91-Year-Old Brother Has Reunion
With 93-Year Old Sister

Father - John J. Thompson - Mosley

Two aging but spry persons greeted each other this weekend in a brother and sister reunion on the Vernon Thompson farm. They are 91 year old John Mitchell Thompson and his 93 year old sister Mrs. Fagg of Arlington.

John has been a Watch Maker all his life. That is until last June 1 when he retired at the age of 90. Most of his working years he has been a watch-maker and repairman in Philadelphia. Both John and his sister, Mrs. Fagg, had many things to talk about and look at as the Vernon Thompson farm was their old-home place.

John says he likes to travel by train. He has never flown in an airplane because, "I always wanted to get back." John noticed many changes on the old farm. The new buildings, conveniences of the farm home and all those little pigs."

John, at 81, recalls that he took up watchmaking because he wasn't too healthy when a youth. "I guess I'm stronger now than I was then," he added.

John has gained a reputation for his skill in precision work. He was featured in "Ripley's Believe It Or Not" when he drilled two holes through a human hair. John smiled and said, "I made the drill too." Mr. Thompson also constructed a high powered microscope among his other achievements.

In the Thompson home, north of Arlington, John still has one of the first clocks that he ever owned. The beautiful clock was purchased in about 1900 and keeps good time on the wall. Pictured above John and his sister stand by the old clock which has been John's symbol of a life's work.

At the family reunion honoring John Thompson of Philadelphia were Mrs. Emily Fagg of Arlington, Messrs and Mmes Lawrence Thompson and daughter of Valley, Tom Thompson, Gary Thompson and two sons, Leon Ehlers and family, Duane Thompson all of Omaha, Fred Masters, Sr., Lyle Thompson of Fremont, Leonard Thompson, and Vernon Thompson of Arlington.
