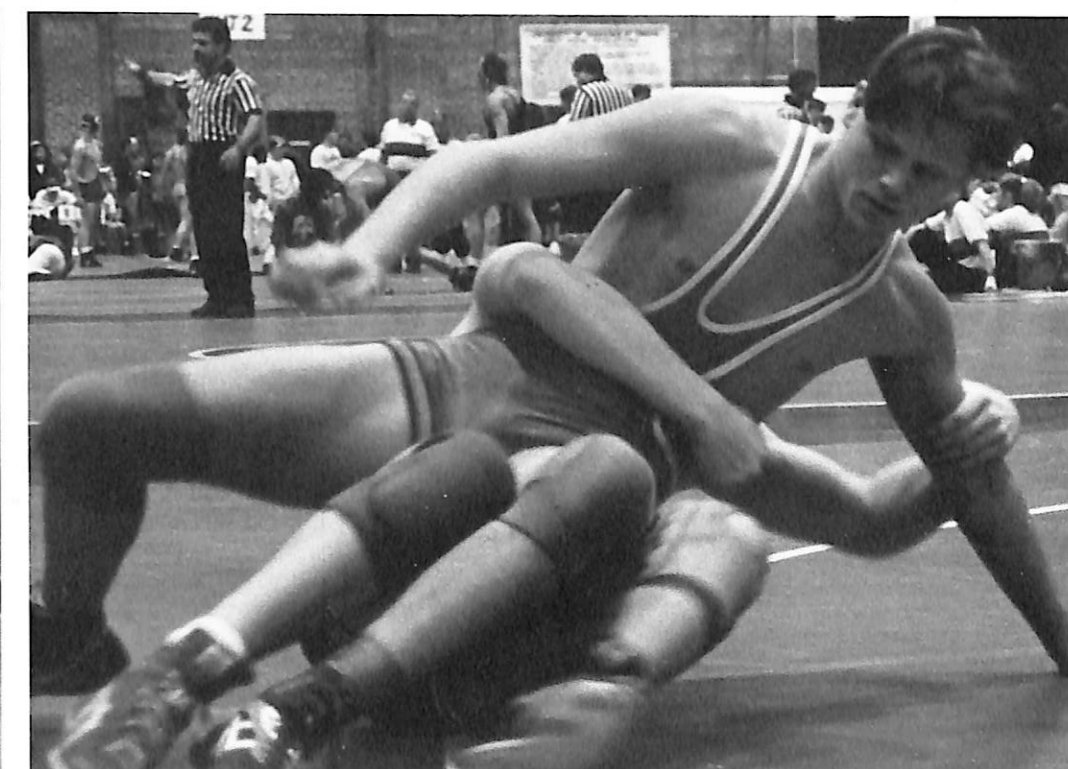

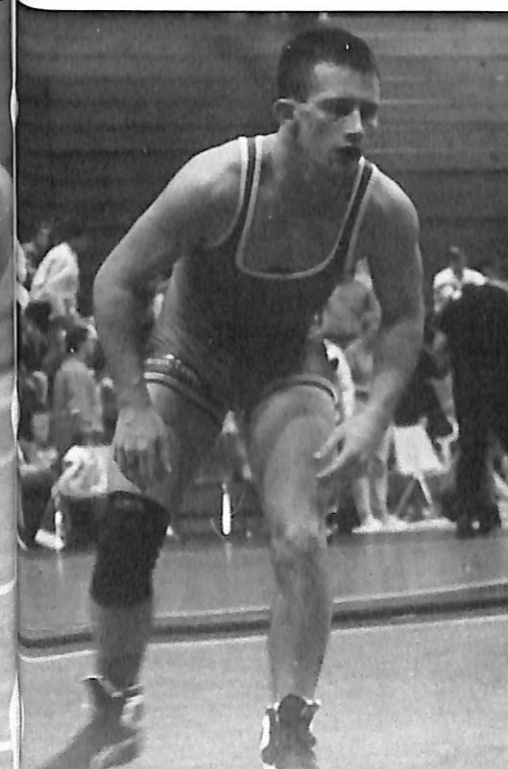

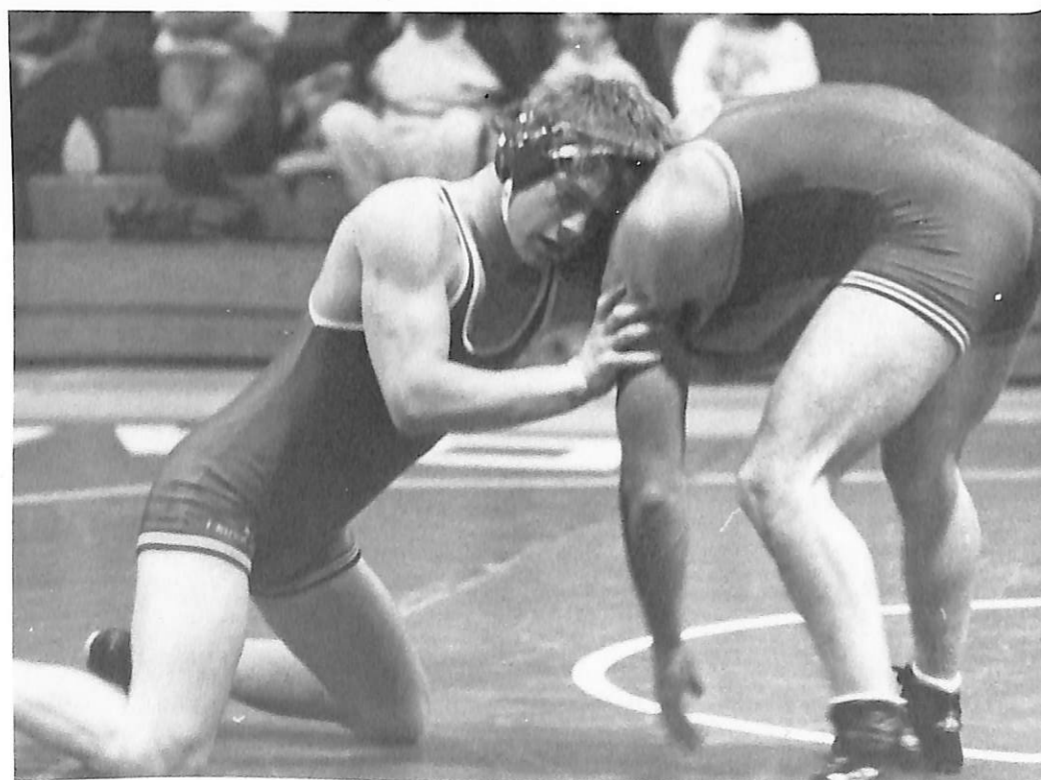

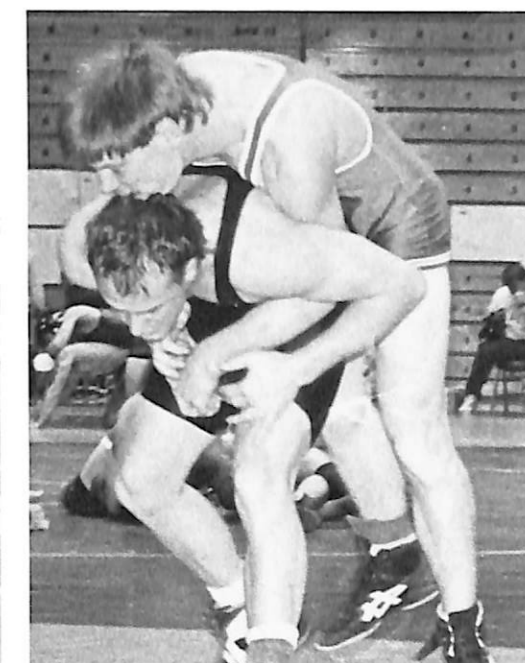

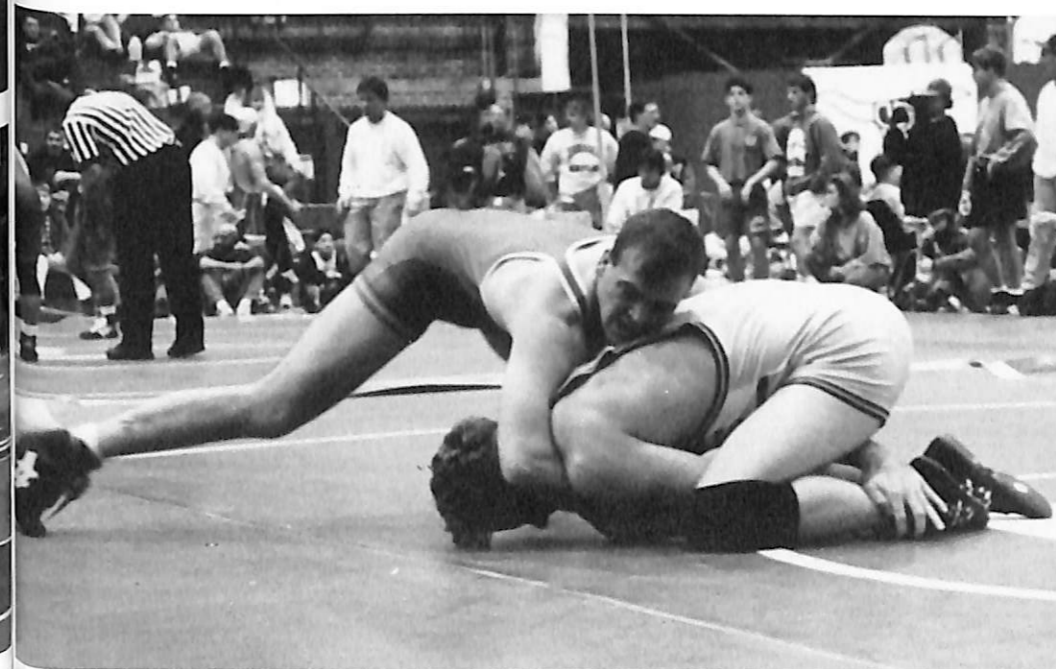

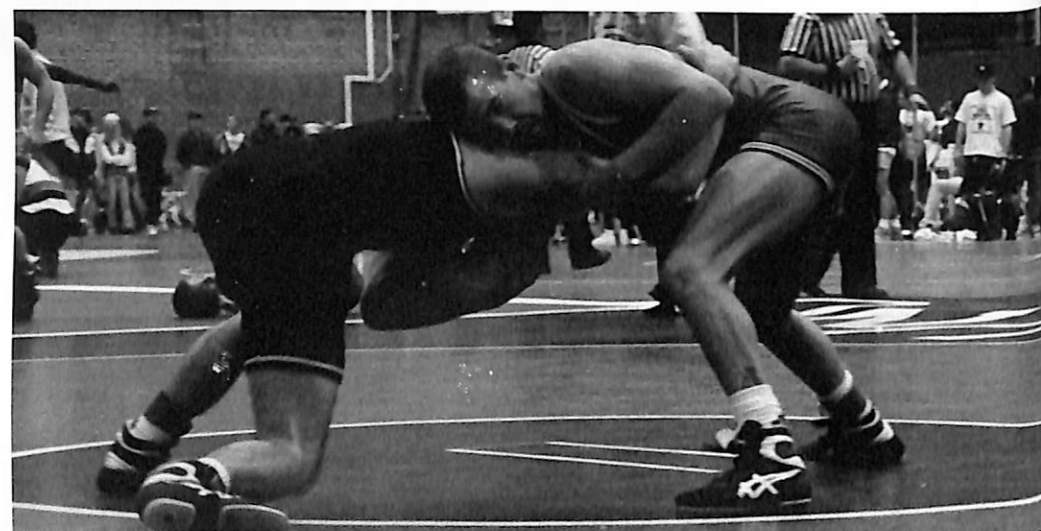

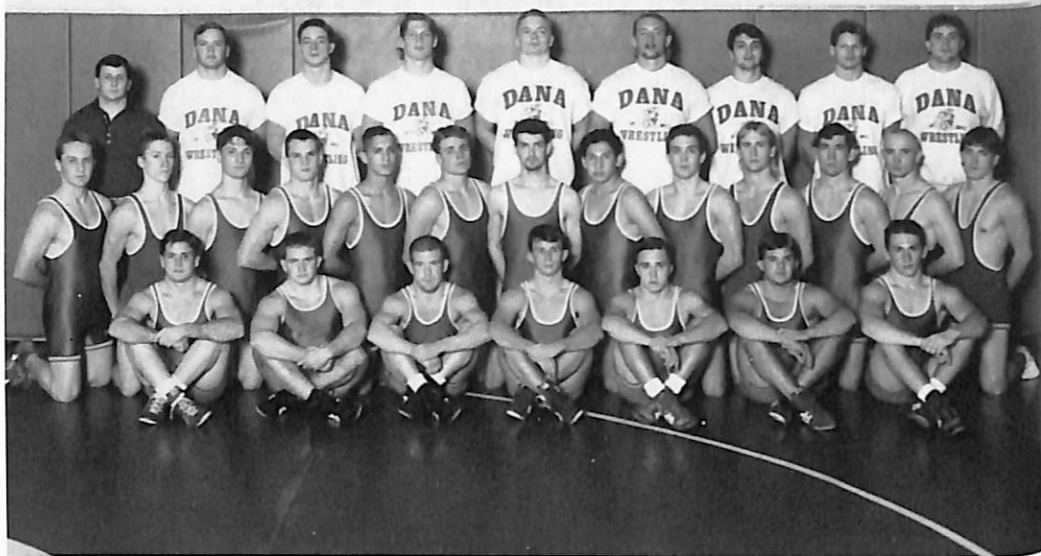

Stickler finished fifth at 142 pounds in the national tournament, held March 10-12 in Butte Montana. He finished his senior season with a 21-9 record. Stickler was a four-time national qualifier for Dana.

The Vikings had six other participants at the national meet. Senior Matt Mentink, Junior Danny Mattern, sophomore Chad Caskey, and freshman Andy Hensley were all national qualifiers, while junior Brent Johnson and freshman T.C. Aguilar went to the national tournament as Dana's two "wild card" entries.

Caskey was 23-12 on the season to lead Viking wrestlers in total victories. Hensley also reached the 20-win mark, by going 20-14, and Mattern just missed by finishing 19-12. Mentink ended his Dana career with a stirring turnaround to his season, overcoming a 1-7 start to finish 13-13. Johnson and Aguilar each won ten matches on the year.

The squad, coached by Ron Beaman, placed 22nd in the team standings at the national meet. Dana placed second in the Tri-State Conference meet and ended the year with a 4-3 dual record.

Coaching Era Completed

A familiar will be gone next year from Dana's baseball program. Head coach Dale "Juice" Lemon retired at the end of the 1994 season after 31 years as the Vikings' skipper.

As head baseball coach, Lemon won 503 games, 10 NIAC championships and two conference titles in the former Tri-State Conference over a 35-year period. He coached baseball at Valley City State in North Dakota for four years before taking over the Viking baseball program.

Lemon was named the NAIA Coach of the Year and inducted into the Dana College Athletic Hall of Fame in 1980. His son, Doug, has also been inducted into the Hall of Fame.

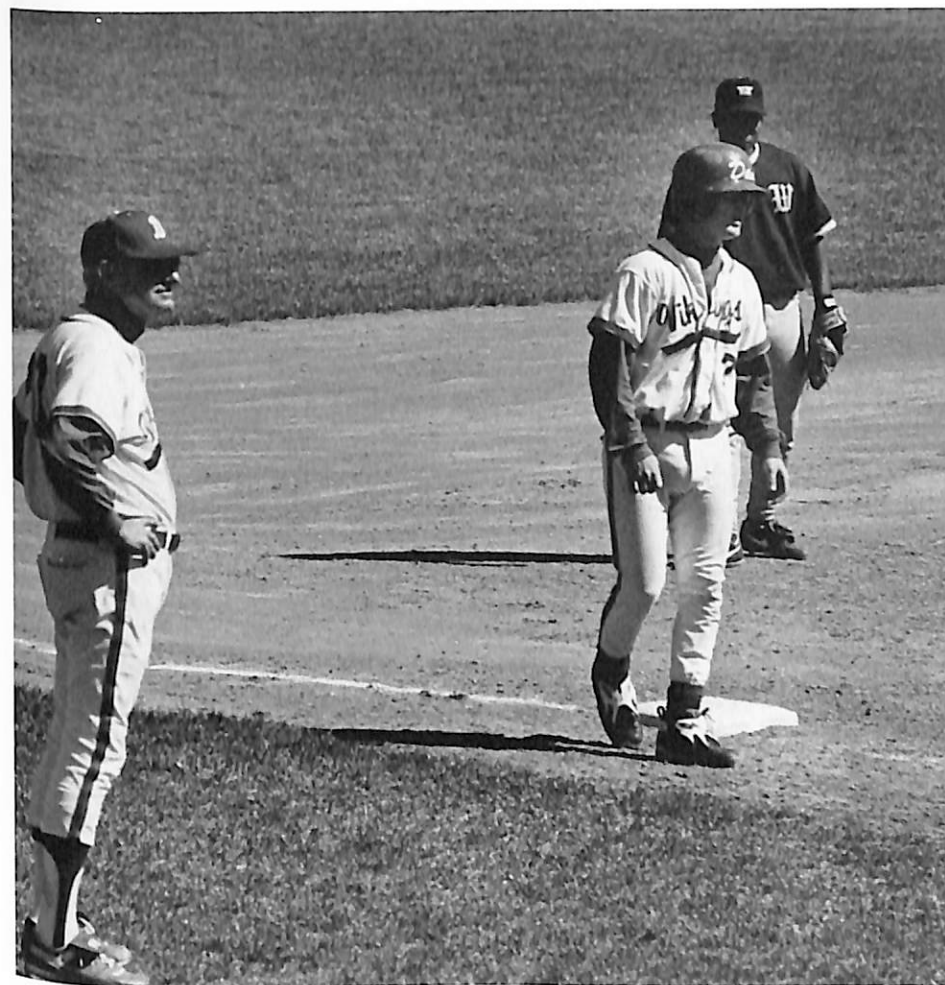

Prior to his coaching career, lemon earned a reputation as an outstanding athlete in high school and college. As a student at Lincoln Northeast High School, Lemon played basketball (state champions his senior year), football, track (won the gold medal in 880 relay his senior year) and was the Lincoln City Golf Champion in 1950.

Lemon attended the University of Arkansas on a basketball scholarship for two years before returning to the Midwest where he graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan University. There he lettered in football, baseball, basketball and track.

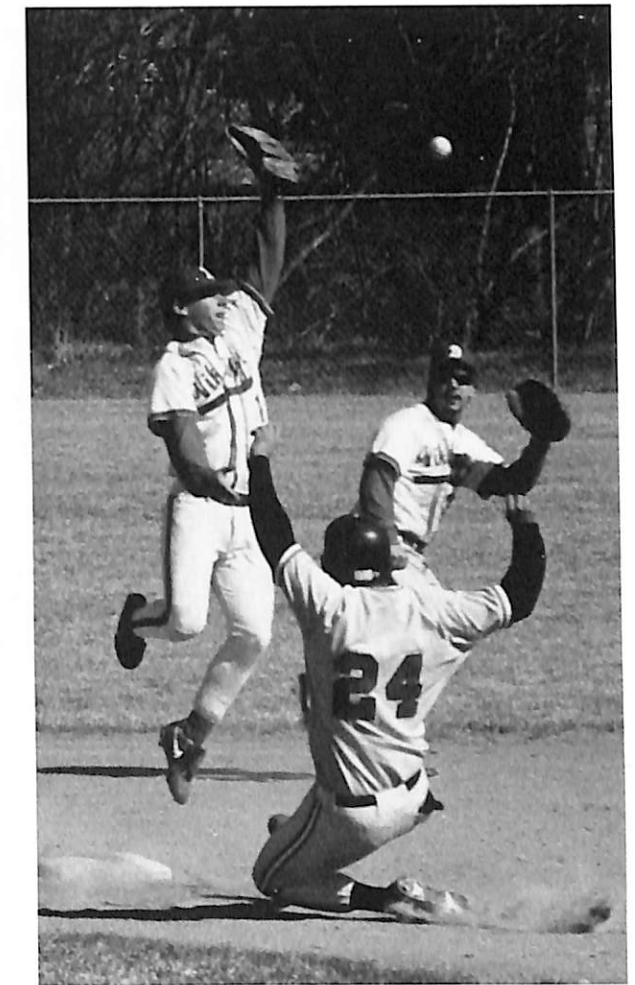

Lemon was honored at the spring athletic banquet in April, was given the Heart of Dana Award for the same month, and had a scholarship created in his honor.

Players Honored

Senior infielder Gregg Yanta was named to the All-NIAC Baseball Team by a vote of the league's coaches. Honorable mentions were infielder Tommy Pelzer, infielder and pitcher Matt Rega, outfielder Jeff Reiter and pitcher Dustin Wolfe.

Dana head coach Dale "Juice" Lemon (left) has had many opportunities to coach runners, including R.J. Ryan, at third base. Lemon retired after 31 years as the Vikings' skipper.

Class of '94

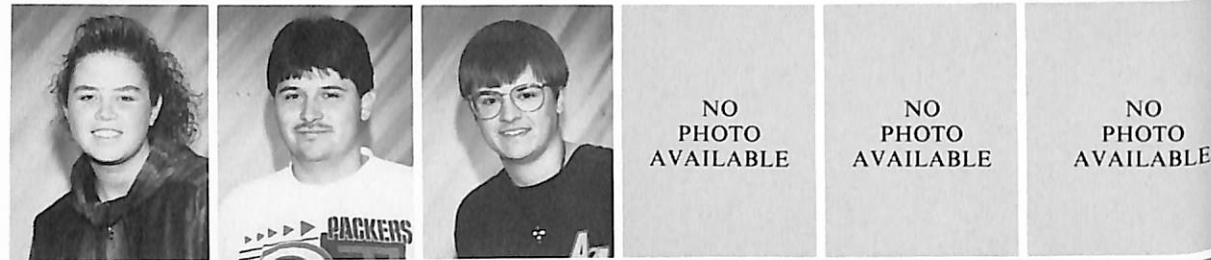

Graduation was definitely something everyone had been looking forward to for what seemed like a long time. Yet once it was here, it we suddenly realized how quickly the time had actually gone. Dr. Formo did a great job in place of President Christopherson who was attending his own daughter's graduation at Augustana. All of the speakers that day were wonderful, and managed to keep it short; we out of there in about an hour. Dr. Formo started off by reflecting upon his own graduation and his temptation to let us all leave early. Valedictorian, Carrie Larkins, gave us sentiment in her speech while Jon Rademacher gave us humor in his "Top 10" list. Oddly enough, it was Juice's speech that brought a tear to the eye as he summed up his years at Dana. After graduation seniors seemed to be feeling a range of emotions from excitement to an overwhelming sense of what do we do now? No matter what, we wish the Class of 1994 all the luck in the world.
